The conundrum over which all are puzzling is the question of the real attitude of the Mexican Government toward this unprecedented display of war resources at its doorstep. It is the general belief that the Diaz Government was not in the least taken by surprise in the matter. It is taken for granted that the unprecedented mobilization of troops within a few steps of the Mexican soil never would have been effected without suitable interchange between the two Governments to preclude the possibility of misunderstanding.

Those who hold this view think it sufficient to ask what would happen if one great power in Europe should suddenly mass a quarter of its entire military force within striking distance of the imaginary line separating it from another, unless a perfect understanding existed in advance as to the purpose of the movement. "There would be war overnight," these people say, and assuming the validity of their argument, they build upon it the belief that the presence of this great naval and military force almost under the shadow of the Mexican flag is not only not distasteful, but is actually welcome to the Diaz Government.

In addition to the 2,000 marines which will be quartered at Guanamato, 500 will be drawn from the barracks along the western coast of the United States and placed on board the armored cruisers of the Pacific fleet. These vessels will be assembled at San Pedro and San Diego, Cal. The cruisers California, South Dakota and Pennsylvania already are at San Diago, while the West Virginia and Maryland are at the Puget Sound navy yard, from which point they will sail for southern waters within a few days.

Mexican Embassy's Denial.

The Mexican embassy has issued a statement branding as preposterous reports current that the Mexican Government was looking to the United States for aid in regulating its internal affairs. The statement follows:—

"The insensate rumor that Mexico had asked, or was going to ask American intervention to settle its own internal affairs is ridiculous. The republic has the means and the power, and is supported by public opinion, to enable it to suppress the insurrection. This embassy affirms categorically that Blatt and Converse were taken prisoners on Mexican territory and not on American soil as falsely has been represented by the press."

The two prisoners referred to are both Americans who joined the insurrectos along the Rio Grande. They were captured by Mexican Federal troops and are now in prison. It has been stated that both men were taken after they crossed the boundary into the United States.

Cheaper Power For Calgary.

Calgary, March 9.—Capitalized at $8,000,000, the Prairie Fuel Gas Co., Ltd., has just been formed to take over all interests of the Calgary Natural Gas Co., and endeavor to give cheaper power, cheaper light and cheaper gas to Calgary.

SCIENCE IN THE CLOUDS

Small Parachute From Balloon Dropped Near the City.

With Instrument That Recorded Temperature at Height of Over Six Miles.

Toronto, March 9.—Ninety below zero at a height of 6 1-2 miles above the earth somewhere between Toronto and the vicinity of Peterborough.

This is the interesting knowledge gained as a result of the sending out of the first series of balloons from the meteorological observatory.

The balloon was of rubber, 39 inches in diameter, and charged with hydrogen gas, so that on reaching an altitude of some miles, it would necessarily burst, thus releasing a miniature parachute containing an ingenious recording instrument. This not only shows the height attained, but also the temperature.

In this case, the balloon rose 7 1-2 miles, and at 6 1-2 miles, the 90 below mark was reached. The balloon then entered the "isothermal layer" and the temperature rose.

Apparently, the prospects of the parachute turning up again was highly remote, but it landed safely in a garden about 15 miles southeast of Peterbroough, and Director Stupart, of the observatory was elated last night.

The whole outfit costs $8, including $3 for the balloon and $5 for the recorder.

The Dominion Government is following Germany's lead in investigating the upper wastes of ether. In Germany, it is claimed that three out of four attempts to recover the instruments succeeded.

Fifty Cases Discovered in Mission Centre at Amoy.

Special to The Review.

Amoy Checa, March 9.—Fifty cases of the bubonic plague are reported to have been found at Seikhe, which is situated fifty miles from here, where the Reformed Church of America has a mission centre.

"PEN" IN NEED OF HUMANE CELLS

Jury Makes Recommendation Following Inquest on Suicide.

Kingston, March 9.—The coroner's jury on the death of Convict Charles Goldsmith found that he met death at his own hands by strangulation. The jury recommended that more humane punishment cells be provided. Goldsmith was a dangerous prisoner, and was placed in this cell because he wanted to fight a guard. Six years ago he attacked Deputy Matron Smith and almost killed her.

BETWEEN YOU AND ME

It's 90 degrees below zero six miles above Peterborough. This fact will give us great consolation in the dog-days.

—o—

It wasn't much of a shock for the Electric employees to vote against reciprocity.

—o—

Now, if it came to a discussion on what to do with a lot of old library junk, I am sure the library association would say Burnham.

—o—

A Quebec jury valued a hand at $1,300. It depends on the jack-pot.

—o—

Reciprocity will make our bed to "lie in and die in." Well, it's our own funeral anyway!

—o—

Dr. Cook has again attacked Peary. Really, these north pole men ought to be well suited for the jobs of running South American republics.

ANNEXATION

The Montreal Star says: Now what is this new proposition which the Canadian Government are considering to-day?

We will not quibble over whether or not it may come before them at all. We will assume that the new Congress will eventually pass it, though that is by no means certain if President Taft "stands pat" and refuses to sign the Democratic Tariff revision bills. But, if they do pass it, what will it be when it gets to Ottawa?

An offer of annexation—nothing less and nothing more.

It does not begin by proposing to send his Excellency home to London by the next steamer and inviting Mr. Fielding and Mr. Paterson to take their seats in the American Senate as "Senators for Canada." But it might as well, so far as future results are concerned. It is frankly designed to put our loyal people in a position where they will find it difficult to refuse to take the next step—and the next step—and the final step.

The American annexation party know that it would be futile to propose annexation all in one gulp. Our people would fight first. But they believe—rightly or wrongly—that they can swallow us on the instalment plan. They will begin by capturing our trade in natural products then they will secure our markets for manufactured goods; then they will divert our railways to North and South business; then they will merge us commercially with their people; and finally they will present us with the bitter alternative of cutting the very body of our commercial life sharply across the middle by again restoring the tariff fences between our two nations, or following the logical course and completing commercial union by political union.

That is what the Annexationists mean, if they mean annexation; and they mean annexation if they are as human as we are; if they are moved by the world spirit which dominates Britain, Germany and every great nation; if their leaders have been sincere in talking to their own hurt—so far as this agreement goes—to their own people.

A NEWSPAPER TROUBLE

The three newspapers of Regina have combined to refuse to publish any news from the city council, the board of trade or the public library board, free of charge. Anything that these bodies desire to have published must be paid for at the regular advertising rates.

This rather radical step has led to some discussion in the western newspapers over the wisdom of a newspaper refusing to give the news because of differences of opinion of its staff with public officials. The duty of a newspaper is to give the news to its readers, in any event. This is conceded, since a newspaper exists for the express purpose of gathering the news, arranging it, and presenting it in proper and pleasing form to the public.

On the other hand, newspaper men often have trouble with bumptious officials, who, "clothed with a little brief authority" think to control what is said about them or their departments by the newspapers. These men would act like the petty dictators of square-mile principalities if they dared. They come and they go, but the newspaper goes on, regardless of these men and their ephemeral ambitions. It sometimes happens that during their little spasm of authority they exceed the limit of endurance, and that is where newspaper trouble enters.

This is probably the situation at Regina. The Regina city council and board of trade have scrapped to a finish about jurisdiction, prerogatives, etc., and recently one body sent a deputation to the railway commission to defeat a proposition the other body tried to put through in the interests of the city.

The action of the newspapers may be regarded as a method of whipping the recalcitrants into line, and in the meantime the public and the public interests suffer. The newspapers are the staff of life for the ambitious officials, and perhaps to undergo the novel experience of being ignored, no matter what their brave grandstand plays may be, will be a salutary lesson to them.

Any official who treats newspapers or newspaper men courteously, without endeavoring to obstruct them in their honest endeavor to discharge their duties, may be quite sure of equally courteous treatment from them.

SERIOUS CHARGES

The serious charges against Adelard Lanctot, Liberal member for Richelieu, Que., preferred by Pierre Blondin, in the House of Commons and supported by the customary affidavits, will be thoroughly investigated. This is the first time in years that a member of Parliament has been charged with using the people's property for his private benefit.

Mr. Lanctot denied the charges, and said he courted a full inquiry. He claims that while the Marine Department painters at Lavel did work on his house, he paid for the work in full, and he had paid for all material used.

Even at this, the member for Richelieu should have been more careful than to get mixed up in government labor work. There is too much of this going on, especially in dredging and wharf deals, but fortunately members of Parliament have not been directly involved before. The amount of the Lanctot work was only $1,000. The charges mean that either the seat for Champlain or for Richelieu may shortly be vacated, and then Canada may have another Drummond-Arthabaskaville.

FARMERS' CLUBS AND POLITICS

The Farmers' Sun is busy criticizing the Whitney Government for endeavoring to restrict the operations of the Farmers' Clubs to the discussion of farm affairs, without reference to politics. It says that the farmers' clubs would be much better as Granges, wherein political subjects could be handled, where tariff discussions could take place.

The men who are busy propogating the so-called "farmers" movement in the country, the men who organized the deputations to Ottawa, who are going around the country spreading the evangelism of Goldwin Smith—the biggest annexationist of them all—would be only too pleased to enlarge the grange system—at present a pitifully inadequate institution—by the addition of the farmers' clubs which the Whitney Government has brought into existence to assist the farmer in the solution of his practical problems. It is an indirect compliment to the effectiveness of these institutions that the Grange people should wish to secure a foothold on a really influential body of farmers.

As a matter of fact, E. C. Drury, one of the prominent Grangers, appeared before the Farmers' Club at Norwood and began to talk politics. The president, who happens to be president of the Conservative Association of East Peterborough also, was dumbfounded, but not so Mr. Drury. If the farmers have political opinions—and most of them have strong ones—they are most certainly entitled to their opinions on all public matters. There is nothing to prevent them from holding meetings to discuss tariff or political affairs every night in the week. They can argue the matter to their heart's content. But the government farmers' club system cannot be operated otherwise than as a non-political institution. Perhaps when there is a Liberal government in at Toronto again, the Liberal free traders who run the Grange associations as a Liberal political force, will find willing assistance in getting the farmers' clubs tacked onto their organization. As Sir John Macdonald said, "Hope on; hope ever."

EDITORIAL NOTES

The English demand for a free breakfast table is being renewed. There ought to be some Force to this contention.

When the United States army marches on Mexico the great U.S. "war extras" will flourish, much to the delight of the newsboy, and the yellow and pink shriekers.

Sir William Van Horne says that Canada is getting a few wormy plums in exchange for her national wealth and prosperity. And they are sour ones at that.

Will someone please assure Sir Wilfrid Laurier that this is not China, but that if he persists in his Asiatic immigration policy at the Pacific coast it will soon resemble one.

The reciprocity fans in Toronto wanted to have a chance to speak at the anti-reciprocity meeting, to turn it into a regular verbal free-fight. The antis have refused, preferring to conduct the meeting their own way. It now would seem the proper move for the pros to organize a reciprocity meeting of their own. In Toronto, how many would they get?

The Montreal club which challenged Sir Wilfrid Laurier to contest a seat in St. Anne's in Montreal, says that wolves can bite as well as make a noise, referring to the Sherman story. But Sir Wilfrid has no intention of being bitten by wolves. He is finding that he has himself bitten off more than he can chew, and has no time for the wolves.

It was not so very long ago that a reverend editor travelling in Mexico wrote of the soft eyed senoritas, of the waving palms, and the air of enchantment, etc. How sad to think that this beautiful land must soon be invaded by the rude and barbarous American soldiery, ready with the despoiler's hand to desecrate the locale of these beautiful editorial dreams. Sacrilege!

The Mexicans are greatly excited over the mobilization of an American army on their frontier. They say that the move is leading to annexation. The Mexicans seem to be in a somewhat similar predicament to Canada—annexation coming. The particular difference is that it is hidden in some nice tariff candy to coax Canada, while the Mexicans are to be forced to take it bitter.

Dr. Helen MacMurchy says that many of Toronto's homes are not fit for dog-kennels. What large city is there which has not its proportion of these? Montreal is worse than Toronto by a good deal. Every large city can pass ordinances which will help to get rid of these slum pests, or to minimise the evils they produce, but no city can exterminate the kennel-quarters. Some people are, unfortunately, either by breeding or habit accustomed to such conditions, and would not feel at home in any other kind of home. Any labor to improve sanitary conditions is labor well spent, however, and grasping, soulless landlords should not stand in the way of a concerted effort to introduce modern health conditions into these squalid quarters.

Catarrhal Deafness

Successfully Treated By

Catarrhozone

Deafness is not so common as blindness, yet thousands are more or less afflicted by it, and their comfort seriously interfered with.

Catarrhal deafness manifests itself but slowly, yet it must be acknowledged that the great majority of those who become totally deaf might have averted this unfortunate condition if they had treated the catarrhal inflammation at its beginning.

The only remedy that can be safely employed for all forms of catarrhal deafness is Catarrhozone. You simply charge the air you breathe with this healing, soothing agent, and by forcing it gently through the ears destroy the germ life which keeps up the inflammation, and at the same time by the soothing, healing action it heals the inflamed surfaces of the middle ear.

CATARRHOZONE, to those who are just a little deaf, and are growing increasingly deaf, is an agent capable of affording the utmost satisfaction, and its use is attended without danger, and as the treatment can be carried on at home no person threatened with the affliction of deafness should postpone one moment in beginning its use.

From every part of the Dominion glowing accounts of the beneficial action it exerts upon catarrhal conditions of the middle ear have been sent in, and you will be resorting to the only method of cure, and the simplest method too, if you try Catarrhozone. Dealers everywhere sell it, 25c, 50c, and $1.00. By mail from The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Ont.

SUN LIFE ASSURANCE CO.

Results for 1910

In 1900 the total Life Assurances in force amounted to $57,980,634.68. Last year, 1910, the total Assurances in force were $143,549,276. This practically tells the whole story of the enormous growth of this Company in one decade. The increases of 1910 over the previous year indicate that its present prosperity is greater than ever before.

The Assurances issued during 1910 and paid for in cash were over two million dollars greater than in 1909, showing an increase of ten per cent. The cash income from premiums and other sources was $1,932,321 more than than in 1909, an increase of over twenty per cent.

The surplus earned in 1910 reached the large sum of $1,232,545.63. Of this surplus $377,792 was distributed to policy-holders, $210,850.28 was applied to place Annuity Reserves on basis of British offices select Annuity Tables. The balance, $643,903.01, was added to surplus during the year.

The Company's business has developed along every line, and the report shows that it has been strengthened in every particular.

Those who are interested in life assurance, especially those who have policies with the Sun Life of Canada will be interested in the details of the Company's statement.

A Quebec fireman was found overcome by smoke in a pool of water after a blaze.

A coronors jury at Hamilton censured the factory inspector for not having had protected machinery which caused the death of Patrick Barrett.

IN THE GILDED CIRCLE

Two Mothers In High Life Show a Touch of Nature.

By CORA HATHORNE SYKES

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

Abnormal conditions produce abnormal results. It is the middle classes and the wageworkers who have incomes sufficient to enable them to live in a way suited to their sphere that are the most virtuous and the happiest. Abject poverty leads to crime of one kind and a superabundance of wealth to crime of another kind.

What is called the "diamond horseshoe" in New York is the first tier of boxes at the Metropolitan Opera House. They are taken for the season, and usually for many seasons, by the same family. Their owners' incomes are counted not by thousands, but by hundreds of thousands and in some cases by millions.

One evening Mrs Montague Smythe—before wealth came it was Mrs. Smith—who had subscribed for her box while abroad and did not know who were to be her near neighbors, took her seat at the opera. Her dress was cut very low, on her head was a crescent of gems worth $100,000, around her neck was a necklace worth another $100,000, while her costume she had recently paid several thousand dollars for abroad. She was a blond about thirty years of age, but had already called in a massage operator to rub out the few weblike wrinkles that were coming in the corner of her eyes.

Mrs. Smythe had but got comfortably settled when another scintillating beauty entered the next box to hers and, throwing off her wraps, took a seat facing the stage, her back being toward Mrs. Smythe. But, the newcomer's husband, Mr. Oliver DeLano—it was formerly Delano—come in, his eyes met those of Mrs. Smythe. There was a slight involuntary start on the part of both. At that moment Mrs. DeLano turned, and Mr. Smythe entered. There was another meeting of eyes, a momentary drawing together of Mr. Smythe's brows. As for Mrs. DeLano, she had always been accustomed to the restraint practiced by the gilded world, and the causes that moved the others produced no marked effect upon her.

"WHAT WOULD LAVINA SAY TO THAT!"

These four had all been twice married. Oliver DeLano had been the husband of Lavinia, now wife of Montague Smythe. Montague Smythe had been the husband of Mildred, now wife of Oliver DeLano. Both couples had been divorced. DeLano had married the first Mrs. Smythe, and Smythe had married the first Mrs. DeLano.

It was the former union and subsequent swapping of partners that produced a momentary embarrassment among three of the number. Mrs. DeLano's long training in the highest circles enabled her to maintain a perfect equanimity. She gave society's stereotyped smile to her former husband and went so far as to extend her hand cordially to the lady who had taken her place with him. Then, as in high life no husband is expected in public places or at social functions to chat with his own wife, Mr. DeLano went into Mrs. Smythe's box, and Mr. Smythe went into Mrs. DeLano's box, each couple chatting when occasion permitted.

At the end of the first act the gentlemen went out for a whiff of a cigarette, leaving the ladies to entertain each other during the intermission.

Now, there being two sets of children in these two families when the first divorce was obtained, it was settled that the children should go with the father, he holding the purse strings and on this account being able to have his own way in the matter. When he was married again, having one set of children in the family already, it was further settled that his new wife's children should remain with their father. Therefore when the two ladies met at the opera neither had seen her own children in several years.

If there is one thing in nature that always remains the same it is a mother's heart. No sooner had the men left the women than Mrs. Smythe began hasty questions about her children, and as soon as Mrs. DeLano got an opportunity she did the same with respect to her own little ones. These people, strange to say, were all human beings, and even in the lower animals parental, and especially maternal, affections are paramount. Their friends at the opera, seeing them engaged in earnest conversation, refrained from visiting them in their boxes, and when the two men returned, finding the conditions the same as when they left, they felt obliged—in sight as they were of the whole audience—each to take position beside the other's (present) wife.

In the metropolis after the opera one finds the social magnates all at one of the prominent hotels or restaurants, where at supper they form their own parties. These four people when the curtain fell on the last act found themselves passing out together, and what was more natural than that they should sup together? So they all got into the Smythes' carriage and drove down to the A. There the women went into the robing room to lay aside their wraps, and their husbands waited half an hour for them before they came out. When they appeared they had laid a scheme. Chats about their children had tempted their mothers' hearts. Their love for their own flesh and blood had burst the bonds that held them, and they had laid a scheme for seeing the little ones in their cribs before going to bed themselves.

When the supper was over Mrs. DeLano bade Mrs. Smythe a cordial good night and said that she would go home in her own carriage, at the same time looking to Mr. Smythe as much as to say she expected him to be her cavalier until she reached the house. He conducted her to her carriage and entered it with her, Mr. DeLano doing the same with Mrs. Smythe.

Since both women passed through the same experience it is only essential to give that of one. Arrived at the Smythe residence, Mr. Smythe left his lady in the vestibule, entered the house, ordered the butler and the maid to bed that they should not start a scandal, and Mrs. DeLano went upstairs.

Little Ollie, aged seven, had kicked off the covers and was lying flat on his back, his little round legs and arms besides so much of his stomach as lay between his upper and lower pajamas exposed. He was sleeping as soundly as if he had never known a sorrow. Little Louise was on her side, her flaxen hair falling over her eyes, innocent as a cherub. The mother dared not kiss either of them for fear of awakening them and giving them the pain of parting. She left them untouched and, going to the door, gave them a last look. Then she burst into a torrent of tears. Mr. Smythe led her downstairs, put her into her carriage and got in beside her.

"Mont," she said as soon as she had regained something of her equanimity, "I can't stand this any longer."

"I think my home would be more comfortable with the mother of my children in it," replied Smythe.

"What do you say to us all going back to the position from which we started?"

"What would Lavinia say to that?"

"She and I agreed to such a plan this evening."

"You don't mean it!"

"I assure you it is a fact."

"How about DeLano?"

"I don't see how he can help himself if Lavinia insists."

"Very well; I'll not object to a change of partners if the others are agreed. We'll swap seats and let the game go on."

The next day at the end of a long interview between the two women it was decided that if both husbands could be brought to their views they would take legal steps to return to their own homes. It took some time to bring about a conversion of DeLano, but he was a man of the world and more devoted to other men's wives than his own, so, after all, it didn't make much difference to him with what wife he lived, and he preferred the mother of his own children for his own home.

An experienced divorce lawyer was called in to superintend the restoration. He nominally put the case in the hands of other firms, one for each of the contestants. It was at first decided that the wives should go to reside for a season in a state where divorces are made easy. But they would not consent to leave the world of fashion for so long a time. After much consultation it was found that the way considered most appropriate by the upper circles of the metropolis should be adopted. Mr. DeLano took up with an actress and was seen driving with her in Central park. Mr. Smythe appeared in his wife's box at the opera after drinking half a dozen quarts of champagne and waved his handkerchief to a woman in one of the upper boxes who had been hired to take a position there for the purpose.

This method was found to accord admirably with the condition of the gilded circle. The actions of the two husbands were considered by the judges to be ample cause for a decree on the part of the two greatly injured and scandalized wives and did not at all affect the position of the men in society. A few days after the last decree was obtained the original couples were remarried.

There were those who had their comfort, of which they had been deprived, restored to them by this method of procedure. The innocent children were thereafter occasionally petted by their own mothers. True, the exigencies of the fashionable world demanded their relegation to the care of nurses, but there were times when a mother's affection rose to the surface, and the little ones got the benefit.

But this case is one in a thousand or, more likely, ten thousand. When such people procure a decree of divorce they usually celebrate it by a big ball, and the separation lasts forever.

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

Germany Warns Vatican.

Berlin, March 9.—In a speech before the Diet yesterday, Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg admonished the Curia that a persistence in the recent tendency to the issuance of decrees affecting Germany without previous consultation with the Government would lead to retaliation.

The chancellor announced that teachers taking the oath of anti-modernism would not be permitted in the future to teach history or German in the middle schools. The Government likewise, he said, would consider the matter of the oath-taking when filling other state posts.

WHAT I WENT THROUGH

Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Natick, Mass.—"I cannot express what I went through during the change of life before I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in such a nervous condition I could not keep still. My limbs were cold, I had creepy sensations, and I could not sleep nights. I was finally told by two physicians that I also had a tumor. I read one day of the wonderful cures made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it, and it has made me a well woman. My neighbors and friends declare it had worked a miracle for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold for women during this period of life. If it will help others you may publish my letter."—Mrs. NATHAN B. GREATON, 51 N. Main Street, Natick, Mass.

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

ANOTHER LIBERAL LEAVES HIS PARTY OVER RECIPROCITY

tage of his possession of the not. to criticize the speech of Sir Wilfrid Laurier Tuesday. The Prime Minister had indulged in epithets, and the protests of the fruit growers, millers and packers he characterized as the howling of wolves. He read portions of Sir William Van Horne's letter, whose opinions, he said, were based on experience and knowledge of facts.

The Prime Minister asks, observed Mr. Borden, that these proposals be passed through Parliament, because there was a condition of non-intercourse with United States existing. If there was a state of non-intercourse with the United States, how did the Government account for the fact that three-fifths of Canada's import trade was with the United States.

The Premier had affirmed that reciprocity would bring injury to no particular industry, said Mr. Borden. This argument applied with crushing force to the fruit industry. The farmers would not be satisfied to compete with the natural products of twelve or fourteen countries and pay duty on all manufactured products which come into Canada.

In conclusion, Mr. Borden said, "I realize that Canada has a plain duty and a grave responsibility in one important aspect. She ought to be—I trust she will be—a bond of union and amity between the Empire and the republic. That high mission can best be fulfilled when Canadians are inspired by a belief in their institutions, their destiny, their country and themselves as intense as that which pervades the people of the United States."

Hon. W. S. Fielding in reply said that he hoped the debate would go on, because he believed that every day saw an increase in the number of its supporters. He quoted from the official record of the Washington negotiations to show that President Taft on one hand and the Canadian Ministers on the other had undertaken to have the proposals ratified. President Taft, by calling an extra session of Congress so promptly, had loyally lived up to the terms of the agreement, and for the Canadian Ministers to fail to do so would be a breach of faith which would dishonor the Government, Parliament and Canada.

May Use Dynamite.

Halifax, March 9.—It may be necessary to use dynamite to open Sydney harbor to navigation. The ice in the harbor is nearly sixteen inches in thickness, but the real obstacle is an ice barrier which has formed across the mouth of the harbor, and which is now about sixteen feet thick. The dynamiting of this huge mass of ice is now being considered. Sea captains say that it can be moved in no other way. It would take a whole summer's sun to melt it. Very few people have any idea of the quantity and thickness of the ice on the coast. A sea captain told a Canadian Press reporter that in some places the ice has piled tier upon tier until it reached the great height of something like sixty feet.

Celebrate King's Birthday.

Ottawa, March 9.—A circular from Downing street, London, announces to the Government "that it is the wish of His Majesty the King that his birthday should be officially celebrated in his dominions beyond the seas on the actual date of the anniversary, viz., June 3rd."

His Majesty has also consented to an amendment to the regulations to provide for royal salutes being fired on:

(a) The anniversaries of the birth, accession, and coronation of the reigning sovereign;

(b) The birthday of the consort of the reigning sovereign;

(c) The birthday of the Queen Mother.

How a Local Young Man Made Money

There are many people in and around the City of Peterborough who have money, looking for investment, who prefer a safe investment, such as bonds or low rate of interest, to investing in mortgages or other securities which require special judgment in selecting, and constant and careful watching to avoid loss. To such we would commend the following result to their careful consideration—

A young man of the City of Peterborough had his life insured sixteen years ago last January for Ten Thousand Dollars ON A SINGLE PAYMENT 15-YEAR ENDOWMENT PLAN. The premium paid was $6,460.00. On the 31st of January, 1910, the company paid him $12,116.00 in cash, after giving him fifteen years of free insurance. What do you think of that as an investment?

Are bonds or municipal debentures, or even the best mortgages, to be compared with it, when you consider that the risk of the life was carried during the 15 years? And remember, the security is as safe as any debenture or mortgage, and there was no trouble or expense entailed of any kind after the initial investment.

The above result was obtained from the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, under policy No. 47310, W.H.B.

A TROUBLESOME WATCH

A Havelock man came nearly getting another party into trouble through his love for liquor.

He was fined $2 last Friday, and after leaving the court went to a local jewellry store to see if he could borrow some money on his watch, at least, so he said this morning.

The clerk rightly refused to loan the money, and told him he was not in a pawn broking establishment.

The man, whose mind was a little hazy with liquor at the time, said he then sold the clerk the watch outright for $2.50. The chief brought the case to court for a thorough explanation, which proved satisfactory.

Mr. E. G. Patterson of the C.G.E. Company, was also present. Mr. Patterson identified some of the articles, but the Magistrate refused to deal with the matter to-day, as to do so before the prisoner was proven guilty was assuming him to be guilty of larceny.

R. E. Wood prosecuted.

Judgement was reserved until tomorrow morning.

REVIEW BALLOT TEST SHOWS NEARLY 100 TO 1 AGAINST

Remarkable Evidence of People's Feeling on the Subject—Vote at C.G.E. 455 to 60 Against.

Last week the Review printed a reciprocity ballot, inviting people who wanted to express an opinion on this big trade question to send them in. The ballot was printed for a couple of days only, but the results have been astonishing. In the Review office is a collection of ballots, all signed with the names of the voters that certainly indicates a very strong opinion against the pact.

There are eighty-nine ballots against reciprocity and one for. This is to be considered a very strong showing, because not the slightest effort was made to induce ballots to be sent in. They were cut out and sent in only because the people felt strongly enough on the subject to go to the trouble of either spending a postage stamp or employing a messenger to get the ballot to the Review office.

There were thousands of people who saw the ballot, who have strong opinions on the subject, but who of course would not bother marking a ballot that has only the significance of testing public sentiment. One a prominent Peterborough manufacturer writes on his ballot: "I would like to make a thousand marks against it. You can tell anyone how I feel on this matter. I am a loyal British subject and the only flag that I want in Canada, is the glorious old Union Jack and Canadian ensign."

A Warsaw man sends in a ballot marked with a half a dozen crosses saying: "I wish I could make it more emphatic."

There are many ballots sent in from the rural districts around Peterborough, some from Keene, Norwood, Lakefield and other points. They arrive on every mail. The response, purely of the people's own volition was up to expectation in every way.

455 to 60

At the General Electric Company's works, yesterday, a vote was taken of employees, on the question, and showed them to be 455 to 60 against reciprocity. This is signficant, in a large concern like the C. G. E. Co., The opposition to reciprocity has strengthened wonderfully in the last two weeks.

LIBRARY ASSOCIATION IS IN SESSION HERE TO-DAY

Welome by E. H. D. Hall, Chairman of Local Board

Thirty-Nine Libraries Are Represented.

The second annual meeting of the Lindsay District Library Association opened under the most auspices and encouraging circumstances this morning in the lecture hall of the Peterborough Public Library.

Delegates were present from Haliburton, Fenelon Falls, Bobcaygeon, Norwood, Uxbridge, Oshawa, Lindsay and other places.

One representative from each library in the district was expected to be present, the Department of Education paying the travelling and other necessary expenses of one delegate from each library. The library experts were invited.

In the absence of Dr. Vrooman, of Lindsay, president of the district, the chair was ably taken by J. H. Burnham, the energetic vice-president.

A letter was read from Mayor Morrow in which he expressed his regrets at not being able to attend the meeting.

Mr. E. H. D. Hall, chairman of the Public Library Board, extended a hearty welcome to the visiting delegates on behalf of the Library Association, and hoped that much good would be the result of the conference.

On motion it was decided to suspend the reading of the minutes of the last meeting of the Association.

VICE-PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

In his address as vice-president Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.A., also welcomed the visitors. He referred to the important part a library occupied in the life of a community and in conclusion said:

When we come here, let us remember that we are entering the Temple of Knowledge, that the place whereon we have set our foot, is Holy ground. Then, and then only, shall we appreciate our privileges. But while I speak of privileges let us realize that the greatest of them is the privilege of calling others to the feast. There is yet to be devised here in Canada, at least, some workable scheme for taking the sources and the means of knowledge to those who for various reasons cannot go to them. Herein lies the deepest meaning and truest value of a library and, I hope that some day we shall see trusted employees of the city going about from door to door exchanging views upon new ideas or old ones revamped. Then and then only will the function of this centre of thought be fulfilled and the dark places made light, and I may add — justice done to all the taxpayers.

The advantage of a reading and thinking public to a community is of course very great. The history of men and women of talent as of great and original genius, shows that as a rule they began in a small way. Finding access to source of information, instruction and experiment they quickly improved. Without those sources they themselves have borne testimony to the fact that it would have been largely impossible for them to develop and if it is so of men and women of genius, necessarily it must be much more generally true of those who are not geniuses. It is clear therefore, that the responsibility resting upon a municipality with respect to a library museum, and place of reference, with reference to the people comprised in that municipality, cannot be overestimated. It is also clear that for people to sit calmly and reservedly still, with the idea that the love of knowledge will arise of its own accord, and that there will be as it were, a general rush for good books, is to expect too much. Hence we may conclude that the duty of this Association and of all similar bodies is to arouse this spirit of inquiry and then to put early at hand an inexpensive and sufficient means for its satisfaction. This putting at hand, and close at hand of the means of knowledge, is to my mind one of the most important features of the whole movement since the general and leisureless public cannot be expected to put on street attire and walk, perhaps miles, to get a book until and unless they have that desire for knowledge which amounts to a passion. It were better however, in my humble opinion, that there should be no library than that it should be a novel or scandal reading centre. This form of literary dissipation is just as detrimental as any other form of dissipation and just as barren of good results. How many pupils have neglected their more serious studies on this account it would not be hard to estimate. However, I have touched upon this before, and in closing this annual address, I would again lay stress upon the very great desirability of getting means of knowledge close to the people. Small branch libraries in shops in different quarters of the town and under intelligent supervision moved about at intervals, would I am persuaded go far to solve the problem.

A nominating committee was chosen consisting of representatives from Norwood, Uxbridge and Fenelon Falls.

The address which followed delivered by Mr. Walter R. Nursey, Inspector of Public Libraries, Toronto, on the subject of "What the Department of Education is doing for the libraries," was one of useful information and instruction.

In commencing his address Mr. Nursey said that he would have liked to have seen a more representative attendance, seeing that the expenses of delegates were borne by the Provincial Board of Education, and reminded them that the Library Board, which does not send a representative was liable to a fine of $5.

He said that he was truly amazed at the magnificent appearance of the new Peterborough Public Library, and complimented the city on having such a creditable educative institution.

He advised the reading of the best possible literature, and recommended the elimination of too much fiction from libraries.

Andrew Carnegie has expended altogether in public library grants, $53,000,000, and of this vast sum $20,000,000 has been spent in Canada.

The speaker also outlined clearly what the department is doing for the libraries. If necessary they will send out supervisors to revise the lists of books in libraries and classify them. One system of classification known as the decimal system, has met with general success wherever it has been installed, and is considered to be one of the best in use.

The speaker did not advise the use of catalogues, they might be useful as auxiliaries, but he would not encourage the use of them.

Altogether in the Lindsay district Library Association, in which Peterboro is included, there are thirty-nine libraries represented.

Mr. Nursey's address was very instructive and interesting.

After the morning session the delegates were the guests of honor at dinner at Hooper's grill room.

APPEAL WAS DISMISSED

Judgment in Innes--Village of Havelock Action is Confirmed

To-day's Toronto Globe contains the following report of a case which has caused considerable interest:

Innis vs. Village of Havelock.—An appeal by plaintiff from the judgment of the Chancellor of the 5th fo November, 1910. By consent of counsel heard before the two Judges. This action was brought by Alexander Innis and Maud Innis to recover $5,000 damages for injuries to Maud Innis from stepping into a hole in the sidewalk of the village, causing her to fall and suffer the injuries complained of which, it is alleged, was caused by defendant's negligence in not repairing the walks where the accident occurred. At the trial the action was dismissed without costs. Appeal dismissed with costs.

This action was first heard at the Fall Assizes here before Chancellor Boyd, who dismissed the case. In divisional court at Toronto the judgment was confirmed yesterday. Messrs. Hall, Hayes and Hall acted for the defendant corporation of Havelock, and F. D. Kerr for the plaintiffs.

Sol. White, ex-mayor of Windsor was elected Mayor of Cobalt.

F. J. Batch has been appointed G. P. A. of the Ottawa and N. Y. Rly.

Wm. Howe was fined $25 for turning in a false fire alarm at Brantford

The rifle ranges at Winnipeg have been sold by the Government for $133,000.

OBITUARY

Death of Mrs. Payne

Another well-known and highly respected resident passed away last night, in the person of Mary Anne Chowen, daughter of the late Richard Chowen, and relict of the late Urian Payne, who pre-deceased her, twenty seven years. Death took place at the residence of her son, E. L. Payne.

Deceased came to Canada from Devonshire, England, when she was 12 years old, and resided in North Monaghan. After her marriage, she and her husband farmed until the time of his death, when she moved to Peterborough, resided here ever since, excepting two years spent in Toronto.

She was a staunch believer in the Methodist doctrine, and a member and regular attendant of George St. Methodist Church, until this last year, when she went to the Charlotte Street Church as it was nearer her home.

The late Mr. Payne had only been ailing about two weeks, being confined to her bed about one week.

The survivors are two sons, Messrs. R. A. Payne, North Monaghan and E. L. Payne, the local druggist.

The funeral will leave the residence of her son, E. L. Payne, 342 Rubidge Street, at 2 o'clock, Saturday afternoon proceeding to Little Lake cemetery for interment.

The Late Mrs. Carver

The death occurred last evening at the late residence, on the Gravel road North Monaghan, of Caroline Bestard beloved wife of Mr. Osway Carver, after an illness of six weeks. The late Mrs. Carver, was the youngest of a family of seven children of the late James Bestard. The news of her death will be received with the deepest feelings by her many friends and acquaintances, for she was a lady who had possessed many estimable qualities and won friends wherever she went. Her life had been marked by a true Christian spirit at all times, in sunshine or in dark hours, and during her sickness, she had never complained. The deceased had been a regular attendant at Charlotte Street Methodist church.

Besides her bereaved husband, she leaves to mourn her loss, one son and two daughters, who are Mr. Harry Carver and Misses Alice and Pearl. Her sisters and Mrs. George Hutchison, South Monaghan, Mrs. John Davis, Tornoto, Mrs. E. W. Evans, Little Falls, N. Y., Mrs. John May, Walkerton, Mrs. Chas. Munns and Mrs. J. W. Grice, St. Thomas, Mrs. Geo. Saunders, Toronto; Mrs. Samuel Kemp, of this city. One brother, Mr. James Bestard resides in North Monaghan.

The funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon, at 2.30 o'clock, from the late residence, lot 11, concession 12, North Monaghan, on the Gravel Road and proceed to the Little Lake cemetery. Service at the house will commence at two o'clock.

Death of Child

Phillip Edward Crough, youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Henry Crough, Ennismore, died yesterday.

The funeral took place at 3 o'clock to-day to St. Martin's cemetery.

During his stay at McMaster he was an athlete and well-known in university circles. Rev. Mr. Cornish leaves his widow, Mr. G. A. Cornish, lecturer at the University of Toronto, is a brother. Interment will take place at Pontiac, Mich.

SHE MADE A GREAT HIT AT THE RUSSELL THEATRE

Vesta Victoria Captivated Her Audience — Her Hearers Joined in the Choruses — Sang Songs for Which She is Famous.

The Ottawa Evening Citizen of yesterday has the following to say of the appearance of Vesta Victoria in that city:—

"Vesta Victoria is a winner. The English comedienne was not long before the footlights in the Russel Theatre last night until she had captivated the big audience. She captivated it so completely as to cause things to happen in the theatre that do not usually happen there. Several times enthusiasts in the gallery accompanied her in the choruses of her catchy songs and did not hesitate to tell her in their own way just how highly they thought of her.

Miss Victoria certainly lived up to her reputation as a celebrated comedienne. It is not alone the character of her songs that counts or her attractive manner of delivery, but her costuming, different in each selection, has a good deal to do with it. She made a hit in all her selections and got lots of applause in her renditions of such songs as 'The Artist's Model,' 'The Widow,' 'Now All Have to Call Him Father,' 'Skating,' 'I've Got My Mother's Husband,' and 'Don't Sing the Chorus.' After each song the audience was insistent in having her come out again. As a final number she gave 'Poor John,' which capped the climax on the rest of the captivating selections.

In addition to Vesta Victoria there are a number of other good features on the programme. Noticeable among these is Frank Bush, whom the program calls "the world's greatest story teller." And he does tell a story in splendid style, as well probably as anyone who has ever been heard in a similar line in Ottawa. He tells new ones, too, and when he gets going the merriment is contagious.

Van Camp, the man with the pig, has a diminutive porker with which he makes lots of fun. Besides, he gives a number of mystifying tricks in sleight-of-hand.

The Church City Four in singing comedy also made a good impression. They have splendid voces.

Iashinowsky, Russian pianist, showed himself to be a master of his instrument, and Johnny Ford did remarkably well in comic songs and eccentric dancing. Roy Barton, who accompanied him at the piano is a clever player. The Five Musical Maclarens were likewise most pleasing."

It is to be hoped that the people of Peterborough will take advantage of the opportunity of seeing this famous comedienne, as it is not often such a chance is offered our theatre-goers.

Vesta Victoria appears at the Royal Alexandra in Toronto next week and their advance sale is already large.

There are still a few good seats at all prices left. Telephone orders held till eight o'clock.

KINGS BUSINESS IN KNOX CHURCH

Song Service is Feature Conducted by Rev. Mr. Woodside

People are learning new hymns in Knox church these days and some are discovering their voices, and the general effect is inspiring. Song service is proving to be a very attractive feature in the mission, as evidenced by the presence of many in the church at an early hour to join in the singing. The solos sung by Mr. McBretney were very much appreciated. The constant use of his voice in leading does not appear to mar its clear tone. Another large congregation on Where Rev. G. A. Woodside, of Owen Sound, is conducting special services, which are being largely attended.

Wednesday night shows that the interest is growing. A large number remained after the meeting was dismissed for a special prayer service. Rev. Mr. Woodside gave a very convincing address on power, basing his address on the words of Christ, "I in them." Every life is controlled by power of some kind. Power has its attraction from the personality behind it. The greatest power in the world is not that of wealth or pleasure, or fame, but the power of the personality of Jesus. It is transforming, and the strongest life is one in which the personality of Christ is most completely manifest. Christ wants this power shown in His followers, and it is theirs to have.

Each address seems more powerful than the last, and many are missing a great privilege.

THEY SHOULD BE ASHAMED OF IT

Peterborough County Criticised on Hospital Support

Toronto, March 8.—In the Legislature nearly two hours were spent upon the amendments to the Act covering local improvements, but time was left for an excellent measure of Mr. A. E. Donovan, Brockville, to be explained, and to receive the stamp of approval of the Provincial Secretary.

The bill makes municipalities liable for a charge (not exceeding 70 cents a day) on all patients admitted to a public hospital, who have resided three months in that municipality, or who was employed there immediately prior to being admitted. A charge of $15 for burial may also be made.

Mr. Donovan, in speaking to his bill, charged Peterboro', Wentworth, Prescott, Russell counties with not contributing a single dollar for the upkeep of the general hospitals, although the average cost was $1.26 a day. They should be ashamed of themselves. The Government last year gave $145,000 to the hospitals.

Miss MacDonald Coming

Miss C. A. Macdonald, Japanese National Y.W.C.A. Secretary, will be in the city from March 18th to the 22nd. Many will recall with pleasure her last visit here some four years ago.

Miss Macdonald is an exceptionally bright speaker and will tell a most interesting story of the development of the girls and expansion of the Word in the Flowery Kingdom.

Definite announcements regarding the meeting will be made within a few days.

Robert Glover Charged With Non-support of His Family

The charge of non-support of his family against Robert Glover was aired in police court to-day. The magistrate reserved judgment.

Mr. Cochrane, who laid the charge, was the first witness. He stated that last February he received information that Glover's family had neither wood or provisions.

Mr. Miller, city relief officer, showed a list of the bills for provisions which he has supplied to the family, also requests from Mrs. Glover for aid.

"But for the help given them by the town they would have perished?" enquired the magistrate.

"Yes," was the reply.

Glover appears to be an able-bodied man, but it was proven at court today that his love for liquor is what keeps him down.

When he entered the witness box, he launched forth into a platform oration which was quickly cut short by the chief.

Mrs. Glover said that her husband was capable of supporting her, and that she had never asked to have him placed on the black list, her words contradicting Mr. Stewart's, who said that she had come to him and made the request.

Mr. Stewart, license inspector, stated to the Review, in connection with Glover's case, that there were several similar cases in the city, where the men are able to work, but prefer to sit around in hotels and neglect the duties of providing for the family household.

CONDITIONS OF LABOR REPORTED

By Local Correspondent to the Labor Gazette

The following is the monthly report of Arthur J. Sharpe to the Labor Gazette, on labor conditions in and about Peterborough—

The labor market during the month of January showed little change from December. Local manufacturing industries were, as a rule, active. Work in the building trades has been confined to interiors. The prospects for spring look very bright. A new wing will be added to the Nicholls Hospital buildings, to cost in the neighborhood of $30,000. The Peterborough Industrial Exhibition will build a new grand stand and new buildings, if the city will buy the grounds. The new foundry of Adam Hall & Sons has started, and is employing about fifty hands; they expect to enlarge their plant this year, as they cannot keep up with orders. The Collier Electric Company has disposed of its plant and business to Toronto interests, who are removing the plant to Uxbridge, Ont. The by-law to permit the city to make a loan of $12,000 to Messrs. Bonner and Worth, in order to establish a factory here, was defeated; a by-law granting a franchise to C. E. Dittman, to bore for natural gas, was carried. The local firm of Morrow & Beatty received the contract for the dam and power house on Magog river. The price is $51,250.

LOCAL INDUSTRIES.

Agricultural.—Farmers were occupied with the care of stock and marketing produce; large markets were the rule during the month. There was a good demand for produce at high prices.

Manufacturing.—Factories as a rule have been very busy, with plenty of orders and prospects of steady work.

PARTICULAR TRADES.

The building trades were rather quiet, as is usual at this time of the year. The only large work was an addition to the Canadian General Electric Works. Exceptional activity prevailed in the metal trades. Moulders, iron workers, core makers, machinists and electric workers have been active. Woodworkers and upholsters were busy. Carriage makers and coopers were active. Printing and allied trades had a good month. Journeymen tailors were quiet. Bakers and confectioners were busy. Butchers and meat cutters had steady work. Ice cutters were active. Leather workers had a good month. Broom makers were active. Railway and street railway men were active. Freight handlers, teamsters and expressmen were busy. Unskilled labor was fairly well employed.

Two women lost their lives in the burning of a summer hotel at Lakeview, N.C.

SUN LIFE

Assurance Company of Canada

HEAD OFFICE - MONTREAL

A GRAND RECORD IN 1910

The increases in Assurances in force, in Cash Income, and in Assets, were never equalled by any Canadian Life Assurance Company in any year.

The expense ratio was again further reduced notwithstanding the large increases in all items of business.

The great confidence of the public is shown by the fact that over $1,400,000 was paid to the Company for annuities last year.

The protection for the policyholders is completely secured by the enormous assets and surplus of the Company.

The high standard of profits to policyholders has been maintained and its continuance is assured by the soundness and exceedingly profitable character of the investments.

The great success of the Company is not confined to Canada alone, but its vast business and important connections in other lands are doing yeoman service in greatly enhancing the prestige of this country abroad, and in bringing home large sums for investment.

TORONTO ALL STARS FINISHED AGAINST LOCALS WITH TWO GOALS TO THE GOOD

Advertised Line-up Didn't Put in an Appearance --Park Had to Retire From Game in Second Half -- Half Time Tally 5-4 and Final Count 13-11.

Harvey Sproule's Toronto All-Star team breezed out with a victory against the local intermediates last night to the tune of 13—11, after scoring the first goal of the game and leading at half-time by 5—4.

But that isn't all they got away with. But for McLean's loafing contributions, which assisted to a very large extent in the scoring, there might have been a different tale to tell. And yet the visitors should be credited with the edge on the play, for their's was an individual game and they had all kinds of speed.

It wasn't the lineup as advertised, but the way things broke helped a whole lot to detract from the class of hockey expected. It wasn't altogether the fault of the players that the game verged on a likeness to another exhibition seen here some time ago when two sevens from the Port Hope, Picton-Belleville way were in action.

DIDN'T ALL COME.

The dope from Manager Sproule was that Jakey Moore was suffering from an injury received in the Argo-Eaton game last Saturday night, that Ridpath didn't come along because he had to work or miss a trip with Parkdale; that Hal. Kennedy was under the weather with a bad cold and that Meeking couldn't make connections because of sickness to relatives. Such were the trials that cropped up at the last moment.

However the aggregation that took the ice was made up of fast players and while there were only six of them an endeavor was made to give the fans the best goods available and they succeeded to a certain extent. Injuries to Ray and Park, particularly in the second half, necessitated the game going on with five men a side, and some of the time there were only eight men on the ice.

Undoubtedly the locals suffered by the breaking up of the team. Chas. Ray had to take right wing and of course was out of place. He played a strong game alright, but the play of the team was not as good as has been seen in other contests during the season, but at the same time they had to contend with some hard checking from the All-Stars. As stated before, the invaders were no slouches in any department and when it came to playing a lone hand, they had the better of the argument. The loafing of McLean in particular, didn't look very good, but just the same, there were some rocky looking passes that resulted in scores for the locals.

Holmes did a lot of good work in the nets for the All-Stars and Murphy and Babe Burkhart were always going strong in front of him, both blocking and getting away for some nice jaunts. McLean was out of condition, but got away with a lot of classy work when working the puck as is called for by the rules. McCreath was steady at the right boards as was also Kerr of the Broadview Intermediates, while he was on the ice. He was benched in the second half to even up when Park was put away for keeps.

For the locals Derocher stopped all kinds of hard ones and was given good assistance by Bond and Heffernan the latter breaking away and doing more work in the second half. Kelly put up a particularly hard game, his back checking at times being very noticeable. He worked nicely with Ray and Park and was doing double duty at times.

LATE IN STARTING.

It was close on to nine o'clock when the teams were sent away before an attendance of six hundred and Murphy courted the first tally for the All-Stars after five minutes of play. Ray got through to even up but Holmes prevented a hard one by using his skate. Bond and Ray combined for the next, the former counting. Heffernan was chased for getting McLean. Ray took a pass from Kelly and put his team ahead. McLean returned the compliment to Heffernan and took a rest. Heffernan started the play for the next tally, passing to Ray, who handed it to Park for a flag raiser. McLean got one back for the All-Stars on a nice pass from Kerr, who advanced the rubber, and tied up the game on a nifty side shot. McCreath made it one better and Ray evened up again on a contribution from Park. From a scrimmage Kerr connected behind Derocher. Park was hurt and Murphy drew a penalty for getting Ray. The teams were playing with four men a side, Kerr going off with Park and the half ended 5—4 for the visitors.

LOTS OF TIES.

Following a shot by Kelly, Ray slammed the disc in on the rebound for another tie up in the first minute. Buckhart missed a chance, but McLean was there with the necessary waft, and the All-Stars were one ahead. Another tally came from McLean on a pass from Murphy. Park was hurt again and retired from the fray, taking Kerr with him. Kelly and Heffernan took the next two bulgers and again both teams were on an even footing. Heff took another after Holmes had partly stopped and the locals went to the front for thirty seconds only, for Murphy tore off a lone one and beat Derocher. McLean corralled the next after Burkhart had been stopped by Heffernan. Ray came back with another that made the count 9—9 and Kelly with a long speedy shot sent the blue and white once more in the lead. Burkhart got Ray and went off. Wasson took a spill. Following the face-off McLean sauntered down for a counter and McCreath with no defence in his path annexed with the netting and the figures were 11—10 for the All-Stars. Ray and Burkhart returned to the ice. Murphy took a loner and connected. Kelly and Ray got busy in front of Holmes and the former banged the rubber in, leaving the opposing team one to the good. Murphy added another all alone and the game ended with the Toronto boys in front 13—11.

The teams were:

A FINISH FIGHT FOR K. O. BROWN

With Lightweight Champion May be Staged at California

New York, March 8—It is announced here that another fight between Wolgast, lightweight champion and "Knockout" Brown of New York will probably be staged in California within the next three months. In view of the excellent work of Brown against the champion in their two recent engagements in Philadelphia and New York, a finish fight is looked upon as a proposition likely to attract widespread interest.

Tom Jones, manager for Wolgast, is now on his way to Los Angeles to close arrangements for the battle with Brown.

Drank Carbolic.

Kingston, March 9.—"Good-bye, I'm going." With these words to his wife, who was near him, Gordon Comper, aged 18, pulled out a bottle of carbolic acid in the dining-room of the Grimson Hotel, at noon yesterday, drank the contents, and rushed to the Hotel Dieu, but died shortly after he arrived.

Despondency and financial worry is given as the cause. He was married six months ago. His brother committed suicide last summer in a fit of jealousy over a girl.

Didn't Pass Exam., Sues.

Montreal, March 9.—Before Justice Bruneau, L. A. Handfield is suing the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Quebec, claiming that when going under examination for admission to the study of medicine, he failed to pass because of irregularities, for which the examining board should account, and for which he should not suffer. He claims questions were changed arbitrarily, and that the examiner sent a substitute instead of attending personally.

Saved Children From Fire.

London, Ont., March 9.—Two children of L. E. Murphy of Nelson street, aged respectively three years and six months, were saved by their mother from fire which broke out in their home at noon yesterday.

The mother went to a neighbor's and the little boy got playing with matches and started a fire in the bedroom. She returned in time to pull the children out through a window. The house was badly gutted.

Over 15,000 men have been employed in lumbering in far western Ontario this winter.

A NATION OF MARKSMEN.

In Switzerland Rifle Shooting Is Fostered as a Sport.

Every man in the peaceful and democratic country of Switzerland is a soldier in a modest way. The able-bodied Swiss enters the army at twenty years of age and serves sixty-five days in his first year. For the next twelve years he trains for three weeks every alternate year. At thirty-two he enters the landwehr and has eight to ten days under arms every fourth year until, at fifty, he retires and is required to furnish no further service except in case of war.

It is not too much to call the Swiss a nation of marksmen. The training periods are occupied only with drill and tactics; the all important matter of shooting is left to the individual soldier to carry out at other times, and he does it under the auspices of the shooting societies which are such a feature of Swiss life.

These societies, under Government control, are called Schutzengesellschaften in the German and Societies de Tir in the French cantons. They are voluntary associations, varying in size and importance with the town or village they serve. Those in the larger towns possess completely fitted ranges and clubhouses; the small villages do their shooting in any field backed by a suitable hill. Every peasant and townsman has easy facilities for shooting, and each man has his service rifle always in his possession.

Every man between the ages of 20 and 32 must fire thirty-two shots in four compulsory exercises every year, and the societies receive a grant of 2 francs for every soldier shooting this course on their ranges. The income derived from the grants generally suffices for the current expenses of the society, supply of targets and pay of marker. There is no entrance fee nor subscription, as a rule, and heavy expenditures, such as that incurred by the construction of new ranges, is met by a special grant from the Government.

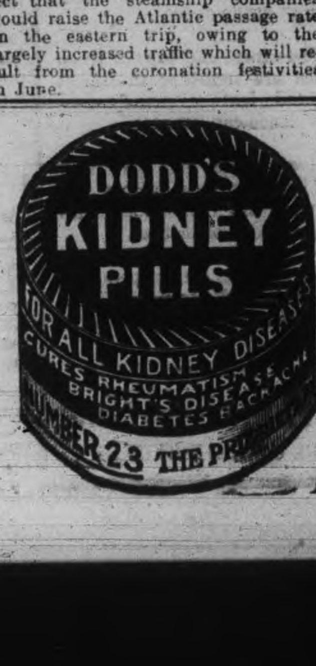
In addition to these exercises, many competitions are held between different villages, towns and cantons. The whole system of Swiss shooting is a good example of co-operation between Government and individual. Every Switzer has his army rifle; he can use it when and where he will, provided he does not endanger other lives; he is insured by his Government against all accidents on the ranges, and through his society he can secure the services of qualified military officers to organize and control his shooting. By treating rifle shooting as a sport, and it is as popular as baseball or football with us and far more generally practiced, the Swiss have removed it from its usual warlike associations, but should occasion arise that which has been learned in sport would be used in earnest.

Names In Samoa.

Travelers visiting Samoa are puzzled at first by the fact that many boys bear feminine names, while girls as frequently have masculine names. The visitors learns after a while, however, that this confusing use of names instead of being due to ignorance is in reality the result of a native custom which is highly poetic. Thus if a girl is born soon after the death of a brother the latter's name is given to her in the belief that his spirit and all his good qualities have been transferred to her. On the other hand, if a boy is born after the death of a sister he takes the latter's name and, as the Samoans believe, all her lovable traits become his.—London Globe.

Won't Raise Rates.

Montreal, March 9.—Local transportation officers in this city, yesterday gave emphatic denial to a rumor which had gained currency to the effect that the steamship companies would raise the Atlantic passage rate on the eastern trip, owing to the largely increased traffic which will result from the coronation festivities in June.



Tea Time Talks

The Healthfulness of Tea

Physicians who often forbid the use of Coffee and Cocoa to the well, prescribe tea for the sick. Of the three, tea is the only beverage that can be drunk for a lifetime without injurious effects. It is a harmless tonic—a gentle stimulant without reaction.

As tea is the most desirable beverage, so "Salada" is tea in its most desirable form.

"Salada" Ceylon Tea comes from tea plant to tea pot untouched by human hands, from the time the leaves fall into the picker's baskets. Its delicate aroma and delicious flavor are perfectly preserved in sealed, air-tight packages.

Ask your grocer for "Salada" Tea or send for a free trial package which makes 25 cups of delicious tea. We will mail it to you without charge. Say whether you use Black, Mixed or Green Tea and the price you pay per pound.

We are all sorry to say that the skating time will soon be over. The ice is in a poor condition and it is said that there will not be any more skating after this week.

The council met on Monday night present Reeve Knox, Councillors Weese, Phillips and Mathison. Minutes of previous meeting read and approved. The following accounts were ordered to be paid:—Wm. Andrew's, snowploughing, $7; M. Petherick, wood, $5; electric lights for February, $58; School Board, $5. A letter was received from Councillor Young, saying he was moving from Havelock and tendered his resignation as councillor. On motion of councillors Phillips and Weese his resignation was accepted and that they very much regretted that circumstances caused him to sever his connection with the council. The clerk was instructed to have a by-law drawn to borrow $9,000 to build cement sidewalks.

Robert McConnell purchased a valuable horse from J. W. Bryans for shipment to the west.

Mrs. C. Davison, who has been very ill for the last week, is able to be around again.

FARMERS NEAR NORWOOD WERE CAUGHT BY TRICKY HORSE BUYER

Took His Pick of the Animals and Departed

Special Correspondence.

The village council met on Wednesday evening, March 1, in the council chamber, Reeve A. Beault in the chair, Councillors C. J. Blake, C. J. Searight, T. Watson and S. Hendren present.

The following accounts were passed—John Juniac, watching on night after fire at F. B. Garlick's, $2.00; Arthur Townsend, watching on night after fire at F. B. Garlick's, $2.00; Geo. Peters, snowplowing, $3.25; Wm. Portway, snowplowing, $1.50; Municipal World account, 71 cents; John McNeely, salary, salary, $45.83; J. F. Stuart, cord wood, T. Hall, $5.00; F. Gardner, cord wood, J. McMaster, $5; Waters & Son, supplies, J. McMaster, $3.11; James Yourese, expenses re investigation re canning industry, $7.05; John Fennell, expenses re investigation re canning industry, $7.05.

Moved by Councillor C. J. Searight, seconded by Councillor S. Hendren, that Mr. D. Foster be appointed a member of the local Board of Health to replace E. J. Laing, who, on account of having been appointed village clerk, is secretary of said Board of Health.

The matter of gravelling the streets during the coming summer was discussed, it being the intent on of the council to do considerable work along that line.

CAUGHT THE FARMERS.

Some of the farmers in this vicinity had a rather unpleasant experience last week, through the unscrupulous action of a horse buyer who was operating here for a few days. The buyer in question had bargained for about thirty horses, to be delivered in Havelock on Friday morning last. All the horses were delivered as agreed upon, but the buyer only purchased and paid for one car load, consisting of about sixteen animals, and many of the ones taken were paid for at a reduced price from that bargained. The remaining horses were ordered to be put in the stables at hotels, with the understanding that they would be put on other cars later in the day, but when the first car was loaded it was attached to an outgoing freight and it, with the slick gentleman, were taken west, and the farmers were left to speculate on the outcome of the business, and afterwards, when their man did not return, to take their horses home with them. Of course many of the farmers in question had been paid one dollar deposit, but that did not compensate them for their trouble and expense, and in some cases prevented the owners from selling to other and more honorable dealers at a good price.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

The Norwood Board of Education met on Monday evening of this week in the armories in the High School, with the following members present—Messrs. E. C. Pakenham, E. C. Squire, D. MacNaughton, E. P. Cuffe, J. A. Finlay, J. F. Elliott, W. Cuthbertson, Thos. Burkell.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted.

The High School inspector's report was read from the chair, and compared with last year's report. The report was very satisfactory, and showed the school as being on the approved list, which is a great advantage to the school, and reflects great credit on the principal, Mr. R. G. Lawlor, and to his assistants, also to the Board who have been untiring for the past two or three years in their efforts to attain to the present standard.

The following accounts were presented—Thos Rahal, Peterborough, work re stock judging course, $50; C. G. Millican, postage on circulars, $15; J. S. Squire, for Agricultural Department, $2.20; Norwood Register, printing and advertising Agricultural Department, $21; H. C. Duff, Agricultural Department, $6.47; G. A. Gillespie, bottle account, $1; T. J. Rahal, repairs, $4.25.

Moved by Mr. Cuffe, seconded by Mr. Doherty, that the Agricultural Committee interview Mr. Duff re bills submitted, and if satisfied of their correctness that they order the payment of same.

The account of T. J. Rahal was referred to the Property Committee.

A communication from Mr. G. A. Howson, enquiring as to the working and results of the Agricultural Department was left with the chairman of the Board to reply to.

A communication from Mr. Duff was read, in which he recommended that the Board take steps to have reforesting undertaken here on a small area of the highest and poorest land that can be procured. He stated that the plants could be procured free from the Department, and the only cost, outside the acquiring of the land, would be the labor of planting. The Board looked upon the proposal with favor, and it was moved by Mr. Burkell and Cuthbertson that the communication of Mr. Duff be received and fyled, and that Mr. Duff be requested to be present at the next meeting of the Board to lay the matter of reforesting more fully before the Board.—Carried.

Mr. Cuffe, on behalf of the Supply Committee, reported that the book asked for in the public school inspector's report had been procured at a discount of 20 per cent. off retail price.

The committee had also purchased 10 cords green hard wood at $4; and five tons hard coal at $7.50.

It was decided to purchase a few more pails to have on hand, kept full of water, to be used in case of fire.

The Property Committee was instructed to confer with the High school principal with a view to obtaining certain things asked for in the inspector's report.

Mr. Harold and Marion Weir returned home on Saturday after a week's visit with friends in Cameron.

Miss Louise Nelson spent last week in Keene, the guest of Mrs. L. Burley.

BENSFORT BRIEFS

Rev. Mr. D. A. McKenzie, Presbyterian minister has been conducting a series of sermons on the Ten Commandments, as written by Moses. The masterly manner in which Mr. McKenzie handled his topic is a tribute to his ability, and much good should be accomplished as a result of his effort. He is very earnest in his discourses, and believes that children in the home and Sabbath schools should be taught these truths as soon as they are able to understand, and his firm belief is that a Sunday school teacher should be a Christian, as an example speaks louder than words.

Representatives from our Township Council and Municipality, waited on the Peterboro City Council on Friday night, in regard to the city sewage question. The sewage that for a number of years been emptied into the Otonabee River below the locks. Farmers and others of the different townships bordering on the river, have been losers in various ways, and are one accord in proclaiming it a nuisance, and a detriment to the general health of all, so situated They have met the Provincial Board of Health on the matter, and a plan was suggested by the Provincial Board, which it is thought will be adopted by the City Council, and we all hope the grievance will be remedied as soon as possible. Mr. Joseph Clark, an old and respected resident is greatly agitated over the matter and knows when he has a most serious grievance to face, as this sewage question proves to be not only to himself but to others as well.

Some claim the fish thrive on sewage but, such is not the case, as filth of any kind is injurious and almost always fatal to fish, as such impurities as saw-dust and sewage, causes parasites and disease among the fish which either drives them out of the infected stream, or kills them through time.

D. Chambers has been visiting friends in Fenelon Falls.

L. Wedlock who has been in Cobourg was home last week on vacation.

A somewhat painful accident happened to Leonard O'Hara at the Millbrook Creamery, last week, when something went wrong with the boiler. His face was badly burned but his injuries are not considered serious. Mr. O'Hara is one of the proprietors of the Bensfort Cheese factory and his many friends hope for a speedy recovery.

W. R. Morrison had a very heavy loss last week, through the death of a valuable colt.

A number of young people attended church at Gore's Landing, last Sunday night.

Dame rumor has it that the C. P. R. are likely to operate a line of steamers on the T. V. C. and Kawartha Lakes. It is hoped they run Saturday trips, as the old system of getting to market in time for dinner is no good. People who take this means of going to market in summer time would appreciate a good boat service.

John Blackely has finished thrashing after a long and successful season.

Mr. J. Duffy is moving into the house vacated by Mr. A. Atchison, and Wm. O'Heir is taking up his residence in the house Mr. Duffy left

Wood cutting is the order of the day, and some are preparing for the syrup season, which is later than last year.

Mrs. Jas. Greer of Oxbow, Sask., has left for home.

Bert Byers of Lakeview is in Pontypool visiting his uncle, M. J. Perrin.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, March 8.—At the Canadian Pacific Live Stock Market the receipts were 750 cattle, 200 sheep and lambs, 1100 hogs and 1500 calves. A weaker feeling developed in the market for cattle and prices show a decline of ¼c lb. since Monday. The supply was not exsessive, but the demand is still somewhat limited on account of the fact that the demand during the Lenten season is always curtailed to some extent, therefore the trade was slow and in order to induce buyers to make purchases drovers were obliged to make the above reduction. Choice steers sold at 6c, good at 5¾c, fairly good at 5½c, fair at 5c and common at 4½c to 4¾c per lb. Prices for cows were ¼c per pound lower, ranging from 3½c to 5½c, and bulls were ¼c to ½c per pound cheaper at from 3½c to 5c per lb.

A feature of the small meat trade was the large increase in the supply of calves and prices had a sharp decline. At the reduction the demand was good and sales were made at from $2.50 to $8 each, and it was stated that the drovers lost from $2 to $3 per head.

A fair trade was done in sheep and lambs at steady prices.

A stronger feeling prevailed in the market for hogs, which was due to the keen demand from packers and sales of selected lots were made at $7.50 to $7.75 per cwt., weighed off the cars, which prices are 10c to 25c per cwt. higher than on Monday.

At the Montreal Stock Yards, west end market, the offerings of live stock were 300 cattle, 550 sheep and lambs, 800 hogs and 800 calves. An active trade was done in all lines of small meats, but prices realized were much the same as those quoted above with the exception of hogs, which were reported unchanged from Monday at $7.40 to $7.50 per cwt., weighed off the cars.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, March 8.—Cattle—Receipts, 50 head; market, active. Prime steers, $6.50 to $6.65; butcher grades, $3.50 to $6.25.

Calves—Receipts, 175 head; market active, 25c higher. Cull to choice, $6 to $11.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 500 head; market active, higher. Choice lambs, $6.75 to $6.85; cull to fair, $5.50 to $6.50; yearlings, $5.25 to $5.75; sheep, $3 to $5.15.

Hogs—Receipts, 1700; market, active, firmer. Yorkers, $7.75 to $7.85; stags, $5 to $5.25; pigs, $7.85 to $7.90; mixed, $7.60 to $7.70; heavy, $7.50 to $7.60; roughs, $6.25 to $6.70.

And Now Come Things For Spring

NEVER BEFORE HAVE WE BEEN SO WELL PREPARED TO MEET THE DEMANDS OF THE PUBLIC AS AT THE PRESENT TIME. EVERY DEPARTMENT IS FILLED WITH A MAGNIFICENT ARRAY OF NEW SPRING GOODS WHICH REPRESENT THE PRODUCTS OF THE LEADING MANUFACTURERS OF EUROPE. HERE WE MENTION A FEW OF THE MANY LINES AWAITING YOUR INSPECTION. :: :: :: :: :: :: ::

New Dress Goods and Suitings

Probably no department in our store has caused more favorable comment than our Dress Goods Section. Every correct shade and weave is displayed in great profusion. Fabrics for practical street dresses and suits, as well as the more elaborate materials for afternoon and evening wear, are represented in plain colors, checks and stripes, in light and dark effects, as well as the famous wear resisting black and navy serges and wide wale fabrics.

New Dress Trimmings

This season we have the PRETTIEST and GREATEST VARIETY of DRESS TRIMMINGS ever shown in Peterboro. You will readily agree with us after seeing this collection. No trouble to show these novelties—just ask to see the Trimming Book, it is the only way to do justice to this beautiful display.

New Silks

In black and white stripes and checks and a very pleasing array of plain colors. You will find JUST WHAT YOU REQUIRE in this department.

Guaranteed Taffeta Silks

News of this kind is sure to be appreciated by every woman. How to get a BLACK TAFFETA SILK that is ABSODUTELY GUARANTEED is a problem we solved only a few weeks ago. No need to worry about the wear—we guarantee it AND TAKE ALL RISKS. Priced at 55c, 75c, and $1.50.

New Laces and Lace Insertions

Are here in a wide variety of pretty designs in black, white cream, navy, new blue, brown, tuscan, etc. Come and see them.

New Wash Goods

In Voiles, Dimities, Organdies, Ginghams, Percales, Chambrays, etc., we are showing a very attractive collection in black, white and colors, at prices to suit the most economical.

New Corset Models

No matter how simple or inexpensive a woman's gown, it may have that indefinable air of correct style and distinction if worn over a WELL FITTING and COMFORTABLE c/c A LA GRACE CORSET. They don't cost any more than the inferior makes and never fail to give satisfaction.

New Gloves

In LACE, SILK and LISLE, as well as the famous PERRIN'S KID GLOVES. We have shades to match all the new spring materials, in all sizes.

New Ribbons

We just received a large shipment of Ribbons in Dresden, stripe and two tone effects and plain colors. Not a wanted shade is missing.

Our DRESSMAKING and LADIES' CUSTOM TAILORING rooms are now open. SATISFACTION is GUARANTEED and all orders will receive the best possible attention. We are getting ready for our MILLINERY OPENING ON ST PATRICK'S DAY. It will be be a great event. No better time than the GOOD OLD 17th for such an occasion. :: :: :: :: ::

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

To The Editor of The Review:

Kindly permit me through the columns of your paper to express my most sincere thanks and appreciation for the many evidences of kindness and sympathy which were extended to my mother, sisters and myself, on the occasion of the fatal accident which overtook my brother, James, at the Canadian General Electric works, on Thursday last.

It was indeed a heavy and sudden blow for all of us, and the one bright feature of the sad affair, was the hearty and tender expressions of kindness and sympathy which were freely offered by all who knew him.

Especially do I wish to offer our sincere thanks to those who were his fellow workers, and who not only sent a beautiful floral tribute but also accompanied his body to its last resting place.

On behalf of my mother and sisters I desire to thank them one and all for their kindness and sympathy.

Yours truly,

GILBERT A. BORLAND.

Toronto, March 8, 11.

Sir—Your evening comtemporary last-night, stated that the best definition of insanity was "paralysis of the regulating or legislating faculties of the mind." Although this may not be in relation to reciprocity if the Examiner will give an acceptable definition of the mind and the functions of its organs, I will vote for annexation at the next election, provided I am mentally, physically, morally, financially, etc., entitled to vote.

Bell Telephone Charges.

Montreal, March 9.—The question of the Bell Telephone Co.'s charge of $5 for the improved telephone instrument and the matter of telephone rates and tolls will be gone into before the Railway Commissioners at their meeting to be held in Montreal in April next.

Crown Attorney Archambault returned from Ottawa yesterday and stated that the legal counsel of the Bell Telephone Co. had asked the railway commissioners for a delay of one week, which had been granted, and that this left the time so short that it would be impossible for him to prepare his reply to the company's plea for the meeting on the 21st inst. at Ottawa.

Broke Through Ice.

Tobermoray, Ont., March 9.—Geo. Young, a popular young man of this place, was drowned on Tuesday while crossing from Cove Island to Tobermoray with a companion, with whom he had been working on the island. The ice on which the men were traveling was broken up a few days ago by heavy winds and had drifted in. Young, who was leading, struck thin ice and broke through. Instead of trying to return to his companion he attempted to break his way through to heavier ice, about forty yards further on. He had almost succeeded, when he called to his friend, saying, "I cannot make it," and sank.

Son Owns the Farm.

St. Catharines, March 9.—Mr. Justice Middleton yesterday afternoon gave judgment for the plaintiff in the action of Alfred Finbow, a Beamsville farmer, who sought to have his father dispossessed of any claim in the farm, worth $9,000, they both live upon: Finbow and his father took over the farm in 1895, the father giving up a mercantile business in Grand Valley. There was only a verbal agreement but letters were produced by the father to indicate that it had been a joint purchase. Some time ago the son got married and he told his parents and sisters to get a home for themselves.

Oldest Resident Dead.

Woodstock, March 9.—Wm. Sweet, aged 75 years, Woodstock's oldest resident, died yesterday. He was born in Biddeford, England, and in his early days was a decorator and painter in London, Eng. He assisted in the decoration of Westminster Abbey when the late Queen Victoria was crowned. He was one of a family of nine, and is survived by three brothers, two of whom are almost eighty years of age.

Vaccination at Montreal.

Montreal, March 9.—The Board of Control has decreed that manufacturers and industrial establishments generally must comply with the bylaw ordering the vaccination of all employes.

The enactment will also be strictly enforced as regards children attending school.

Must Curtail Use of Power.

Ottawa, March 9.—All the users of power at the Chaudiere Falls, including the J. R. Booth Mills and the Ottawa Electric Co. were yesterday afternoon ordered to curtail the amount of power they are using at the falls, as the water is very low.

It will throw a good many men out of work.

Bank Manager's Suicide.

Hamiota, Man., March 9.—The coroner's jury enquiring into the death of A. W. Rutherford, manager of the Bank of Hamilton, brought in a verdict to the effect that he suicided while temporarily insane.

DEATH OF MRS. KNOX AT NORWOOD

Passed Away at Age of 70 Years—Funeral Took Place on Wednesday.

The death occurred at Norwood, Monday of Ann Evans, relict of the late John Knox, and daughter of the late Andrew Evans, of Blackstock, in the township of Cartwright. The cause of her death was cancer from which she had suffered patiently for several months. She was 70 years of age, and was born in Ireland, being brought by her parents to this country when one year old. Her first step was taken on board the ship which brought the party over the broad Atlantic. The parents settled in Cartwright township, where the family was raised. She met and married John Knox, fifty-two years ago, and on March 15, 1909, with her husband celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding. During the greater part of their married life, Mrs. and Mr. Knox, resided in Asphodel, and a few years ago retired to Norwood, to spend the remainder of their lives.

Surviving are three sons and two daughters, who are Messrs. M. E. Knox of Picton, William and Andrew of Asphodel, and Miss Mary Knox of Norwood, and Mrs. G. A. Brethren of Asphodel. Her brothers and one sister reside in different parts of the United States and Canada.

The funeral took place, Wednesday afternoon, to the Norwood cemetery and was largely attended. The services were conducted by Rev. B. W. Tucker, and the pall bearers were the same as carried the remains of her late husband to their last resting place about five weeks ago. They were Messrs. William, Andrew and Matthew Knox, Russell Knox, G. A. Brethren, and Robert Knox.

ON LAURIER'S SPEECH

London newspaper comments cover a wide field. The Times says Canada's adoption of the agreement while it still hangs fire in the States, will give Canada the appearance of waiting on the pleasure of the United States which is not likely to please the Canadian public, and adds: "Sir Wilfrid Laurier's position has become very awkward. Opposition to the agreement is formidable, increasing and not to be ignored. It will not be confined to Conservatives or to particular interests, but includes Liberals and men of great weight in the commercial world."

The Standard says:—"Whatever be the force of Sir Wilfrid's arguments, the proposals constitute a real danger to the Empire and bear upon the whole future of Canada, her evolution as a nation, and the lofty ideals of the noblest of her sons.

A LIGHTHOUSE KEEPER'S STORY

From the light-house at Lobster Cove Head, Bonne Bay, Newfoundland, Mrs. W. Young sends an experience of Zam-Buk, which should certainly act as a true beacon light, guiding all sufferers from skin disease to a safe harbor of refuge.

Mrs. Young says—"I suffered with eczema for seven years, and to my great delight Zam-Buk has cured me. The disease started on my breast, and spread until it extended over my back. The itching and burning—especially when the affected parts were warm—was terrible; and yet when the eruption was scratched or rubbed, it turned to bad sores, and caused great pain. I went to a doctor, and tried various prescriptions, but seemed to get no benefits, so tried another doctor. Again I got no relief, so tried a third doctor, and then a fourth. Although they all did their best for me I got no relief from my pain.

"Seven years is a long time to suffer, and I had got used to the thought that I never would be cured when I saw a report in 'The Family Herald' telling how beneficial Zam-Buk was in cases of skin disease. I thought there would be no harm in giving this balm a fair trial, and bought some.

"Well, from the use of the very first box I saw Zam-Buk was going to do me good. I persevered with it, and the improvement it worked in my condition was really wonderful. It eased the irritation, stopped the pain, and the sores began to dry up and disappear. In short, I found Zam-Buk all that was claimed for it, and within a very short time it worked a complete cure in my case."

Not only for eczema, but for ulcers, abscesses, varicose veins, bad leg, poisoned wounds, cuts, cold sores, chapped places, piles, ringworm, children's eruptions, burns, scalds, and all skin injuries and diseases, Zam-Buk will be found unequalled. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse harmful substitutes and imitations.

ITA AND THE FIND OF A SILVER MINE

Mind Reader Told Where Mysterious Cave Would be Found

A queer story about a silver mine comes from Napanee. There is a mysterious place near that town known as Myers' Cave. About one hundred years ago there was a storekeeper in Belleville named Myers. He bought furs from the Indians, and was friendly with them. He had a sickly son whom the redmen promised to cure. The boy went with them and found the mysterious cave which the Indians would not enter for some superstitious reason. Young Myers explored the place and died shortly afterwards, but left a description of the place.

Ever since, people in the district have been hunting for that wonderful cave. And last fall when "Ita" the mind-reader was in Napanee, a citizen, Mr. S. E. Scott, asked her if he was going to find a mine he was looking for. She said, "Yes" He would find it in less than four weeks near the place he had been exploring. Scott kept up his hunt, in the neighborhood of Missanaga Lake, and found a hatchet marked "M" such as young Myers had claimed he left near the cave. The place had been burned over, and masses of rock filled the hollow. Scott has leased the property and is now busy promoting a mining company capitalized at $180,000.

IS CANADA PROSPERING

At the present time business men in Canada are asking themselves if Canada has really prospered.

If the answer is to be found in the progress made by its leading financial institutions there can be little doubt on this point.

Take for instance the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, which, in another column, prints some figures showing its business in 1910. Assurances in force, cash income, assets, surplus, every line shows handsome increases; but to realize the great growth of business in Canada the comparison of the Company's present business, with that done only a few years back, is still more impressive.

For instance, the amount of new policies issued and paid for in 1910 was about one-half of the total insurance in force in 1900, and almost double the total amount in force in 1890.

The cash income for 1910 practically equalled the Company's total assets in 1900, and was about four times greater than that year's income. Then the amount of assurances in force to-day reached 143 1-2 millions of dollars—a sum which would make many a large English or American company envious.

We Canadians are scarcely sufficiently addicted to blowing our own horn, and we are glad to take this opportunity to point out the progress made by this truly Canadian Institution—the Sun Life of Canada.

RECIPROCITY IS NOT A PARTY QUESTION SAYS SIR JAMES

So Members of Local Assembly Vigorously Argue Question—Sir James Says It Is Not a Party Question and He Is Confident That Canadians Will Stand Shoulder to Shoulder to Keep In Empire.

Toronto, March 10.—Sir James Whitney received an ovation when he rose to propose the anti-reciprocity resolution in the Ontario Legislature yesterday afternoon. Visitors thronged the galleries, while wives of Cabinet Ministers and other privileged guests of the Speaker, occupied seats on the floor of the House.

For sixty-five minutes the Prime Minister vigorously criticized the Taft-Fielding pact. There was no apology needed for bringing the question before the Provincial House, as it directly affected the interests of the province. He could quote precedents in abundance if that were necessary. A former Government had even brought in a resolution asking for the abolition of the Dominion Senate.

It was at a time when Canada was at the zenith of prosperity, contentedly going her own way, that the President of the United States had declared that Canada was "at the parting of the ways."

"Who dares come to us and say that we are at the parting of the ways? How does it fit in with the situation in this country? I should like to hear from him from whom he heard that Canada was at the parting of the ways. Up to a few weeks ago the people of Canada were happy and contented and prosperous. And then comes the cryptic William from the head of a foreign state that they were at the parting of the ways, that a new pathway was opened up and they must choose."

Sir James attributed J. J. Hill's advocacy of reciprocity to his desire to deflect millions of bushels of grain from the Canadian west to the western states. He reviewed the insurgency movement in the Republican party in the United States, and argued that President Taft saw in the reciprocity move a way for discounting the Democratic tariff revision policy, and of furthering his own designs for the annexation of Canada. The widespread sentiment in the United States in favor of the annexation of Canada was demonstrated by resolutions of various state assemblies and the utterances of Champ Clark and other political leaders there.

The farmers of the United States were opposed to reciprocity, it was said, on the ground that it would lower prices there. If that was the case, the greater export of Canadian farm products would intensify the high cost of living, which has reached so extreme a point here already.

If this agreement was ratified and the traffic diverted to the south the rails of the Grand Trunk Pacific and C.P.R. would lie still and rust.

This was not a party question, and as a Canadian he was glad to notice that only one Liberal, in discussing it, had even referred to its effect on the future of his party. There was only one lonely, shrunken and shrivelled soul who, at the Toronto Board of Trade meeting, shrieked that they were voting against the Government.

In conclusion, Sir James declared his confidence that the people of Canada would, in the future as in the past, stand shoulder to shoulder with the other overseas British dependencies, proud of the British traditions, redolent with measures of greatness. Canada would continue steadfast for the permanence of British institutions and for the consolidation of the British Empire.

C. M. Bowman, North Bruce (Lib.), said that Sir John A. Macdonald was on record as expressing the view that a reciprocity treaty with the United States would round off and complete his trade policy.

R. R. Gamey declared that the reciprocity argeement meant "one step farther from the Union Jack, and one step nearer Uncle Sam. Not in its annexational effect, but as a gradual result of placing the commerce of Canada on a continental instead

SIR JAMES WHITNEY.

BOOKS IN THE COURT

New York, March 10.—In the trial yesterday of George Munroe, for using the mail to defraud, Albert P. Smith, an accountant, who had made a special examination of the Munroe books for the Government, testified that on Dec. 31, 1907, just before the Munroes closed shop and fled to Canada, the liabilities over the assets amounted to $116,111. There were 12,428 shares of stock undelivered, of which 8,190 were shares of English Marconi Wireless. The firm at that date had but 101 shares of English Marconi. During the year 1907, the books showed that the Munroes had delivered 1,011 shares of Marconi Wireless. The cash on hand on Dec. 31, 1907, including bank accounts, amounted to $8.52.

Vast fortunes made selling popcorn and peanuts were cited by Munroe in his campaign to float a "boot black trust," according to the testimony of Walter M. Watson, who was recalled at the afternoon session. Watson testified that he received $10 a week salary as president of the Metropolitan Syndicate, a Munroe concern, the business of which he said was "nothing." Watson said he had carried 500,000 shares of the bootblack trust for Munroe.

DETECTIVES DID NOT FIND JEWELS

Ocean Robbery Likely to Remain an Unsolved Mystery.

Special to The Review.

Plymouth, March 10.—The detectives who crossed the Atlantic on the liner Amerika have reported that they failed to get any trace of the jewels stolen from Mrs. Marvin Drummond during her west-bound trip. The case is a baffling one, the detectives having very little to work on.

Alaska Central Land Fraud.

Chicago, March 10.—Inside information on the most gigantic land fraud ever under investigation by the Government came to light with the seizure by special agents of books, correspondence, deeds and various documents at the offices of A. C. Frost, promoter of the Alaska Central Railway and of the receiver, George M. Seward.

The Government's claim is that original prospectors were never paid for their options. It is said that, after the Alaska Central went into the hands of a receiver, Labaree, one of Frost's agents, continued a manipulation of the coal land claims, and implicated several Canadians whom he represented in the United States Government land investigation. Two witnesses from Canada will arrive in Chicago to-day and go before Federal grand jury, which began an investigation yesterday morning.

Coronation at London.

London, Ont., March 10.—Arrangements have been completed for holding a mock coronation here, June 22, on the biggest carnival scale ever attempted in London. It is expected that 10,000 members of the Canadian Order of Foresters and friends will be here for the Empire's holiday. The king and queen for the ceremony are to be chosen by popular ballot through newspaper coupons.

More Ready-Made Farms.

London, March 10.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The Southern Alberta Land Co. meeting yesterday was most satisfactory in character. It will be announced shortly through a subsidiary company that a scheme of ready-made farms to attract the best kind of British emigrant will be ready.

MUST STOP SMUGGLING

President Says U. S. Means to Put an End to Revolution by Preventing the Smuggling of Arms Into the Republic—Idea Is Also to Prevent Rioting In Case of the Death of President Diaz.

Washington, March 10.—That the administration has decided to dissemble no longer in its reasons for the sudden and unprecedented movement of troops to the Mexican border, is indicated by the following despatch, received last night from the staff correspondent of the Associated Press, dated Charlottesville, Va., through which place the President's train passed last night at 7.10 o'clock, reads in part as follows:

"All doubt as to the purpose of the Government in sending 20,000 troops to the Mexican border has at last been swept away. The United States has determined that the revolution in the republic to the south must end. The American troops have been sent to form a solid military wall along the Rio Grande to stop filibustering and to see that there is no further smuggling of arms and men across the international boundary.

There was little doubt in the minds of these (administration) officials that the true meaning of the "manoeuvres soon would be known, and the logical interpretation so quickly put on them of troops unquestionably disconcerted the administration officials from President Taft down.

The Washington Government unexpectedly found itself confronted by the necessity of throwing an army along the border line of Mexico to stop the source of supply to the revolutionists, and to be in a position to invade Mexico at a moment's notice in the event of the death of President Diaz or any other untoward circumstance which might precipitate general fighting or rioting.

Taft's Assurance.

Washington, D.C., March 10.—President Taft yesterday assured Mr. De Labarra, the Mexican ambassador to the United States, that the troops were in Texas for manoeuvres, and that there was nothing that should excite alarm or unusual interest.

The question of the safety of foreign interests in Mexico has been the subject of a formal discussion by foreign nations with the Government of the United States. This information was ascertained from official sources yesterday, but it was added that the discussions had been indefinite and did not reach the stage of representations.

Diaz In Good Health.

New York, March 10.—In view of renewed reports concerning President Diaz, it can be stated that a despatch from the Associated Press correspondent at Mexico City stated that he had personally seen the President on Tuesday night, when he was in apparent good health.

Another despatch received from Mexico City Wednesday night referred to President Diaz receiving Admiral Lajarte at 5 p.m., and later conferring at his town mansion with the governor of Guanajuato.

Postage on Magazines.

Washington, D.C., March 10.—Justice Charles E. Hughes, of the Supreme Court of the United States, has been designated as head of the commission to investigate second-class postage rates, especially with reference to magazines. Former Solicitor-General Lawrence Maxwell, of Cincinnati, will be another member.

MADE DOUBLY SURE OF DYING

New York, March 9.—Standing on the edge of the roof of a Broom street tenement house early to-day an unidentified man sent two revolver bullets into his head. His body crashed to the street five stories below, and ambulance surgeons who examined it say death from the bullet wounds must have been instantaneous.

That the suicide had intended to make sure of dying if his revolver failed him was indicated by the finding on the roof of a bottle filled with a powerful acid. In a memorandum book in his clothing was written an incoherent note, addressed to "My brother-in-law," telling of the writer's ill-health and poverty, and asking that his body be cremated. The note was unsigned.

TORONTO'S EMPHATIC PROTEST

The monster anti-reciprocity meeting at Toronto last night, attended by 5,000 people, passed this strong resolution—

That this meeting protests against the adoption of the reciprocity agreement with the United States of America because—

1. It would substantially reverse the policy which has brought Canada to her present prosperous and enviable position, and cause widespread disturbance in her trade and injury to many interests, and jeopardize the commercial and political status of the Dominion.

2. It would hamper Canada's freedom in developing her own resources in her own way and by her own people.

3. It would check the growth and development of trade between the various provinces and parts of Canada with each other, and between Canada and the Empire, and would diminish Canada's position and influence as a unit in the British Empire.

4. It would lead to commercial union, and ultimately tend to political union with the United States.

5. Because the agreement was negotiated in secret and without consultation with the commercial interests involved, and without any mandate from the people.

6. This meeting claims that before the agreement is made effective by legislation the question should be passed upon by the people at a general election, and to prevent a continuation of the commercial disturbance which the agreement has already caused the election should be held without delay.

FIELDING MUST COME OUT AND FURNISH ALL DETAILS

Mr. Borden and Dr. Reid of Grenville Say Hon. Mr. Fielding Must Give the Same Information Here as Was Given to Congressmen—H. H. Miller Has Startling Theories—A. S. Goodeve Assails Agreement.

Ottawa, March 10.—The Dr. Fell of the Canadian Parliament had his innings yesterday. H. H. Miller (S. Grey), occupied the afternoon in a defence of reciprocity, using most of the arguments advanced by previous speakers. He advanced the startling theory that agricultural products in the United States were diminishing and would soon reach the vanishing point. When Andrew Brodeur (Dundas) recently went on record that intensive farming practice would increase the natural products of that country by fifty and one hundred per cent.

There was a breeze over the information regarding the wages, prices of commodities in Canada supplied to members. Mr. Borden asked again that information be given the members similar to that afforded the U. S. Congress. He repeated that it was necessary in order to discuss the reciprocity agreement intelligently.

Mr. Fielding said such information had been compiled by an official of the Department of Labor and had been published some time ago.

Dr. Reid of Grenville said this was not what was wanted. If Mr. Fielding wanted to get the resolution through the House in decent time, he would find it better to produce the information. "We are going to get this information," he declared. "If we can't get it one way we will get it in another. If he can't bring down a pamphlet he will have to give us the information in the House itself. It is his duty to do so."

H. H. Miller (South Grey), who moved the adjournment of the debate on the reciprocity agreement Wednesday, then resumed the discussion. He said that the agreement when it went into effect would tend to regulate the prices of commodities in both countries. He quoted statistics to show that the experts of the United States in cattle, beef, wheat, butter and other products of the farm were decreasing rapidly, and will soon be at the vanishing point.

Mr. Miller argued that if these predictions were to come true, it meant that the agreement would remain a permanent thing, and that when the day came when Canada's production would have increased by one hundredfold we would be very glad to have the big American market.

A. S. Goodeve (Kootenay), was especially severe on the manner in which the agreement was negotiated. He said the Government was desirous of detracting the attention of the people from the reign of graft and corruption that had prevailed. Two men had been sent to Washington. They had entered into a surreptitious agreement. When the announcement was made to the House, he observed that the "stage was prepared and the claquers were in the rear. At the psychological moment the Minister of Finance entered and laid his Pandoras box on the desk. Then after a few moments he rose, touched a spring, opened his box, and forthwith there emerged a Trojan horse." Loud laughter greeted this oratical bull.

London Club Raided.

London, Ont., March 10.—Information which came from the Mercer Reformatory and which was submitted in detail to the department at Toronto, caused the police here to get busy Wednesday night and a fashionable club, in which some of the members of twenty of London's best families belonged, was raided. The president of the club, who holds a responsible position, was charged with selling liquor without license, was fined and allowed to go on condition that the place is cleaned right out at once.

Shot Wife and Self.

New York, March 10.—Revolver shots were heard in a private dining-room in a small uptown hotel Wednesday night, and employes found W. Hall, a railroad clerk, who had come from Chicago on Tuesday, dead, and his wife, Bella, fatally wounded. A revolver was beside Hall's body, but a dozen cortridges in the woman's stocking puzzled the police.

Mass Meeting at Toronto.

Toronto, March 10.—Four thousand persons assembled at Massey Hall last night to attend the mass meeting held to protest against the reciprocity agreement, and they passed a resolution condemning the pact, lock, stock and barrel.

Prosecuting Hamilton Firm.

Hamilton, March 10.—The Dominion Government is prosecuting the Fowler's Canadian Co. on a charge of using boracic acid and other ingredients, contrary to law, in its pickling vats. Inspector Cook of Ottawa laid the information yesterday.

CENSUS MAY SHOW EIGHT MILLION

Ottawa, March 10.—"We hope and feel that the census of Canada to be taken this summer will show an increase in the population of the country over that of the last official census in 1901 of at least fifty per cent.," said Archibald Blue, census commissioner, yesterday morning. The work will be commenced on June 1st.

According to estimate, the census will show the total population of Canada to be nearly 8,000,000. In 1901 it was about 5,371,000. The estimate is largely based on the immigration figures for the past ten years, and the natural increase.

Mr. Blue said that he felt that the Maritime Provinces would show a slight increase. All the other provinces would show substantial increases.

Make Harem Skirt Illegal

Springfield, Ill., March 10.—Harem and hobble skirts were the subject of a bill presented in the House yesterday by Representative Murphy, of Chicago.

"Hobbles," measuring less than one and one-half yards, and not more than three yards at the bottom, are prohibited. An absolute ban is placed upon the "Harem" skirt, by the bill, which prohibits any woman appearing in public in the garb. Heavy fines for violation of the proposed law is provided.

Appointed Postmaster.

Kingston, March 10.—John Druce has been appointed postmaster at Kingston station. He succeeds Alex. Campbell.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Thousand Island and St. Lawrence River Steamboat Co., W. J. Douglas resigned as director, and Henry Perry, Buffalo, general passenger agent of the New York Central Railway, was appointed in his place. B. L. Jones, Buffalo, was also elected director.

ORANGE ORDER IN POLITICS

Barrie, March 10.—The Orange Order has plunged into politics. It has been accused of "dabbling" for years and years but it has now taken the "dive" to recover "the game as well as the name." Bi-lingual schools is to be the issue. The 600 odd delegates to the Grand Lodge of Ontario West unanimously pledged themselves to vote only for those candidates for the Legislature who will promise to abolish bi-lingual schools and are willing to confine the religious teachings in the schools to what the Department of Education authorizes.

The Pope's interdict regarding mixed marriages was volleyed at with cleared decks, but the discussion and the resolution resulting from it are withheld from publication. However, it was decided to ask for legislation from the Federal Government which will declare that a marriage legally contracted in any province shall be binding in any or all other provinces of the Dominion. This is a dead set against the canon law of Quebec.

Also there was the perennial resolution against Irish home rule.

LATEST ADVICES ON THE BIG SCARE

United States Troops Will Invade Mexico if Necessary.

Special to The Review.

Washington, March 10.—Advices received here from President Taft's special train in Georgia, are to the effect that the United States troops are being concentrated on the Mexican border with a view of co-operating with the Mexican government to crush the revolutions. If it is found necessary Mexico will be invaded by the American soldiers.

BAD PAIR GOT FOUR YEARS IN PEN AND TWENTY LASHES

Toronto Men Who Assaulted Woman Severely Punished

Toronto, March 10.—Four years in Kingston penitentiary and twenty lashes apiece was the dose handed out by Magistrate Denison yesterday to Carl Epstein and Charles Sandler, both of Montreal.

These two young men, 19 years of age, were found guilty on a charge of robbing and assaulting Lena Miller at 1 Plymouth avenue a week ago.

Sandler in the box admitted buying the chloroform but said it was with Epstein's money. He also blamed Epstein for the whole thing and said he was induced by him to go into the matter. He said Epstein took everything that was stolen.

Epstein took the box and blamed Sandler and said it was Sandler's own money that purchased the chloroform. Sandler took the money and the coat.

"I think they are a bad pair," said the colonel. "They will go to the penitentiary for four years each and also get twenty lashes, ten when they go there and ten when they have served half their sentence."

BITTER WORDS IN THE COMMONS

Churchill and Lord Cecil Became Personal During Stormy Debate.

Special to The Review.

London, March 10.—The House of Commons adjourned this morning at ten o'clock after an all night stormy debate on the land clause of the budget. Winston Churchill and Lord Hugh Cecil, both Unionists, were very much in evidence during the discussion and their bitter exchanges contained personal attacks. Captain Craig, a Unionist Irish member, in the midst of an excited Nationalist demonstration, asked permission for the opposition to throw the whole Nationalist party out of the House.

TAXING THE BAR

The hotelmen in Hamilton have raised the price of accomodation fifty cents a day, as an answer to the 5 per cent tax on bar receipts, imposed by the provincial treasurer. The hotelmen apparently think that they will demonstrate that the Government cannot impose any extra expenditure on them without it being taken out of the pockets of the traveling public, and that the man who pays the tax in the end is in this case the "ultimate consumer," or the poor traveling public.

Inasmuch as the tax is levied, only on bar receipts, the hotelmen should take it out of the bar receipts in the form of higher prices for wet goods. It is not just to the traveling public to tax them for the benefit of the boozer; because the traveling public's welfare is vastly more important than the welfare of the boozer. The two branches of the business should not be intermixed. The bar exists not as the reason for the hotel, but merely as an adjunct or convenience. It is making the tail wag the dog to make the advance in prices because of the bar tax. And we believe that it will react on the hotelmen in increased disfavor with the public.

The hotelmen claim that the bar has to make up for the deficit on the other end of the business, the dining room end. It has been proven in many instances that a hotel can be run without the assistance of the bar, though as a general rule, it is admitted that the quality of accomodation suffers in a temperance hotel rather severely.

There are dozens, hundreds of travelers who never see the insid of a bar in the hotel in which they are stopping. In fact, we believe that half of the traveling public is not at all concerned in the bar. Why then, should these people be called on to pay part of the tax on the bar sales, relieveing the burden on the bar-patron, and lessening the efficiency of the dining-room to that extent?

FIFTH AVENUE BIRTHS

Mrs. Elinor Glyn, the author of Three Weeks, and other works, made the statement in London that a New York doctor had told her that not a baby had been born on Fifth avenue in the last two years. An investigation discloses the fact that in the two years eighteen babies were born on the fashionable avenue from Washington Arch to Fifteenth Street, a distance of five miles. From One Hundred and Fiftieth street to One Hundred and Fortieth street, occupied by less fashionable people, 147 babies made their appearance in the same period, clearly indicating that the fashionable section of the avenue considers the stork an abominable bird.

The Fifth avenue birth rate is declared to be the lowest of any, residential street in the world. This is not a natural condition and it indicates race suicide in a most aggravated form, for the thinking person will refuse to believe that human nature is any the less human nature on Fifth avenue. The fact that the birth rate is so low may be taken as an indication of homes barren of congeniality or love of any sort. It is a monumental tribute to the rigidity of the rules which govern this so-called social set, and it is a mighty good thing for the country at large that Fifth avenue is but a very small street in a very large world, much though its inhabitants may think otherwise.

SIR WILFRID'S SPEECH

The Premier's long-looked-for speech on reciprocity has been digested by the country, and there is a feeling of distinct disappointment. What the people were looking for from the leader of the government was not rhetoric, of which he is such a master; not flowing periods, epigrams, fervid declamations, but a sound, commonsense and practical exposition of the merits of the reciprocal agreement.

The country asked for the bread of practical common-sense and sound reasoning; it got the stone of ear-tickling platitudes, and empty phrases. The speech of Hon. Clifford Sifton contained five times as much reasoning, facts, logical conclusions, and appealing reasons against reciprocity as the premier's effort in favor of it. The speech which the Prime Minister made was unconvincing—so unconvincing that it must have come from an unconvinced and insincere heart. What sort of answer is it to the practical objections to reciprocity raised by Sifton, Van Horne and Sir Bryon Walker, for the premier to admit, that he is not a business man, that if he had taken hold of the financial affair he would have made a sorry mess of it?

What sort of answer is it, in reply to Sifton's objections on the question of the conservation of Canada's forests from the rapacity of the American paper trust, for Sir Wilfrid to say that we are not Indians, following the Indian policy of conserving our resources for our children?

What sort of answer was it, in reply to the arguments against reciprocity on the score that things were prosperous enough to be let a one, to say that Canada isn't China, and is not pursuing the Chinese policy of letting things remain as they are?

These answers are neither reasonable, enlightening or argument of any kind whatever. They are the answers of a peevish old man, unable to, or willing to, meet his opponents on the fair ground of facts, figures, or logic. Sir Wilfrid attempted to substitute for the solid meat of clinching practical reasons for reciprocity the shadow of empty rhetoric, the unsatisfying appeal of mere phrases.

If the Liberal leader cannot answer the case of the Opposition better than that, then reciprocity is certainly without any justification, even at the hands of its chief priest. Sir Wilfrid delved into history on the question, to show that both parties, having been willing to adopt reciprocity thirty or forty years ago, was plenty of justification for the adoption of it now, even in the face of widely different conditions. He went back to thirteen years before confederation. Is there any similarity, any parallel to be drawn between the Canada of to-day and the collection of poverty-stricken scattered provincial wildernesses of thirteen years before confederation? Even in the conditions existing in 1891 and 1911?

Sir Wilfrid said that no amount of legislation would prevent the people from trading in natural lines. He was arguing against a policy which would retain in Canada all the benefits possible of the transportation of the products of Canada—he would, because Washington and Oregon are south of British Columbia, have British Columbia trade with the Pacific Coast States, because it looks like a natural line. He would have trade move north and south, destroying the western market for the eastern manufacturer and the eastern farmer, because it is in "natural lines." Carrying this to a logical conclusion, he would remove the forty-ninth parallel entirely for trade purposes, and let produce move over Jim Hill's railways, if Jim Hill can get it, without let or hindrance, this being in natural lines.

To attempt to keep for Canada its trade within Canadian boundaries as much as possible does not appeal to Sir Wilfrid. Most of the reciprocity advocates have contented themselves with the argument that Canada should have a market close at hand for its EXPORTABLE SURPLUS. They have not gone so far as to say that Canada should not attempt by legislation, by the means of tariff, or customs restrictions, to keep its interprovincial trade and the hundred and one enterprises depending thereon, within Canadian borders, as far as possible.

The speech of Premier Laurier has not strengthened his case. He may follow his blind course, dragging the Opposition after him, if he will, but the day of reckoning comes near.

Sir William Van Horne, a great business strategist, says more in a paragraph than Sir Wilfrid said in all his eloquence and masterly periods. Think this over—

"Let us not run away with the idea that if we make a mistake in this matter of reciprocity we shall be able to correct it at pleasure. We may not be permitted to do it. It should be remembered that there are such things as vested interests with nations as with individuals and corporations and that the vested interests of nations, real or alleged, are terribly binding upon the weaker party. When Mr. Hill has extended his seven or eight lines of railway into the Canadian Northwest—lines which have for some years been resting their noses on the boundary line waiting for reciprocity or something of the kind, to warrant them in crossing—and when other American channels of trade have been established, affecting our territory, and when the American millers have tasted our wheat and the American manufacturers have got hold of our markets, it is probable that we shall be permitted to recede? Not a bit of it. We are making a bed to lie in and die in."

EDITORIAL NOTES

The next great question to agitate the House of Parliament is, who is going to the Coronation?

It is said that Mr. Turriff, of Assiniboia, is to become a cabinet minister. Won't that be a Turrific affair!

Lord Kitchener will command the troops at the coronation, and this is a guarantee that thr military end of the pagent will be properly handled.

The Ontario Vegetable Growers' Association has registered an objection to reciprocity. They are not strictly farmers, but they are producers from the soil. The agricultural population is anything but united on the question.

Moving pictures "wuz took" of Sir Wilfrid making his great peroration. Heretofore moving pictures have been mostly confined to Jeffries and Johnson, the baseball league stars, and other sporting celebrities in action. In which class does Sir Wilfrid qualify?

Two young men who chloroformed a young woman in Toronto and robbed her of $50, which she carried in her stocking, were sentenced to four years at Kingston, and twenty lashes each. The lashes are the most effective part of the sentence, and will be an object lesson to other assaulters of women.

Magistrate Denison won't try the book case where Toronto book-sellers are charged with selling obscene literature, for disposing of Balzac's Droll Stories, and the unexpurgated edition of the Arabian Nights. The magistrate doesn't conider himself such a literary authority that he would pronounce on the subject, which is only a matter of opinion.

The Montreal Star contains a good cartoon on the reciprocity question. It depicts four bulls of the famous Bovril type, named South Africa, Australia, New Zealand and India, and they are looking sorrowfully at a small bottle of preserved condensed beef with the stars and stripes sticking out of the top. "Alas! my poor brother," says the chorus.

R. L. Borden says that he is opposed to any system of secret tariffs, and tariff agreements which cannot be altered in Parliament. That is a sound proposition, which can bear criticism from every angle, and emerge scathless. No agreement should be made by any government of Canada which cannot be altered by the representatives of the people assembled, so that all interests may get a proper hearing.

AFTER THE TEMPEST.

The Genial Calm That Settled Over the Pretty Schoolma'am.

A pretty schoolma'am once taught school in a Long Island village. All the young fellows for miles around were mad about her, but the schoolma'am was proud, and none of the boys seemed to stand the ghost of a chance.

Young Jim Brown, the judge's son, was the best looking chap in the town, and Jim probably loved the schoolma'am more than any of her other swains, but he never had the pluck to declare himself. He felt too small and mean before the beauty and learning of the schoolma'am. But one day, the schoolma'am being away on a visit in New York state, Jim asked advice of the editor. The editor said:

"Take the bull by the horns and insert an announcement of your forthcoming marriage in my society column. It will cost you only 50 cents."

So Jim inserted an announcement to the effect that the schoolma'am and he would be married the next month and would spend their honeymoon at Atlantic City.

Well, a short time after this announcement appeared the schoolma'am came back home. Jim heard on all sides how furious she was. For several days he kept away from her. Then one afternoon as she was coming home from school he ran plump into her in the lane.

She let him know at once what she thought of him and his outrageous conduct. She stormed and raved, and her pretty eyes flashed fire. Jim stood first on one foot and then on the other, and finally he blurted out:

"Well, if you don't like it I can have the announcement contradicted."

"Oh, bother it!" said the schoolma'am. "It's too late now."—Washington Star.

THEY LIKE PRISON LIFE.

A Class of Persons In Japan Who Try to Break Into Jail.

In Japan there are people who make sham confessions in order to obtain a period of the comparative warmth and comfort of a Japanese prison. The Japan Mail says: "The police slang of the capital has words to describe and distinguish these persons. 'Meshikui,' or the rice criminal, will steal some small article from a shop front in such a way as to be seen doing it. He then makes a bolt of it, pursued by the master of the shop, or some faithful kozo, but presently allows himself to be caught and handed to the police. He has to 'do time' for his pretended theft, but his rice is secured for a period, and when that period has elapsed he will allow himself to be caught again.

"The 'unandon,' or 'eel bowl' criminal, is wilier than the one just mentioned. He does not actually commit a crime, such as will put him into the convict side of the prison, but allows himself to be found looking in suspicious places, underneath the broad verandas of a temple, or in the garden of a private house. He gets into prison all right, but he secures the more generous treatment of the house of detention, which is to the fare of the convict jail what a dish of eels is to a bowl of plain rice.

"The 'kuruma' is a criminal who makes a sham confession in order to sneak a free railway ride. The Asasi tells of a case connected with a murder, known as the 'decapitated corpse case,' which took place last year. A man gave himself up to the police in Sendai as the perpetrator of the crime. He was brought to Tokyo and his story investigated. It was found to be a pure fabrication."

A Strauss Story.

A French contemporary tells a piquant story of the composer of "Salome." He was dining one night with a party of musical friends when the conversation turned on the compositions of the kaiser. Some of the guests had expressed their opinions pretty freely when Herr Strauss put his finger to his lips and said: "Sh-sh! You should never run down the compositions of crowned heads in company. There is no telling who wrote them."

Some Letters.

An ingenious person has discovered that the three most forcible letters in our alphabet are N R G (energy), that the two which contain nothing are M T (empty), that four express great corpulence, O B C T (obesity); that two are in a decline, D K (decay); that four indicate exalted station, X L N C (excellency), and three excite our tears, yet when pronounced together are necessary to a good understanding —L E G (elegy and leg).

Willing to Compromise.

"Didn't you promise never to do that again?"

"Yes, father."

"And didn't I promise to whale you good if you didn't?"

"Yes, but I broke me promise and won't hold you to yours."—Toledo Blade.

To the Point.

At a teacher's conference one of the school principals rose to propose the toast, "Long live the teachers."

And a meager, pallid assistant instructor in a hollow voice asked, "On what?"—Ladies' Home Journal.

Its Resemblance.

"Did the man whose auto was in collision last night give it a cursory examination?"

"It sounded that way, sir."—Baltimore American.

Advice is not disliked because it is advice, but because so few people know how to give it.—Leigh Hunt.

Which Is Which?

Above a certain cafe there are two rooms, the one being occupied by a women's "sewing circle," the other being the dining room of the cafe. Outside the cafe hangs the sign, "Grill-room Upstairs."

The German proprietor of the cafe is still wondering why the president of the sewing circle denounces the sign as libelous and demands its removal.

RECIPROCITY NOT A PARTY QUESTION SAYS SIR JAMES

of an independent national or British imperial basis.

The debate was resumed at the evening session by J. McEwing, Liberal, West Wellington. "The manufacturers," he said, "are afraid that if this tariff arrangement goes through it will be such a success that there will be an overwhelming demand for a general lowering of the tariff. This has been considered, and admitted by a great many of the manufacturers."

W. H. Hoyle, Conservative, North Toronto, replying to W. Proudfoot said: "They say Canadians are suspicious toward annexation. I ask why Canadians should not be suspicious. We have never had a commercial treaty with the United States but what we have found that Uncle Sam had a string attached to which he invariably pulled for the benefit of that republic."

Valentine Stock, Liberal, South Perth, thought it was not the Provincial Legislature's place to dictate to the Dominion Government. "Ontario has eighty-six members sent to Ottawa to represent her," he said.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

The Saskatchewan Legislature unanimously adopted a resolution in favor of the trade agreement.

One passenger was killed and several others injured in a collision on the Intercolonial near Derby Juncton, N.B.

The famous old Evergreen House in Prince Edward County was sold by auction for $160. The encroaching sandbanks are rapidly destroying the property.

Eloped With Brother's Wife.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., March 10.—With the deportation yesterday of William Hall, a deserter from the U. S. army, a story of a brother's ingratitude was unfolded by Inspector Armstrong, of the Dominion Immigration Service.

Hall, after deserting his post at Fort Shelling, St. Paul, fled to the home of his brother James, at Fibre, Mich., where he lived with his wife and two small children. Finding on his arrival that his brother was absent in Saginaw, he importuned the wife to elope with him to Canada. With the knowledge that he was a dangerous character and was already wanted for shooting, and fearful of the consequences should she refuse, she started with him for Blind River, Ont., where her husband located them.

British Naval Estimates.

London, March 10.—The naval estimates issued last night provide for the expenditure of $281,962,500, an increase of $19,000,000 on the previous year. The cost of new construction is fixed at $75,319,385. The program includes five Dreadnoughts, three protected cruisers, one unarmored cruiser, 20 destroyers, six submarines, and an increase in the personnel of the navy of 3,000 men.

The naval building proposals have caused a good deal of discussion of late. According to the reports, the Admiralty wanted six new Dreadnoughts laid down this year. Reginald McKenna, First Lord of the Admiralty, favored five, but the radical section of the Cabinet and Liberal party insisted that four would suffice.

Magistrate's Name Was Forged.

Carleton Place, Ont., March 10.—Alf. James, a young man arrested at Smith's Falls, charged with attempting to pass a forged check on the Union Bank here on Monday, was committed for trial. Mayor Smythe held court in the place of Magistrate McNully, whose name was forged to a check for $365.50.

Shot Over Bag of Peanuts.

Chicago, March 10.—A quarrel over a bag of peanuts resulted in the probable fatal shooting of Fred. Meyer, in the presence of an after-theatre crowd. After a few words with Meyer, who was a railway ticket agent, W. D. Page, a bookkeeper, shot him through the brain, stepped over the body and started leisurely down the steps.

British Bye-Election.

London, March 10.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—In the N. E. Lanark bye-election, Millar, Liberal, received 7,976 votes; Geoff, Unionist, 6,776, and Robertson, Labor, 3,879. There was no change in the representation of the constituency.

Shot Himself on Edge of Roof.

New York, March 10.—Standing on the edge of the roof of a Broome street tenement house early yesterday an unidentified man sent two revolver bullets into his head. His body crashed to the street five storeys below.

Diamonds.

Diamonds were first brought to Europe from the east, where the mine of Sumbulpoor was the first known. Golconda, now in ruins, was once a celebrated diamond mart. The mines of Brazil were discovered in 1728 and for a long time furnished most of the diamonds of commerce. In 1867 diamonds were discovered in Cape Colony, and in 1870 the wonderful finds in the Transvaal were made which resulted in the immense fortunes of the late Cecil Rhodes and others. Most of the diamonds of the world are now furnished by the South African fields. —New York American.

A Crusher.

"Yes, sir," said the trust magnate proudly, "I am the architect of my own fortune."

"Well," rejoined the friendly critic, "all I've got to say is that it's a lucky thing for you there were no building inspectors around when you was constructing it."—Chicago News.

The Honeymoon.

"Mamma, is a honeymoon a vacation?"

"It may be, my dear, and it may be the beginning of a long period of servitude."—Youngstown Telegram.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, March 9.—The railways reported 73 car loads of live stock, consisting of 864 cattle, 1370 hogs, 1331 sheep and lambs, 49 calves and 4 horses.

Exporters.

Trade was dull, so much so that sellers had to run after the buyers to get them to make an offer in many instances.

The market was not as good at the close as at the commencement of the week and while a few choice picked cattle sold up to the $6 mark, the great bulk of sales were made from $5.25 to $5.50. Common light unfinished and medium cattle were a drug on the market, so much so that many buyers and sellers joined in pronouncing the cattle trade to-day as being the slowest of the season thus far, and prices 15c to 20c per cwt. lower for the common light unfinished. The good cattle held about steady.

Butchers.

Prime picked lots, $5.90 to $6; we heard of only 5 cattle at the latter price; good to choice loads sold from $5.40 to $5.85; medium, $5.15 to $5.30; common, $4.90 to $5.10; cows, $3 to $5.25; bulls, $4 to $5.25; canners, $2 to $2.75.

Milkers.

Trade was slow and prices generally lower for the medium milkers and springers. Prices were quoted at $40 to $70, the bulk selling at $45 to $55.

Veal Calves.

There was a strong market for anything worthy of the name of veal. Prices ranged from $3.50 to $9 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Sheep and lambs sold at firmer prices. Lambs, $6 to $6.75, and one lot of 5 light lambs, at $6.90; sheep, ewes, $4.50 to $4.85; rams, $3.50 to $4.25.

Hogs.

Prices were quoted slow, but unchanged at $7.05 for selects, fed and watered at the market, and $6.75, f.o.b. cars, at country points. Heavy hogs over 220 lbs., 50c per cwt. less than above quotations.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

The great Uterine Tonic, and only safe effectual Monthly Regulator on which women can depend. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, 10 degrees stronger, $3; No. 3, for special cases, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. NEW YORK, March 9.—Beeves—Receipts 1600. No trading, feeling steady.

Calves—Receipts 147. No trading; feeling unchanged.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts 4674. Feeling firm for both sheep and lambs. Sheep $3.50 to $4.75; lambs $5.75 to $6.85; few extra, $6.85.

Hogs—Receipts 1700. No trading; feeling firm.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, March 9.—Cattle—Receipts estimated at 5000; market steady. Beeves, $5.20 to $6.90. Texas steers, $4.40 to $5.70; western steers, $4.70 to $5.80; stockers and feeders, $3 to $5.85; cows and heifers, $2.65 to $5.90; calves, $7 to $9.

Hogs—Receipts, estimated at 28,000; market slow, generally 5c lower. Light, $6.85 to $7.15; mixed, $6.75 to $7.10; heavy, $6.55 to $7; rough, $6.55 to $6.75; good to choice heavy, $6.75 to $7; pigs, $6.50 to $7; bulk of sales, $6.85 to $7.

Sheep—Receipts, estimated at 15,000; market steady. Native, $3 to $4.80; western, $3.15 to $4.89; yearlings, $4.75 to $5.75; lambs, native, $5 to $6.35; western, $5.25 to $6.35.

Colonial Troops at Coronation.

London, March 10.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—At the coronation the colonial troops will be quartered at the Duke of York's School, Chelsea. Lord Strathcona has given $1,250 to the entertainment fund. Lord Kitchener will command all the troops.

Fitzhugh Favors Reciprocity.

London, March 10.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—E. H. Fitzhugh, vice-president of the G.T.R., interviewed, believes the reciprocity agreement would be beneficial to both countries. He has been at the Mediterranean, and sails home on Saturday.

Ottawa Man Missing.

Ottawa, March 10.—George Watson, formerly of Seaforth, an employe of the Printing Bureau here, left Ottawa on Friday last to attend his father's funeral in Seaforth, and since departing from his boarding-house has not been seen.

A Prospective Candidate.

Montreal, March 10.—Candidates are already being talked of on the island of Montreal, and word comes from Ottawa that Mayor Guerin has been selected to contest St. Ann's division against ex-Judge Doherty.

How a Local Young Man Made Money

There are many people in and around the City of Peterborough who have money, looking for investment, who prefer a safe investment, such as bonds or low rate of interest, to investing in mortgages or other securities which require special judgment in selecting, and constant and careful watching to avoid loss. To such we would commend the following result to their careful consideration—

A young man of the City of Peterborough had his life insured sixteen years ago last January for Ten Thousand Dollars ON A SINGLE PAYMENT 15-YEAR ENDOWMENT PLAN. The premium paid was $6,460.00. On the 31st of January, 1910, the company paid him $12,116.00 in cash, after giving him fifteen years of free insurance. What do you think of that as an investment?

Are bonds or municipal debentures, or even the best mortgages, to be compared with it, when you consider that the risk of the life was carried during the 15 years? And remember, the security is as safe as any debenture or mortgage, and there was no trouble or expense entailed of any kind after the initial investment.

The above result was obtained from the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, under policy No. 47340, W.H.B.

BRING BACK THAT COAT SWEATER

Disappearance of a "Grand Old Rag" From the Rink

Someone has put a cruel one over on Billy Breen. His coat sweater, which a junkman wouldn't buy at two cents a pound, nor a souvenir hunter purchase for a large bank roll, is missing.

The loss of the blue and white relic, which is just ten years old to-day, is mourned by "Casey," and should anyone have taken it either by mistake or intent, its return will be joyfully received.

COL. GASKIN AT THE S.A. TEMPLE

Special Platform Meeting Sunday Afternoon — Lecture on Leaves From My Diary

Arrangements are now complete for the visit to Peterborough of Colonel Albert Gaskins, of Toronto, Field Secretary of the Salvation Army in Canada, Saturay and Sunday, 11th and 12th inst. On Saturday evening the Col. will give a lecture on "Daniel in Babylon," and conduct a holiness meeting Sunday morning, and a salvation meeting in the evening.

The principal feature of the visit will be a special platform meeting on Sunday afternoon, when the chair will be occupied by His Honor Judge E. C. S. Huycke, and with him on the platform will be associated a number of the city aldermen and officials, as well as other prominent citizens Colonel Gaskins will deliver his ever-popular and most interesting lecture, "Leaves from my Diary."

As a lecturer the Colonel has gained a very high reputation, being well and favorably received throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion. His lecture, "Leaves from My Diary," gives a most vivid portrayal of human character as illustrated by examples which have come under his personal observation during his experience of twenty-five years as an officer in the Salvation Army. It has been heard and appreciated by thousands of the best people in the Dominion.

A cordial invitation is exxtended to the citizens generally to attend these special services.

NEW OFFICERS OF THE ASSOCIATION

At the conclusion of the program of the Library Association yesterday afternoon, a nominating committee was appointed, and the following officers for the year elected.

President—J. H. Burnham, M.A.

Vice-President—G. E. Broderick, Inspector of Public Schools, Lindsay.

Secretary—Mrs. Jacobi, Oshawa.

Executive Committee—Mr. Charles O'Reilly, Norwood; Mr. F. Stevenson, Omemee; James Gale, Bowmanville; M. J. Dickie, Bracebridge; T. McFadden, Pickering.

F. M. Dela Fosse, librarian of the local library, was nominated for the position of President, but declined to accept the position, he feeling that there were others on the Board who were more entitled to the position.

MEETING FOR MEN AT KNOX CHURCH

Will Be Held Sunday Afternoon at Four O'clock

There will be a meeting for men in Knox Church on Sunday afternoon at 4 p.m. This was the announcement made at Knox church service last night. Rev. Mr. Woodside will address this meeting. A large crowd of men should gather to hear him. There has never been given in Peterborough such a forceful series of addresses as are being delivered in Knox church these nights of the special mission. A large number were present last evening and this is the conviction of those who were there. The effectiveness of the song service is also manifested.

Rev. Mr. Woodside spoke on "The Failure of Life," giving a vivid picture of the downfall of Judas, who sought to follow a non-committal policy to avoid the sentimentalism of John and the enthusiasm of Peter. The speaker followed the degeneration of Judas with such effect that the impression on the audience was most impressive.

The committee in charge of the meetings has provided for a prayer meeting in the Brotherhood rooms on Saturday afternoon at 3 p.m., open to men and women. There will be a service to-night, but none on Saturday evening.

NORMAL LECTURE

At the Normal School this evening Mr. R. S. Nevilles, barrister of Toronto, will lecture on the subject of "British influence in history." The public is cordially invited.

VESTA VICTORIA SAYS STICK BY THE UNION JACK FOREVER

Reciprocity Doesn't Look Good to the Famous English Comedienne — A World Tour

Vesta Victoria, the famous English comedienne, arrived in Peterborough this morning in her private car, "Forest," accompanied by the score of assistants.

Miss Victoria hasn't seen much of Canada, this being her first trip around, and naturally wasn't in a position to give an opinion of the country. To a Review representative however, she expressed herself strongly on reciprocity.

"Why," said the famous character impersonator, "I don't know much the details of this agreement, but it seems to me that it will lead to annexation.

"Who in Canada wants annexation?" and she pouted charmingly. "Arn't we all British? Don't we all want to stick by the Union Jack? I know I do, and if reciprocity leads your Canadians away from it, then I say 'Down with reciprocity!' I was in the House of Commons to hear Sir Wilfrid, however—my, he's a fine talker."

Miss Victoria wears about $150,000 worth of diamonds (no press agent yarn) and she has given $300,000 worth of time and money to British charity. She goes to Toronto from Peterborough, and will go around the world before getting home.

THE KIND OF BOOKS THAT SHOULD BE IN A LIBRARY

Address by Dr. Locke to Library Association

A liberal education, in the true sense of the term, is what it means to be liberally educated, and how such an education may be obtained, were some of the difficult questions discussed by H. R. H. Kenner, principal of the Collegiate Institute, in the lecture hall of the Public Library last evening.

The attendance consisted mostly of those interested in the public library movement and having minds of an intellectual turn.

Mr. J. H. Burnham, the vice-president of the Library Association, presided and introduced the speaker.

Mr. Kenner sought to show that all education is by no means derived from books. In the days of the ancients when physical prowess was the predominating thing to be desired, little on no thought was given to mental accomplishments; indeed they were almost despised.

As times and people changed, however, when physical activity became changed for more peaceful pursuits, than warring and games of strength, lost considerable of their popularity, great change came over the world. More time and thought were given to intellectual things and more attention was devoted to the acquirements of a mental education.

From then down to the present day the march of education had been rapid and steady, until now it is the most desirable acquisition possible.

Mr. Kenner dealt thoroughly with every phase of education and his lecture was a real literary treat.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Kenner at the close of his address by the chairman, on motion of Sheriff Hall and J. C. Shook.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The feature of the afternoon session of Library Association meeting, was the address by Dr. Geo. H. Locke, chief librarian of Toronto.

Dr. Locke gave an instructive and highly interesting general discussion on the best class of literature to place on the shelves of public libraries and also threw out some valuable suggestions relative to good reading matter for children.

In filling the shelves of a public library, Dr. Locke recognized the fact that there is a strong tendency to have a preponderance of fiction, and the public taste must be taken into consideration in the matter.

He did not advise the placing of every current novel on the public library catalogue. When a book has distinct literary merit however, it should by all means be given a place. As an example of the latter class, Dr. Locke referred to the volume entitled "The Beloved Vagabond," which he described as one of the most charming novels of the last decade.

A complete set of "Everyman's Library" should also, he thought, find a prominent position in every library.

The question of how to get the longest and best service out of the binding of a book was discussed at some length. He himself made it a point never to buy any cloth bound fiction as it was not durable. He also dealt with various other practical questions relating to book-binding and make-up.

Maintaining a high standard of juvenile books was another difficult problem which every librarian had to face. "There are few really good juvenile writers to-day," he said. Juvenile books also require to be the most strongly bound of any, as they are subject to careless handling by the children.

In regard to reading juvenile books Dr. Locke thought that boys and girls should read the same kind of books. He had no quarrel with the Henty books, nor with any book of fiction which presented history in a line and entertaining manner. The text-books on history, in use in the public schools were deadly dull, and it was no wonder that children should turn from them and seek more interesting and graphic stories children will read. It was as natural as for them as to breathe, and they were bound to seek excitement and live things in their reading.

Dr. Locke said he had no patience with people who condemned this craving in children for bright, exciting reading material, and who sought to substitute in its place, heavier and more distasteful reading for them.

In all his teaching experience, he had never discovered a boy who could not be made interested in some passages from Scott or Dickens' if it was read to them in the right way. He recommended Conan Doyle's "White Company," as a book that would be difficult to excel for entertainment.

If an author or historian can present his work in a story-form, telling the facts in a picturesque and vivid manner, he was to be congratulated and commended. History was not simply a record of events; history was a drama.

The best education that children could secure, was that which was acquired by mingling with strong characters, and characters like those which are often found in books such as were in question. The public library existed for a purpose and it was right to let the children browse in books.

He believed in keeping from boys and girls certain classes of books, and that there should be a restriction on books which were apt to hurt their morals.

Dr. Locke said that in his experience he found a growing tendency on the part of boys to seek after books descriptive of daily phenomena such as science, electricity, inventions and so on. This tendency, he thought should be encouraged, as it got the boys to strive after useful information. The public library comes into a city to give the boys and girls a chance for education. There were certain classes of technical works which every library ought to possess as they were often to expensive for the ordinary reader to purchase for himself.

Two-thirds of the output of fiction this year was not worth the paper it was printed on. On the other hand there were certain books, such as Churchill's "Crisis" that will always be in demand, and remain standard.

Dr. Locke dealt with the question of what periodicals and newspapers should be on the tables and racks, of every library, and speaking from his large personal experience, offered numerous valuable suggestions to the delegates present.

In concluding, he stated that it was the duty of every community to support a public library. They were in opposition to the five cent shows and if children can be encouraged to attend them, it would be a means of both educating them and keeping them from mischief in their spare time.

The other speakers at the afternoon gathering of library delegates yesterday were S. J. Stubbs, B.A., who read a very educative paper on "The Library as an Aid to Education."

He explained the very great benefit pupils derived from having easy access to the best works of standard authors and heartily endorsed the practice of installing libraries in all high schools.

A conference on "The Library in Relation to Our Schools," was held by Mr. A. Mowat, B.A., I.P.S.

The question drawer led by Inspector Nursey, gave everybody an opportunity to ask questions and formed a very important part of the day's proceedings.

The Canadian Order of Chosen Friends are holding a social evening in the I.O.F. Hall tonight. A splendid programme of songs, instrumental selections, etc., will be provided. Ladies are requested to bring refreshments. Admission 15c or 2 for 25c. Everybody welcome. 1d

NEWS AND VIEWS OF SPORT

THE MYSTERY OF THE CURVE

It may be news to the fans that at least half of the pitchers who break into the major leagues do not know why a ball curves, and it may also be a matter of news that at least a quarter of the pitchers who come up from major league tryouts do not know the rudiments of pitching, that many never learn and that some would rather go back to the minors than adopt a new style from what they used before being asked to do real pitching.

"Dozens of pitchers have reported to me, absolutely confident that they knew all about the pitching game, only to find out that they had been started out on the wrong track," said Manager Griffith, of the Reds. "The best way to get a grip on the ball and the method which will assure control is to grip the sphere firmly with the thumb and fingers employed in giving the desired 'English.' And still there are scores of young pitchers who double up their thumbs and hold the ball in such a manner that it can be knocked from the hand with a slight tap.

"There are many pitchers who do not know that a curve is the result of the spinning ball working against a cushion of air which impedes its progress in a certain direction and causes it to follow the path of least resistance. These pitchers think the ball drops, curves in or out, or goes straight simply because it is held and delivered in a certain way. Some one teaches a youngster how to hold a ball to make it curve a certain way, but neglects to tell him what causes the sphere to change its course after it has travelled a certain distance. Quite a few remarkably clever pitchers have confessed to me that they did not know why a ball curved or dropped for several years after they had been in the majors."

CURLING

It is just three months ago to-day that the curling rink was opened for the season, and the ice has been used continuously since then for six days of each week. This is a new record.

In the semi-finals of the bonspiel primary Skip Taylor defeated Skip Brightman last night by 12—6, and the final will be fought out between Skips Medd and Taylor.

In the consolation Dr. Wightman was two shots up against Skip Davidson, the score being 12—10.

PUCKLAND

Charlie Tyner, of Toronto, one of the city's well-known athletes, has become an evangelist, and preached his first sermon in Oklahoma on Sunday.

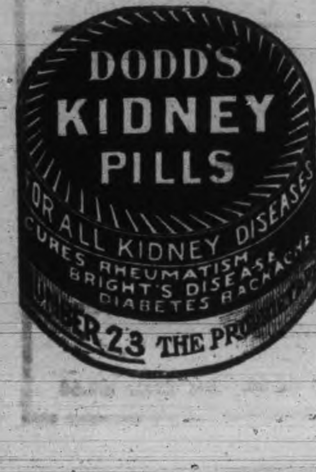
Chuck Tyner commenced his athletic career here as an association football player In 1900 he commenced to play Rugby with the Wellesley Juniors and and graduated into senior ranks three years later. About that time he did a little amateur boxing, and commenced to olay hockey. He was a failure as a forward, so Freddie Summerhayes stuck him in goal in the Markham tournament. He made good, and the next year Marlboros seniors grabbed him off. He became a wonder, and after three years with them joined the Toronto professionals. From Toronto he went to Brantford where he managed the Brantford pros. and played goal. He was also a good ball player, and was no slouch at tennis and lacrosse. Tyner's two brothers are in the ministry.—Toronto Star.

Kingston Standard.

Captain Al. Davidson was the recipient yesterday of a handsome silk umbrella, presented to him by the Eureka Club, composed of several financial backers of the team, in token of their appreciation of his ability as a hockey player.

Acting on suggestion of many Frontenac admirers, a committee is being named to collect funds for the purpose of purchasing fitting souvenirs for the junior champs. They will probably start on their rounds tomorrow.

The Machine Shop team defeated the Tool Room septette in a league fixture last night by the score of 3 to 2.



KEN CRANE ON THE ALL STARS

To Meet Kingston at Toronto To-morrow Night

The All-star junior team selected by the O.H.A. to play the Frontenacs of Kingston at the Mutual street rink to-morrow night is as follows:—

Goal—Wm. A. O. Laird, University of Toronto.

Point—James Freeman, Oshawa.

Cover Point — Charlie McBurnie, West Toronto Victorias.

Rover—"Mock" Mackenzie, Toronto Canoe Club.

Centre—Kenneth Crane, Simcoes A.

Right Wing—Lovering Jupp, Orillia.

Y.M.C.A. SPORT

The return game between the business boys and junior school boys was played last night, and another good game was the result. Stewart and Horsefield were the best of the school boys, while Jackson and Bartley were the pick of the business boys. The school boys repeated their victory of a week ago, and won by the score of 15 to 5. The junior team will now play the Educationists on Friday, March 17, at 7 o'clock p.m.

To-night at 7 o'clock the Giants and Pirates of the City League will play a practice game.

The games scheduled in the City Basketball League for to-night are Ponies vs. Whirlwinds at 8 o'clock; Fairies vs Collegiate at 9 o'clock. As these four teams are playing good ball two fast contests should result.

The Midgets and Strikers meet to-night in a scheduled bowling game.

A GREAT PERFORMANCE

Kingston Standard.

A perusal of the scores made at the different games in which the Frontenacs played this season is interesting. They have played thirteen games, including the one which they played with Quebec champions for the junior championship of Canada, and the scores made in their favor probably have no equal in the field of sport to-day:

	For.	Agst.
Quebec, in Kingston	14	4
Belleville, in Belleville	9	0
Belleville, in Kingston	24	2
Picton, in Picton	18	7
Picton, in Kingston	32	2
Peterboro, in Peterboro	11	4
Peterboro, in Peterboro	9	3
Peterboro, in Kingston	7	3
Oshawa, in Oshawa	11	7
Oshawa, in Kingston	8	2
Orillia, in Orillia	5	6
Orillia, in Kingston	16	5

If any team has a scoring record to beat that, let it show it.

Improving Barber Shop

Mr. Bruce Patterson is having a few alterations made at his up-to-date tonsorial parlors on Charlotte street.

A new silent salesman has been installed adjoining the one already in use, necessitating the lengthening of the room. The partition at the rear of the shop is being moved back accordingly, and the first-chair placed there.

DRIVING OUT DISEASE DEVIL.

Ceremony of Mangs, One of Lowest Indian Castes.

One of the lowest castes in India is the Mang, concerning whom a writer says: "Of all the practices in which the Mangs have a part perhaps the most significant is that which has reference to ceremonies of 'riddance' in connection with epidemics. Such ceremonies would seem to have been universal at one time or another among all primitive peoples, and are apparently of two different kinds. Either the 'disease devil' is driven forth by force with much uproar or he is persuaded by methods of kindness and propitiation to remove his unwelcome presence. The latter method is employed in certain parts of the Deccan and on such occasions the Mangs play an important part.

"A male buffalo, purchased by the contributions of the village, is led to the temple of Mar Ai, the goddess specially associated with epidemic diseases. A Mang woman is then dressed to represent the goddess, red paint is applied to her forehead and the horns and flanks of the buffalo and a procession is formed, headed by the woman and by the buffalo, which is usually led by Mangs. In front of the buffalo walk seven Mangs, each bearing an earthenware pot containing a mixture of four intoxicating drugs and seven kinds of grain.

"The buffalo is cut with a sword and a hole is pierced in one after another of the jars, so that as the procession circumambulates the village its passage is marked by a trail of blood and of the liquid dropping from the jars. On reaching once more the temple of the goddess the buffalo is killed and the woman, who all the time is forbidden to look behind her, drinks of its blood. The head of the buffalo is then buried before the goddess."

Notes on New Knights.

King George has celebrated his first New Year as sovereign by adding handles to the names of many gifted persons.

One of the best known is "Sir" Joseph Lyons, who supplies 400,000 people with meals every day.

"What would you do," he was once asked, "if you were ten times as rich as Rockefeller?"

"I would cover England with free hospitals," was his prompt reply.

Henry J. Wood, the famous conductor, is another who exchanges the commonploce "Mr." for the distinguished "Sir." He insists on silence while he is presiding over his orchestra. On one occasion, at Queen's Hall, when Mr. Answers was present, a baby up in the gallery cried so persistently that the conductor laid down his baton and left the platform. The audience had to choose between him and the baby. And they did—to the fond mother's indignation.

Cricketer, athlete, K.C., M.P., and now, knight, Arthur Priestley is the central figure of a fund of good stories.

During a recent election meeting, a particularly irritating heckler particularly irritated Mr. Priestley, who turned on him suddenly with the demand, "If you were in my place, and I was to interrupt you, what would you do?"

"I'd jolly well knock you down!" shouted the heckler.

To which the athletic candidate retorted:

"Then kindly step up!"

Friend of Kings.

Lord Farquhar, who, as chairman of the League of Mercy, has received a letter from King George expressing his interest in the good work which the League is doing, was for many years King Edward's adviser on all matters relating to His Majesty's private, financial, and business affairs. It was Lord Farquhar who, when King Edward ascended the throne, discovered that many abuses had crept into the working of the royal household, and these he promptly brought to an end. Lord Farquhar is, in every way, a man of the world, and, say his friends, has been so from boyhood. At least, they tell a story of his walking into a village school near Cromer on his tenth birthday and in a lordly way demanding to inspect the children's writing. The copybooks were laid out and inspected, and then the youthful critic said, "Well, boys, I can't say much for your work, but as it's my birthday you may all take a holiday from now." In one minute the school had cleared.

Long-Service Members of Parliament.

The fact that just before the end of the session, Hon. Mr. Haldane celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of his Parliamentary connection with East Lothian is a reminder of the few member of the British House of Commons whose careers at Westminster dates back to the 'eighties. The present "Father" of the House, Mr. Burt, has represented Morpeth since the general election in 1874, when Mr. Balfour likewise entered the assembly, but the defeat of the leader of the Opposition at Manchester in 1906 deprived him of the position of "Father," though a very few weeks later he was elected for the City of London. Both Sir Charles Dilke and Mr. Chaplin entered Parliament as far back as 1868, but they have not sat continuously; so that Mr. Chamberlain, who first appeared at St. Stephen's in the summer of 1876 for the then undivided constituency of Birmingham, is the "Father-elect."

Baby Heir to Millions.

Some idea of the wealth to which the baby son recently born to Earl Fitzwilliam is heir may be gathered from the fact that the late peer's estate was valued at considerably over $10,000,000. Earl Fitzwilliam has large estates in England and Ireland which are said to produce him nearly $700,000 a year. A practical-minded peer, the earl has played many parts, and distinguished himself as a mechanic, mining engineer, big game hunter, soldier, politician, and magistrate.

P.A.Y.E. cars will be installed on the Greenwich & Walkerville Radial Railway.

A SHABBY DIGNITARY.

Duke of Norfolk Is the Worst Dressed Man In England.

"The worst dressed man in England!" That is what they all say of the Duke of Norfolk, and yet this man, the laughing stock of the tailors, is Hereditary Earl Marshal, and will be manager of ceremonies at the coming coronation, as he has been at all royal functions for years past.

He will prescribe where each person shall sit, and what each shall wear, even to the color of the clothes, the feathers in the hair, and the amount of the decolletage.

All the duke's official duties as premier peer are associated with pomp and costume, yet he positively glories in his shabbiness when off duty, and many a tale he tells of the experiences when his clothes have caused him to be mistaken for what he is not. From his watch chain dangles a sixpence which he proudly displays as "the first and only money he ever earned." Being noticed by a lady in a railway station, he was taken for a hard-up porter and bundled off to call a cab. He gratefully accepted the sixpenny bit which was offered, for that coin gives him an excuse to tell the story.

On another occasion in Rome he was taken for one of Cook's men and had to help carry an American's luggage. He hoped for another sixpence, but got none, and was mightily displeased. He has been ordered, when acting as marshal in his unconventional garb to get out of the way of his own carriage, and to cap it all, he was mistaken for the chief undertaker at Queen Victoria's funeral.

But when it came to take part in the great Roman Catholic procession in London in 1908, the duke in all his robes of office escorted Cardinal Vannutelli through the London streets, for he is England's foremost Roman Catholic peer. In fact, he is sometimes called the unofficial ambassador of the Vatican at the Court of St. James, and his influence, 'tis said, had much to do with the changes in the accession oath.

The duke is one of England's richest men, having an income of $7,500,000 from London holdings alone. He owns 50,000 acres of the fairest country-side in all Great Britain. Arundel Castle, the great feudal estate, has been improved to the extent of $5,000,000 since he has held it—he inherited the title at the age of thirteen. The neighborhood was once the home of Alfred the Great, and the castle has been the home of Norfolk's family since the Anglo-Saxon days, long before William the Conqueror's time.

Norfolk's title as premier of the twenty-eight dukes dates back to 1483, the present holder being the fifteenth of the line.

His other titles are very numerous, and to them are attached strange perquisites. As Butler of England, he is entitled to the King's table cloth and a goblet of solid gold. As Marshal he could claim the King's palfrey after the coronation, if palfreys were fashionable.

Altogether this extraordinary man has in his sixty-three years played many parts, for in addition to performing all his strange duties he has found time to serve as a soldier in the Boer war, and as Postmaster-General in the British Cabinet.

Carlile's Trombone.

The founder of the Church Army, Prebendary Carlile, who was recently received by King George, tells an amusing story about one of the open-air brass band processions which paraded London, headed by Mr. Carlile with a trombone. Robed in his surplice, the prebendary left the procession—which was a New Year's Eve parade—from time to time and entered the numerous public houses passed on the road. In one public house a man seized the prebendary's trombone and told him he should have it back if he would play a tune. On his reply that he was too tired, a tall, clean-shaven man volunteered to play instead. Calling out, "Hats off, gentlemen!" he played "God Save the King." The musician then took Mr. Carlile's cap and passed it round, collecting 5s. in a very few moments. The cap, collection, and trombone were then returned to Mr. Carlile, who departed well satisfied to have raised something for the Church Army relief work in this unconventional way.

Surprised the German.

General Sir Reginald Pole-Carew, who has been returned for Bodmin, in the recent British elections, relates the following story showing the energy of the British soldier. A German attache in the South African war was amazed at the spectacle of the British soldiers after a fight staggering into camp, but rushing instantly after a football which was thrown on the veldt. The German attache said to the general, "Well, you are the most extraordinary people in the whole civilized world. I have been with your men all day. I know what they have done. I know they have had nothing to eat or drink, and I know of no other troops in the world that would not have been lying down asleep. If we could do this we could conquer the world!"

Studied In Tree-Tops.

Dr. Ryle, who has given up the Bishopric of Winchester, worth $30,000 a year, to become Dean of Westminster at a salary of $10,000, is a fine example of muscular Christianity. When at Eton he became famous as a runner and jumper, and today finds chief recreation in walking, tennis-playing, and mountaineering. As a boy, too, he was very fond of climbing trees, and was often daring enough to read his books while seated in the topmost branches. One day he fell down from one of these eyries, and would have been killed had it not been for a cushioned seat at the foot of the tree, which broke his fall. A quaint hobby of his is collecting portraits of Erasmus, the famous Dutch scholar, of which he is believed to have a greater number than any other man living.

Chief of Police Best, of Wallaceburg, has resigned rather than accept added responsibilities.

John Hays Hammond Accused.

New York, March 10.—In a suit filed in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, John Hays Hammond, the rich mining engineer, friend of President Taft and by him appointed special ambassador to represent the United States at the coronation of King George V. of Great Britain, is charged with fraudulent dealings in connection with the affairs of the General Cotton Securities Co.

Included in the charges against Hammond and some of his associates are falsification of the minutes of the company, illegal removal of the assets of the company and permitting dummy directors to participate in carrying out an alleged conspiracy to wreck the company. Prospective profits of millions of dollars are involved.

Wild Youth Gets 23 Months.

Windsor, March 10—Hanlon Wright, who demanded $5,000 in cash from his rich uncle, William Wright, of Harrow, faced five charges before Judge McHugh at Sandwich yesterday, and was found guilty of three. He received one year for carrying offensive weapons, six months for assaulting Nick Ballard, a hotel proprietor at McGregor, and 23 months for demanding $5,000 from his uncle by threats. Charges of threatening to burn down Ballard's Hotel and writing threatening letters were dismissed. The sentences will run concurrently.

Doctor Led Night Riders.

Hopkinsville, Ky., March 10.—Alleged secrets of the "Night Rider" organization, which operated in the western Kentucky tobacco war of 1907, are laid bare in the confession of Milton Oliver, star witness in the trial of Dr. David Amos, prominent physician and alleged "general" of the Night Rider army which stormed Hopkinsville in 1907 and destroyed half a million dollars' worth of property. Oliver was brought here from his present home at Maropolis, Ill., under military escort.

The Union of Canadian Municipalities will send a representative to England to inspect some of the newly planned "garden cities" there.

THE GENUINE ALWAYS SUPERIOR TO THE IMITATION

The experienced buyer never permits the shrewd merchant to convince him that an imitation is superior to the genuine advertised article. In refusing a substitute he protects himself and the manufacturers who have expended enormous sums in giving the public information regarding their products.

Advertised articles have stood the test of public approval on their merits and materials embracing their make-up The mere fact that they are imitated is competent testimony of their worth.

You are safe in rejecting the article offered as "just as good."

HOW GERMANY UNDERSELLS

Why is it that German manufacturers are able to undersell those of other countries in competition for much of the world's trade? To a very large extent the secret lies in the fact that women are playing a more important part every year in developing the industries of the Fatherland. It will probably surprise many people to learn that, according to recent statistics, there are 9,500,000 wage-earning women in Germany, which means that every second adult woman is earning her own living and directly contributing to the wealth of the country. Indeed, the number of women wage-earners in Germany is larger than in any other European country, and the employment of women has increased 57 per cent. in the last twelve years.

We have heard much of the domestic virtues of the German girl, who, it has often been said, makes a better housewife than women of any other nation. It seems, however, that the German girl, like her Canadian sister, is no longer content with domestic service, preferring the shorter hours of the factory and the excitement of town life, although, in the end, she is much worse off in pocket. Formerly domestic service was the principal occupation, other than agriculture, for the German working girl, but German manufacturers discovered her value, and now they eagerly compete for her services, for she is a good worker and, judging by the wages paid, easily satisfied.

In the grand duchy of Baden, for instance, which is looked upon as the "Model State," there are scores of industries of varying size and importance scattered over the country, and the women take a large share in all of them. There are about 30,000 hands regularly employed in the textile factories, of which four-fifths are women, and the artificial flower industry is in their hands. Winter is the busy time, and even then they only earn on an average $2.65 for 14 days' hard work, while in summer they often do not receive more than 10 cents a day.

The average wage of women in country districts is about 25 cents a day, while Mrs. Sedgwick, in her interesting book on "Home Life in Germany," tells us "the average wage of the unskilled worker is only 10 marks (a mark is worth about 25 cents) a week, and it sinks as low as four marks for the makers of petticoats, aprons and woolen goods. A corset maker who has learned her trade can only make eight to ten marks a week in a factory, while a woman who sits at home and covers umbrellas gets about 32 cents a dozen when the coverings are of stuff, and slightly more when they are of silk."

WEDDING BELLS

DEYELL—WHITFIELD.

A quiet but very pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday, March 8th, 1911, at "River View," North Monaghan, the home of Mrs. Wesley Whitfield, when her eldest daughter, Miss Mary Isabell Whitfield, was united for life with Mr. Roland Robert Deyell, of Otonabee. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Dr. Marsh, pastor of Springville Presbyterian church.

Promptly at 4.30 p.m. the bridal party entered the drawing-room which was beautifully decorated and illuminated by candles, to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Elsie Deyell, sister of the groom, and took their place under a bell suspended from an arch of ever- evergreens.

The bride, who was given away by her uncle, Mr. Wm. Whitfield, carried a sheaf of bride's roses, was charming in her gown of cream French marquisette, trimmed with folds of duchess satin, baby Irish lace and seed pearls and wore in her hair a coronet or orange blossoms and lilies of the valley. Her only ornament was the groom's gift, a necklace and pendant in floral design, set with pearls.

Miss Beatrice Whitfield, youngest sister of the bride, made a ddinty flower girl in a simple frock of silk embroidered mull over pink, with sash and hair ornaments of pink ribbon. She carried a quaintly shaped basket of white carnations, sweet peas and pale pink rose buds, and wore the groom's gift, a necklet of gold bearing a tiny cross set with brilliants.

After congratulations, the guests to the number of sixty, adjourned to the dining room, where the color scheme was green and white with touches of pink. Long white streamers and smilax extended from the centre of the table to the four corners, where candles with shades of pink and green gave out a soft glow. Tall crystal vases, holding pink carnations and tulips, and a garland of smilax and flowers surrounding the wedding cake made a most beautiful and inviting picture.

Speeches appropriate to the occasion were made by Dr. Marsh, Mr. Deyell, father of the groom, Mr. Wm. Whitfield and others.

Amid showers of rice and confetti Mr. and Mrs. Deyell left Fraserville on the 9.20 west-bound G.T.R., the bride travelling in a tailored suit of navy blue broadcloth with hat of navy blue straw trimmed with duchess ribbon and tiny pink moss rosebuds.

After a brief honeymoon they will return to North Monaghan for a few days before leaving for Frobisher, Sask., where they will be at home to their friends after April 1st.

The large array of beautiful, useful and costly presents testifies to the popularity of the young couple, who will be much missed in church and social circles. Their many friends in Peterborough and neighborhood wish them a long and happy life.

Sol. White, ex-mayor of Windsor was elected Mayor of Cobalt.

SURGEONS' FEES.

Pretty Big Sometimes, but Then There Is Another Point of View.

I have a warm spot in my heart for the big American surgeons, says a writer in the New York Telegraph, and because of regular attendance for years at some of the most famous clinics in this and other cities I have been a witness of their unadvertised charities—acts of mercy and kindness which were never heard of outside the walls of the hospitals they honor by their services.

I knew a wealthy man whose daughter was suddenly stricken and whose life was saved by the attending surgeon. His fee was $25,000. Straightway the father emitted a wail.

"It's robbery," he said. The surgeon stood firm.

"Your daughter's life is worth $25,000 to you," he countered. There was no denial.

"Well, this fee means that I can operate on fifty persons without any charge, and if you don't like it you can force me to sue, but I will get it without a suit or you will stand a lot of publicity."

And he got the money without recourse to a court of law.

It is safe to mark it down when you see a story of some great surgeon who has charged a high fee that there are many of his patients enjoying good health and relief from pain because he charged them nothing at all.

THE CLANRICARDE PLAQUE.

A Famous Specimen of the Sixteenth Century Goldsmith's Art.

One of the greatest cinquecento jewels in the world is the Clanricarde plaque, owned by Lord Clanricarde, who is known as the "hermit peer" and who claims direct descent from the kings of Connaught. He guards with jealous care this precious example of the goldsmith's art, keeping it safe from possible thieves and the common gaze in a bank vault, to which he goes occasionally with great secrecy to feast his eyes upon its magnificence. Some years ago, by royal request, he lent it to an art exhibition in London, where it was admired and coveted by some of the greatest connoisseurs of Europe.

The huge disk is as delicately wrought as a spider's web and represents the figure of Hercules wielding a diamond sword. The sword blade is composed of a mass of perfectly matched steel white stones, and a superb blue diamond scintillates from the hilt. The present owner inherited it from his mother, who was a Miss Canning before her marriage to the Irish lord, and the plaque is practically priceless. Aside from its value to collectors and its worth as a specimen of rare and exquisite art, it is incrusted with a fortune in jewels.—New York Press.

"Clipping Sunday."

At Painswick, in Gloucestershire, the Sunday following Sept. 8 is called by the curious name of "Clipping Sunday" and connected with a quaint custom. In the churchyard are ninety-nine yew trees, and tradition says that all attempts to complete the hundred by planting another yew have failed becomes the newcomer invariably dies. Every year before the feast of the Nativity of Our Lady—Sept. 8—these mystic yews are clipped, and the Sunday "in the octave" thus becomes "Clipping Sunday." After service there is a procession of parishioners around the churchyard, and then all join hands and form a ring round the church. Finally they gather at the foot of a flight of steps leading to the chancel door, from which a sermon is preached.—London Chronicle.

City of Three Kings.

Do you know what city has been given the name of the City of Three Kings? It is Cologne, in Germany, and the reason is that it is in Cologne that the three "kings," or "magi," or "wise men," who went to Bethlehem to offer gifts to the infant Jesus are supposed to be buried. According to an ancient legend, their bones were brought from Milan to Cologne by the Emperor Frederick Barbarossa in 1162 and presented to the archbishop of Cologne. Visitors to the cathedral are shown the supposed souls of the magi, studded with diamonds and inscribed with the wise men's names in rubies.—St. James' Gazette.

Her Correction.

Two young women were talking over their restaurant luncheon the other day about the quality of a certain prima donna's voice.

"Oh, she can sing," cried one of them enthusiastically. "She certainly can sing. Music like that would coax Apollo from his lyre."

The other girl flushed and looked troubled. After a slight pause she spoke in gentle reproof.

"I don't want to correct you, dear," she said. "But don't you think that word is usually pronounced 'lair?' It is spelled l-a-i-r, you know."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Disinterested Affection.

"I'm afraid, Edward, you're marrying me only because I've inherited from my uncle 100,000 crowns."

"Why, Blanche, how can you think that of me? Your uncle is nothing to me. I would marry you no matter from whom you inherited the money."—Der Floh.

The Faultfinders.

Mention has been made of a person who, even in heaven, would complain that his cloud was damp and his halo a misfit.—William Winter.

Who serves his country well has no need of ancestors.—Voltaire.

The home of Lynn Lasby, near Ospringe, Erin township, was destroyed by fire.

BURNING OF WIDOWS.

The Horrible Rite India Maintained For Over Twenty Centuries.

The abolition of the horrid rite of widow burning in India was decreed by the British authorities in 1829.

The dreadful practice was found there by the Macedonians under Alexander the Great 300 years before Christ, and for more than twenty-one long, weary centuries did it repeat its almost inconceivable torture and agony upon the women of India. The sacrifice, while not actually forced on the wife, was so strongly insisted on by public opinion that it amounted to a law, and its victims were legion. Scores of widows were often burned upon the funeral pile of a single rajah. In Bengal, the head center of the monstrosity, thousands were sacrificed annually, and the figure for all India was appalling.

The millions of widowed women were completely at the mercy of the remorseless superstition of the times. The ministers of Brahmanism told the widow that her sacrifice was necessary as a means of her own happiness and that of her husband in the future state, and oftener than otherwise she consented to be burned along with the dead body of her husband. Unless she did this she was covered with the maledictions and curses of the people, was virtually outlawed and unceremoniously cast outside the pale of human sympathy and consideration and had to spend the rest of her days in degradation and wretchedness. It was death on the funeral pile of her husband or a living death of contumely and shame, of loneliness and misery.

The women of India can never discharge their debt of gratitude to England for the abolition of the suttee.—New York American.

ON THE TRAIL.

But He Didn't Know the Kind of Game He Was Tracking.

In the old days a man known as Judge Douglass lived in Helena, Mont. The judge had met with an accident in his youth and had lost both of his legs above the knees. He never would get artificial legs, but had some big leather pads made to fit on the ends of the stumps and walked on them.

Locomotion was slow for the judge, but he managed to cover a good deal of ground and was very fond of walking out on the edge of the town, where he could take his exercise without being the subject of remark from strangers in the city.

One day an Englishman came to Helena to hunt. He had some letters and put up at the Helena club. He stayed around for several days. Finally, after a light fall of snow, he decided to go out into the mountains and get a sheep or a deer or something.

He left early in the morning. When it came night he had not returned. His hosts around the club waited until 8 o'clock and then decided to go out and look him up, thinking he might have been lost in one of the gulches or canyons in the hills.

They formed a rescue party and went out to the edge of the town. There they met the Englishman, who was wildly excited.

"Did you get anything?" they asked him.

"No," he replied, "not yet, but I've been tracking an elephant for the last three hours."—Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post.

Juries In the Old Days.

In olden times when a jury in England remained impervious to the judge's gentle mode of persuasion fine and imprisonment were resorted to. The jury that acquitted Sir Nicholas Throckmorton was condemned to eight months' imprisonment in addition to the payment of a large sum of money. In the reign of Queen Elizabeth a jury, having reduced a prisoner's alleged crime of murder to that of manslaughter, was at once sent to prison and bound over in a large sum to be of good behavior. Penalties were likewise inflicted upon the innocent wife and children of the offending jurymen.

A Moving Sermon.

"I once had a parishioner who was a miser," said an English clergyman. "For this man's benefit I preached one Sunday a strong sermon on the necessity of charity, of philanthropy—a sermon on the duty and the joy of giving. The miser, at whom I gazed often, seemed impressed.

"Next day I met him on the street.

"'Well, John,' I said, 'what do you think of yesterday's sermon?'

"'It moved me deeply, sir,' he answered. 'It brought home to me so strongly the necessity of giving alms that honestly, sir, I've a great mind to turn beggar.'"

A Boomerang.

"What's the matter with your head?" asked the first bunko man.

"A farmer I met today just banged me there with his carpetbag," replied the other.

"It must have been a pretty hard carpetbag."

"Yes; it had a gold brick in it that I sold him yesterday." — Catholic Standard and Times.

Anyhow, They're Gone.

The Old, Old Story.

"Yes, he says he owes about 200,000 plunks."—Pittsburg Post.

WESLEY TEA AT GEORGE ST. CHURCH WAS A BIG SUCCESS

Excellent Supper Provided by the Ladies

Addresses by D. W. Dumble K.C. and Judge Huycke

A Wesley supper was held at the George Street Methodist Church last night by the Women's Missionary Society. Everything was modelled after the fashions of the eighteenth century such as cancled and the dresses of the waitresses, and the numbers on the program were confined to the topic of Wesley, his life and works, and the social conditions of his time.

The supper served by the ladies was all that could be desired.

Though every number was of a very high order, those of special mention were addresses by D. W. Dumble K.C., and His Honor, Judge Huycke.

D. W. DUMBLE, K. C.

Mr. Dumble said that many men had left behind them works of philosophy, literature and art, such as Homer and Shakespeare, but Wesley was of another class and might be marked among the founders of the Christian religion, Protestantism was for liberty, liberty in science, in politics and in religion.

When John Wesley entered his duties as a minister of the Gospel, the Church was dead, having fallen into evil ways after the demise of John Knox. The prominent statesmen of the time were unbelievers. Drunkeness and foul talk were thought no discredit to Walpole. Purity and fidelity to the marriage vow were sneered out of fashion. At the other end of the social scale lay the masses of the poor. They were ignorant and brutal to a degree which it was hard to conceive at the present, schools there were none, save a few grammar schools of Edward and Elizabeth.

The criminal class gathered boldness and numbers in the face of worthless laws which only testified to the terror of society. The law made it a capital crime to cut down a cherry tree and it strung up twenty young thieves of a morning in front of Newgate. The introduction of gin gave a new impetus to drunkeness. Yet in the middle classes the old Puritan spirit remained unchanged, and it was from this class that a religious revival burst forth at the close of Walpole's administration, which changed after a time, the whole tone of English Society. The Church was restored to life and activity, religion carried to the hearts of the people a fesh spirit of moral zeal, while it purified the literature and the manners of the people.

The revival began with a small knot of Oxford students, whose revolt against the religious deadness of their times showed itself in ascetic observances, an enthusiastic devotion, and a methodical regularity of life which gained them the nick-name of "Methodists"—John and Charles Wesley were of this Oxford group. John in his zeal went to America but in a short time returned, and becoming converted entered the ministry and soon became famous. He went after the lost sheep and did not stand on ceremony. Magistrates, parsons and ruffians were inspired to treat the Wesleys badly, but they went in with undiminished ardor.

Wesley continued his labors, and before his death in 1791, had organized a church which met the wants of the people and which, without a doubt was organized by God, for it grew and extended itself in England, Ireland and Wales, and in America, and the Isles of the sea.

The Methodist church in America, was the strongest on the continent. It was not alone in the establishment of the so-called Methodist Church, that Wesley did his greatest work. The result of his labors was to quicken the old National Church of England and give it a new life and power all the churches revived and blessed and a new era came to England.

HIS HONOR JUDGE HUYCKE

His Honor Judge Huycke gave a very interesting account of the Wesleys, also touching upon a few of the characteristics of the conditions existing in the eighteenth century He said he was supposed to talk of England, but there was something greater than England affected with Wesley's teachings. One-fifth of the population of the world owed allegiance to Great Britain. There were many changes from 1711 to 1911 To go back to 1703 there was one of the most renowned families of all ages, greatly endowed but sadly destitute, the home of Samuel Wesley who was good at heart, but led by impulsiveness of opinion as to what was right.

There was a large family but the mother saved and sacrificed, and sent three sons to Oxford, Samuel, Charles and John. In looking at the picture of John Wesley and seeing the alert intellectual face, long nose, quick sensitive mouth and imagine hearing his voice, which was one of the finest man ever was endowed with, we might cease to wonder why he accomplished what he did. The Methodist Church was one abiding monument to John Wesley, and one which would be a mighty monument to man.

There were a great many members at the time of his death, but many millions have since joined, one-seventh of the population of America now believing in the Methodist doctrine.

While at Oxford he was a distinguished student of Greek, English, and philosophical studies. As Mr. Dumble said, the Methodists got their name by a nick-name of the group of boys which banded together for the evangelization of the world. They went forth like Horatius and his two companions. John Wesley was the centre with George Whitfield and his brother on either side.

The conditions in England during that time were painted very dark, but many deeds of national importance were done. The United States was lost to Great Britain and Canada gained. There were many political troubles and no religious enthusiasm and nearly no religious conscience.

Mr. Pettit gave a reading of Wesley's poems and Mr. Mulligan sang some of Wesley's hymns, adding greatly to the spirit of the evening, and were much enjoyed by the large gathering.

The singing of the national anthem and the benediction by Rev. Isaac Couch, brought the evening to a fitting close.

REWARD OUT FOR NESBITT

Charge of Forgery Now Against Him.

Toronto, March 11.—Doctor William Beattie Nesbitt, ex-member of the Provincial Legislature, ex-registrar for the eastern division of the city of Toronto, unsuccessful candidate for the mayoralty of Toronto and former president of the Farmers Bank, is at last to be sought broadcast over the world. Circulars were issued yesterday afternoon by Chief of Police Grasett offering $200 for information leading to his apprehension upon a charge of forgery and declaring that his extradition would be sought from whatever place he might be found.

The forgery charge is a new one, and is the first one to come under the extradition treaty. The offer of the reward comes from the police commissioners of the city and it is understood that the Attorney-General's Department has authorized the demand for his extradition.

COMMUNICATION WITH THE DEAD

Miracles Are Not an Impossibility Says Sir Oliver Lodge.

New York, March 11.—A London cable says:

Sir Oliver Lodge, addressing the National Free Church Council at Portsmouth, on "Christian Revelation from a Scientific Point of View," declared that miracles were not more impossible than the interference of a human being would seem to a colony of ants or bees.

"I have become convinced," he added, "that occasional communication across the chasm is possible."

May Use Niagara Power.

Sarnia, March 11.—Though the town council recently decided not to go into the Niagara power scheme, new light has been thrown on the way that the G.T.R. may use the town's power for the St. Clair Tunnel, hence the Niagara juice would come much cheaper.

MAY GO BLIND

London, March 10.—"General" William Booth, Commander-in-Chief of the Salvation "Army," will be operated upon for cataract of the left eye on his return from Rome. It is feared that he will become wholly blind.

RESERVE INDIAN IS ON HIS TRIAL

Faces Charge of Committing Perjury.

Toronto, March 11.—Ben Asquale appeared in the Sessions yesterday afternoon charged with perjury. Asquale is an aged Indian, living on the Georgian Island Reserve.

The charge arose out of a trial in which the prisoner had sworn that John Port, an Indian, gave a drink of what he believed to be whiskey to Edward Charles, another Indian, and that Constable Maclure also took a flask out of John Port's pocket and put it to John Port's mouth.

Maclure was tried and acquitted.

Evidence was given by different Indians who were present at the sleigh-ride when whiskey was alleged to have been drunk. Two of them swore, however, that no whiskey was drunk in the sleigh or on another occasion, when on a boat on the lake Constable Maclure was charged with giving liquor.

FOUND DEAD IN HER HOME

Belleville Spinster Had Lived Alone.

Special to the Review.

Belleville, March 11.—Agusta M. Ashley, an aged spinster, who had been living alone, was found dead on the floor to-day. She had not been seen about the house for a week and an investigation resulted in the finding of her dead body.

Victim of Explosion Dead.

Niagara Falls, Ont., March 11.—George Garvey died yesterday afternoon from shock injuries received in the explosion at the Ontario power plant last Friday, when three men were instantly killed. Before dying Garvey declared the explosion was caused by natural gas leaking from a pipe becoming ignited by a lighted match in the hands of David Hendershot, who was instantly killed.

Preparing For the Duke.

New York, March 11.—Capt. T. H. Rivers Bulkeley, V.S.O., and aide de camp to the Duke of Connaught, the Hon. R. Fellowes, a son of Lord Ramsey, and John Gilliat, who arrived here yesterday on the Mauretania, are on their way to Ottawa to arrange matters for the inauguration of the Duke of Connaught as Governor-General of the Dominion.

Dr. Grenfell to Visit Canada.

New York, March 11.—Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, who is known as the Labrador fishermen's doctor, arrived on the Mauretania yesterday and will make a tour in Canada and the United States before he returns to Labrador in May, when the ice pack opens.

A Plea for Continentalism—Taft to Veto Any Amendment to the Pact by Congress.

Atlanta, Ga., March 11.—In a lengthy address before the Southern Commercial Congress assembled here last night, President Taft spoke hopefully of the future of the south, and paid special attention to the accomplishments of the Congress just closed, dwelling specially on the reciprocity agreement with Canada.

"Of course, the greatest disappointment of the session was the failure of the Senate to follow the lead of the House in ratifying the reciprocity agreement made with Canada," said Mr. Taft.

"When we entered upon the negotiations I asked the Secretary of State and his commissioners to offer free trade in everything, but this Canada could not grant us, because she has a protective system and she was afraid of the competition of our better organized industries.

"The south is practically interested in the fact that vegetables and cotton-seed oil are both put on the free list and the removal of rather heavy duties on both but I do not ask your support on the ground of any local advantage. I ask it because I regard this treaty, if adopted, as the beginning of a new relation with our rapidly growing neighbor on the north and ourselves which will inure greatly to the benefit of both. The conditions under which agriculture and manufacturers are carried on in both countries are substantially the same and the removal of the duties provided for in this agreement or, indeed, the removal of all duties between the two countries would have violated no principle that either a reasonable protectionist or a reasonable tariff reformer upholds.

Canada is at the parting of the ways. If we now reject this opportunity to bring about closer business and trade relations and insist upon the continuance of an artifical wall between the two countries—which differ no more in conditions of labor and production than do Kentucky and Tennessee or Georgia and Alabama—we shall throw away an opportunity for mutual benefit not likely to recur. It will be a course as blind as that which was followed by the colonies under the articles of Confederation, when each colony taxed the imports from every other colony, a disastrous policy, which was the main cause for the adoption of the present constitution and its interstate commerce clause.

"As I have had occasion to say in urging upon Congress the adoption of this agreement, Canada is our good neighbor."

"Against her alone, of all the powerful nations of the world, we have felt under no necessity to establish a navy or fortify our frontiers. For nearly a hundred years, under an agreement that has attracted the admiration of all promoters of international peace, we have had no battleships and no forts between us and her. She is our natural customer; we are natural customers. Geography, and if the natural laws of trade is uninterruped by an utterly unreasonable wall, it would give us a north and south business of large extent and necessarily beneficial to both. Why then should we hesitate?

"Under my promise to use my utmost efforts to secure the ratification of this agreement by Congress, I have felt it my duty, upon the failure of the Senate to act, to call an extra session for the purpose of securing the ratification of the agreement. My opinion is that a majority of both Houses disregarding party lines, will seize a great national opportunity and promptly ratify the agreement before proceeding to other business, if it be deemed wise or necessary to proceed to other business. I feel confident that a test of six months of this agreement will so vindicate the wisdom of adopting it to remove further discussion afterwards. I do not regard it as a matter of sectional interest. It will inure in a large measure to the benefit of this whole country."

THE BUSINESS SECTION OF MILLBROOK VISITED BY FIRE

Three Stores Gutted and Heavy Losses Recorded

Another disastrous fire occurred in Millbrook at an early hour this morning, completely wiping out three stores in the business section, and damaging two others.

When Dr. Fisher, a veterinary surgeon of Millbrook was coming in from the country about 3 o'clock this morning, he noticed the store of Walsh and Clarke on fire, and sent in the alarm. The voluntary fire brigade responded and fought very hard.

The losers are Walsh and Clarke, dry goods merchants; Tom Laing, boot and shoe dealer; John Steele, jeweler. The barber shop and pool room of H. Nattress were badly gutted and flooded with water, as was also the hardware store of E. S. Eakins.

Over these buildings were two families, but they escaped without bodily injury. The hall of the L.O.L. was over one building which was burned, and their flags, books and the furniture were lost.

Chief Howard received a call about 3.40 o'clock to be in readiness to send aid if the citizens were unable to control the fire, but word was sent later that their services were not needed.

The cause of the fire is not known.

This is the second disastrous blaze Millbrook has been afflicted with inside of two weeks.

The damage is estimated at about $25,000, but the real extent will not be known until the contents of the Nattrass and Eakin stores can be examined.

The amount of insurance is not known at present, but a considerable amount was carried.

Bar County Pupils.

Kingston, March 11.—The Board of Education has passed a resolution barring county pupils from attending the collegiate after the June term, owing to lack of accommodation.

The County Council decided on a secondary educational policy to meet the needs of Frontenac County. It has placed itself on record as in favor of a continuation school at Sharbot Lake to meet the needs of the northern townships, and in favor of enlarging the Sydenham high school to meet needs of the centre and front of the county.

An Interesting Case.

London, Ont., March 11—Four members of his family having been stricken with diphtheria and one child of 30 months dying, Frank Schmuck of 144 Wilson avenue has taken action for $2,000 damages against Barbara Hartman, from whom he rented the house in which he lives. Schmuck blames the proprietress for his troubles and claims that the house, as occupied by her sons, who had suffered from diphtheria before he moved in, had not been properly disinfected previous to his occupancy.

Two Cornwall Heroes.

Cornwall, March 11.—During the production of the Irish drama here on St. Patrick's night, the medals awarded by the Royal Humane Society to W. S. Hollister and Frank Hunter for saving life at the peril of their own, will be presented by Mayor Mulhern. Mr. Hollister saved a son of Charles Jerome from drowning, and Frank Hunter rescued the little daughter of D. Kinghorn from the Cornwall Canal.

EXTRAORDINARY PRECAUTIONS

To Hold Prisoners and Protect Witnesses.

Special to The Review.

Viterbo, Italy, March 11.—Several of the forty talesman drawn for jury duty in the trial of thirty-nine Camorists, were found to have disappeared when the trial was commenced this morning. The prisoners were herded together in a steel cage in the courtroom and guarded by soldiers. The witness box is also of steel and the witnesses are clad in protections made of steel to insure their safety from possible attacks on their life.

STANDING ON THE JOB

The above is a reproduction of a photograph of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Faux as they waited outside the Dominion land office at Calgary for doors to open that they might be the first to file a claim for a homestead.

The couple remained on guard alternately, from Monday morning till Saturday, the husband holding the fort through the night. And in winning out against all comers, they were the first to enter the office where they secured certificates which entitled them to one hundred and sixty acres, about five miles from Three Hills, Alberta.

The young homesteaders before going to the west resided in this city, Mrs. Faux before her marriage being Miss Ethel Wills, of Park street.

ALL GEORGES MAY GIVE

Toronto, March 10.—The Georges in Ontario will be asked to join the Georges of the other parts of the British Empire in the presentation of a coronation gift to the King. The idea is to give every George an opportunity. Gifts from 5c. upwards to $5 will be accepted.

It is expected the King will be consulted as to the form the present shall take.

A preliminary meeting was held yesterday afternoon at Government House called by His Honor, the Lieutenant-Governor, to consider the organization for Ontario of the movement. His Honor has taken the initiative here on the suggestion of His Excellency the Governor-General.

TO BAR CHILDREN UNDER 15 FROM MOVING PICTURE SHOWS

Matheson's Bill Introduced Into Legislature — Board of Censors Coming.

Toronto, March 11.—Four Government bills were introduced yesterday afternoon, which made a record for a Friday sitting of the Ontario Legislature. Three of the new measures were of general public interest and the third was a revision of an existing statute. One speech was made on the anti-reciprocity resolution, the debate being adjourned until next week, when it will be resumed by W. Proudfoot (Lib.), Centre Huron.

Hon. Col. Matheson introduced a bill for the control of moving picture shows. The new act provides for a central board of three censors, who are to pass upon and either stamp or disapprove all films before they can be legally exhibited. The admission of children under 15 years of age unaccompanied by adults will be prohibited.

A bill was also introduced by the Provincial Treasurer which places the responsibility for egress doors of churches opening outwards upon incumbents, churchwardens, trustees and congregations jointly and severally, who will be made liable for injuries sustained by persons in consequence of the violation of the statute. It will also apply to other persons in charge of other buildings and halls. A penalty of $50 is also to be imposed for a violation of the statute, of which half will go to the informant.

Hon. Dr. Pyne introduced a revision bill with respect to anatomy, and an advanced educational measure in relation to the tuition and medical care of defective children.

The bill provides that the Board of Education or the Board of Public School Trustees of any city may establish and conduct in connection with any school building, or in a separate school building provided for that purpose, special classes for children who are backward or abnormally slow in learning, or who from physical or mental causes require special training and education.

Children shall be admitted to such special classes upon the report of the inspector and the principal of any school at which they are in attendance.

Special grants will be made under regulations to be issued by the Department of Education.

Hon. Dr. Pyne announced that the investigation by F. W. Merchant into the bi-lingual schools had not yet been concluded and that no report whatever had been received from him. A report was expected after the investigation was concluded.

W. H. Hearst, Sault Ste. Marie (Con.), resumed the debate on the anti-reciprocity resolution. He was wonder-struck at the great and sudden admiration now being expressed by Liberal defenders of the agreement because in different conditions entirely he had favored reciprocity. In view of the success of the saw-log policy in building up many thriving settlements of Ontario, it would be injuries to throw open the undeveloped national resources of the province to United States manufacturers. The Soo industries would never have arisen had it not been for the independent trade policy of the Dominion.

Case Dismissed

A charge of assault laid by one of the bell boys of a local hotel against the proprietor, was heard in the police court to-day. The case was dismissed however the Magistrate not being able to find sufficient evidence to make a conviction.

SECRET TREATY SAID TO EXIST

Between Mikado and Southern Republic.

New Orleans, March 11.—A despatch from the City of Mexico states that a secret treaty exists between Mexico and Japan, binding the Japanese Government to assist the Mexicans with her army and navy if the southern republic is attacked by a strong nation.

BOTH MAY HAVE BEEN DROWNED

Brampton Men Went to Break Ice Jam.

Special to the Review.

Brampton, March 11.—H. A. Brown, the proprietor of the Meadowvale Mills, and a young man named South, cannot be found and it is feared that they have been drowned. Both have been missing since yesterday afternoon when they left to break up a big ice jam on Cedar River, just above the mills.

THE RAILWAY PROGRAM OUT

Hudson Bay Line to be Built After All.

Intercolonial Shows Surplus This Time.

Ottawa, March 11.—In the statement regarding the railway situation in Canada, made by Hon. George P. Graham yesterday, it was made clear that the western farmers need not hope for Government operation of the Hudson Bay Railway, a supplementary estimate for the construction of which will be brought down later in the session. The Government will construct the road, but the indications are that it will be leased under a similar contract to that of the National Transcontinental.

Mr. Graham estimated that the surplus of the Intercolonial for the current year would be $700,000, which is slightly better than that of last year. In his remarks the Minister made a comparison with the earnings of the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway, and said that by reason of higher freight classification the Ontario Government road was able to show better returns than the Federal proposition.

Mr. Graham stated that when the Hudson Bay road was built, a plan for its operation would be submitted to Parliament. In harmony with the previous utterances of the Minister of Railways, the scheme would involve the construction of elevators and terminal facilities at tide water on Hudson Bay, as well as the establishment of a steamship service to Great Britain. Mr. Graham promised to go into the whole question when the supplementary estimates were brought down.

He reiterated his remarks that the railway would provide a cool route for the shipment of cattle to Great Britain, and thought a Government that would not be willing to make the experiment was not worthy of the confidence of the people.

The estimated cost of the railway, including terminal elevators and harbor facilities on Hudson Bay, would be twenty-five or thirty millions of dollars. With a margin of an additional five or six millions, he thought the money would be well expended.

Mr. Graham in his reference to the increase in the traffic through Canadian canals said that the growth of the traffic was greater than the increase of the railway traffic. Therefore it was essential if Canada was to keep her carrying trade she must be alert in the development of waterways and harbors. He was not in a position, he said, to announce when the enlarging of the Welland Canal would be commenced. It must be enlarged to enable large boats to come through to Lake Ontario without breaking bulk.

E. M. Macdonald (Pictou) took the position that the Intercolonial should be run merely to pay expenses. The $700,000 surplus was, in his opinion, $650,000 too high. He condemned the application of the Lemieux Act to the settlement of wage disputes on the Intercolonial, as it interfered with the responsibility of the Minister. He thought the time had arrived when the resolution passed about two years ago, only allowing the British preference when goods were shipped through Canadian ports, could be made operative, and this would insure control of the traffic.

C. A. Magrath (Medicine Hat) thought that applicants for railway charters should be made to deposit with the Government 5 per cent. of the contemplated expenditure as an evidence of bona fides.

On the general question of railway development in Canada, he said that the cry of the west was "When are we to receive better railway facilities?" The three railways in the west were merely jockeying with each other for position, and in many instances the lines were paralleled within distances of two or three miles.

Rebel Villages Burned.

Tangiers, March 11.—The French Government troops, led by French and British officers, have again routed the Cherada tribesmen near Mount Selva. Great slaughter was done by the artillery and the rebel villages were burned. The Government forces lost six men killed in the fighting, which continues.

JAPAN IS THE POWER BEHIND

Revolution Financed by the Japanese.

Special to The Review.

Washington, March 11.—There is a belief prevailing in diplomatic circles here than Japan has been financing the Mexican revolution hoping that if a new government is established she would be able to secure a site for a large naval station on Magdalen Bay.

A Discovery of Vast Importance

It Is Now Admitted That Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrh, Coughs, and Colds Can Only Be Quickly Cured By Mixing a New Medicine With the Air You Breathe.

Scientists acknowledge that medicated air treatment is the only treatment that will cure these diseases, and that stomach medicines are worse than useless.

Catarrhozone air treatment has been found to be the most effective way to cure all diseases of the throat, lungs, and nasal passages. Its action is so prompt that in less than an hour an ordinary cold is cured, and after a more thorough use of Catarrhozone, Bronchitis, Catarrh, and all diseases of the throat and lungs are completely cured.

Catarrhozone is a very simple and powerful method of treatment. You simply breathe it through the inhaler and it immediately passes over every air cell of the throat, lungs, and bronchial tubes, curing and healing as it goes.

Catarrhozone treatment affords little drops of healing for sore places in the lungs, throat, and nasal passages.

UNION LABEL

BUNCOING THE PEOPLE

One of the great reasons given by President Taft for the abolition of the duties on wheat and oats, and other natural products, to the people of the United States, is that it will help to reduce the cost of living to the struggling masses. These strugginig masses are coming in for great deal of kindly consideration. But is the admission of these Canadian natural products free a great boon to those struggling masses? President Taft says that "there is no tax so odious as the tax on the food of the poor."

The people of the United States do not eat wheat; they use flour. They do not eat oats before milling; they use oats in the form of oatmeal, rolled oats, flakes, etc. These are manufactured products, and come from the great manufacturing interests devoted to milling.

If the admission of wheat and oats free is to be the boon to the American masses that the reciprocity bunco workers claim it is, why should not the free admission of flour, the rolled oats, bread, buscuits and bran be permitted? These are the manufactured products that affect the great masses of the people. The removal of the duties on wheat and oats, etc., in the grain is simply giving the great milling interests of the United States more material with which to build up their big mills. We doubt if it will have an effect on prices to the "struggling masses" whatever. Reciprocity is "bunc"—as the chorus girl in Toronto expressed it.

BOOKS AND THE PUBLIC

Speakers at the library association gathering laid considerable emphasis on the necessity of educating the public to the benefit of reading the better class of literature. It is a most admirable intention, but the difficulty lies in the means by which this desirable object shall be accomplished.

If the ordinary man or woman were educated to the true appreciation at their worth of the classics of the English language—than which there are no greater in the world—and the books which, while not perhaps classics, are powerful influences for the betterment of the mind and character, there would be a distinct elevation in the refinement of the nation.

It is the veriest commonplace to say that the greater part of the literature read by the public, and demanded by the public in preference to any other, is absolutely useless except as a method of amusement, or time-killing. Its influence is neither educative nor elevating, but is sought for the same reason very largely that people go to the moving picture shows, to be amused without the exertion of thinking.

It will be a millennial day when the great mass of people read for the increasing of their refinement, their culture, their general instruction. This sounds like a rather gloomy picture, perhaps, but even in this day of comparative education and non-illiteracy the number of people who get very far beyond the common-school educational status, which enables them to read with ordinary intelligence, is a great minority of the whole.

The popular demand for light fiction seems unappeasable, while the better class of literature at the libraries gathers dust. There seems to be no practical way to influence this trend of demand. The public demands fiction, and fiction must be served. In the ranks of fiction, of course, are marshalled some of the finest works of the language, books of wonderful educative value, and it is through the medium of these that a general taste for the higher and perhaps dryer literary productions may be best cultivated.

MORE FARM EVIDENCE

The Canadian Farm post-card tests continue to demonstrate that a large proportion of the farming community is opposed to reciprocity. We quote quote a few of the opinions in the opinions in this week's issue;

Algonquin, Feb. 21, 1911.

The new tariff may help a few for a while, but in the end Canada will be the loser by long odds. So "no" new tariff at present, I say.

Lorne E. Shepherd.

Payne, Feb. 21, 1911.

As regards the trade agreement with the United States, it is hard to say. We, as farmers, have to put up with what we get as a rule. I think we had better leave well enough alone.

Ed. Cooper.

Lefroy, Feb. 22, 191.

I am decidedly not in favor of the proposed trade agreement with the United States. It will break our east and west trade routes in Canada. They tried to freeze us with the McKinley tariff; annexation is their aim; we have never had a satisfactory trade arrangement, because we have always given more than we received. I am opposed because I am British to the core, and believe in tariff reform.

John Bull.

Williamsford, Feb. 17, 1911.

My views as regards the reciprocity treaty are that it will mean the upsetting of all our farm calculations, our market to be ruled by the Americans, our timber to be destroyed in a few years, our hog-raising business to become a mix-up, the ruination of our packing houses, the handing of the trade relations between us and the Old Country to the Americans, and a general ruin to the fruit growers and vegetable producers on account of their much earlier market.

W. H. Lee.

Virgil, Feb. 17, 1911.

I am not in favor of the trade agreement, as I think it would be hazardous to the existing great prosperity in Canada. It might help some lines of agriculture, but it would mean total destruction to others, such as fruit and vegetables.

Thos. W. Kelly.

Tuscarora, Feb. 16, 1911.

I am not in favor of the proposed trade agreement. We have nothing to gain, and it would be a great blow to the whole commercial enterprise of our country.

W. A. Douglas.

Cooksville, Feb. 18, 1911.

At present I am strongly against the tariff deal, as you know a burnt child dreads the fire. As I look back over my 70 years, I can feel the burns of the old reciprocity deal, as well as the free trade regime after it.

J. E. Lell.

Elwood, Feb. 17, 1911.

I can see no reason why we should have free trade with the United States. For my part I would sooner see closer union with Great Britain.

Hiram Wood.

Carleton Place, Feb. 18, 1911.

I do not think the proposed change in the tariff will benefit Canada in the long run. It will also tend to weaken our nationality. We are British, and have British markets.

A. J. Duff.

Dunnville, Feb. 17, 1911.

I am not in favor of the trade agreement. It looks like a good thing for the United States to make our Canada a dumping ground for their surplus products.

Robert Bennett.

Mimico, Feb. 17, 9.

I believe that if we have free trade the farmers and gardeners will be nearly ruined, and Canada will see very hard times.

J. W. Clark.

Linton, Feb. 16, 1911.

My opinion is that it will be detrimental to the best interests of Canada. It will mean separation from the Empire and a driving of labor to the States.

R. N. Parry.

EDITORIAL NOTES

W. T. White says that this time the manufacturers are being let go on suspended sentence. But they're next.

Magistrate Denison has decided that "Droll Stories," and "The Arabian Nights" are obscene books. Will someone please put several sections of the Old Testament in the fire as being in the same class?

Peterborough is strongly against the reciprocity business. There is no denying the sentiment here. The reciprocity debate will be continued for some time. Will Hon. J. R. Stratton line up against the wishes of his constituents?

The Laurier government believes in setting class against class, in arraying the farmers against the workingmen, and against the business interests. It would split the nation in two great factions, instead of going along with a moderate tariff and everyone happy and satisfied except a few disgruntled free traders.

F. W. G. Haultain, the Conservative leader in the Saskatchewan Legislature, has come out strongly for reciprocity. He says that he is not prepared to sit at the feet of Eastern Gamaliels, and study loyalty. This attitude is no doubt praiseworthy in the West, but it is poor Canadianism. If the West is going to split from the East—regard it as an enemy instead of a friend—the reciprocity business being the motive, then the harm to Canadian unity and nationality brought about by reciprocity is ten times more than the harm it can possibly produce through economic reasons alone.

The Senate has approved Fort William as headquarters for the new grain commission.

A. Kelly Evans, Toronto, addressed the London branch of the Fish and Game Protective Association, and opposed free trade in fish.

A TRAGEDY IN THE HOME

When The Money-Maker Falls Ill

Wives and mothers, who are dependent upon the wages of husbands and sons, should see that the men take care of themselves. When the men are out of work, through sickness, no money comes in. When the men complain of backache and headache—of Rheumatism or Lumbago — take things in your own hands and get GIN PILLS. A box or two of GIN PILLS may save you many dollars in the pay envelope.

BACK TO WORK.

RICHMOND, QUE.

"My husband was taken with severe Kidney Trouble last winter and could not work for some time. After taking one box of GIN PILLS, he was able to go back to work again. He continued with GIN PILLS until he had taken two boxes when the pain had entirely gone from his back. You may publish this letter as I sincerely wish every sufferer, who has Kidney Trouble, would test the merits of GIN PILLS."

MRS. M. E. GARDNER.

If you have tried medicines and doctors without relief, do as Mr. Gardner did—take GIN PILLS. Taken From Burning House

Irwin Haig, who has been ill for some time with sciatica, and a weak heart, had an unpleasant experience early on Friday morning. While the nurse was caring for her patient she discovered that the house, which is situated near Menie, was on fire.

She aroused the inmates, who were sleeping, and with their help, removed the sick man from the burning building, which was consumed with most of the contents including a piano valued at $400 and $100 in bills belonging to Mr. Haig. The fire originated in the chimney, it is thought. There was a small insurance on both building and contents.—North Hastings Review.

BEARING DOWN PAINS

What woman at sometime or other does not experience these dreadful bearing down pains. Mrs. E. Griffith, of Maine street, Hepworth, Ont., says: "A heavy bearing-down pain had settled across my back and sides. I was often unable to stoop or straighten myself up. Many times each night I would have to leave my bed with the irregular and frequent secretions of the kidneys and just as done out in the morning as on retiring. I was languid and would have to let my housework stand. Nothing I had tried would benefit me. I learned of Booth's Kidney Pills and concluded I would try them, which I did, and soon found the long sought relief. My back strengthened and I began to feel better and stronger. I now enjoy my sleep without being disturbed, and feel grateful to Booth's Kidney Pills for what they did for me."

Booth's Kidney Pills

Booth's Kidney Pills are a boon to woman. She would know less of backaches if she took more of these wonderful pills. They are nature's great specific for all diseases of the kidneys and bladder. HAVELOCK HAPPENINGS

Special Correspondence

The home of Mrs James Sexsmith, of Apsley(?), a former resident of Preneveau was completely destroyed by fire on Wednesday last. The fire originated from a defective chimney Mr. Sexsmith was away at the time and only a few articles were saved from the flames, and as he had no insurance, his loss will be heavy Sympathy is felt for Mr. Sexsmith on account of his unfortunate happening.

Joseph Knox was in Peterboro on business last week.

Wm. Summons of Marmora was the guest of Mr. Thos. Hubble last week.

Robert Ketchen of Fenelon Falls, is at home for a few days, on the sick list.

Mr. Weiler of Tweed was in town on business on Saturday.

Dan Connelly of Marmora visited his parents over Sunday.

Ross Webo of Toronto was in town on Thursday.

James Bohan of town was in Tweed last week.

Miss Mary Plunkett has been engaged as assistant on the post office staff.

Mrs. H. Falkner and Miss Rhoda have returned home after spending a few days in Peterboro.

Master Jos. C. Knox, entertained a number of his young friends on Monday evening, in honour of his ninth birthday.

Blake Brooks left on Tuesday for his home in Peterboro, where he will remain for a couple of weeks before leaving for the West.

Miss Hilda West, and Miss E. Lynch were in Campbellford on Thursday last.

Rev. A. J. Reid, of Campbellford conducted the Lenten Services in St. John's Church, on Wednesday evening.

Miss Bessie Rose was in Peterboro last week.

Miss Hutchison of the school staff has sent in her resignation. She will leave on April 1. Miss McDonnell has also resigned, but she will stay till Easter.

A. G. Hubble of Fort George, B.C., who has been spending the past two months with friends in the vicinity left this week for the far west.

Mrs. Thos. Keene was operated on for a serious ailment at Mrs. Campbells' hospital on Monday last, and her many friends will be glad to hear that she is recovering rapidly.

A. PRESENTATION

Blake Brooks, who has been in the employ of Phillips Bros., for the past two years, resigned his position last week, to accept a more lucrative situation in the west. The Epworth League and Sunday school of the Methodist Church, met in the basement of the church on Monday night, and after a highly appreciative address read by Miss Dora Webb, a substantial purse was presented to the popular young man. Mr. Brooks has always been a very true member, and his many friends in town will join in wishing him every success in the future.

Arch Irwin of Sharbot Lake, C. P. R. bridge builder, was operated on for appendicitis, at the residence of Mrs. Thos. Smith, on Sunday. Although it was a very bad case, he is doing as well as could possibly be hoped for.

Henry Pacy, who lives one mile north of Havelock, is selling out all his farm stock and machinery, and is going to Peterboro to live.

SMALL FIRE

The home of Mr. Peter Buchanan of Belmont was slightly damaged by fire last week. The fire is said to have been started by children while playing in one of the rooms.

A. A. Brown of Rosedale has sold his farm to Mr. Gilbert Steinburg of Cordova who will take possession of it at once.

DIVISION COURT

Judge Huycke held division court here on Friday. Only one case of any importance came up National Cash Register Company vs. T. E. Pace, claim for payment of cash register which the defendant claimed had not worked satisfactorily. The case was tried before a jury and the verdict was that the defendant should pay for the cash register, and the plaintiff pay the costs. Mr. Hayes of the firm of Hall, Hayes and Hall, for the plaintiff; Mr. F. D. Kerr for the defendant.

The Literary Society of the High School was held in the school on Friday last. A third reading of the bill to prohibit the manufacture, importation and sale of cigarettes, be introduced. The second bill of the Rural mail delivery was also read. These were thoroughly discussed and brought to a vote. The critic's report was read and the meeting was adjourned for two weeks.

A dance was held at the residence of Mrs. Geo. Johnson, about two miles from Havelock. A load of our Havelock people drove out and danced until the early hours of the morning.

Miss Hockey was in town on Friday last.

Mrs. Andy, Ormstown, entertained a few of her friends on Monday night of last week to a game of euchre, and every one spent a very pleasant evening.

Lynch & Ryans' sawmill at Cordova, was burned down on Wednesday night of last week.

New Club Rooms

The Conservative Club rooms have been closed for the summer and it is expected that bright new rooms will be secured on a ground floor for the autumn opening.

Immigration Officer Busy

Mr. G. H. Howson arrived home from Cobourg last evening, where he was called on business.

To-day he has been extremely busy and altogether has received about fifty applications for help from farmers living in the vicinity of Peterborough, who want men for farm work.

This coming week he expects will eclipse any records for the same time in previous years.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—The Church of Rome has taken a strong stand regarding marriage. It holds that there can be no real marriage except by an R.C. priest, who alone has the power of administering a sacrament. This means that no matter what the law of the land says, the Church will fight it in this respect. The following editorial from the Catholic Register is interesting. The extreme length to which the Church is willing to proceed in separating couples mixed married ought to be a warning:

FAIR WARNING.

"It is as well to be perfectly plain with our Protestant friends on the marriage legislation fo the Catholic Church, which they are again making use of to inflame the ignorant mind. The Church abhors and abominates mixed marriages. Only in certain circumstances and with certain conditions does she tolerate them. Marriage to her is a sacred thing, a great sacrament, as St. Paul says, and since the stability of all society depends upon its being understood and lived up to, as the guardian of all the sacraments, she is going to safeguard it as far as she can, and properly received, stand for its indissolubility against the world. She has risked everything in the past and her course is so pure and clear on the matter that he is a rash scholar indeed that will impugn it. Now, since 1908, after having published her resolution to the world well in advance, the Church declared the marriage of her children null and void if undergone before any other than a proper minister. Her proper minister is the pastor of the parties concerned. There is no possibility of error in a matter so important, none of the looseness which is threatening society to-day all over America and without. We make no secret of Catholic practice. Let everybody govern himself accordingly."

AN INVALUABLE MEDICINE FOR ALL BABIES

Mrs. R. McEwen, Thornloe, Ont., writes: "I think Baby's Own Tablets an invaluable medicine for little ones. I used them for my own child when he was small and last summer when I had a baby visitor whose food did not agree with him, I sent for another box of the Tablets and they quickly helped him." It is testimonials such as this that have made Baby's Own Tablets popular that have shown them to be an invaluable medicine for little ones. The Tablets always do good — they can never do harm. Once a mother has tried them for her little one she will have nothing else. For with the Tablets she feels safe. They are sold under the guarantee of a government analyst to contain no harmful drugs Baby's Own Tablets may be had at medicine dealers or at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co Brockville, Ont.

SIX CANDIDATES WERE INITIATED

Delightful Evening Spent by Foresters

The C. O. F. held, what might be called a field night, last evening, and Court Peterborough, No. 29, C. O. F., used it as an opportunity to initiate six new members into the mysteries of Forestry, as a result of the efforts of District Organizer R. R. Garrin. The degree work was exemplified to the great delight of the visiting brethren from Bridgenorth, who came down to pay a fraternal visit.

After the business of the evening, refreshments were served. During the partaking of the same, short speeches from visiting brothers were made, in which they expressed their pleasure at being so hospitably entertained.

John Butcher furnished the music for the degree work, and Harry Edmondson delighted the boys with several selections on the concertina. Bro. W. T. Holloway acted as chairman and called upon T. D. N. Kelly, C. R. of Court Bridgenorth, who thanked the members of Court Peterboro in a neat speech.

Brother R. R. Garrin set out the many good qualities of the order and impressed upon the members the necessity of bringing new blood into the order to keep it up to a high standard of efficiency.

The membership is now over 77000 and 14,000 applications for membership were received last year.

Promotion for Mr. Statten

Mr. Taylor Statten, secretary of the boys' department of the Central Y.M.C.A., Toronto, for six years, and who is well known in this city, has resigned that position to accept the appointment of travelling secretary in boys' work for Ontario and Quebec

KEEP UP FENCE AGAINST U. S.

South Monaghan Farmer Writes on Reciprocity

The following letter has been received from a South Monaghan farmer along with a ballot against reciprocity. Owing to the promise made by the Review not to publish names of ballot-senders, the name cannot be published, although the writer would perhaps be willing:

South Monaghan, March 10.—We want no reciprocity with the United States. She would enter into no pact if she did not get the turkey and give us the crow every time. That any five men would dare to enter into a treaty of so monstrous a character without first submitting it to the voice of the people! Have we a responsible government, or have we dictators that sap the will of the people? We must put up the fence and keep the Yankees out, or we are licked. Two neighbors living side by side of each other, by keeping up a fence, will always be good friends. It is time for a change in our government; they are too long in power.

SECOND TROOP OF BOY SCOUTS

Over Thirty Boys at the First Meeting

The second Peterbrough troop of Baden-Powell Boy Scouts held their first meeting in the drill hall of the armories last night. Over thirty boys turned out. These were divided into patrols and taken charge of by Patrol Leaders Matthews, Quinn, Read and Clementi. No scoutmaster was in charge, but Col.-Sergt. Waterman, of the 57th regiment, was present, and after addressing a few words of advice to the boys, promised to be on hand next Friday and begin his duties as scoutmaster of the new troop.

Arrangements are being made to procure scout badges for the members of the second troop, and it is expected that by the first day of April each scout will be wearing the tenderfoot badge.

As soon as the organization of the troop is permanently arranged the scouts will be given special instructions in first aid and signalling, by men eminently qualified to teach these important branches of scout training. Lectures from prominent men of the city who are interested in the scout movement will also be forthcoming.

NATURE WILL CURE YOU

Of Kidney Disease, Aided by Father Morriscy's No. 7.

Kidney trouble is one of the most distressing ailments of mankind, and leads to backache and rheumatism. This is because of the importance of the work done by the kidneys,—work which must proceed normally to insure good health.

A very large proportion of civilized people have some form of kidney trouble, sometimes without knowing that their malady is of that nature. Many obscure pains can often be traced to diseased kidneys.

These organs are the filters of the body. Their function is to strain out of the blood and eliminate through the bladder the worn out tissue and other impurities gathered by the blood in its course.

When the kidneys become congested and sluggish, these impurities, including the irritating and poisonous uric acid, are not entirely removed from the blood. The result is that the uric acid is deposited in the joints and tissues, causing the agonies of rheumatism and frequently affecting the liver and other organs.

Father Morriscy, the famous priest-physician of Bartibogue, N.B., after much research compounded a remedy which worked hand in hand with Nature. His doctrine, justified by thousands of cures, was that the need is not a patchwork relief, but a treatment that will enable the forces of Nature, working through the kidneys, to accomplish their intended work.

His famous prescription, No. 7, assists the kidneys to work vigorously and eliminate the harmful uric acid from the whole system. In the form of tablets, No. 7 is easy to take, and will effect cures where other remedies have failed. Do not trifle with kidney disease, but take No. 7 Tablets, the treatment that has proved so successful with other sufferers.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

There were uproarious scenes in the British Commons during the debate on the land clauses of the budget.

It is reported that the Furness Steamship Co. is behind the inland navigation merger, now being discussed at Montreal.

The Manitoba Government has determined to retaliate on Ontario regarding the act respecting the licensing of extra provincial companies.

Dr. William Saunders, director of Dominion experimental farms, has tendered his resignation to the Minister of Agriculture. It will take effect at the end of the month.

The old Indian industrial school at St. Boniface for the past four or five years used by the Oblate Order as a juniorate, was totally destroyed by a fire with a loss of about $15,000, partly covered by insurance.

Sir Lomer Gouin told the Legislature that the Quebec Government had no intention of departing from the policy adopted last April which requires that all pulpwood cut on the crown lands should be at least partially manufactured before being exported.

Living, Yet Dead.

Toronto, March 11.—On account of the many foolish actions of George H. Annett, former farmer in Lambton County, and for the past two years confined in the Homewood Sanitarium at Guelph, Chancellor Boyd has decided that he must be considered in the lunatic class. Some people might agree with him that all the people of Guelph are dead, but the affidavit stating that he believed himself dead several years ago—drowned twice and otherwise extinct—couldn't go down.

He is 55 years of age and has a 50-acre farm, for which letters of administration have been applied.

Caught In Machinery.

Barrie, March 11.—Charles Barry, a man between the age of 35 and 40, whilst working in the Barrie tannery yesterday morning, met with a serious accident. While operating a machine used for the purpose of removing hair from the hides, his right arm was caught in the machinery and completely mangled, so that it was necessary to sever it from the body.

Split In Two.

Parry Sound, March 11.—An Italian section laborer on the C.N.O.R., named Dominick Rolli, about 45 years of age, was, Thursday evening, working on the track in the rear of a light engine when it started to back up the main line; he did not hear it, was struck, fell lengthwise on the track, and the body was split in two.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills Cured

"I think it should be the duty of the schools to teach children how to keep well," writes Miss Nannie E. Naydon, a well-known and highly esteemed resident of Bristol. "Ignorance of the laws of health and the use of improper remedies destroyed my vigor, and led me to the verge of invalidism. I was as a girl ruddy and strong. Nothing seemed to affect me until I was about thirty. Then gas began to form in the stomach. I suffered with bloating and a general failure in strength set in. If I went upstairs my breath hurt. My system was very irregular, and until I grew pretty bad I didn't pay much heed to my condition. Then I got blue, worried all the time, wakened in the night, and couldn't get to sleep again. None of the medicine I took helped me. One day I was reading of a very interesting case like mine cured by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I took the same treatment. It was just right—didn't physic me to death, but took hold of the weak, sick parts of my system, and set things right. It seems as if Dr. Hamilton's Pills have made me young again, and all my color, spirits, vigor, and health of former days have returned to stay."

Every girl and woman should use Dr. Hamilton's Pills regularly. They help a woman in many ways. Beware of the dealer who asks you to take an inferior pill on which his profit is larger than on Dr. Hamilton's. Sold in yellow boxes, 25c per box, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone, Co., Kingston, Ont.

How a Local Young Man Made Money

There are many people in and around the City of Peterborough who have money, looking for investment, who prefer a safe investment, such as bonds or low rate of interest, to investing in mortgages or other securities which require special judgment in selecting, and constant and careful watching to avoid loss. To such we would commend the following result to their careful consideration—

A young man of the City of Peterborough had his life insured sixteen years ago last January for Ten Thousand Dollars ON A SINGLE PAYMENT 15-YEAR ENDOWMENT PLAN. The premium paid was $6,460.00. On the 31st of January, 1910, the company paid him $12,116.00 in cash, after giving him fifteen years of free insurance. What do you think of that as an investment?

Are bonds or municipal debentures, or even the best mortgages, to be compared with it, when you consider that the risk of the life was carried during the 15 years? And remember, the security is as safe as any debenture or mortgage, and there was no trouble or expense entailed of any kind after the initial investment.

The above result was obtained from the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, under policy No. 47340, W.H.B.

BRITISH DIPLOMACY AND ITS INFLUENCE DOWN THE AGES

Thrilling Patriotic Lecture by R. S. Nevilles at the Normal School

Those who attended the lecture last evening in the Normal school assembly hall had the pleasure of hearing a thrilling and eloquent account of the tremendous influence which the British nation has exerted in the making of the history of the world, related in language brimful of patriotism and pride, by the distinguished Toronto barrister, R. S. Nevilles.

In a few opening remarks Mr. Nevilles stated that he had been induced to enter into the study of British diplomacy because of the inadequacy of the treatment it had received at the hands of historians. He had found the subject to be one of intense interest, for the deeper he delved into the mine of diplomatic history, it only increased the brilliancy of the gems which he discovered.

"It must be remembered," he said, "that British diplomacy is exerting an influence in determining many boundaries in the world and is constantly engaged in looking after British interests.

"It has always taken a broad view of matters, a view which has been necessary when the difficulties encountered are taken into account. Great Britain has developed probably the most skilled diplomats in the whole world."

Mr. Nevilles led his audience in imagination away back to the time of the beginning of the world and traced for them the descent of the English and Canadian countries down to the present era.

Away back in the impenetrable darkness of the past, two streams of humanity became visible, the yellow race and the black. Several civilizations had pretty well advanced before the white race appeared. By and by, however, when the white man did appear, he performed some wonderful migrations. Rome spread herself over practically all of the then known world. She came and left her descendants behind. Then the pirates, those hardy Norsemen followed and invaded England, and from those sturdy ancestors, developed the powerful race of to-day. Those tribes were the foundation of the national life of to-day.

The Norsemen were a sea-loving people and it was from them that the English race to-day inherited their love of the sea, and also enabled them to hold the supremacy. She became the master of the waterways and to-day holds the keys to the strongest fortresses of the world. She controls all the land entrances to Africa, and her fleets hold dominion over all waterways and approaches to it.

Great Britain was, however, by force of circumstances and by inclination always opposed to the would-be monopoly of one nation over others. One hundred years ago Napoleon trampled on the liberties of Europe. England came to her rescue and in lending her aid almost exhausted her own resources. The Bank of England had to close its doors.

In place of universal dominion, the doctrine of the balance of power has always been the guiding principle of Great Britain and this doctrine she has always insisted on other powers maintaining also.

What does this doctrine mean? It means that no one power can assume a monopoly over others. Each one must have the right and power to work out its own destiny. In all the history of the world, no one man has ever been allowed to dictate the policy of the whole of mankind. Up to one hundred years ago general wars were not uncommon. In the last one hundred years while England has been generally acknowledged as the mistress of the seas, every interest of mankind and every nation has prospered.

England stands in the way of the policy of some nations trying to lord it over and dictate the actions of other powers.

It is dangerous to the powers of the human race to have one race threaten the liberty and power of another. It is when such occasions arise that British diplomacy sets in and has her say. The geniuses of the British nation have adopted a policy of looking out for the interests of other nations besides her own.

In the case of the recent Japanese war, England kept Europe out of war by threatening to come to the aid of Japan should any second power come to the assistance of Russia. England has before saved both the civilized nations of the east, Japan and China, from war.

Mr. Nevilles traced British history and British policy thoroughly, and enlarged on any of the more stirring times through which it has come, in vivid and extremely patriotic terms.

His lecture was heartily enjoyed by all, and might be placed on a par with some of the recent lectures which the Canadian Club has had.

PUBLIC LIBRARY NOTES

In the course of his address at the meeting of the Public Library Association Dr. Locke laid emphasis on the fact that one of the most valuable assets of a library lay in its course of bound magazines. He stated that in Toronto he found the demand for this class of literature was exceptionally great, and that it was in the highest degree advisable to preserve all the better magazines for circulating purposes. In the Peterborough library there are at the present time about 340 volumes of this class of literature, and experience goes to show that there is hardly any demand for it. Peterborough readers devour with avidity all the magazines as they appear fresh from the press, but they seem to have a rooted objection to dipping into volumes that are a year or two old. Now, there is one thing that is abundantly and pleasantly true, and that is that local patrons of the library have really a very high conception of what is good and wholesome in literature. Although fiction, here as elsewhere, commends itself to nine-tenths of our readers it is already a proven fact that there are very few indeed who do not prefer a good sensible volume to an unwholesome one. If the public will take a hint, however, and try as a change of mental pabulum a volume or two of the bound magazines, it is safe to say that they will find it agreeable and restful to their souls. It is very easily forgotten that many a book which in years gone by proved a favorite with the public, first saw the light in the pages of a monthly magazine, and the writer in his own experience has often come across stories long out of print, and which he had despaired of ever seeing again, in the pages of old volumes of magazines. There are many beautiful little poems also stored away in these, often despised receptacles which tend to gladden the heart and bring back, perhaps, memories of days long gone by. We know of nothing better to take on a holiday trip than a volume of the type of literature referred to.

That the library is becoming a favorite with our citizens is being demonstrated every day. At the time of writing there are no less than 861 members on the library books, and the record of volumes taken out in twenty-one days amounts to over 2,000. The books are being taken most excellent care of, which is another proof that each individual feels the obligation resting upon him to conserve the property committed to his care for the good of the community as a whole.

THE MAN OF THE HOUR

A Play That Will Live

William Winter, the dean of the corps of New York city dramatic critics, and recognized the world over as the most conservative and thoughtful of all our writers on the stage, said in the New York Tribune of December 7th, 1906, the day following the premiere in New York City of "The Man of the Hour"—

"Here is a play that will live, because it is a play that means something. Few plays do. Mr. Broadhurst has in 'The Man of the Hour' written the best American play we have yet had. We should be the better for more plays like the one displayed last night under the tasteful and artistic management of Wm. A. Brady."

When a successful drama has passed the third milestone on its path, and the fourth is announced with the word "success" stamped all over it, what is the press agent to write further? Local theatre-goers know that "The Man of the Hour," George Broadhurst's greatest play, has had three most prosperous years, and recall the crowded houses when it was presented at the Savoy last season. It will be good news to our theatre-goers to know that "The Man of the Hour" will be presented on Thursday night at the Grand Opera House. This new play has rushed straight to the heart of everybody. Here is a beautiful play, presented in so steady a key that the effect is overwhelming. You must see "The Man of the Hour." It touches your heart and your mind as no other play will, and it is two hours of bubbling, snapping fun, and hits one just where one chuckles. In a word, no better play than "The Man of the Hour" has ever been seen in this city.

Contractors Say There Will be Lots of Work

The opinion of several local contractors, expressed to The Review, is that building operations will be brisk in this city, during the coming year.

They stated that while no particularly large contracts were in sight at the present, there were evidences on all sides that dwelling houses of the better class would be erected.

Real estate firms intend to do considerable building this year.

One contractor stated to The Review to-day, that he had more work than in any other year. He was of the opinion too, that the highest wages would be paid before the operations were very far advanced.

MISSION BAND ANNUAL MEETING

Young People of St. Luke's Elected Officers

The annual meeting of St. Luke's Mission Band, of which Miss Lizzie Stewart is superintendent, was held yesterday afternoon. A large number of children were present, as was also the rector, Mrs. S. Gaskins, president of the W.A., and several members of the W.A. After devotional exercises the reading of reports and other routine business was attended to. Mrs. John Butcher read a missionary story to the children. Dr. Langfeldt was called upon to address the Mission Band. He spoke on "Service," urging the children to serve, not "as men pleases," but "as unto the Lord."

Mrs. Gaskins also said a few words of encouragement to the children.

The election of officers resulted as follows—

Secretary—Miss Pearl Eastwood.
Treasurer—Miss Retta Gaskins.
Look-Out Committee — Dorothy Langfeldt, Wilhelmine Gaskins, Carrie Scott.
Sick-Visiting Committee — Mildred Curtis, and Irene Whittaker.
Dorcas Committee—Susie Duffus, Eunice Curtis.

Several new members were enrolled.

The finances are in a prosperous condition, about $38 being on hand.

The meeting closed with prayer.

Moroccan tribes are in revolt and are advancing on Fez.

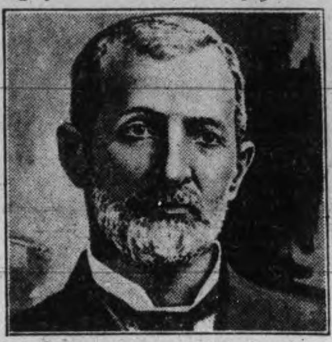
SARNIA, ONT., Feb. 5th, 1910.

"I have been a sufferer for the past 25 years with Constipation, Indigestion and Catarrh of The Stomach. I tried many remedies and many doctors but derived no benefit whatever.

Finally I read an advertisement of "Fruit-a-tives". I decided to give "Fruit-a-tives" a trial and found they did exactly what was claimed for them.

I have now taken "Fruit-a-tives" for some months and find that they are the only remedy that does me good.

I have recommended "Fruit-a-tives" to a great many of my friends and I cannot praise these fruit tablets too highly" PAUL J. JONES



Thousands now use "Fruit-a-tives. Thousands more will try Fruit-a-tives" after reading the above letter. It proves, beyond the shadow of a doubt, that at last there is a cure for Constipation and Stomach Troubles.

THE GREAT MOTHER CRY OF THE DIVINE HEART

Strong Address at Knox Church Mission Services

There will be no service in Knox Church to-night, but a full day is promised to-morrow. Rev. Mr. Woodside will conduct morning and evening services, and at 4 in the afternoon will speak to men on a vital theme, "The Labor Question and a Man's Religion.

There was a good attendance at last night's service. Mr. Woodside spoke on "The Great Mother Cry of the Divine Heart," basing his address on Mat. 11, 28-30. These words were the verdict upon life, by one who read the human heart with such accuracy as cannot be challenged. Christ had been with men on the hillside and lake, He studied there in the synagogue and market, He knew the problems of the home and office, He saw the distress of sickness and poverty, then disclosed himself as the answer to the world's greatest need.

Mr. Woodside said the world is still burdened and broken-hearted and needs the Christ to-day as much as ever. Three forces, the preacher, pointed out, operate to this end—the cares which fill life, so distracting and worrying, as to forbid the mind to think of anything else; the utter selfishness which govern life, and is so often hidden under the garb of the "good fellow" glorying in that fact, with these there is also man's consciousness of responsibility to God and his evasion of the same, which works itself out in an indifference and hardihood, the weight upon our manhood.

To all this Christ pledged himself the answer. But the anomaly of the problem is that not the sea shore or the mountain air is the much needed thing but the "Yoke of Christ."

Service with Christ will solve more of our difficulties than a trip to the continent. It is the great mother cry of God to her burdened children. Before man responds it seems as if God must do a great deal of urging. Divine urging may be a process we do not appreciate, nevertheless it yielded to the peaceable fruit of righteousness to those that are exercised thereby. Mr. Woodside closed with reference to a criminal with whom he prayed in the closing hours of his life, who deplored that he had not listened to the call of God in his early life, who at one time was as pure and innocent as anyone in the audience. You have only one safe-guard—that safeguard is Christ—Will you come?

REV. G. A. WOODSIDE,
Who addresses a mass meeting at Knox Church to-morrow afternoon on the subject of "The Labor Problem and a Man's Religion.

The meetings have been growing in interest, and have been thoroughly appreciated by all who have attended.

SOME CATCHY MUSIC IN "THE THREE TWINS"

This Musical Hit Coming on Monday Night—Big Rush for Tickets—Catchy Songs and Witty Dialogue.

If you feel the need of a good laugh and want to thoroughly enjoy yourself for a couple of hours on Monday night, do not miss seeing the "Three Twins" at the Grand Opera House.

The company, which is headed by Clifton Crawford, is the original New York one and judging from the reception it has recently been given in Toronto and Montreal, it is certainly a fine one. The staging and costumes are especially elaborate and in the scene showing the Electric Swing over 1000 electric lights will be shown.

The score is full of melodies, some of which have been familiar to us all for a couple of seasons. These include "Good Night, Sweetheart," 'Cuddle Up a Little Closer," "The Hypnotic Kiss," "The Girl's Up There,' and the "Yama Yama Man" These songs are the kind that stay with you—that you keep humming in spite of yourself.

There is a plentitude of funny dialogue and witty sayings that would make the most hapless dyspeptic laugh till he cries. So if you would thoroughly enjoy yourself and hear some good music, secure your seats early for the "Three Twins.

The upper gallery will open at 7.30 sharp, and the admission will be 50c. There are a few good seats left at the different prices. Telephone orders will be reserved until eight o'clock and the audience is asked to be seated as promptly at a quarter past eight as possible.

VESTA VICTORIA AT THE GRAND

The Famous English Comedienne Scores a Big Hit

Vesta Victoria is some class, as the slang expression (horrible slang too) goes. She is a top-notcher, just as were the diamonds she wore in that magnificent necklace in her last song at the Grand, last night. But while Vesta was there with the goods, and the gallery didn't hide the fact, there were others in the company.

Col. Thompson has gathered together a collection of top-notch vaudeville attractions, the greatest of which is perhaps Vesta, but the least of which is hard to pick out.

Miss Victoria sang "Poor John," "Skating," "The Widow, Now I Have to Call him Father," and others. These are old favorites, and her make-ups were splendid. Miss Victoria was suffering from a cold, and it interfered somewhat with her work, but the reception was very enthusiastic.

The Five McLarens in a musical act were splendid, Frank Bush in a story telling stunt, Van Camp as a slight of hand performer and magician, the quartet, Ivanowski were all good. It was a thoroughly enjoyable performance.

Notice "Three Twins" Monday Night

The gallery will open at 7.30 p.m. sharp, and the admission will be 50c., the same as charged everywhere. Some idea of the immensity of the production may be gathered from the fact that the company is travelling by special train, carrying two coaches and two cars of scenic equipment. There are eighty people in the production and in the second act the novelty attraction of the production, "The Electric Swing," containing 1000 electric lights, will be shown. "The Three Twins" far eclipse such gigantic productions as "The Merry Widow" and "The Prince of Pilsen."

Bachelors' Dance

The Bachelors held their first dance of the season last night in the Conservatory of Music Hall. Over forty couples were in attendance and the event was greatly enjoyed.

Fralicks orchestra of five pieces supplied the music. The committee in charge were Messrs. Ross Cameron, secretary: W. D. Davidson, Harold Hall, D. Davidson, Sydney Rush, Bert Minns and Keith Lech.

WOULD WEIGH COAL AT MARKET

Suggestion by Ald. Brown to Committee

At a meeting of the Property Committee yesterday afternoon it was decided to advertise the sale of the market tolls by tender for the year 1911-12.

Tenders will also be received for the Dan Spence Ambulance care and service.

Ald. Brown brought forward a suggestion that a tax be imposed on all coal weighed at the market scales.

At present the coal dealers have their own scales. Ald. Brown contends that his idea would be to the interest of citizens and market clerk.

No definite action was taken.

BEAUTIFUL EYES

are made beautiful by long, silky lashes, and well defined, lustrous brows. Eyes, like diamonds, depend on their setting. The beauties of the face are lost if the eye brows are thin and scanty; and the lashes are short and lifeless. Parisian Lash Lustre grows beautiful, soft, silky lashes. It has done so for society women throughout Europe, and it comes here well recommended to do the same for you. Parisian Lash Lustre is not a dye or colorator, but a scientific preparation for beautifying the eye lashes and brows. Our guarantee goes with every box of Parisian Lash Lustre. A two weeks' treatment will bring beauty to your eyes that you have never before possessed. By mail, prepaid, in oval boxes, on receipt of price, fifty cents. B. V. IS IT DESIGN OR ACCIDENT?

Original of Uncle Sam's Emblem Arrives

An eagle which had been hovering about Ennismore in the vicinity of Michael Gear's home for three or four days, was shot yesterday by him, the bullet wounding it in one wing. It was somewhat disabled by the injury and, after a terrific battle, he managed to secure it in a box.

To-day he brought it to town and it caused much excitement on the market, where hundreds of people went to view it.

Many local bird fanciers made Mr. Geary an offer for it, and he sold it to Mr. Norman Andrews, who had it taken to Mr. Elcome, the taxidermist, where it will be mounted.

It is of the species called the Golden Eagle, and its kind is very seldom seen here. There have been many conjectures as to where it came from. It resisted the advances of the throng and snapped fiercely at anyone within reach. When measured it was six feet four inches from tip to tip.

"Salvador" BEER

THE FAMOUS NATIONAL DRINK

There's a story behind "Salvador" beer —Canada's most famous brew—that carries us back to the year 1651

The Grand Duke Ferdinand, the Bavarian monarch of that period, established the now famous cloister brewery on the Nockerberg Mountain, near Munich, and appointed Father Sale the chief brewmaster.

The product of the royal brewery was first known as "Father Sale's Beer," until the more convenient title of "Salvador" was adopted, about a century later.

For over 150 years "Salvador" was brewed under the patronage of the Bavarian royal family. In 1806, Franz X. Zacherl acquired control of the cloister brewery and purchased the secret formula of the royal brew.

From that day to this the formula and sole European rights have been the most jealously guarded inheritance of the famous brewer's family.

The rich, mellow flavor of "Salvador" is only attained by a special aging process, and if the output of the cloister brewery was great enough the people of Bavaria would drink no other beer.

Mr. Lothar Reinhardt completed his extensive studies of German brewing in this famous cloister brewery, where he secured the secret formula and process for brewing "Salvador." He has the sole right under the Canadian Government Copyright and Letters Patent to manufacture this famous brew.

Reinhardts' "Salvador" has become "The National Drink by a rigorous adherence to every detail of the original process devised by Father Sale in 1651.

Compared with all other brews, "Salvador" beer is worth a dollar a drop, yet it costs no more than just ordinary beer.

Every pint of "Salvador" is matured in wood for at least six months before bottling.

"Salvador" is not only a pure, sparkling and refreshing brew; it also possesses tonic qualities which make it the beer par excellence for family use.

Always order "Salvador" if you want the best beer brewed.

NEWS AND VIEWS OF SPORT

BROCK STREET RINK CLOSED

The melancholy days have come, the saddest of the sad no more we'll hear those cheerful shouts of 'get him'—'use the gad.' Sam Ray's brave bunch has hit the dust, the Grillers too sleep sound, the games are o'er, the mugs are won—our youths were not around. The Rink Rats, too, have hied away their sticks with honors great, the big press game is but a dream, the Bank League's out of date. The sparrows still retain their berths and fight when'er they will, and aviate about through space, with joy—the organ's still. The shop league teams have struck the quilts, and no more tears will fall from those who in their zeal to score, took bumps that made them crawl. The season's through, the doors are closed, alas! alas! cries Billie Breen, but here's that all may meet again upon the ball yard green.

NORMALITES TOOK THE ODD GAME BY CLOSE SCORE OF 5-4

Benson Avenue Seven Were Never Headed—Led at the Half 3-2.

The Normal School hockey team and the braves from Central Park, clashed at Brock Street Rink last evening the former winning by the close score of 5 to 4. Each had won a game before and last-night's exhibition was to decide who were to be champions.

The P.C.I. team was without the services of Charlie Ray and the Teachers' line was somewhat weakened by the absence of Park, thus neither had much advantage over the ohter. The ice was covered with water making fast playing almost impossible, however, there were some good individual stunts pulled off, which kept the spectators in doubt as to which team was to be the winner.

The first goal was scored by Stewart for the Normalites and not long after Matthews tallied for his team. Before half time each seven scored again, Stewart twice and Matthews once, thus making the score 3 to 2 for the Normalites.

Shortly after the half-way point Matthews evened up on a neat pass from Laing. On an individual rush Stewart put his team in the lead.

Normalites 4; P. C. I. 3.

Gibson scored the fourth and last counter for the Collegians before losing himself among "Bill" O'Brien's legs for which offence, he was retired by Referee Heffernan. Stewart tallied his fifth just before the final call.

For the winners Stewart probably played the best hockey, scoring all five goals. O'Brien on the defence proved a hard proposition to solve. Matthews, Gibson, and Laing were the most effective for the losers, and had the ice been hard should have kept the Normalites guessing.

Playing six men each the line-up was as follows:

P. C. I.		Normal School
	Goal
Huyoke		Cavanaugh
	Point
Gibson		O'Brien
	Cover
Armstrong		Rickaby
	Rover
Matthews.

PUCKLAND

That the Ottawa players will do as well financially as they did in the high salaried days of last winter appears to be assured. In addition to receiving the whole of the net gate of the Stanley Cup series with Galt next Monday and with Port Arthur on Wednesday (providing Galt doesn't get peevish and carry the cup away) the players will be given their expenses and their share of the guarantees of both the New York games, together with the guarantees of the games at Boston with Wanderers. They will have to pay their own expenses, however, after the New York games are over.

It is figured out that eight players will have the munificent sum of $3,500 to divide among themselves, or after all expenses are paid, about $400 apiece. The Stanley Cup game with Galt promises to pull a loaded house and may bring a larger sum than is anticipated.

With all those iron men in sight, the high financiers are walking about wearing Wabash smiles and will put over some great hockey.

AN ADMIRER.

Ottawa Free Press.—Art Guertin, of the well-known sign painting firm, is a great admirer of the Ottawas. Arthur Thinet, one of the employees of the establishment, thinks Canadiens are the greatest that ever was. Hence the cause of a little excitement on Queen street this morning.

Guerin agreed to roll a peanut with a toothpick the whole length of the Garland Block on Queen street if Canadiens beat Ottawas last nihgt, provided Thinet did the same if Canadiens were beaten. The bet was clinched yesterday and at noon to-day a couple of hundred people had the time of their lives watching Thinet boost the peanut fifty yards along the pavement with a tooth pick.

Harry Thompson acted as referee and armed with a whistle, blew it every time Thinet shoved the tiny load. Only rolling went. A stout rope was attached to Thinet's waist in case he attempted to decamp.

The loser of the wager covered the distance in fifteen minutes and was all in at the finish. Guertin looked on with fiendish glee while Thinet plugged away with the tooth pick.

A very pleasing presentation took place last night in King's Cafe when a few friends of "Bouncer" Brouse presented him with a watch fob and solid gold locket suitably engraved, in recognition of his ability as a hockeyist with the champion Frontenacs. Though taken by surprise, "Bouncer" made a neat reply, thanking the boys for their remembrance. The presentation was made by Lionel Crawford.—Kingston Standard.

MERCANTILE CHAMPIONS

Toolroom Seven are Holders of the Title

The C.G.E. toolroom seven defeated the Lock Works team last night by a 6—1 score, and are now champions of the Mercantile League.

There have been ten tie games during the schedule, and the official standing of the league, as given by Secretary Fred Heaslip, is as follows—

	Won.	Lost.	Tied.
C.G.E. Tool Room	7	1	0
C.G.E. Office	3	2	2
C.G.E. Machine Shop	2	2	3
Pill Pounders	2	2	4
Lock Works	0	7	1

Y.M.C.A. SPORT

The second night's play in the city basketball league was again the means of furnishing some first-class sport for the large crowd present. The first game was between the Ponies and a picked team, the Whirlwinds failing to put in an appearance, the Ponies winning by default.

The second game between the Collegiate and Fairies was a most interesting game. The Collegiate started off with a rush and in a very few minutes had the score 8 to 2 in their favor, when half-time was called there was only two points separating the two teams. But after the interval the Fairies took a brace, and aided by their experience, soon had the game on ice, Hall, Elliott, Canniff, doing the bulk of the scorng. Teams — Fairies 55—Canniff, Hall, Elliott, Fleming, Turner. Collegiate 28—Hill, Bartlett, Howden, Creswell, Nicholls. Referee, D. Loomis. Umpire, M. McCarrell.

The game between the Pirates and Giants at 7 o'clock, was declared a tie, 43 all.

The Midgets and Strikers had a battle royal on the alleys last night, but the Midgets, true to predictions, put it over the Strikers. Score, Midgets 1206; Strikers 1099.

Monday night's game will bring together the Mivvies and Champion Lancashire Trio.

TOMMY BURNS AFTER A HAUL

Enters Suit for $50,000 Against Power Co.

Special to The Review.

Seattle, March 11.—Tommy Burns, the Canadian heavyweight pugilist, has entered suit for fifty thousand dollars damages against the Puget Sound Electric Company, for injuries received in a trolly car accident last December.

New Grain Act Confiscatory.

Ottawa, March 11.—A number of Minnesota men yesterday morning conferred with members of the Senate in regard to Sir Richard Cartwright's Grain Act. They represent American interests which own a number of elevators in Canada, particularly along the line of the C.N.R. They consider the bill as confiscatory, and object to the clause which provides that no man who buys grain can be interested in a terminal elevator, in Canada or elsewhere.

Mr. Hefflefinger, one of the delegation, said that the reciprocity agreement would increase the price of wheat in Canada. The tendency would be for the wheat to go south, because American inspection laws are not so strict.

Prof. Hambourg's Appointment.

Toronto, March 11.—Prof. Michael Hambourg, Toronto, has been invited to become head of the pianoforte department of the McGill Conservatorium. He has accepted on condition that he will not have to be in Montreal more than two days each week.

It is stated that the McGill board of governors regard the appointment as doing away with the necessity some graduates of the pianoforte department have felt of going to Europe to finish their musical education.

Chief of Police Best, of Wallaceburg, has resigned rather than accept added responsibilities.

FORD CARS

AT THE AUTOMOBILE SHOW

Visitors at the motor show last week were so impressed with the exhibit of Ford Cars that hundreds were heard to say that they were the best value in the building by nearly $300.00.

Motor enthusiasts are realizing that the Ford car will do anything and go any place that any other car will. This is proved by the fact that the Ford Co. has seen fit to build 37,500 cars for 1911.

Is it any wonder when you can buy a five passenger touring car for $975.00, and a roadster at $875.00, fully equipped and recognized as the most reliable, most silent running, economical car on the market.

It is guaranteed to go from eight to ten thousand miles on one set of tires. From 25 to 30 miles on a gallon of gasoline. To climb any hill on high gear that any other four cylinder car on the market will. To cost less than half for repairs.

You will never have to buy any battery, as it is run entirely by a magneto, which is guaranteed for the lifetime of the car.

If you intend purchasing a car be sure and have a demonstration in a Ford before deciding.

No hill too steep, no sand too deep.

Tea Time Talks

Tea Spoils with Age

No tea is fit to drink after it is two years old. That is the age limit of tea quality and benefit. The best tea is the freshest.

"Salada" Tea owes much of its world-wide reputation to its sale fresh from the plantation. The leaves are fresh picked every week the year round; then dried, sorted and packed in air-tight lead packages. Every five weeks a new picking of "Salada" comes fresh from plantation to purchaser.

Bulk teas, carried year after year, lose their freshness.

Yearly Sales Over 20,000,000 Packages

Ask your grocer for "Salada" Tea or send for a free trial package which makes 25 cups of delicious tea. We will mail it to you without charge. Say whether you use Black, Mixed or Green Tea and the price you pay per pound.

BLIND MEN HAVE A BROOM FIGHT

Ten Policemen Necessary to Subdue Unique Riot

Philadelphia, March 11—A serious case of blind man's buff occurred yesterday, when one-hundred and thirty-five blind men swung brooms on each other's heads in a riot on the third floor of the Pennsylvania working home for blind men. Two men were knocked unconscious and were taken to the hospital, and it required ten policemen, summoned by a telephone call from the superintendent of the home to subdue them. Many of them had fallen to the floor and the crowd raged over them. Despite their blindness, the inmates were able to hurt each other severely. The trouble arose over two of the blind quarrelling at their broom bench.

KING WILL NOT STAY AT ULSTER

For Big Celebration of 12th of July by Orangemen

London, March 11—King George is absorbed in preparations for his coronation, which he is resolved to make memorable in the annals of British royal functions. On July 8, the King and Queen will arrive in Dublin to stay four days at the Vice Regal lodge, hold court, attend a ball and the race meeting at Leopardstown, leaving Kingston again on July 12, the day the Ulster Orangemen hold their great annual celebration.

The Orangemen have not been slow to take offence at the King's planning to leave the country on that aniversary and are petitioning him instead to visit Ulster' capital, Belfast. This would be impossible, for it surely would lead to rioting and bloodshed.

The question whether Dublin's Nationalist Lord Mayor (Farrell), who owns a newspaper and a store where he and his wife serve behind the counter, will be empowered by the corporation to present the King and Queen with an address when they reach the city boundaries, as was done for Queen Victoria and King Edward is already causing excited controversy in the Irish capital, but it is quite clear that the vast mass of the Nationalists are for showing them every hospitality.

A SEVERE CASE OF NEURALGIA

Cured After Long Years of Suffering by Williams' Pink Pills

There is an excellent reason why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured the most severe cases of neuralgia, sciatica, and other complaints in the group that are known as disorders of the nerves. This group also includes St. Vitus dance and paralysis, and the common state of extreme nervousness and exciteability. Each of these complaints exist because there is something the matter with the nervous system. If the nerves have tone—are strong and healthy, you will not have any of these complaints. The reason Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure nervous disorders is that they restore weak, run-down nerves to their proper state of tone. They act both directly upon the highest medical authorities have noted that nervous troubles generally attack people who are bloodless and that the nerves are toned when the blood supply is renewed. It is thus seen that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure nervous disorders by curing the cause of the trouble.

Mrs. J. C. Adams, Norris Lake, Man., says—"I am writing you at my husband's request to let you know the great benefit Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been to him. He is a river driver, and therefore much exposed to all kinds of weather and wetting. As a result he had an attack of rheumatism, and then to add to his misery a severe type of neuralgia set in, locating on the left side of the face, and causing him such terrible pain that it would drive him almost wild. He was treated by several doctors, and finally went to Winnipeg, where they blistered his head and applied hot plasters which really only added more to his misery, and he returned home still uncured. In this way he suffered for nearly six years, trying all sorts of medicine, but never finding a cure. One day while he was suffering I went to a store to get a liniment, but they did not have the kind I wanted, and the storekeeper asked me what I wanted it for. I told him about my husband and how he suffered, and he placed a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills on the counter, saying, 'Take my advice, this is what your husband should take.' I took the Pills home with me and my husband started taking them. I am not sure how many boxes he took, but one thing is certain, they completely cured him, and he has never since had a touch of those torturing pains. You can tell how much he suffered when I say that the hair on the side of his head in which the pain was located, turned quite gray. It looks odd, but he says it does not matter since the pain is gone. I believe he would not have been living now had Dr. Williams' Pink Pills not cured those terrible pains, and you may be sure we gratefully recommend them to all our friends and all suffering ones."

Sold by all dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

OWES HER HEALTH

To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Scottville, Mich.—"I want to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash have done me. I live on a farm and have worked very hard. I am forty-five years old, and am the mother of thirteen children. Many people think it strange that I am not broken down with hard work and the care of my family, but I tell them of my good friend, your Vegetable Compound, and that there will be no backache and bearing down pains for them if they will take it as I have. I am scarcely ever without it in the house.

"I will say also that I think there is no better medicine to be found for young girls to build them up and make them strong and well. My eldest daughter has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for painful periods and irregularity, and it has always helped her.

"I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for the Lydia E. Pinkham's Remedies. I tell every one I meet that I owe my health and happiness to these wonderful medicines."—Mrs. J. G. JOHNSON, Scottville, Mich., R.F.D. 3.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases.

MAKING TROUBLE

Canadian Courier.

On the third day of the month the Executive of the Manitoba Grain-Growers' Association adopted a resolution which included a renewed demand that the British Preference be increased to fifty per cent. The present British Preference is one-third of the general customs rate. At least, that is the popular way of expressing it. In some cases the preference is less than one-third. For example, the duty on tweeds in the general tariff is thirty-five per cent., while tweeds from Great Britain come in at thirty per cent. This is a preference of one-seventh instead of one-third.

This demand of the grain-growers coming at this particular time, would lead one to suspect that these people are determined to make trouble. Apparently they intend to force a political battle between protection and free trade. If they were reasonable and were highly pleased with the proposed Reciprocity arrangement one would expect them to sit down for a while and be contented. Even if they were not contented, political wisdom would seem to suggest that they should pretend that they are contented. If they keep on agitating for an increase in the British Preference they are very likely to bring about a defeat or an ultimate repeal of the Reciprocity arrangement.

I am fully convinced that if the grain-growers force the fight on further reductions in the tariff into a general election, that the party supported by the grain-growers, whether in provincial or federal politics, will find it very difficult to carry the rest of Canada. If these Western farmers are wise they will be content for the present with the tremendous victory which they have achieved.

Man's Body Hurled a Mile.

Pleasant Prairie, Wis., March 11.—Part of the body of E. S. Thompson, the foreman of the Dupont Co., glazing mill, was found yesterday in a swamp near the railroad tracks, about a mile from the scene of Thursday night's powder explosion. The head, one arm and both legs were missing.

Ottawa Lady's Death.

Ottawa, March 11.—The wife of Hon. Octavius H. Lambart, of the survey records branch of the Interior Department, and a son of the Earl of Cavan, died yesterday in her 60th year. She was a noted linguist, and a leader in social life and women's work.

Bryce Didn't Arrive.

Ottawa, March 11.—Right Hon. Jas. Bryce, British Ambassador at Washington, was to have been in Ottawa yesterday, but his visit has been deferred.

G. T. R. Reports

Reports filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission of the United States for the month of December make possible a comparison of the earnings and expenses of the railroads for the calendar year 1910 with the calendar year 1909. The total operating revenues increased about $220,000,000, while the operating expenses increased about $216,000,000, leaving an increase in net revenue of but $4,200,000. When this amount of net revenue is reduced to a per mile basis and allowance made for the increased mileage of 1910 over 1909, what appears to be an increase in the net revenue becomes a decrease of about $40 per mile.

Of the increase in expenses over one-half was in conducting transportation in which wages were the largest item. The increase in the net earnings of the first half of the year was almost exactly counterbalanced by a decrease in the second half, during which the advances in wages were fully effective. It is evident that a prolongation of the conditions of the last six months of 1910 throughout the year 1911 will have a very serious effect upon railway revenue.

Women to Fight Reciprocity.

Montreal, March 11.—Under the name of the women's branch of the anti-reciprocity league, the leading women of Montreal have banded themselves together, and have decided to appeal to Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Mrs. Henry Joseph is the organizer of the movement, and Mrs. S. W. Ewing is the secretary. They declare that reciprocity means ultimate annexation and, with it, the loose marriage laws and divorce courts of the United States. Reciprocity, they say, is a menace to the home life of this country.

The women are also aiding the men's league in circulating petitions and obtaining signatures.

Died of Paralysis.

Cornwall, March 11.—A prominent resident of Lancaster, E. F. McPherson, died here yesterday morning from a stroke of paralysis with which he was seized on Thursday. He was in his 77th year.

Miss Catherine O'Shea (Rev. Sister St. Patrick) of Munro's Mills, who has been a postulante at the Hotel Dieu, was invested with the holy habit Thursday. His Lordship Bishop MacDonnell and ten of the clergy of the diocese were present at the ceremony. Rev. Charles McRae of Moose Creek preached the profession sermon.

Cocaine Traffic In Montreal.

Montreal, March 11.—After trying for over two years to stamp out the cocaine traffic in Montreal, the police authorities will now have an opportunity of prosecuting the vendors under the new anti-cocaine bill, which was adopted in the Upper House at Quebec, and which will come into effect at the end of the session. Inspector O'Keefe of the morality brigade, and Constables Daoust and Martin, who have been concentrating their attention on the red light district, intend to start a vigorous campaign.

Fire Near Cayuga.

Cayuga, March 11.—At Deans, in the Township of Seneca, near here, fire destroyed the brick residence occupied by Patrick Courish. Fortunately the fire was noticed by a crowd at the station, where they had gone to hear the lectures on the Department of Agriculture's "better farming special" train, and they removed the household furnishings.

The house was owned by Col. A. T. Thompson, of Ottawa, and was worth $3,000. Courish's loss is about $300.

At Eighty-Six Cut His Throat.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 11.—"Doctor, if I were you, I would cut off the heads of these old fellows who call on you for medical attention," remarked Jacob Meismer, aged 86, when Dr. August Soffel talked with him the other day.

Members of Meismer's family kept a strict watch over him, but yesterday his body was found on a stairway, with the head almost severed by a razor.

Bell Telephone Co. Bond Issue.

Montreal, March 11.—It is stated in financial circles here that the Bell Telephone of Canada will, in the immediate future issue, $1,250,000 of five per cent. bonds on the markets of Canada, the United States and Great Britain.

The company's outstanding bond issue is in the neighborhood of $3,469,000. The price of the new issue will probably be par.

Prominent Broker Dead.

Montreal, March 11.—One of the old-time stock brokers of the city and a man who, while in active business life, was one of the most prominent financial men in Montreal, passed away at 9.30 yesterday morning in the person of James McCullough, at the age of 78. He was unmarried and had no surviving relatives.

Doctors Condemn Oily Liniments

The Public are Warned to Be Careful of These Strong-Smelling Oily Liniments Containing Harmful Acids, Ammonia, Etc.

Many people have clung to the old-fashioned idea that a thick, greasy liniment is the best kind. Doctors say not—and they know.

Recently a number of these white, oily liniments were analyzed, and they were found to contain an enormously high percentage of harmful acids, and such irritating chemicals as ammonia, etc. For the moment they may cause a warm sensation when first applied, but their continued use never cures rheumatism, and only deteriorates the skin, sets up inflammation and causes endless trouble.

When a doctor warns you to quit using a white, oily liniment—do so. He knows that a thick liniment can't penetrate, can't sink through the pores and reach the seat of the pain.

When asked his opinion a few days ago, Dr. Roberts stated that he considered a strong, penetrating, pain-subduing liniment such as "Nerviline," to be superior to any of the white, ammonia liniments. In his twenty-five years of practice he had witnessed cases of rheumatism, sciatica and lumbago that simply would not respond to ordinary treatment—but Nerviline cured them. The same physician also spoke of the great advantages of keeping a preparation like Nerviline in the house always, because of cramps, diarrhoea, stomach disorders, earache, toothache, headache, and such minor ailments. Nerviline is a first-class cure. There is scarcely an ache or a pain, internal or external, that Nerviline won't cure. In thousands of homes no other pain-relieving medicine is used. Fifty years' continued success and the endorsement of the profession are proof that Nerviline is the liniment for the home.

ONTARIO'S STRONG PROTEST

"Whereas, in the opinion of this House, the interests of the province of Ontario would, without doubt, be injuriously affected should the proposed reciprocity agreement between Canada and the United States of America come into force;

"And whereas this House, as representing the people of Ontario, should not remain silent when a matter of such vital importance to the province is being discussed, but should clearly state its attitude with respect thereto;

"Therefore, this House deplores the making of the said agreement, and hereby records its strong dissent therefrom, for the following reasons:

"Canada is now enjoying a period of unexampled prosperity, her trade is expanding in all directions, her population is rapidly increasing, her ability, if unhampered, by agreements, to work out her own destiny as a part of the great British Empire is beyond dispute, and her people are prosperous and contented. This is the result of the policy which has been pursued in the development of her trade and resources, and which has involved great sacrifices on the part of her people and the expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars upon transportation facilities between the various provinces and between Canada and the Empire.

"The determination of her people to carve out their destiny and achieve nationhood as one of the component parts of the British Empire has justified this policy, and is itself justified by the result.

"Canada's tide of prosperity and contentment is still rising, and her position and influence as an essential part of a consolidated Empire are becoming more assured. No arrangement with a foreign state should be considered which might even jeopardise the continuance of her present satisfactory condition, much less this agreement for reciprocity with the United States of America, negotiated in secret and without authority from the people, which, if made effective, would, in the opinion of this House, to a large extent reverse the policy which has brought Canada to her present enviable position, would cause widespread and revolutionary disturbances in her business, would curtail and hamper her freedom in developing her own resources, in her own way, would cause serious injuries to many industries and to Canada as a whole, would check the growth and development of trade, between the various parts of Canada with each other, and between Canada and the Empire, would result in commercial union with the United States, would weaken Canada's position and influence as a unit in the British Empire, would frustrate her hopes of nationhood within the Empire, and would lead to political union with the United States."

MEETING FOR THE MEN TO-MORROW

Labor Problem and a Man's Religion

The men of the city are invited to attend the meeting at Knox church to-morrow afternoon at four o'clock, when Rev. G. A. Woodside, who is conducting a mission, will give an address on the subject of "The Labor Problem and a Man's Religion." Mr. McBretney will sing, and a most profitable hour may be anticipated.

PRESENTATION TO MRS. (REV.) COON

A Surprise at the Mark Street Parsonage

Last evening, to the surprise of Rev. and Mrs. Coon, the Mark street parsonage was visited by a number of people from the Bethel appointment, seeking a means of expressing their Christian kindness.

They thoughtfully brought with them a delicious spread of edibles, after enjoying which with their host and hostess, the ladies of the company on their own behalf and others of their neighborhood who could not be present, presented Mrs. Coon with a well-filled purse, accompanied by many kind words, thus tangibly expressing the esteem and affection in which their pastor's wife is held among them.

Mrs. Coon, taken completely by surprise, spoke her thankful appreciation of what she deemed an unmerited evidence of their love, and after an hour of pleasant conversation, all repaired to the church to enjoy the congregational meeting there in progress.

The Power of Knowledge

The St. John's Guild of Goodfellowship will meet in the Princess theatre to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The subject to be discussed will be "The Power of Knowledge." All men will receive a hearty welcome.

HERE IS A TALE WITH A MORAL

Little Edith Harris Cured of Dropsy by Dodd's Kidney Pills

Two doctors said she would die, but to-day she is a healthy, happy girl.—Healthy Kidneys in children the guarantee of a happy, useful life.

McTaggart, Sask., March 10.—(Special).—That no child is too young to have Kidney Disease even in its worst form, and that Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it in any form has been abundantly proven in the case of little Edith Harris of this place.

In May, 1903, this little girl, then two years old, was so swollen with Dropsy that her waist measure was increased from 18 inches to 34 inches. Two doctors said she must die. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her and to-day she is as merry and healthy a child as is to be found in the neighborhood.

In a recent interview her father says—"Edith is better than ever. She has no return of dropsy since she was cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills, over seven years ago. She goes to school and is healthy. I always keep Dodd's Kidney Pills in the house."

There's a moral for parents in this story. Many a child has grown up to a life of pain and suffering because its kidneys were neglected. A life of health and usefulness is assured if the Kidneys are kept in order with Dodd's Kidney Pills.

GUILD CONCERT A GREAT SUCCESS

Boys Society of Charlotte St. Realized Good Sum

The Boys' Guild of Charlotte St. Methodist Church surpassed themselves last evening, when they put on one of the most enjoyable and successful concerts in the history of the organization. The cleverness and ability of the boys was amply demonstrated throughout the entire program and the fact that none of them are much over sixteen years of age, makes the event more noteworthy.

Not a hitch occurred in the program and the singing of the boys chorus was fine.

The training of the boys was performed by Mr. and Mrs. Galbraith, and R. F. Downie, and much of the success of the affair is due to them.

A chorus called the "College Boy" was one of the popular items of the program and was sung in a rousing and suitable manner by the "Boys' Guild."

The concluding number, a tableau entitled "Tenting to-night," was presented most effectively and impressively, and was a most suitable finishing number.

The following was the program given:—

Chairman—Mr. Wm. Galbraith.
Chorus—"O'Canada," Boys' Guild.
Recitation—Wilfred Derry.
Piano Solo—Bruce Chambers.
Dialogue—"School Days," Smaller Boys.
Solo—"Toys for Sale," Willie Parsons.
Reading—"Two selections," Mr. R. J. Soden.
Chorus—"A College Boy," Boys' Guild.
Monologue—Willie Giles.
Solo—Mr. Sheldon Huffman.
Dialogue—"Klondyke Days," larger Boys.
Chorus—"Playmates," Boys' Guild.
Tableau—"Tenting-to-night." Under direction of Mr. R. F. Downey.
God Save The King.

Miss Clarry, accompanist, was presented with a bouquet of roses by the boys.

A handsome amount was realized by the boys.

CHOSEN FRIENDS SOCIAL EVENING

Past Councillors Badge for Mr. Harding

An enjoyable social evening was spent by the Canadian Order of Chosen Friends in the I.O.F. hall last night. An excellent program was provided, and refreshments brought the affair to a close.

The following program was given:—

Reading—R. E. Harding.
Song—Mr. Taylor.
Song—Miss McWilliams.
Cornet solo—Herb Payton.
Violin selection—Mr. Holden.
Banjo solo—Mr. Clarke.
Mandeolet selection—Five people.
Mouthorgan selection—Mr. Leach.
Step dance—Sidney Ferguson.
Recitation—Miss Billings.
Recitation—Miss Gertie Killingbeck.
Comic song—Mr. Thompson.
Recitation—Mrs. Abraham.

Mr. R. E. Harding acted as chairman. During the evening he was presented with a past councillor's badge by the past councillor.

Mr. Harding replied in a few appropriate words.

OBITUARY

Died at Brantford

Word was received in the city last evening of the death at Brantford of Mrs. Jas. Zimmerman, who was a daughter of the last Benjamin McCanton, 480, Donegal street. The news of her illness was received on Thursday, and two brothers, Messrs. Archie and Herbert, arrived at Brantford a short time before death occurred.

The late Mrs. Zimmerman was held in high regard by a large number of friends and acquaintances in this city, and her death will be regretted by all.

The remains will be brought here and the funeral will take place Monday afternoon from 480 Donegal street to Little Lake cemetery. Rev. H. J. Keith will conduct the service at the house at 2 o'clock.

SMALL MARKET

Poor Roads Kept the Farmers at Home

The market was rather small this morning, owing no doubt, to the bad condition of the roads.

Eggs were plentiful, the price being 20c. to 21c. per dozen. Butter sold from 26c. to 28c. per pound. There were only a few chickens and the prices were from 70c. to 90c. each. Ben Davis apples were steady at 35c. per peck, while for spies 30c. was the general price.

Vegetable and meat prices were:—Parsnips, carrots and beets, 15c. peck, cabbage $1.20 dozen, turnips 35c. bag.

Beef by the quarter was mostly sold at 9 and 10c. One offering of lamb sold at 12c. and 15c.

Fresh pork by the quarter was 11c. and 12c. per pound, salt pork per lb. 15c.

A MOTHER'S LETTER.

Mrs. Samuelle Vigneau graphically describes the illness and the recovery of her daughter.

All Mothers Should Read.

DAUGHTER OF MRS. SAMUELLE VIGNEAU.

MRS. SAMUELLE VIGNEAU, Amherst, Isle de La Magdaline, Can., writes:

"I write to tell you that I am perfectly well. I took only three bottles of your Peruna according to your advice and the directions in your book, and it restored my health.

"It also cured my daughter, who is 17 years old. She took one bottle according to directions. I assure you that no doctor is equal to your book and your advice. I have recommended your remedy to a number of persons."

A Woman's Remedy.

Mrs. A. E. Stouffer, Capioma, Kansas, writes:

"Peruna has given me health and strength; it is the best medicine that was ever made for women. My friends say they never saw such a change in a woman. I cannot say too much for Peruna."

TERRIBLE MINE DISASTER WITH HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE

Big Landslide Caused Death of Workmen in Pit.

Pitiful Scenes Enacted by Widows and Children.

Virginia, Minn., March 13.—Death in the form of 500,000 tons of iron ore, rock, earth, ice and snow, on Saturday night slid down on thirty tracklayers working in the Norman Open Pit Mine. Only four escaped the avalanche, and three of these are in a hospital suffering from injuries that may prove fatal.

Ole Johnson, foreman of one of the three changes of men that were caught by the vast mass, is the only one whose injuries are not critical.

The place that was an open pit is now almost a plain rock, ore and earth, with here and there parts of a body in sight. A few crushed heads protrude from the mass.

Arms and legs could be seen at varying angles as the great lantern of the steam shovels swung over the half-filled pit.

An army of men with shovels worked desperately to recover the bodies. The work was tedious and difficult.

Women and children ran screaming to the pit, and some fell in while looking eagerly for lost friends.

It will be days before all can be recovered, and all parts of some may never be assembled. The mass of rock and earth ground many of them into shreds. The only four men near the outer edge had a chance to run as the landslide swept into the hole. So far as can be ascertained all the men caught in the slide were Finns and Austrians. Many left large families. Paul Paulson, whose wife died a month ago, left seven children orphans. The little ones formed a group at the edge of the pit on Saturday night.

The miners, who were taking up one of the two tracks in the pit to permit the steam shovel to work in another part of the mine, were for the most part bent over with bars and claws when he avalanche swept down. The great mass struck them to earth. Many were flattened to the bottom of the pit, while a few were carried to the surface by the earth as it rolled over in the pit, much as a furrow is turned by a plowshare.

The four who were thrown clear out of the pit had been working half-way up the side of the excavation. The mine is nearly a mile from the city limits. Women and children filled the road to the mine shortly after the accident occurred.

The catastrophe was novel in the history of the iron mining in this range. Behind and before the pit were thousands of tons of ore rock, earth, snow and ice, and the rapid warming of the atmosphere released the embankment.

The Norman mine employs about 1,000 when running to capacity.

Offers to Back Assertions.

Ottawa, March 13.—Means to prevent a recurrence of the present typhoid outbreak in Ottawa, with a determination to use every endeavor to have a most rigid enquiry into the causes were debated on Saturday afternoon by local gentlemtn headed by Sir Charles Fitzpatrick. The committee at work includes Prof. Adam Shortt, Sir Louis Davies and Rev. Dr. Herridge and other men of standing, who are seriously alarmed at the inactivity of local authorities. They seek a commission appointed by the Ontario Government, which suggestion is now under consideration at Toronto.

Sir Charles Fitzpatrick has already stated that information has reached him that divers were told not to report holes in the intake pipe of the water supply, and offers to back up his assertion if called upon.

Meantime the city is having almost every drink analyzed and have given beer the "O.K." mark.

FIRST ELECTION

Lisbon, March 11.—It is officially announced that the elections for the constituent assembly of the new republic have been fixed for April 30th.

A Brave Woman.

Montreal, March 13.—After she had been shot in the head by F. Manpeo, an Italian, Mrs. Antonio Francisco captured the man who made the attempt on her life and turned him over to Constable Lacombe last night.

Manpeo is said to have entered Mrs. Francisco's home with a boy about 9 years of age, thought to be his brother. When he got inside the door he drew a revolver from his coat pocket, and pointing it at Mrs. Francisco, pulled the trigger. The bullet cut a furrow in the left side of the woman's head and buried itself in the wall behind her.

When he opened the door to escape Mrs. Francisco pounced upon him and pinned him against the side of the door until the constable arrived.

CORONATION CEREMONIES

Separate Crowning for King George as Emperor.

London, March 13.—King George is now seen daily in Rotten Row cantering with equerries. He needs the bracing air, for he is overwhelmed with the details of various ceremonials of what must be the busiest year of his reign. The precedents of the last coronation are followed closely, except the minor points, like the substitution of girls for boys as the Queen's train bearers, but a series of new questions have been raised for the Delhi ceremonial and the investiture of the Prince of Wales at Carnarvon, since tradition and recent practice do not cover them. Lord Curzon and other viceroys have been consulted respecting the Delhi function, and the decision has been reached that it must not be treated as a recrowning of the King, already consecrated at Westminster Abbey, but as a separate crowning as Emperor of India.

A thousand novel details connected with regalia and costume and oriental pageantry need to be determined. The prince's investiture is almost equally as difficult, owing to Welsh sensitiveness.

The Duke of Connaught, who is the King's closest adviser, has decided never to accept another military command. He may become Viceroy of India after serving a short term at Ottawa.

SCHOOL CLOSED TILL WEDNESDAY

Central School Rooms to Be Disinfected

Dr. McPherson, M.H.O., has ordered the closing of the Central school for to-day and to-morrow, during which time the rooms will be thoroughly disinfected. Three cases of scarlet fever, one of which is a teacher, have been found.

There is no need for any great alarm, the Review is assured. The school will reopen on Wednesday morning.

TORN SHIRT LED TO TROUBLE

New York, March 11.—A shirt on the sleeve of which was embroidered the monogram of a New York business man, has precipitated a triangular marital mixup.

The chief actors, besides the shirt, are a confused cloak manufacturer in New York, A. M. Holstein, a suspicious hubby in Chicago, and a distracted wife in New Orleans.

The trouble was caused by Holstein leaving the garment, in which he had discovered a rent, in the Hotel Blackstone, Chicago. Accidentally, the shirt got into the baggage of the New Orleans man. He was sure his wife packed the grip and at once he demanded an explanation. The frantic wife began investigation, located the owner of the shirt, and tearfully begged him to clear her good name.

SENOR LIMANTOUR DENIES HE IS TO TAKE PLACE OF DIAZ

Would Have Nothing to do With Such a Design.

New York, March 13.—After Diaz, what?

Senor Jose Yves Limantour, the Mexican Minister of Finance, addressed himself to the question with an indignation foreign to his usual poised and courtly temperance of diction. He had just been shown the report printed in some evening newspapers that American financial interests, with dominant boldness in Mexico, have on foot a plan to procure the resignation of President Diaz and set up Senor Limantour himself in the executive chair.

"How stupid," was the first words. "I should be the last person to be suspected of lending myself to such a design," he added, "even if by any stretch of imagination one could suppose me to accept the Presidency at the expiration of his term. I have always refused because the duties which I now fulfil are those most congenial to me, and because I believe I can be of most service to my country by continuing with them. There is no truth in the report."

With regard to the suppression of certain constitutional rights, the Minister said:

"What it means is not martial law, even in a mild form, but an abbreviation of civil procedure. Prisoners will still be tried before a civil court, but the court procedure will be curtailed.

"To return to President Diaz for a moment, I wish to make myself plain. Much has been printed of the effect that his death would have on Mexico. President Diaz is truly a great man, and his death would be an inestimable loss to Mexico, but even a national bereavement does not mean that civil government would disappear from the face of the land.

"Now, as to this matter of intervention. When an armed force crosses the border of a neighboring power without either invitation or permission, what does that mean? It means invasion, occupation. And what do invasion and occupation mean but war?

Preferred Death to Mutilation.

Chicago, March 13.—Thrown from one train and struck by another, which severed his left leg and arm, Edward Wolf, 17 years old, Saturday night made the instant choice of death as the alternative to life as a hopeless cripple. Fighting off the faintness induced by his injuries he managed to reach into his pocket with his remaining hand, draw a revolver, and put a bullet through his brain.

The bullet, which made a suicide of Wolf, almost claimed a second life, for it passed completely through the head of the self-slain boy, and hit his traveling companion, William Haines, 18 years old. Haines was struck in the neck and physicians who removed the bullet later found that it had just grazed the jugular vein. Wolf and Haines ran away from home in New York City a month or more ago. They were consumed with an ambition to see the west and traveled on freight and passenger trains as far as Denver. Then they became homesick and turned back.

Wants Damages From Township.

Eganville, Ont., March 12.—The Township of Sherwood is threatened with an action for close on $200 damages by the father of a young lady who, it is alleged, contracted smallpox while stopping at a house in that township. The young lady, whose home is in Raglan Township, and who was on her way to Calgary, where she held a good position, had a meal at the house in question, and it is claimed that smallpox of a mild type, existed in the house at the time. She proceeded to Calgary and nine days later became ill with the disease. As a consequence of her illness she lost her position.

It is claimed that the house was not quarantined, and Dr. McCullough, chief health officer for the province, has reported over his own signature the fact that an inspector from his department visited Sherwood Township some time ago and found the district "thickly saturated with the disease, and mostly hidden."

MAKING READY

New York, March 11.—Captain T. H. Rivers Bulkeley, V.S.O. and aide-de-camp to the Duke of Connaught; the Hon. R. Fellowes, a son of Lord Ramsey and Mr. John Gillist, who arrived here yesterday on the Mauretania, are on their way to Ottawa to arrange matters for the inauguration of the Duke of Connaught as Governor-General of the Dominion.

COUNT TOLSTOI VISITS NEW YORK

Son of Late Russian Philosopher a Sculptor.

New York, March 13.—The international floating hotel Mauretania brought many interesting passengers to her pier Saturday morning. Nearly [illegible] assembled in the brilliant illumi[illegible] lounge Thursday evening and [illegible] to an address by Count Leo Tolstoi, third son of the late Russian philosopher.

The count is forty-two years old, of medium height, with brown beard, long face, mild eyes, and teeth that gleam. He is a sculptor. He is deeply interested in social subjects and reform in educational methods. In Paris he has been two years studying with Rodin, the sculptor.

The speaker produced two busts of his father which he had fashioned, one in plaster and the other in bronze. The audience noted the likeness of the busts to the young count. He said he had been his father's intimate and co-worker in writing, editing and teaching, and enjoyed his father's entire confidence.

The son attributed his father's erratic conduct during the last days to the influence of Lord Radstock, an English evangelist, under whose spell the elder count had fallen.

Issues New Publication.

Ottawa, March 13.—A new publication of the Dominion Department of Agriculture is a monthly bulletin called The Publications of the International Agricultural Institute. It undertakes to re-publish or summarize the most important articles which appear in the three monthly publications of the institute, viz., the bulletin of agriculture statistics, the bulletin of the bureau of economics and social intelligence (agricultural, organization, co-operation, etc.), and the bulletin of agricultural intelligence and plant diseases.

Landside From Vesuvius.

Naples, March 13.—A severe earthquake accompanied by strong detonations from Mount Vesuvius, occurred last evening. Investigations showed that a great landslide had dropped from the upper part of the crater. It is estimated that it measured 1,000 by 250 feet, and when it fell it caused enormous clouds of smoke. The funicular railway was badly damaged. A party of tourists were about to ascend by the railway when the shock occurred.

Big Express Strike On.

New York, March 13.—The strike of express company exployes, which has been threatened for several days past, materialized yesterday with the failure of practically all the drivers and helpers in the employ of the Adams Express Co. in the city to report for work.

Passing of Leading Methodist Scholar.

Montreal, March 13.—Rev. Wm. I. Shaw, D.D., principal of the Wesleyan Theological College, and for many years chairman of the board of Protestant school commissioners, from which he retired a few weeks ago, on account of ill-health, died at noon yesterday. He was born in Kingston, Ont., on April 6, 1841. Studying first for the legal profession, he abandoned that design and entered the ministry in 1864 and was ordained four years later. In 1894 he was called to succeed Principal Douglas in the Montreal institution.

London, March 11.—Premier and Mrs. Asquith left hurriedly last night for Switzerland, where their thirteen-year-old daughter Elizabeth has been stricken with bronchial pneumonia, and lies seriously ill.

BATTLED IN HURRICANE

Steamship Had a Four Days Fight in Gulf Stream.

Halifax, March 13.—Eleven days out from Jamaica after battling with a fierce hurricane for over four days, the steamship Boston has put in port with her wheel house gone. Two of her boats badly damaged, doors smashed and part of her railing washed overboard.

The Boston, Captain Holstead, left Jamaica on Sunday, Feb. 26. She arrived at Turk's Island two days later and sailed for Halifax on Wednesday, Feb. 28. On entering the gulf stream she encountered a heavy northeast gale, which increased in velocity until it culminated in a fierce hurricane. The waves swept over the ship fore and aft, and she was compelled to lay to. For eighty-five hours the ship remained there unable to make any progress. Huge seas swept over her, sometimes covering her completely. The wheel house was carried away by a mountainous sea, one lifeboat and a jolly boat, were badly damaged, doors were smashed and part of the railing was carried away. So perilous was her plight and that of those on board that the man who steered had to be lashed to the wheel and the other men wore life belts. The storm became fiercer and fiercer, and the ship was like a toy fighting against great odds. The seas boarded her continuously with terrific force, sending her on her beam ends and carrying almost everything in their path. The cabin filled with water and some of the captain's effects with a quantity of stores were destroyed.

On Friday the storm abated. When the Boston arrived her coal bunkers were empty.

Burned to Death.

New York, March 13.—An oil-fed fire sped 350 feet atop a long frame structure to a fleet of tugs and barges at the Standard Oil piers in Brooklyn Saturday night, caught the tug Protector in its sweep before the vessel could scurry away, and burned to death Edward Brown, the captain. His three companions leaped to fleeing craft nearby and escaped. Half a million gallons of oil were consumed by the flames, which also licked up a barge, the tug and a group of small frame buildings around the plant.

The blaze originated in the filling room of the Pratt Oil Co., a subsidiary of the Standard, and ripped its way through the building with a series of explosions as 100,000 five-gallon cans of oil went up. Four alarms were turned in; the firemen fought for three hours before bringing the fire under control. The estimated loss is $100,000.

SHADOWED WIFE AND GOT SUSPECT

Montreal Man Was Arrested in Chicago

Special to The Review.

Montreal, March 13.—By shadowing the suspected man's wife for weeks, detectives arrested Frederick Krutzberger in Chicago. He is charged with the theft of six hundred dollars from the safe of the Wm. Davies Co. here. Krutzberger was formerly manager of the Davies stores in Montreal.

Fatal Slide In Panama Canal.

Colon, March 13.—There was a big slide of earth at the north end of the Calun Lock of the Panama Canal on Friday night. The mass buried a steam shovel and caught a gang of workmen, killing two Spaniards and an Italian, and injuring several others.

Japan Celebrates.

Tokio, March 13.—Marquis Katsura, Premier and Minister of Finance, gave a dinner Saturday night for the Ambassador and staff of the American embassy, in celebration of the conclusion of the new commercial treaty between Japan and the United States.

Want Inquiry Into Their Finances Before Law is Enforced.

Ask That Pop and Cigars go on Free List.

Toronto, March 13.—The substance of the hotelmen's interview with the local Cabinet was made known last evening in an interview with W. C. Martin, secretary of the Hotelmen's Association of Toronto, who was one of the spokesmen on that occasion.

"The press were denied access to the meeting," said Mr. Martin, "and this fact was called to the attention of the Cabinet Ministers in comparison with the manner in which the temperance delegations have been received when every significant utterance was emblazoned broadcast. The result is that the public, and our opponents are very much in the dark, except as to one side of the question. I can say this, however, that we were very courteously received and the Government evinced a very great interest in our arguments."

The hotelkeepers asked the Government to defer action for a year regarding the proposed bill to place a tax of 5 per cent. upon all bar receipts over $40 a day. In the meantime they asked that an arbitration board be appointed at the expense of the "trade" to go fully into the facts and position of the trade and arrive at "a fair basis of taxation on net profits instead of gross income." They also asked that any tax on cigars or soft drinks be not put in the bill, because other business men do not pay such a tax on soft drinks and cigars.

A vigorous protest that the license-holders were being grossly discriminated against, was made.

"The Ministers desired data," said Mr. Martin "and we told them that the license returns to the Government show that in Hamilton and Ottawa the tax on $40 receipts at license fee of $700 is 5 2-3 per cent.; in Berlin license fee $500 it is 4 per cent.; Barrie license fee $450 tax 3 3-5 per cent.; towns of 2,000 to 5,000, 2 3-4 per cent., and villages 2 per cent.; townships 1 per cent., while in Toronto the tax rate on the first $40 of business is 13 per cent. The province outside of Toronto pays an average of between 3 and 4 per cent., and is the highest in Canada. The gross profits are the same all over the province while the gross charge here is very much higher, as wages, rent, taxes and food are very much dearer than outside."

Mr. Hanna argued that the tax might be construed as an offset to "unearned increment"—the great advance in the prices reported to be paid upon every license that is sold or transferred.

Not In Any Sense Official.

Ottawa, March 13.—Some misapprehension has arisen with respect to a supposed invitation to members of Parliament to attend the coronation. No official invitation has been extended by the British Government to any members of the Canadian Parliament, as has been intimated on this side of the Atlantic. It is true, however that a self-constituted committee of the British House of Commons sent messages proffering hospitality to eighteen members of the Canadian Parliament. This was not in any sense an official invitation. An informal selection of eighteen members of the Senate and House of Commons has been made without distinction to party, and their names have been forwarded to the gentlemen of the British House of Commons who sent the message.

There will be no official representation of the Canadian Parliament. The only official representatives of Canada will be the members of the Cabinet who have received official invitations.

Petition For Release.

Kingston, March 13.—An effort is being made to secure the release from the penitentiary of Robert Cughan, who was given three years for irregularities while manager of the Farmers' Bank at Athens. His father, Abel Cughan, when here on Saturday to see his son, stated that the petition asking for his release had been largely signed.

CAMORRISTS FIGHT IN JAIL

Jury to try Prisoners is Not Yet Completed

Special to The Review.

Viterbo, Italy, March 13.—Firemen at the jail where the Camorrist prisoners are confined, had to turn the hose on them to-day to quell a fierce fight which broke out amongst the prisoners while they were exercising. The jury to try the prisoners is not yet made up.

PLUCKY WORK BY BANK TELLER IN STRUGGLE WITH ROBBERS

Was Gagged and Bound by Masked Men.

Gained His Freedom and Opened Fire on Them.

Wyoming, Ont., March 13.—When C. R. Weaver, teller of the Bank of Toronto here, stepped into his room over the bank at an early hour yesterday morning, on his return from an evening party, he was called upon to throw up his hands.

Weaver jumped at the man, wrenching his revolver from him, and after a vigorous wrestling bout, he succeeded in throwing him on his head.

A companion of the hold-up man then sprang to the assistance of his companion and they were able to overpower the teller. After vainly endeavoring to secure from Weaver the number of the combination to the bank vault, the robbers proceeded to bind and gag him. They then descended to the bank below.

After several minutes of struggling Weaver succeeded in getting himself free, and securing his revolver he at once opened fire through an opening in the floor of his room, which is directing above the front of the safe. After firing a shot in return, which narrowly missed Weaver, the would-be robbers fled.

Weaver fired three shots in all, and is almost certain that one took effect and wounded one of his assailants.

A small office safe was found open, but nothing was taken.

No Montreal Exhibition.

Montreal, March 13.—That there will be no exhibition is the opinion of the aldermen who were present at the meeting on Saturday afternoon of the directors of the Industrial Exhibition Commission held in the City Council chamber.

No site so far proposed for an exhibition seems to be good enough on which to hold an exhibition in Montreal, according to the aldermen.

A final decision in the matter was reached on Saturday. Votes was taken on different sites in question, with the result that all were voted down and lost.

MRS. EDDY HAD LARGE ESTATE

Valuation Places it $2,512,145

Concord, N.H., March 13.—A valuation of $2,512,146 is placed on the estate in New Hampshire of the late Mrs. Mary Baker Glover Eddy, founder of the Christian Science Church, by the appraisers, whose report was filed in the Merrimack County, probate court yesterday by Gen. Henry M. Baker of Bow, executor of the estate. While the property left by Mrs. Eddy in Massachusetts has not been formally appraised, Gen. Baker estimates it at about $250,000. The total value of Mrs. Eddy's estate, therefore, is approximately $2,760,000.

MISSIONARIES TO BE EXPELLED

Mormons are too Active in England

Special to The Review.

London, March 13.—It is learned that five hundred young women left England recently for Utah to join the Mormon colony. The government bill which calls for the expulsion from England of all Mormon missionaries will probably be passed without any opposition being made to it, as the feeling against the movement is very strong.

ELEVEN KILLED AFTER A STRIKE

Eight of the Dead Men are Negroes

Special to The Review.

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 13.—Following a strike of white firemen on a branch of the Cincinnati Southern railway, eleven men, eight of whom were negroes, have been shot and killed from an ambush.

UNION LABEL

BRIBING THE COUNTRY

The announcement in the House of Commons that the Government intends to go ahead with the construction of the Hudson Bay railway will be a considerable surprise to the people of the country, in view of the fact that Laurier expects reciprocity to go through.

Of what use is a railway 200 miles long that can be used for only two or three months of the year, to Hudson Bay if the farmers are to send all their surplus wheat to the United States?

If the Government is providing so many southern exits for the surplus products of the west by the reciprocal agreement, is it not an injustice to the people of Canada to spend millions of dollars on this road, which the Toronto Globe declares is simply a hazard at the best?

The enlarging of the canals, the betterment of the facilities of transportation is all right. In fact by introducing reciprocity, and giving Jim Hill's six or seven railway lines that are resting their noses on the Canadian boundary, a chance at diverting Canadian traffic, the Laurier government has accomplished the provision of much greater railway facilities than were available before, at no cost to the country, except the estrangement of Canada to the empire—and of course this is a mere bagatelle to the Laurier "separation" administration.

Before the Government undertakes the building of a Hudson Bay line, let it get out of the woods with the glorious third transcontinental that was to be a living monument to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and which has cost $150,000,000, instead of the $50,000,000, which the government had expected. The national debt of Canada is the greatest in its history, and Laurier, to bribe the country to forget the reciprocity pact, proposes further huge plunges into transportation expenditures. Canada seems to be travelling on the broad and easy pathway to national perdition these days.

SAVING THE CHILDREN

Col. Matheson's bill by which the moving pictures exhibited in the nickleodeons will be censored, and to prohibit the admission of children under fifteen years of age to the shows, except in the company of an adult, will fill a much discussed void in the laws of Ontario.

A great deal of complaint has been heard from those engaged in the education of children, about the lure of the moving picture show, and the idle, frivolous and injurious traits of character formed thereby. This complaint is well grounded, because with the 95 per cent of the children, whose education stops with the public school, it is most important that they shall get the utmost educative training before leaping into the whirlpool of active life labor.

The prohibition will hit the moving picture shows, much of the revenue of which has been derived from these children. But they must suffer for the good of the children, and the good of the public. It is not a solid business which has to depend for existence on children's nickels. We feel the utmost confidence that the new legislation keeping impressionable children out of the way of moving pictures, and removing the strong influence towards the deformation of their plastic characters will meet with hearty approval by the mothers and fathers of the province.

It was only a few weeks ago that the Peterborough school trustees heard complaints about the ravages of the nickleodeon, of the inroads it was making into the healthy stability of the children's minds and bodies. After a boy or girl passes fifteen, he or she knows enough about life to be able to discount to some degree at least, the incidents depicted on the canvas, and the harm is greatly minimised.

The new regulations will prevent school children from being led into mind and body exhausting, night revels, as far as the pictures are concerned, and school studies, relieved by amusements of a natural and wholesome character, will be promoted.

BOXING EXHIBITIONS

In Hamilton the authorities undertook a prosecution of two boxers who attempted to put on a ten-round boxing exhibition, on the ground that prize fights were prohibited under the laws of Ontario. The magistrate trying the case, which was purely a test one, found them guilty. The appeal to the county court judge was not without its humorous features.

One of the promoters of the bout remarked that the son of the crown attorney had figured in some very good bouts in a ring at Highfield school, with a referee present, and he thought the lad would make a good feature for a public exhibition. Judge Snider, who heard the appeal, reserved his decision, but strongly expressed himself as in favor of the permission of good boxing exhibitions, though totally opposed to prize fights.

This is a sound sentiment, and the sporting public would be glad to have a written legal decision confirming the right of sporting clubs to hold boxing exhibitions. The day of regular prize fights in Canada has gone, but it is certainly not common-sense application of the law to say that there shall be no exhibition of boxing in public. Boxing is not a brutal sport. It is less a crime than the way some men are forced to work to retain their employment. How seldom, even in the case of a knockout, do harmful results follow!

Football is a good deal more dangerous to the player than the hit-and-get-away game with six-ounce gloves. The question which must be determined in putting on public exhibitions of boxing is that of contract, the financial agreement deciding whether it is to be considered a prize-fight or not.

The Hamilton police were a little previous, although acting under the instructions of the mayor, in refusing to permit the bout to go on. They had no knowledge of whether it was to be a love-tap affair or a stand-up-and-knock-him-down fight. And the policemen themselves would have dearly loved to have seen a good stiff "go."

EDITORIAL NOTES

If the Intercolonial can produce a surplus, Canadian prosperity must have reached a hitherto unknown pinnacle.

The government proposes to build the Hudson Bay railway after arranging to add Jim Hill's six or seven southern feeders to the Canadian systems. A generous government is a good thing for everyone except the man who has to foot the bill—and his name is legion.

The Toronto Star says that "the British preference was adopted in 1897 without a mandate from the people, and no complaint was made." Yes, but the British preference was made following closely on the snubbing received at Washington and as a measure of revenge and "get even" on the haughty Americans. Having found that the Americans wouldn't receive Canadian advances—didn't want closer relations with us, the government to save its face, instituted the preference. It was not a measure of loyalty or patriotism, but of spite against Uncle Sam. The Laurier government would rather have continentalism any day.

Liverpool Wheat Futures Close Lower, Chicago Higher—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

LIVERPOOL, March 11.—Wheat, firm at start and values ⅜d higher. Support was induced by unexpected firmness in America and the closing steadiness in Buenos Ayres and shorts were induced to cover some. The steadiness in Paris and continued fair demand from continent caused further tightening of prices. Later and just before close market turned lower with decline of ⅜d from opening on increased pressure of both Australian and Indian offers at decline and talk of large world's shipments this week, with liberal contribution from Russia. There was quiet demand for spot with all cargoes offered at a decline. At the close the market was easier, unchanged to ⅛d higher than yesterday.

CHICAGO, March 11.—Nervousness regarding possible alarming discoveries by crop experts who had been hurried out from here to investigate rumors of Hessian fly infection in Illinois and Indiana wheat fields turned prices suddenly upward to-day. Closing figures were firm at a net advance of ⅜c to ½c. Corn finished ⅛c to ¼c higher than last night. Oats unchanged to ⅛c off and provisions down 2½c to 5c to 20c to 22½c.

HIS GIRL FRIENDS.

Mark Twain Dearly Loved Children as Playmates.

THE ANGEL FISH SOCIETY.

A Delightful and Touching Story About Little Margaret, One of Its Members, and the Genial Humorist—A Pretty Compact and a Quaint Letter.

Like many another great man, Mark Twain was fond of children. He never outgrew childhood, and he always chose young playmates where they were to be found. He formed curious societies of these girl friends. Back in the nineties, when he was living in Europe, he created a club which was to consist of one (only one) girl in each country of the globe, the duty of said member being to write occasionally to the chief officer, who faithfully replied to these random and far faring messages. Of course these little girls were swept into womanhood presently, but even to the last years of his life the member who signed herself "France" remained faithful to the law.

Another club of girls, little girls, became one of the chief interests during his final years. It had its beginning in Bermuda during one of his frequent visits to those happy islands. It was called the Angel Fish club, after a gorgeous swimmer of those waters, and he gave to each member an angel fish pin as a society badge. It was a successful club, and on his return to America he elected other members, enough to make twelve in all.

His home at Redding, Conn., Stormfield, had been originally named Innocence at Home, and as Angel Fish headquarters Innocence at Home it always remained. Members with their parents visited him there, and the billiard room, where the "fishes" were likely to spend most of their time knocking the balls about, under the chief member's instruction, was called the Aquarium, and gay prints of many Bermuda fishes were hung along the walls to carry out the idea. Each member had the privilege of selecting one of these as her patron fish and of identifying it with her name.

It was in Bermuda one day when he was walking along the beach with one of his angel fish members that he picked up a small iridescent double shell, delicately hinged together. He separated it and handed his companion half.

"You will be going away from me pretty soon, Margaret," he said, "and growing up, and I won't know you any more. I shall see a great many Margarets, and now and then one of them will say she is my Margaret, but I will say, 'No; you resemble my Margaret, but you are bigger than my Margaret, and I can't be sure.' Then I will take out this shell and I will say, 'If you are really my Margaret you will have the other half of this shell, and it will fit exactly.' Then if she has the shell and it fits I shall know that it is really my Margaret, no matter how many years have gone by or how much older she has grown."

All this he said very gravely and earnestly, and the little girl took the shell thoughtfully and promised to keep it always. Next morning when she came running up to meet him on the hotel veranda he looked at her questioningly.

"You look like Margaret," he said, "but I can't be sure. If you are really my Margaret you will have a shell I gave her once—the mate to this one"—

He got no further. The talisman was promptly produced, and it fitted exactly. He returned to America, and somewhat later Margaret received a letter—one of the pretty letters he was always writing to children. In it he said:

I am always making mistakes. When I was in New York six weeks ago I was on a corner of Fifth avenue and saw a small girl—not a big one—start across from the opposite corner, and I exclaimed to myself joyfully, "That is certainly my Margaret," so I rushed to meet her. But as she came nearer I began to doubt and said to myself, "It's a Margaret, that is plain enough, but I'm half afraid it is somebody else's." So when I passed her I held my shell so she couldn't help but see it. Dear, she only glanced at it and passed on. I wondered if she could have overlooked it. It seemed best to find out, so I turned and followed and caught up with her and said deferentially, "Dear miss, I already know your first name by the look of you, but would you mind telling me your other one?" She was vexed and said, pretty sharply: "It's Douglas, if you're so anxious to know. I know your name by your looks, and I'd advise you to shut yourself up with pen and ink and write some more rubbish. I am surprised that they allow you to run at large. You are likely to get run over by a baby carriage any time. Run along now and don't let the cows bite you."

What an idea! There aren't any cows on Fifth avenue. But I didn't smile. I didn't let on to perceive how uncultured she was. She was from the country, of course, and didn't know what a comical blunder she was making.

Margaret, with her mother, called when they returned to America. When the cards were brought to him he looked at hers and said:

"Well, the young lady, her name seems familiar, but I can't be sure it's my Margaret without a certain token which she is supposed to carry as a proof." The shell came up without delay. He took the two halves now to a jeweler and had them set in gold as charms. One of these Margaret wore on a ribbon about her neck, and the other he linked to his watch chain, where it remained till he died. What a sweet fancy it all was!

He spent the last months of his life in Bermuda in the home of one of his angel fish, Helen Allen, daughter of the American vice consul there. She was his daily companion, and it will be her lifelong happy memory that she brightened and comforted his final days.—Albert Bigelow Paine in Ladies' World.

Kincardine, March 11.—The report is practically confirmed that the C.P.R. has acquired the West Shore Railroad and will have a branch from Goderich to Kincardine and on up to Southampton and Wiarton. The news leaked out from a contractor of the former road, who received word on Thursday that he was to look to the C.P.R. for further orders.

Cured His Rheumatism In Three Weeks.

James LeB. Johnstone, a prominent member of the Citizen's Band, of Chatham, writes:

"I contracted Rheumatism by exposure, five years ago, and was ailing for two months and in great pain all the time. I got Father Morriscy's No. 7 Tablets and took them for about three weeks, when the Rheumatism all left me and I have had no return of the pains since."

Rev. Father Morriscy

Father Morriscy's "No. 7" Tablets

have cured thousands of this terribly painful disease.

Rheumatism is generally brought on by exposure, but is really caused by Uric Acid in the blood. This Uric Acid is an irritating poison, formed from the waste matter of the body. The kidneys should remove it, but when they fail it poisons the blood, and, settling in the joints, causes Rheumatism.

"No. 7" Tablets clear out the clogged-up Kidneys and stimulate them to perform their task of filtering the Uric Acid out of the blood. When this is done the Rheumatism simply and naturally vanishes.

"No 7" Tablets cost 50c. At your dealer's. 28

"SEEING STARS."

The Curious Illusion That May Come With a Blow on the Head.

Usually the sensation occasioned by a blow on the head or in the eye is accompanied by a hallucination. The person struck thinks that he sees something similar to the light of stars or fireworks. Such an illusion follows the compression of the globe of the eye. If there is a sudden relaxation of the eyeball, due perhaps to a passing paralysis of the external muscular system of the eye, the effect is like that of a strong breath exhaled over the face of a mirror. Instead of a shower of sparks or stars, a veil falls film-like on the eye.

A man "sees stars" because the eye has been momentarily flattened either by sudden action or by a spontaneous spasm. Sudden sickness, a swoon, nausea or some too poignant emotion may be enough to produce the reflex movement. The most peculiar feature is that the initial seat of the phenomenon is not in the eye, but in the ear. This is a recognized physiological fact that has been demonstrated by the best eye specialists. The sense of locality, the sense of space, to which man owes his power to stand alone, to walk straight, to look straight forward or in any chosen direction, the sense which regulates his attitudes and co-ordinates his gestures, is seated in the semicircular canals of the internal ear. When a hemorrhage, a wound or a violent disturbance of any sort produces disorder in the semicircular canals the disturbance is followed by vertigo. Vertigo is a visible trouble. The victim cannot use his eyes. If he can see at all his vision is blurred or deceitful, and he imagines that he is either falling or rising from the earth.

There is a close relationship between the nerves of the eye and those of the internal ear, and some skillful physicians have declared that the physician who is summoned to a case of eye trouble should begin his diagnosis by a careful examination of the periphery of the outer ear, as well as the mechanism of the internal ear centres.

Discomforts of Coaching Days.

Posterity will know nothing of the misery their forefathers underwent in the traveling way, and whenever we hear—which we often do—unreasonable grumblings about the absence of trifling luxuries on railroads we are tempted to wish the parties consigned to a good long ride in an old stagecoach. Why, the worst third class that ever was put next the engine is infinitely better than the inside of the best of them used to be, to say nothing of the speed. As to the outsides of the old coaches, with their roastings, their soakings, their freezings and their smotherings with dust, one cannot but feel that the establishment of railways was a downright prolongation of life—Surtees (1858).

Barring Out the Wolves.

Every Siberian village is surrounded by a big stockade some ten or fifteen feet in height. This erection is to prevent the sheep and cattle from wandering into the forests and so falling a prey to the wild animals which swarm therein. In addition to this, each village makes common property of an enormous number of dogs of the wolfhound breed, which are kept for protection from the wolves which in winter, desperate with hunger, descend upon the villages. Such dogs are rightly prized and, though they belong to nobody in particular, are kept well fed and cared for. They are huge beasts, almost as savage as the wolves themselves.—Argonaut.

Rheumatism In Pigeons.

Until I kept a flock I never realized the thousand natural shocks a pigeon is heir to. Among the most insidious of these is rheumatism. If they sleep near an open window or in a draft it is pretty sure to develop, frequently in the form of wing disease. The elbow joint is the part most affected, probably on account of being the most exposed and liable to become chilled. The main symptom is a lump on the wing and feverishness. A bird so afflicted should be placed alone in a pen and fed plain food. Pluck the feathers around the affected joint and paint the swelling with tincture of idodine and it will gradually disappear.

The Third Word.

"I'll bet you anything you like," said Jones to Brown, "that you can't spell three simple words I'll give you within twenty seconds."

"I'll take it on. What are they?" said Brown.

"Well, here goes," Jones said, as he pulled his watch. "Believe." "B-e-l-i-e-v-e." "Receive." "R-e-c-e-i-v-e." "Wrong!" said Jones. "What?" exclaimed Brown. "I've spelt the two words you gave me correctly. I'm certain I'm not"—"Time's up!" Jones said triumphantly. "Why didn't you spell the third word—w-r-o-n-g?"

Prod For Prod!

"This animal, ladies and gents," said a traveling showman, "is the chimpanzee. The remarkable thing about the chimpanzee is that it comes nearest to bein' a human person of any speshy of the monkey tribe. This here is the chimpanzee, ladies and gents—the one inside the cage. Please stand a little father back, sir," he added to a youth who was poking the animal with his cane, "for the company may make a mistake!"

Flower Scents.

True flower scents are obtained in three ways—first, by spreading fresh blossoms upon glass thickly smeared with pure grease, letting them stand in the sun and as they wilt replacing them until the grease is as fragrant as the flowers; second, by repeatedly infusing fresh petals in oil, and, third, by infusing them in ether, which is then distilled to a dry solid.

His Dearest.

Wife—Do you love me as much as ever?

Husband—I reckon so.

Wife—Will I always be the dearest thing in the world to you?

Husband—I am sure you will unless the landlord raises the rent.

The protest against compulsory vaccination continues loud and long in Vancouver.

INDEXING BOOKS.

The Custom Is an Old One That Developed Rather Slowly.

The custom of indexing books developed gradually. Cicero used the word "index," but in the sense of a table of contents. Seneca provided some works which he sent to a friend with notes of particular passages, "so that he who only aimed at the useful might be spared the trouble of examining them entire." This was at least a partial "index" in the modern sense. Annotated, or at least explanatory, tables of contents seem to have preceded the index proper.

Such tables followed the order of appearance of the subjects in the book itself. Alphabetical arrangement, which was the beginning of the real index, appears not to have been thought of until the invention of printing, and even then it spread but slowly. Erasmus was one of the first to provide his works with alphabetical indexes. The custom did not become universal until well into the sixteenth century.

The first index to an English book is said to be that printed in Polydore Vergil's "Angliae Historiae," in 1546. An edition of this work published ten years later has an index of thirty-seven pages.

Stories of Wellington and Blucher.

I once met Wellington at dinner. He was then much aged, talked gravely and with great distinctness, ate but little, drank no wine and left early. He was a member of the Union club when I joined it, and I have heard a story that he became a member of Crockford's, the famous gambling resort, that he might blackball his sons if they became candidates.

I remember the touching anecdote of how he and that old Prussian warrior Blucher met upon the field of Waterloo and mingled their tears over the bodies of the slain. The well known and much more probable story is told of Blucher that, having been entertained at a city dinner and thoroughly enjoying its gorgeous hospitality, he delighted his hosts by his admiration of London, concluding, however, with the startling exclamation, "What a splendid city it would be to sack!"—From Sergeant Ballantine's Experiences.

"I Don't Think."

Many correspondents have traced "I don't think" through many writers and speakers. But this writer, who has the habit of reading the Bible in bed the last thing at night, suddenly came upon the seventeenth chapter of St. Luke and the parable of the servant who merely did his duty: "Doth he thank that servant because he did the things that were commanded him? I trow not." Now, the Greek words are simply these in modern characters, "Ou doko," which mean just "I don't think." Anyhow we cannot get better authority for the use of the expression which Christ employed in one of those lightning sketches he threw out as he walked and talked.—London Chronicle.

Tolstoy's Thoughts on Death.

The fear of death is unnatural. The fear of death is the consciousness of sin.

The fear of death emanates from the fact that people regard as life only a small part of it, limited by their own erroneous conception.

Just as the owner of the fig tree knows the time when the fruit is ripe, so God knows when to call the righteous from this world.

Strive to keep your life at a point where you neither fear death nor desire it.—Tolstoy's "Cycle of Readings."

The Helpful Waiter.

Contemptuous Waiter (who can stand it no longer)—Scuse me, sir; you don't seem hable to get all that soup hup with your spoon. Shall I get you a piece of blotting paper?—London Tit-Bits.

Nicotine and Nervousness.

"Does tobacco make a man nervous?"

"It is likely to," replied the physician, "if his wife objects to his smoking."—Exchange.

It has been conservatively estimated that nearly 2,000 men could find employment through Winnipeg agencies to-day.

Concern In England.

London, March 11.—The latest news received here concerning the situation in Mexico and the concentration of American troops and warships appears to be regarded with great seriousness. An indication of the nervousness of the commercial community over the situation is the fact that many insurance policies are being issued by an underwriting corporation against revolution or hostilities in Mexico.

The underwriters gave notice yesterday that after March 26 a clause in their policies would become operative warranting the holders against the capture, seizure or detention, and the consequences thereof arising from riots or warlike operations, of all vessels trading in Mexico, together with their cargoes.

Don't Like the Cut.

Winnipeg, March 13.—That members of the Manitoba Elevator Commission would not be pleased with the sweeping reduction in their salaries proposed in the Legislature, and accepted by the Government, was only to be anticipated. Report has it that Mr. Maclenan, whose salary was cut from $8,000 to $4,000 has resigned. D. W. McCuaig, the chairman and former president of the Manitoba Grain Growers' Association, is also said to be disgruntled.

Will Company Sell Out?

Winnipeg, March 13.—Considerable speculation exists over a prolonged conference Sir William Mackenzie had with Premier Roblin on Saturday, presumably in connection with the dispute between the Winnipeg Electric Co. and the city. In one quarter it is stated that Sir William is about ready, on behalf of the campany, to offer to sell out, lock, stock and barrel, to the city.

DO YOU USE PILLS?

If In Doubt About the Right Pills to Use Read the Following Letter Carefully:

"I am one of those persons whose system requires aid," writes Mr. Young Gledhill, from Picton, "but it is so easily affected by reason of the great sensitiveness of the bowels that ordinary drastic pills inflict great injury to the delicate coating, and excite such persistent activity as to be with difficulty checked.

"I wish in the highest terms to express the great value of Dr. Hamilton's Pills in cases like mine, and I am sure also for elderly people and the very weak there is no pill like them.

"Speaking of my own experience with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, I can say they have proved the most stimulating pills for the liver I have found. I have proved their tonic action upon digestion, and the same results have been secured by friends upon whom I have urged their use. The manufacturers are to be congratulated upon possessing so valuable a prescription, and the public should know that so valuable a remedy has been placed at their command."

No other pill for constipation, for liver, kidney, or stomach trouble, compares with Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they are mild and sure always to restore health. Refuse substitutes. Sold by all dealers, 25c per box, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston Ont.

How a Local Young Man Made Money

There are many people in and around the City of Peterborough who have money, looking for investment, who prefer a safe investment, such as bonds or low rate of interest, to investing in mortgages or other securities which require special judgment in selecting, and constant and careful watching to avoid loss. To such we would commend the following result to their careful consideration—

A young man of the City of Peterborough had his life insured sixteen years ago last January for Ten Thousand Dollars ON A SINGLE PAYMENT 15-YEAR ENDOWMENT PLAN. The premium paid was $6,460.00. On the 31st of January, 1910, the company paid him $12,116.00 in cash, after giving him fifteen years of free insurance. What do you think of that as an investment?

Are bonds or municipal debentures, or even the best mortgages, to be compared with it, when you consider that the risk of the life was carried during the 15 years? And remember, the security is as safe as any debenture or mortgage, and there was no trouble or expense entailed of any kind after the initial investment.

The above result was obtained from the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, under policy No. 47340, W.H.B.

MUSICALE WAS ANOTHER SUCCESS

Delightful Program at Conservatory Hall.

The second twilight musicale under the auspices of the Peterborough branch of the Women's Art Association, held at the Conservatory of Music Hall Saturday, was in every way a distinct success. There was an attendance of three hundred and the splendid program, which is given below, was heartily received and enjoyed by all:—

War March of the Priests, from Athalia ....Mendelssohn
Conservatory Orchestra.

Solo (Piano) "Nachtsuck"...Schumann
Miss Pearl McKee.

Solo (Violin)..."Allegro Brilliante"...... Ten Have
Mr. Wm. Wilson.

Selection from Il Trovatore... ...Verdi
Conservatory Orchestra.

Tenor Solo—"Pilgrim of Love"—Varley
Mr. Gordon M. Wright.

Cornet Solo—"Dream of Paradise" Grey
Mr. R. Gliddon.

Selected.................
Conservatory Orchestra.

The last number was a transcription of the Russian Hymn on the chimes, played by Mr. Hughes, who also led the orchestra in the accompaniment for Mr. Gliddon's cornet solo, Dream of Paradise.

COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL ASS'N

All District Organizations to Contribute.

At the annual meeting of the County of Peterborough Sunday School Association, which was held in the parlor of the Y.M.C.A. on Friday, Rev. R. J. M. Glassford, Field Secretary of the Provincial Sunday School Association, was present and explained to the members the plan of organization and the conditions necessary to constitute banner standing.

It was agreed that an effort should be made to get all the district organizations to make some contribution to the provincial work. For the past two years Otonabee Association is the only one that has made any contribution, that association having given about $50 annually for some years past. The following was decided on as a fair allocation of the amount that should be expected from each district, and the officers of the various district organizations were urged to bring the matter to the attention of the individual schools and try to reach the standard set:

Asphodel	$20.00
Belmont	10.00
Dummer	6.50
North Smith and Harvey	5.00
Otonabee	50.00
Smith and Lakefield	25.00

Officers for the year were elected as follows:—

President—William Borland, Indian River.

Vice-President—J. A. Finlay, Norwood.

Secretary—Richard Lees, Peterborough.

Treasurer—A. J. Johnston, Peterborough.

SUPERINTENDENTS

Teachers' Training—Rev. D. A. Thomson, Hastings.

Home Department—A. E. Kennedy, Lakefield.

Elementary Grades—Miss E. L. Waters, Norwood.

Adult Bible Class—Percy Udy, Bridgenorth.

WEDDING BELLS

NICHOLS—MANN

An invent of more than ordinary interest took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs William Nichols, Bridgenorth, on March 8th, 1911, when their eldest daughter, Lottie Lavina, was united in marriage with William J. Mann, of Smith. As the clock marked the hour of 2 p.m., the bride, leaning on the arm of her father, entered the drawing room, dressed in beautiful cream sontog, trimmed with lace. After the marriage ceremony and congratulations by those present, all sat down to a very dainty repast.

The happy couple took the 4.38 p.m. train for Toronto and points west. The bride's going away dress was of coronation blue, with hat to match.

The many useful and costly presents, tell of the high esteem in which the bride was held by her friends. On their return they will take up the residence of the groom's farm adjoining Bridgenorth.

The Rev. S. Crookshanks performed the marriage ceremony.

The Port Hope Guide says—Mr. J. H. Renwick, organist of the Methodist church, has accepted the position of organist of the George St. Methodist Church, Peterborough. Mr. Renwick, during his residence here, has done more towards the organization of musical societies than any other man in town, and to him is due all credit for our first-class band. The news of his departure will be learned with regret by his host of friends, but all join in wishing Mr. Renwick and his estimable wife every success in the northern city.

CAMPAIGN AT PARK ST. CHURCH

To Raise $500 for Building Fund

A practical campaign for the purpose of raising $500 for the building fund of the church was inaugurated yesterday at the Park St. Baptist Church.

The pastor explained that each and every member was expected to get one card at least filled with ten names, representing some amount, from one cent up, and thus all would be able to help.

Five hundred cards have been printed with the following heading—"Special effort to raise $500 for building fund, by Park St. Baptist Church. What will you do to help?"

These will be placed in the hands of members, and during the next three weeks all will endeavor to get their cards filled.

No member must put his or her own name upon their own card.

The result will be announced the first Sunday in April.

MEN'S MEETING WELL ATTENDED

Interesting Services at Knox Church

To a large congregation of men at Knox church yesterday afternoon, Rev. Geo A. Woodside gave a forceful address on "The Labor problem and a man's religion."

The speaker considered it a large theme, larger than any man who attempted to deal with it—one in which we were all more or less interested. By listening to other men's opinions on the subject, we would be more likely to get a correct one ourselves.

Many men regarded labor as outside the question of religion. They thought that religion could not be brought into workshop or office.

It was a large influence in the world to-day, it filled a large place, and had a larger one to fill.

It was man's natural condition to work—God was active when he made man and He said that His image in man was to be actively employed.

The work question could not be studied correctly apart from religion. If man was going to live and develop he had to get down to hard work and he neglected his opportunities to develop when he did not enlist to serve.

There was no reason whatever why labor did not organize the same as capital and other things. Organization was a factor which men had recognized and appreciated. There was nothing which needed a competent leader more than labor. Labor should never strike—it was a sign of failure on the part of the leader.

What was the power in the world today that safeguarded the interests of the laboring man to-day? It was religion. God made provision in his great Theocracy for readjustment of everything he gave to men. The church unlocked the fetters of slavery. The dignity of labor had been preserved by Christ more than by anyone. Man used to think labor a thing degrading, but never since Christ went into His father's workshop, had man been able to point at labor with scorn.

The laboring man had moved away from God, but the one who eliminated himself from the church did not understand his problem.

Man found in a church, either a joy or a disappointment according to what he went there for.

EVENING SERVICE.

At the evening service another large congregation heard Rev. Mr. Woodside, who used for his text "The seed shall bring forth fruit after its kind. . . . Be not deceived, God is not mocked. . . . Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

The speaker dealt with the great law of reproduction which was God's own law of how important it was that the choicest seed should be sown in the early life of everyone, as the longer we hesitated in taking a stand, the harder it was to gain the mastery and live for God.

Some people would say, they could not take the responsibility which came with a stand for God, but the speaker held that the larger question for each individual was "Can I accept the responsibility of not taking a stand for Christ?"

It was announced that a meeting for women, to be addressed by Rev. Mr. Woodside, would be held in the church Tuesday afternoon.

The evening meetings will be continued during this week.

St. John's Auxiliary

The annual meeting of St. John's branch of the Woman's Auxiliary will be held in the Guild room at three o'clock, on Tuesday, March 14th. All members are asked to be present, and to come prepared to pay their fees, also to contribute to the 25th anniversary thank offering, as a collection will be taken up to be presented at the annual meeting in Toronto. A large offering is hoped for. It will be devoted to a mission in the Canadian Northwest. 2d

THE MAN OF THE HOUR

George Broadhurst's wonderful success "The Man of the Hour," is typically the play of the hour, and will be seen at the Grand Opera House next Thursday, under the direction of Wm. A. Brady. The production will be staged with the same beautiful scenic effects and elaborate costumes. As the title indicates, the time of the play is the present and the scene almost any large city in the United States. "The Man of the Hour" is certainly a revelation in play writing, and has set a pace so hot that its competitors have been left far in the rear. Mr. Brady's special company will be seen here. The advance sale opens to-morrow (Tuesday) morning.

HAMILTON'S THEATRE PACKED FOUR TIMES FOR "THREE TWINS"

The Most Successful Musical Comedy of the Season—Big Rush for Seats.

The Three Twins and their remarkably fine company played to another capacity house at the Grand Opera House last night and pleased the immense audience with dainty, witty witty dialog, catchy, swinging music, pretty costumes and scenic effects, and pretty faces. This show is one of the finest musical fantasies that has made the Canadian tour this season, and such enthusiasm was it greeted with here that it is doubtful if the house would have held all who wanted to see it in the event of an ordinary two-night engagement taking place of the four performances that were booked. Thursday night and last night there was no such thing as an empty seat in the house. So eager were some to see the show that they accepted separate seats when going in couples. Clifton Crawford, one of the triplets, got a wonderful reception last night and was compelled to stay on the stage and show just how versatile he is. After handling the comedy of his part with wonderful and natural style, he recited Robert W. Service's famous Yukon Gold poem and Kipling's Gunga Din. Crawford made as big a hit at that as in his comedy part."—The Hamilton Spectator.

The Three Twins Prices

In regard to the increased price of admission to the Grand Opera House this evening, many people are laboring under the delusion that Messrs. J. J. Turner and Sons, the proprietors, are responsible for it.

Such is by no means the case. When a company is booked to play here, or in fact in any city, the prices of admission are marked on the contract and consequently the proprietors of the theatre have to abide by their prices and wishes, or be under the necessity of turning the show down and cancelling the engagement.

Messrs. Turner and Sons were interviewed about the matter to-day, stated that they were placed in the position mentioned and were in no way involved in the transaction except as stated.

The Kosmos liner Uarda recently brought 600 tons of nitrate for the Victoria Chemical Works.

DEMAND FOR HELP THIS YEAR WILL EXCEED OTHER YEARS

Constant Inquiry by Farmers at Immigration Offices

Now that spring is opening up and farming operations will soon be in full swing, Mr. Howson, the immigration officer on Water street, is constantly besieged by farmers desiring to secure farm hands to assist them with their work.

LARGE DEMAND THIS YEAR

"The demand for help this year will far exceed former years," stated Mr. Howson to-day. "Last year I placed six hundred, and as far as the present outlook is concerned, that number will appear small in comparison with this year's figures."

Many widely different, interesting and pathetic stories are told by immigrants who daily invade Mr. Howson's office.

CASTLES IN THE AIR.

Nearly all of them come to Canada with bright expectations, knowing very little about the country, except what they have gleaned from hearsay. Bright, glowing testimonials from past employers in the old land are forwarded on ahead of them by the immigration superintendent at London, Eng., to the local official, many of them accompanied by letters filled with enthusiasm regarding their prospects in this branch of the mother land. And it is a pleasure and satisfaction to state that few fail to be given employment of some nature when they arrive here, if they apply at Mr. Howson's office. In a fatherly and affable manner they are assisted in being located in suitable places. Few people are aware of the magnitude and difficulty of the task which the duties of an immigration officer entails.

Immigrants, many of them, ask Mr. Howson for positions which they are not in the least qualified to fill. It is then up to Mr. Howson to find out what they are adapted to, and then arrange to place them suitably. Again, others are difficult to please—want to go this place or the other place, thus upsetting the arrangements of Mr. Howson, who may have a farmer or prospective employer awaiting their arrival. These facts are merely noted for the purpose of giving the public a slight idea of what the duties of an immigration officer involve, and to show what excellent work is being done by having such an office in the city.

ARRIVALS TO-DAY.

Six arrivals from the old land, who came over on the "Virginian" and reached Peterborough this morning were all placed to apparent advantage by eleven o'clock.

Two whom a Review reporter saw were bright, intelligent young fellows, about 24 or 25 years of age. One was engaged by Mr. George Hatton, and has had, so he said, a splendid record in the old land. He has a wife and two children, and from all appearance was a most desirable and intelligent type of immigrant.

PLUCKY YOUNG COUPLE

Another, who is slightly younger and very boyish looking, told Mr. Howson a very interesting story of why he had left home for this country. He was of good family, but owing to his infatuation for one of the maids in his father's home, whom he eventually wedded, his parents took objection, and consequently the young man left home with his wife, who is a very comely and bright young woman, and came to Canada.

Mr. Howson talks to immigrants of types like the above, and tells them of their duties and how to succeed in this country. He tells them that they are starting out with bright outlooks in this land, and how, by earnest and satisfactory work, they can undoubtedly make happy homes for themselves in this fair Dominion.

AUTO SERVICE TO CHEMONG

Will Commence in April—Strong Cars to be Used

Rutherford and Grames announce that they will commence an automobile service to and from Chemong on about April 1st. One of the three sixteen seat, 25 h.p. McLaughlin cars will be here by that date. It is intended to meet all trains arriving here and connect with all boats at Chemong. A service will also be given to South Beach.

The fare to Chemong will be twenty-five cents.

While in other years an automobile service has not given the best of satisfaction, Messrs. Rutherford and Grames promise every satisfaction, their cars being particularly well suited for such a purpose.

FRONTENACS WERE ONE BEHIND WITH ALL STARS

Champions Were Bothered by Soft Ice—Score 5-4

Toronto, March 13.—The All-Stars triumphed over the champion Frontenacs Saturday night at Mutual street rink by the score of 5 to 4, with the All-Stars always in the lead, they scoring the first two goals of the game, and leading at half-time by 4 to 2. However, the Frontenacs' better conditions told near the finish and only the bell saved the game for the All-Stars, as the Kingston champions were coming strong.

Only a fair crowd witnessed the match, but they were treated to a good exhibition, played under the most adverse conditions. Water covered the ice, with miniature lakes in front of each goal, and when the game ended, there was not a player who was not soaked through and through. Kingston had a large number of supporters present, including the 14th Regiment Band, the latter and the Rooters' Club making all their noise before the exhibition started, although they rendered some forced music at half-time, for the Kingston supporters took their defeat of their champions very much to heart.

However, the Frontenacs, while playing on watery going for the first time this season, demonstrated the reason they won the championship, their work at all times showing a finish that only well-drilled players have. Their team is well balanced, and their work, both individually and collectively, showed great strength. Ice conditions prevented the champions getting away with any combination, but enough was attempted to show how good they must be on hard ice. They work the interference to perfection, every man being a past master in this respect.

The All-Stars were well selected, especially Laird, the Varsity goalkeeper, his grand work saving the game for his team. Freeman, at point, was aggressive, and blocked well, while McBurney lived up to all that has been said of him, he shining at breaking away fast and in his wrist shooting. McKenzie, at rover, did some classy stick handling and rushing, while Crane, at centre, although spending quite a bit of his time on the fence, was always waiting at the mouth of the net for the pass. Jupp, at right, had a merry battle with Millan, his best work being in checking back, but it was Etherington, the Preston boy, at left wing, that showed the class of the fourteen men, his great work in the second half bringing the crowd to their feet more than once. He broke away fast and wiggled through between the man and the board like an eel, while in a scrimmage he could always be depended upon to get the puck. Etherington is only 18 years of age, but it's a cinch that, while he he is eligible for junior O.H.A. next season, he will be with the top-notchers.

Referees—E. J. Livingstone (first half); Harvey Sproule, (second half).

STANLEY CUP GAME TO-NIGHT

Galt and Ottawa Play for Battered Mug.

The Galt hockey yeam, champions of the Ontario professional league meet the Ottawa seven in a Stanley Cup game at Ottawa to-night.

Down east the game is not causing any particular interest and the result is a foregone conclusion. Bruce Ridpath may not be on the lineup of the Senators, he having been injured in the last game with Canadiens.

CURLING

The Lindsay curlers presented Skip J. D. Flavelle with a diamond ring at a gathering in Lindsay Friday evening.

THE RING

Tom McCarey stands ready to hang up a $15,000 purse for a twenty-five round bout between Wolgast and K. O. Brown at Vernon, to be decided some time in May. As soon as Wolgast arrives in Los Angeles McCarey will put his proposition squarely up to him. It is known that Wolgast is disgruntled over the way Brown trimmed him in six and ten round bouts and is anxious to recover his lost prestige by whipping K. O. in a longer affair. McCarey says he will show Wolgast that he must decisively beat Brown if he expects the public to further recognize him as the champion. McCarey isn't a piker, and it is believed that he will offer such inducements to Wolgast that the latter may decide to remain on the coast, that is, if Brown will meet him at Vernon.

SHOOTING

At the Peterborough bowling alleys and shooting gallery last week the winner on the bowling alleys was Mr. Mills, who won the box of cigars with a score of 213. C. Gutterson won the gold locket in the shooting contest with a score of 28.

This week a fountain pen will be given to the winner in the bowling contest and in the professional shooting class the prize will also be a fountain pen. In the amateur class the prize is a gold stick-pin.

Two pool tables have been added, and are now in readiness for patrons.

SHOOTING

At Yeotes' Gallery

The shooting contest, held at the Peterborough Cigar and Billiard Parlors last week was a great success. In the professional contest C. Gutterson captured the honors with a score of 586, winning in the shoot-off from HH. Mackey. The scores were as follows;

PROFESSIONAL.

C. Gutterson	58
H. Mackey	58
A. C Miller	58
L. C Mills	57

READY FOR A JOKE.

The Customs Official Had a Sense of Humor Himself.

In the smoking room of the Hotel des Iles Britanniques at the lovely resort of Mentone, on the French Riviera, some three years ago two Englishmen met. After half an hour's conversation the Englishman from Manchester said to his new acquaintance from London:

"I say, old fellow, would you mind taking a small parcel for me to Paris and have it sent to this address there? I'm leaving for Milan in the morning."

The Londoner willingly consented to do this much for one of his countrymen.

"Awfully good of you. I'll have the boy take the parcel to your room in the morning," acknowledged the Englishman bound for Milan.

In the morning the package was left at the other's room.

"So that is what he calls a small parcel," he exclaimed. "And what might it contain? A package of such size the custom officers would certainly want opened. What—cigarettes and 3,000 of them! Is it possible that any one could have the audacity to ask such a favor—to smuggle 3,000 cigarettes into France! That chap shall pay for this, for I shall declare these cigarettes and leave them to be called for when the duty is paid."

The Londoner left Mentone that afternoon. The following day he was in Paris at the Gare de l'Est, his luggage ready for examination.

"Anything dutiable?" asked the customs officer.

"Nothing," replied the Englishman, "excepting in that parcel there."

"What does it contain?"

"Three thousand cigarettes," said the Londoner, with a smile upon his face—a smile of embarrassment at having such a parcel with him.

The Frenchman raised his hands in the air and laughed heartily. He, too, was as ready for a good joke as any one, and on each piece of the Englishman's luggage went his O. K. cross.

Hardly realizing what had happened, the Londoner found himself riding in a taxicab along the streets of Paris with the parcel of 3,000 cigarettes under his arm and nothing left to do but to deliver it as he had been asked.

BEAT THE BANK.

A French Naval Officer's Daring Expedient at Monte Carlo.

Those who have visited Monte Carlo have heard of if not seen the pitiful ruin of many an unfortunate person who has lost his last franc in playing at roulette in that palatial gambling den. All are not so fortunate as to have an armored cruiser at their disposal, as was the case with a French naval officer some years ago. He had gone ashore in the morning with naught in his pockets but his own earnings. By noon it was all gone.

If he but had another 500 francs he was sure of winning. During those morning hours of failure he had worked out a system, and with just a few francs more success was certain. He would use the ship's money. Perhaps it was not just the right thing to do, but in another two hours he would be able to return it, would have recouped his own loss and have won who knows what fortune besides.

At sunset he returned to his ship a ruined man. The system, like all systems of the sort, had failed. What was to be done? To return home would mean a dishonorable discharge, lifelong disgrace, if not even more severe punishment. Death seemed the only alternative. But no; he would make one final attempt to save himself. He would force the authorities of Monte Carlo to return to him what he had lost or he would blow up their gambling palace!

As soon as he was again on board his order was: "Clear decks for action. Raise the muzzle of every gun and let them point toward the heights of Monaco."

Whatever the sailors might think of such an order mattered little; obey they must. With all haste a messenger was sent ashore with a note, and the captain meanwhile paced the deck in silence awaiting the reply—a reply which meant life or death to him.

Finally the messenger returned carrying a bag of gold coins. That night the French cruiser weighed anchor and quietly steamed out into the Mediterranean, her captain happy that he had fared no worse and the authorities of Monte Carlo only too glad to be rid of so dangerous a visitor.—Washington Star.

Virtuous Indignation.

"The reporter who came to see about the fancy ball was a horrid creature."

"Why?"

"He asked for my picture to publish with the account, and I told him indignantly I did not care for such notoriety. Then I had to go out of the room a minute and forget my picture, which was lying on the table near where he was standing, and"—

Two Drowned In Credit.

Toronto, March 13.—H. A. Brown, a mill owner, 49 years old, and Kenneth South, aged 20, a son of George South, farmer, were drowned at Meadowvale on Friday night while trying to clear a large mass of ice from a dam in the Credit River.

Their object had been to prevent the dam giving way under the crush of ice, but an avalanche created by their efforts swept them over the waterfall.

The two men left for the dam about 5 o'clock, and nothing was known of the accident until their horse came wandering home alone about 6.15.

Friends dragged for their bodies all Friday night, and on Saturday fully two hundred people joined the search party. Maitland Aykroyd, the well known body recoverer of this city, went up to Meadowvale Saturday morning to assist the searchers.

Brown was a married man, and leaves a widow and one child. South, who was unmarried, had been working for Brown for a couple of weeks.

Trial of Camorrists.

Viterbo, March 13.—Formal proceedings began on Saturday in the trial of thirty-six members of the Neapolitan Camorra, including the alleged head of the organization, Enrice Alfano, also known as "Erricone," for the murder of Gennarro Cuccolo, "the beautiful Sorrentina."

For the first time in Italy two presidents of the court were appointed to direct the trial, so that if one should unavoidably be absent the other might take his place. Most of the day was given over to the selection of a jury, but notwithstanding the threats of the presiding judge to apply the severest fines against citizens offering pretexts for not serving on the jury, almost unsurmountable difficulties arose at the last moment, and the trial was postponed until Tuesday.

Will Cost Two Millions.

Halifax, March 13.—The Railway Commission was here Saturday to meet the Halifax Board of Trade and discuss plans for a new terminal. Mr. Kennedy, engineer of Montreal harbor, was present with the plans he has prepared.

Mr. Campbell, chairman of the Railway Board, told the Canadian press that the board would recommend to Parliament that the terminals as per Mr. Kennedy's plans, perhaps slightly modified to meet Halifax requirements be built. He estimates that the total cost would be from one million and a half to two million dollars.

SCIATICA

EXPECTED DEATH ANY DAY

Another Case Where Life Was Saved and Health Restored by "Nerviline."

It is because he feels it his solemn duty to tell to the world his faith in Nerviline that Victor P. Hires makes the following declaration: "For three years I was in the Royal Mail service, and in all kinds of weather had to meet the night trains. Dampness, cold, and exposure brought on sciatica that affected my left side. Sometimes an attack would come on that made me powerless to work. I was so nearly a complete cripple that I had to give up my job. I was in despair, completely cast down because the money I spent on trying to get well was wasted. I was speaking to my chemist one day, and he recommended "Nerviline." I had this good liniment rubbed on several times a day, and got relief. In order to build up my general health and improve my blood I used Ferrozone, one tablet with each meal. I continued this treatment four months and was cured. I have used all kinds of liniments, and can truthfully say that Nerviline is far stronger, more penetrating, and infinitely better than anything else for relieving pain. I urge everyone with lumbago, neuralgia, rheumatism, or sciatica to use Nerviline. I know it will cure them."

CURED SIX YEARS

There isn't a more highly-esteemed citizen in Westchester than Mr. Hires. What he says can be relied upon. For six years since being cured he hasn't had a single relapse. Don't accept anything from your dealer but "Nerviline." 50 cents per bottle, trial size, 25c; sold everywhere, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

COLOR AND SOUND.

Hues That Are Unseen and Tones That Are Unheard.

The primary colors shown in the rainbow vary from red to blue and violet, and the vibrations or lengths of the light waves that give us violet grow shorter and shorter and at length give us red. These vibrations can be measured. One day, quite by chance, I came across the statement that there were innumerable light waves longer than those which give violet. At once the question sprang, Were these longer waves represented by colors which we don't see, colors for which we have no name, colors of which we can form no conception? And was the same thing true of the waves which, growing shorter and shorter, give us the sensation of red? There is room, of course, for myriads of colors beyond this other extremity of our vision. A little study convinced me that my guess was right, for all the colors which we see are represented to our sense of feeling in degrees of heat; that is, blue shows one reading on the thermometer and red a higher reading, and by means of this new standard I discovered that man's range of vision is not even placed in the middle of the register of heat, but occupies a little space far up toward the warmer extremity of it. There are thousands of degrees of cold lower than blue and hundreds of degrees of heat above red. All these gradations are doubtless represented by colors which no human eye can perceive, no human mind imagine. It is with sight as with sound. We know now that there are noises louder than thunder which we cannot hear, the roar that lies on the other side of silence. We men are poor restless prisoners, hemmed in by our senses as by the walls of a cell, hearing only a part of nature's orchestra and that part imperfectly; seeing only a thousandth part of the color marvels about us and seeing that infinitesimal part incorrectly and partially.—Forum.

THE DEATH OF A CZAR.

Dramatic Story of the Way Nicholas I. Committed Suicide.

There are various stories of the death of the Czar Nicholas I. Here is one which the great singer Mario heard from a doctor of the court and which is told in "The Romance of a Great Singer:"

"When the Russian army was meeting with reverse after reverse in the Crimean war the czar sent for his doctor and demanded to know which was the quickest and most painless poison that he knew of, bluntly telling the startled physician that he had resolved to commit suicide. He further warned the doctor in the stern manner which was his characteristic that if he were not obeyed the doctor's life would be worthless. He sharply silenced the man's nervous remonstrances and commanded him to bring the poison. The doctor did not dare to refuse and a few minutes later brought a small vial containing the poison, which he assured the czar would deprive any one of existence in a few minutes. To be sure that he had been obeyed and that the doctor was speaking the truth the czar obliged him to remain in the room warning him that if the poison failed his life should answer for it. The czar took the poison without the least tremor or the movement of a muscle, and, although twice told by the doctor, who held his watch in his hand, that there was time to save him by an antidote should he alter his mind, the czar refused, answering the second entreaty by simply waving the man away, he by that time being unable to speak. It was given out that the czar had died from the effects of a severe chill, but those who knew the facts also knew that he had committed suicide rather than face the defeat of his army."

Carlyle an Intemperate Smoker.

For about seventy of his eighty-six years Carlyle smoked and made most of his contemporaries smoke. The trouble with him was that he was too fond of smoking a rank pipe on an empty stomach. That gave him pains and his contemporaries particular pains, for "puir auld Carlyle" was as savage as a meat house dog all the time. He cared for but two men in the world, Tennyson and Dickens. All the rest were "puir, feckless, reekless, intemperate bladders and gas bags," and all because Tom did not know how to clean his pipe and keep it clean and would smoke before breakfast.—Tobacco Leaves.

Breaking the Sabbath.

Two Scots, one old and the other young, set out one bright winter Sunday morning to walk ten miles to kirk. The sun shone gloriously. The frozen road rang under their feet. The cold, pure air was as exhilarating as wine. The younger Scot looked up at the glittering blue sky and said:

"It's a fine day."

The older man frowned and answered:

"Aye, it is a fine day, but is this a day to be talking about days?"

Doubtful Vocalism.

"There is only one trouble about a Chinese cook," said the man from the west.

"What is that?"

"You can never tell whether he is singing at his work or whether he has burnt himself and is moaning with pain."—Washington Star.

OUR CATHOLIC WRITERS

CANADA OWES THEM A DEEP DEBT OF GRATITUDE.

From the Time of the Jesuits Whose "Relations" Form a Mine of Historical Wealth Right Down to To-day the Adherents of the Church of Rome Have Been Prolific Litterateurs.

From the very dawn of Canadian civilization Catholic writers have been conspicuously in the forefront, this as a natural consequence of the part Catholics played in early colonization. In a short article of a few hundred words countless names cannot be mentioned and the detailed and laborious writings of those early Jesuit Missionaries who gave to all Canadian history its foundation and authority in the "Relations of the Jesuits," may be but referred to here. These are beginning to receive the recognition due them and future ages will give them their crowning. From the days of the "Relations" to the present, the activity of Catholic writers though intermittent as to quantity and quality has been continuous. Here we may only mention a few of our own day who by the making of books helped or are helping to place Canada in the van in the field of poetry and prose.

The area in fiction is probably least rich, and here if popularity be the test, first place must be given to two women. Mrs. J. Sadlier, who though not a Canadian spent many years in Montreal, gave to the world her everywhere read "Blakes and Flanagans," the "Confederate Chieftains" and other stories and translations, some sixty in all. In 1895 Notre Dame University conferred on Mrs. Sadlier the Laetare Medal in recognition of her services as a Catholic writer. Miss Anna T. Sadlier, of Ottawa, following in the footsteps of her mother, has given us several novels and translations, and her latest production "Phileas Fox, Attorney" is just now receiving ample praise from the critics. Miss Sadlier was the only woman to address the late Eucharistic Congress.

Frechette as the classic poet of his people has left us a memory which will endure, and Thomas D'Arcy McGee, though his lyre was largely tuned to the exile's note has given us his poem "Jacques Cartier" to link his name with binding tie to Canada. To-day in Toronto we have Rev. J. B. Dollard whose book "Irish Mist and Sunshine" has in the minds of many, noted Canada as the home of the greatest living writer of Irish ballads. A collection of one hundred and thirty poems by this gifted son of Canada's adoption is just from the press, appearing under the title of the "Extension Edition." A rare treat is here given to lovers of the poetic muse.

Thomas O'Hagan, writer of prose and poetry has given a fine output of each, his essays being of great value for their store of information. Dr. O'Hagan is now editor of The New World, Chicago. Rev. Arthur Barry O'Neil is a singer who in his book "Between Whiles" gives us a taste of true poetic sweetness. Dr. Wm. J. Fischer, poet and novelist has given us "The Toiler," a book of verse which here and there touches the sublime note and is everywhere sane and satisfying. Charles Philips, whose school days were largely passed in Toronto and who is still an occasional visitor to that city, has lately published a book of verse. Many of Mr. Philips' lines have an exquisite tenderness pervading their strong Catholicity. He is now editor of The San Francisco Monitor. Rev. E. J. Devine, S.J. of Montreal, in his book "Across Widest America" presents to the public a store of precious information clothed in the most pleasing diction. The versatility of Father Devine is shown in his well conceived and ably written story "The Training of Silas." Another writer who though for many years a resident of the neighboring republic may be claimed partially at least as of Canada is Rev. John Talbot Smith for some time a student at St. Michael's College and a brilliant writer in many directions, whose reported ambition to be the author of sixty volumes is nearing its fulfilment. The late Archbishop O'Brien of Halifax was a finished maker of sonnets. Rev. P. W. Browne late of Halifax now of Ottawa University recently published his valuable and interesting "Where the Fishers Go."

The greatest results from the endeavor of Catholic writers are undoubtedly in the realms of biographic and historical research but there is space for mention of only a few.

The prolific pen of Abbe H. R. Casgrain now engaged on the history of Canada, has given us amongst other good things a "Pilgrimage to the Land of Evangeline" and "History of the Venerable Mother Mary of the Incarnation." Very Rev. W. R. Harris, the long-time Dean of St. Catharines and a copious writer of rich and classical English has written "Early Missions in Western Canada," "The Catholic Church in Niagara Peninsula," "Days and Nights in the Tropics," etc. "The Jubilee Volume of the Archdiocese of Toronto," evinces much research and care and is largely written and altogether edited by Rev. Dr. Teefy. "The Mistakes of Modern Infidels" places the well-known editorial writer, Rev. Father Northgraves amongst the bookmakers. Rev. Dr. Dawson wrote a "Life of Pius IX." "The History of the Catholic Church in British Columbia," is the work of Rev. A. G. Morice. The Right Reverend A. A. McDonald of Victoria is a fecund writer on theological and kindred subjects. Miss Hughes has recently published the life of her uncle, the late Archbishop O'Brien of Halifax. A short but valuable life of Mde. D'Youville, foundress of the Grey Nuns of Canada, is written by Rev. D. S. Ramsay, an English Dean for some time resident in this country.

BREAKING A CUSTOM.

How the Salt Shaker Was Introduced to the Spaniard.

Until a few years ago no Spaniard had on his dining table any other receptacle for salt than the old style open cellar. An enterprising Briton saw this, noted that the salt was always dirty and gummy and determined to introduce a certain famous salt shaker from which clean salt would run freely in the dampest weather. Bravely he started to tour Spain for the company.

"No, senor; no est costumbre usar mas quo esto" ("No, sir; it's not customary to use more than that"—the old cellar), was the answer of every dealer to whom he presented the novelty. Again and again he was rebuffed. He began to despair when, standing one day gazing into a jeweler's window, a brilliant idea struck him. He entered. Realizing the childlike curiosity and impressionable character of his quarry, he persuaded the jeweler to display a shaker in his window and coached him about selling it. A Spaniard came along, looked in the window, saw the curious object, investigated.

"It is very pretty for the toilet table," he remarked after prolonged scrutiny, "perhaps useful for the children. What goes in it—perfume?"

Indifferently the jeweler glanced up from some scribbling. "No, sir; only salt."

"Man, salt!"

"Yes. Possibly I could get you a little—the kind that doesn't get sticky—to try. But I don't know."

The simple gentleman was amazed, angry, affronted, by the novelty, but he took it and an ounce or two of the special salt home with him. The jeweler ordered another shaker and more samples of salt. By and by the gentleman had used all his salt and wanted more of the same kind. The business of that company today is worth many figures in Spain every year, and, more than that, as it is "costumbre" now to use that particular sort of shaker and brand of salt there is virtually no competition.—Arthur Stanley Riggs in Century.

INSULTED THE KING.

The Joke a Printer Turned on Louis Philippe and M. Thiers.

One morning during the reign of Louis Philippe there appeared in the Constitutionnel the following startling paragraph:

"His majesty the king received M. Thiers yesterday at the Tuileries and charged him with the formation of a new cabinet. The distinguished statesman hastened to reply to the king:

"'I have only one regret, which is that I cannot wring your neck like a turkey's.'"

A few lines lower down there was another paragraph running to the following effect:

"The efforts of justice have been promptly crowned with success. The murderer of the Rue du Pot-de-Fer has been arrested in a house of bad reputation. Led at once before the judge of instruction, the wretch had the hardihood to address the magistrate in terms of coarse insult, winding up with the following words, which amply show that there remains not a spark of conscience or right feeling in this hardened soul:

"'God and man are my witnesses that I have never had any other ambition than to serve your august person and my country loyally to the best of my ability.'"

The printer had just cleverly managed to interchange the two addresses. The cream of the joke was that it was universally known how very little love there was lost between the king and the minister.—Strauss' Reminiscences.

Last of the Old Orators.

The late Senator John Warwick Daniel of Virginia may be said to have been the last of the old fashioned orators in the house of the conscript fathers. His fame will rest not on his lawbooks, which were excellent; not on his speeches in house and senate, which were strong, but on two masterly orations on Lee and Stonewall Jackson delivered before his entrance into congress. It may well be doubted whether anything superior to them, considered simply as orations, can be found in the literature of the world. They would have delighted Cicero himself.—Champ Clark in Century.

Flogged For Bathing.

On an island in the Cam, at Grantchester, is a mill pond known as "Byron's pool" because it was here that the poet as an undergraduate enjoyed his favorite recreation. Even in his day Edward Conybeare tells us in "Highways and Byways In Cambridge" bathing was a practice somewhat frowned on by the academic authorities. A century or so earlier any student found guilty of it was publicly flogged in the hall of his college and was again flogged on the morrow in the university schools by the proctors. A second offense meant expulsion from the university.

Novelty For New Yorkers.

"That sunrise effect is all wrong!" said the stage manager of a New York musical show.

"What's the difference?" replied the scene painter. "Nobody who goes to a musical comedy in New York knows what a sunrise looks like."—Washington Star.

AFTER TREATMENT

He was surprised at how the sores healed—"I took your NEW METHOD TREATMENT for a serious blood disease with which I had been inflicted for twelve years. I had consulted a score of physicians taken all kinds of blood medicine, visited Hot Springs and other mineral water resorts, but only got temporary relief. They would help me for a time, but after discontinuing the medicines the symptoms would break out again—running sores, blotches, rheumatic pains, looseness of the hair, swellings of the glands, palms of the hands scaling, itchiness of the skin, dyspeptic stomach, etc. I had given up in despair when a friend advised me to consult you, as you had cured him of a similar disease 8 years ago. I had no hope, but took his advice. In three weeks' time the sores commenced to heal up and I became encouraged. I continued the NEW METHOD TREATMENT for four months and at the end of that time every symptom had disappeared. I was cured 7 years ago and no signs of any disease since. My boy, three years old, is sound and healthy. I certainly can recommend your treatment with all my heart. You can refer any person to me privately, but you can use this testimonial as you wish. W. CANON DAVIDSON AT ST. CYPRIAN'S

Overflow Congregation at Last Mission Meeting

To-day's Mail and Empire says:—The mission services at St. Cyprian's, which have been steadily increasing in numbers, power and enthusiasm, culminated last night in an overflow congregation and fervent expression of feeling. A gradual but thorough "shaking up" has been experienced in this church, and the unconventional and combined efforts to expel stiffness, formalism and half-hearted devotion have met with evident success. Rev. C. A. Seager said at the morning service that the mission had been successful beyond all his expectations, and he expected to be able to bring to bear the aroused zeal upon the community around and to extend the operations of the church in every directon.

The missioner's subject was "The Offering of Enthusiastic Devotion," referring to the anointing of Christ with the broken box of precious ointment. The preacher gathered up the main teachings of the previous week, generated in the heart and finding natural and valuable expression in a self-forgetting, God-honoring and man-stimulating act.

In front of the congregation were the different mottoes of the week, notably, "The Lord of Love Loosen My Spirit, Tongue, Manner." To the retiring congregation, the choir sang softly, "God Be With You Till We Meet Again." Many remained to say good-bye to Canon Davidson, while others participated in an enthusiastic workers' meeting.

A FIELD DAY AT THE ARMY

Interesting Relation of Exercises by Col. Gaskins, Field Secretary for Canada

Yesterday afternoon the Salvation Army auditorium was well filled by a gathering to hear an address by Col. A. Gaskins, Field Secretary for Canada and the Bermudas. Col. Gaskins has recently returned from abroad and gave a very interesting relation of recent work in the interests of the Army.

Judge Huycke occupied the chair, and a number of citizens, visitors for the afternoon, were seated on the platform. The excellent band of the Army played a number of selections and the choir gave vocal selections as well. The chairman and lecturer were introduced to the audience by Ensign J. H. Merritt.

The chairman gave a brief introductory address, speaking in commendation and in appreciation of the work of the Army, its officers and members. He pointed out that it held a field peculiarly its own, and was world-wide in its operations and influence.

In his opening remarks Col. Gaskins referred to the aged founder of the Army, General Booth, and having been in England only two weeks ago, brought the latest news of the aged veteran's condition. Infirmity was creeping on, but he was still full of zeal and anxiety for the welfare of the great organization of which he had been the founder. In defining the motives that influenced men and women to be and remain in Army work, he declared it a high sense of duty. While the Army had given largely to the ranks of the clergy, and to positions in all walks of life, the great number remained in the force, and gave their energies and abilities to extension of the work. In this they were ever aided and sustained by the local members of the Army wherever found.

Taking out his diary, he said that pages carried notes of conversions of individuals, and their drifting into the Army and the circumstances under which they entered its ranks. Giving year and day he followed with a most interesting relation of instances where men of the lowest ranks, criminals, paupers and outcasts from society, were reclaimed and were now among the most valued members of the organization. Space will only permit of a very brief statement of instances.

Sept., 1898—He notes the conversion of a man who had been a student in Spurgeon's College; Withdrew and entered in the garrison of Sheerness. Deserted, was brought back and punished. Deserted again and was again brought back and served his time until discharged. Came to Canada with not a cent in his pocket when he reached Toronto. Life, he felt, was of no use to him. Was making his way down Yonge street to the bay to end his life when he heard a drum. Asked about it and was directed, not to the Army headquarters, as he supposed, but to the men's shelter. Told his story and was set at work washing dishes to pay for his supper and bed. Stayed at this chore until he was made stoker for the building, then assistant cook, became converted, joined the Army, rose from the ranks, and is now a most efficient staff officer in Eastern Ontario.

July 1898—Shoemaker in Halifax, N. S.; inveterate drunkard; was turned out of his shop and home for dissolute conduct. Came under Army influences and is now a color-sergt. in Halifax, doing well, and doing good.

These are only two instances of the many leaves from Col. Gaskins' diary. The relation of all were intensely personal and at times thrilling, and gave his hearers a vivid conception of the breadth of the personal work done by the Army and its officers.

At the conclusion of the meeting votes of thanks were tendered the chairman and lecturer, and to the band and choir.

OBITUARY

The Late Mary Hilton

There passed away on Saturday, at 7.30 p.m., one of Peterborough's oldest residents, in the person of Miss Mary Hilton, third daughter of the late John Hilton, of Dublin, Ireland, who came to Canada with his family in the year 1832, and settled first in the township of Rawdon. From there Miss Hilton came to Peterborough over 60 years ago, and has made it her home ever since. She was much beloved by a large circle of friends, owing to her kindly and sympathetic disposition.

Many of her old friends have passed away years ago, but there are still left many who will remember her kind, genial ways. The funeral will take place from the residence of her nephew, R. W. Reid, 560 Water street, with whom she has resided for many years, at 3 o'clock p.m., on Tuesday. Service at 2.30.

The Late Mrs. Graham

Another old and respected resident of this city passed away yesterday, in the person of Mrs. Catherine Graham, aged 82 years, relict of the late Christopher Graham, who predeceased her nineteen years ago.

The late Mrs. Graham came to Peterborough about twenty-four years ago from Cobourg, and since her husband's death has resided with her son, G. N. Graham, proprietor of the Oriental Hotel.

Deceased had been ailing for some time and has been confined to her bed for over three years.

The survivors are four sons, Messrs. George N., James, Okoloks, Alberta; Frank, Montreal, and Christopher, Havelock, and two daughters, Mrs. McCarney, Peterborough, and Mrs. Gallon, Weyburn, Sask.

The funeral will take place at 2.30 o'clock to-morrow afternoon, from the Oriental to Little Lake cemetery.

Lindsay Man Dead

Lindsay has lost another of her most respected citizens in the person of Mr. John Leggett, who passed quietly away last night at his residence, 68 Durham street west. Deceased was born in Ireland and came to this country when a child. He resided in Port Hope for a number of years, and also in Orillia, coming to Lindsay about ten years ago from that place.

Mr. Leggett was an employee of the Grand Trunk Railway for over 35 years, but was forced to retire a few years ago, owing to ill health. Although an invalid for a number of years, deceased made many friends by his kindness and cheerfulness who will sympathize with the sorrowing family.

He was a member of the Masonic lodge, which organization will have charge of the funeral, which will take place on Monday to the 11.15 train to Port Hope. Deceased leaves to mourn him a loving wife, two daughters, Mabel and Florence, a son, J. C. Leggett, of Toronto, and two brothers, William, of Millbrook, and Robert, of Keene.—Lindsay Warder.

The late Mr. Leggett was well known in this city, and the news of his death will be received with deep regret.

Death of Wm. Everett

At the advanced age of 75 years, William Everett passed away Friday night at lot 28, con. 7, Anstruther.

Deceased was born in England and lived in Peterborough a number of years. When his wife died last December, he moved to Anstruther, where he passed away after a general breakdown.

The remains were brought to Belleghem's undertaking rooms on Saturday and the funeral took place at 2.30 o'clock to-day, to Little Lake cemetery.

The survivors are Harry and Russel, of Anstruther, Bert, of Lakefield, and Miss Lizzie, of Toronto. Mr. Bert Everett, of the Bell Telephone Co., of this city, is a nephew.

No Tariff Views.

Ottawa, March 13.—Premier Hazen of New Brunswick is in the city to argue a case before the Supreme Court to-day. When asked for an expression of opinion on reciprocity, Mr. Hazen said he had none to express. He further intimated that his Government would not submit to the Provincial Legislature, now in session, any resolution with reference to the subject, though, he added, the Opposition was talking of bringing forward the matter.

"If it does," he said, "we will deal with it, but I would regard such a resolution on their part as bad tactics."

DEATH CAME SUDDENLY

John Stothart Passed Away To-Day

Death came suddenly to a life-long resident of Smith township in the person of John Stothart, who passed away shortly after noon to-day, at his home near the new Waterworks dam. He had entered the house after making preparations at the barns for a visit to Dr. Marshall, and was stricken with an old complaint, heart trouble.

Dr. Marshall was telephoned for. Mr. Stothart, who was 69 years of age, had passed away before he arrived shortly afterwards.

The late Mr. Stothart was known throughout the whole county. He had been a farmer for many years, and was also one of the best known milk vendors of the city.

The date of the funeral is not announced.

MISS MACDONALD HERE ON SUNDAY

Japanese National Y. W. C, A Secretary Coming

Miss Caroline A. Macdonald, of Tokio, Japanese National Y. W. C. A. secretary, is again to visit the city after four years' work in the Sunrise Kingdom. She will speak in St. Paul's church at 4.15 next Sunday afternoon, and will also address a drawing room meeting at the Y.W.C.A. on Tuesday afternoon, March 21st, at 3.30.

Miss Macdonald is very well and favorably known in Peterborough, and all those who enjoyed her on her previous visits will be pleased at the opportunity of again hearing and meeting her; also many who have not yet had the privilege of hearing this gifted speaker will avail themselves of this opportunity.

Knox Church

A meeting for ladies will be held in Knox church to-morrow afternoon at 3 p.m., to which all ladies of the city are invited. The services will continue each night this week, song service commencing at 7.45. A prayer meeting will be held at Mrs. Campbell's, corner of Wolfe and Stewart streets, on Thursday afternoon at 3, followed by a tea. All ladies invited. The meetings will be conducted by Rev. Mr. Woodside, and those who have not been present should not miss the opportunity.

St. Paul's Church

The announcements for St. Paul's church for the week are as follows—

The Young People's Guild will meet this evening at 8 o'clock.

The managers will hold their regular monthly meeting in the Dominion Bank Chambers on Tuesday evening at 7.45.

The regular monthly meeting or the Fraser Mission Band will be held on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Midweek service on Wednesday at 8 p.m. Teachers' meeting at the close.

Boys' Brotherhood on Friday at 7.15 p.m.

The annual meeting and election of officers of St. Luke's Girls' Auxiliary will be held at the rectory to-night at eight o'clock. Members are requested to bring their missionary collecting boxes. Refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting.

Lenten service Wednesday evening at eight o'clock. Rev. Canon Allen, of Millbrook, will be the special preacher.

Women's Auxiliary Thursday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

Mission Band Friday afternoon at 4.15 o'clock.

The Peterborough Case

Orange Sentinel

Peterborough is before the Legislature with a bill containing privision for the pooe of that city in which Roman Catholic Church proposes to share also. The proposition, baldly put is to collect public taxes for sectarian purposes. The Peterborough Protestant Home is to receive a grant and be enlarged. It is to care for the Protestant poor who are the wards of the city. The House of Providence is to care for the Roman Catholic poor who are the wards of the city. To collect the interest and sinking fund required to meet the debentures on the grant of $10,000 for the Protestant Home to be raised without a by-law being voted upon by the ratepayers, it is proposed to levy "exclusively upon the rateable property of the ratepayers who are not Roman Catholics" To maintain at this Home such patients as may be admitted on the order or by the authority of the Council, it is proposed to levy in each year a sufficient sum "upon the rateable property of the ratepayers who are not Roman Catholics." Similar provision is proposed for the maintainence of Roman Catholic poor at "the House of Providence under the Roman Catholic Episcopal Corporation of Peterboro.

OPTICAL INSTITUTE GETTING AHEAD

Progress is our prescription, always adding to our facilities, new optical instruments, new optical methods and doing our work with increasing interest and fine finish. Many who have become acquainted with our methods have found that our idea is better service than they have been accustomed to expect in quality, attention and satisfaction. WEDDING BELLS

DEWART—NELSON.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. Andrew S. Nelson, of Dummer, on Wednesday, March 8th, when his eldest daughter, Phoebe, was united in marriage to Mr. James H. Dewart, of Douro. The ceremony was performed under an arch of evergreens, by the Rev. H. Brown, of Warsaw, in the presence of about seventy guests.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was becomingly attired in a gown of white silk net, trimmed with lace insertion, and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

After the ceremony the guests sat down to a sumptuous repast, after which the evening was spent in a very sociable manner.

The presents, which were many and costly, testified to the esteem in which the bride was held by her many friends.

The groom's gift to the bride was a set of mink furs.

The young couple left for their home in Douro, followed by the best wishes of their many friends and acquaintances.

Two Years For Horse Thief.

Pembroke, March 11.—Frank Minard, for horse-stealing, was sentenced to two years in penitentiary. He is rather weak mentally and made a pathetic plea for leniency.

Valuable Gift for Art Institute.

Chicago, March 13.—Announcement was made on Saturday of the presentation to the Chicago Art Institute of eighteen of the best paintings of Geo. Inness, N.A., the American landscape artist. The presentation was made by Edward B. Butler, a Chicago merchant, and himself a painter of some local reputation. The cost of the collection was a trifle above $150,000.

Burglars at Burk's Falls.

Burk's Falls, March 13.—Burglars invaded the offices of the tannery company here on Saturday night and got away with $1,000, mostly in Bank of Toronto bills. The side of the safe had been broken open. The provincial police have been communicated with, and it is understood that to Detective Reburn has been given the task of hunting down the robbers.

A Terrible Threat.

An engineering operation uptown made it necessary a few days ago for one of the workmen to hold another on a rope halfway dawn a deep well. A fall would probably have been fatal, and Patrick kept the rope tight and steady while Terence made the dangerous descent.

After a quarter of an hour Patrick's attention wandered to something else. Instinctively he kept hold of the rope, but he did not hear Terence calling to him that it was time to pull him up until his fellow worker raised his voice in angry protest.

"Pull me up," called Terence. "Pull me up, I tell ye. If ye don't pull me up, drat ye, I'll cut the rope, and then where'll you be?"

RACE OF ARMAMENTS MUST GO ON UNTIL IT LEADS TO A CRASH

Sir Edward Grey Says it Means International Revolution---One Nation Cannot Change Situation.

London, March 14.—Sir Edward Grey, the Foreign Secretary, leading the House of Commons last night, in Premier Asquith's absence, made an important pronouncement on the Government's naval policy. Reginald McKenna, First Lord of the Admiralty, in defence of his estimates against attacks from certain quarters, explained that in 1914 Great Britain would have 30 and Germany 21 Dreadnoughts—not, he said, an unreasonable margin. The size of the British navy, he added, practically was governed by that of Germany, and unless some change occurred in the German naval law this year would be the high water mark in British estimates.

Secretary Grey, affirming Mr. McKenna's statements, emphasized the cordiality of Great Britain's foreign relations and his earnest desire that nothing should disturb these friendships. He then dealt with the difficulties to be encountered in the disarmament question, and pointed out that it was the most civilized nations that spent the most on armaments, asserting that unless the michief was brought home to men's feelings as well as to their minds, the growth of armaments must in the long run break civilization down.

Some thought, the Secretary continued, that it would end in war. He thought more likely it would end in international revolution. Any way, the rivalary would not be stopped by any single nation dropping out of the race. Although Great Britain had a strong navy, her army was small, and an agreement with Germany needed careful handling. He was hopeful, however, that something might be done.

When he referred to the possibility of the adoption of President Taft's proposal he was listened to in tense silence. If, he said, two of the greatest nations should thus make it clear that in no circumstances were they going to war again, the effect of their example on the world must have beneficial effects.

Nations entering such an agreement, continued the Secretary, might be exposed to attack by a third nation. This would probably lead to their making another agreement to join each other in case of quarrel with a third power in which arbitration was refused.

"In entering an agreement of this kind," said Sir Edward, "there would be risks, and you must be prepared for some sacrifice of national pride. I know that to produce such changes public opinion must reach very high ideals—higher than some think possible, but men's minds are working in this direction, and history affords instances of reaching such an ideal point. It was so in the case of slavery, when the United States rose up, not counting the cost in blood or money, or the risk of national existence."

In conclusion the Secretary said: "The general adoption of such a system might leave some armies and navies still in existence, but they would remain, not in rivalry, but as the world's police."

Utopian as his hopes might seem to some, he believed that he would live long enough to see some progress towards their realization.

TWO MORE MUST STAND A TRIAL

Morden and Wilson Committed on Conspiracy Charge

Special to the Review.

Toronto, March 14.—W. S. Morden and Matthew Wilson, K.C., were committed for trial this morning on a charge of conspiracy with W. R. Travers to obtain the preference over other creditors of the Farmers' Bank for the Trusts and Guarantee Co., in the event of the smash of the Farmers' Bank.

Cranbrook, B.C., expects a year of great industrial development.

The hotel licenses in Didsbury, Alta., has been raised to $200 a year.

HAREM SKIRT WAS SCARED AWAY

Des Moines, Ia., March 13.—A vaudeville actress was driven off the streets Saturday by policemen when she appeared in a "Harem" skirt. A crowd of several hundred people followed her as she made her way through the shopping district till Captain Frowick, of the police force, broke through the crowd with two policemen at his heels and said;—"Miss, if you don't go home we'll have to arrest you for ——," he for a moment hesitated, and then wound up with, "Well! we'll have to arrest you anyway, though I don't know what the charge would be."

The girl called an automobile and drove away.

FIFTEEN THOUSAND SOLDIERS MAY BE RUSHED TO BORDER

More Preparations for Mexican Troubles—Bad Possibilities in Store Over Revolution.

Special to The Review.

Washington, March 14.—It is stated that railway companies have been secretly ordered to prepare cars for the transportation of fifteen thousand more troops to the Mexican frontier.

New York, March 14.—The Mexican ambassador here and the Mexican Minister of Finance received assurances from Washington last night which convinced them that there is sincere co-operation between the administration of President Taft and that of President Diaz. It is not professed that all tension has been slackened, and while the American troops remain in force on the Mexican border, it is admitted that some tension will continue, but the edge of apprehension was appreciably blunted by the day's developments.

A long telegram to Ambassador de la Barra, stated to have reached him at Washington, announced that the United States warships to patrol duty on the Pacific and Gulf coasts of Mexico had been ordered to call at Mexican ports only for coal and then to withdraw promptly.

This action is deeply reassuring to Senor Limantour. In a recent interview he said that he could only consider the presence of American men-of-war in Mexican waters, as far distant from their base at Galveston, as part of an unnecessary effort to impress on Mexico the power of the United States. His personal protest was promptly followed by official representations, and last night he expressed himself as "very much gratified that the request of his Government had been so promptly granted."

Ambassador de la Barra added that the action of the United States Government was highly satisfactory to his Government and that perfect understanding exists between the two Governments in the matter.

NO LIBEL THE JURY'S VERDICT

Charge of Dr. Wilkinson Against Newspaper Fails

ARE AFRAID OF THE CAMORRISTS

Jury for Big Trial Cannot be Completed

Special to the Review.

Viterbo, Italy, March 14.—The work of choosing the jury to try the camorrists is still unfinished, great difficulty being experienced in securing jurymen, as the prisoners shouted threats of vengeance against the men who were drawn in the first place for jury duty.

DELVING INTO HIGH FINANCE

New York, March 14.—The grand jury began yesterday an investigation into the affairs of the Carnegie Trust Co., which was closed by the superintendent of banks on Feb. 1. Three witnesses, including the vice-president of the suspended institution, were examined. At the conclusion of the sitting, District Attorney Whitman announced that directors of two other trust companies with which the Carnegie Trust Co. had business dealings, would testify to-day. The investigation, it is said, may result in the indictment of two and possibly three directors on charges of forgery.

Details of a transaction involving $200,000, in which two other companies are alleged to have been involved, are said to have engaged the attention of the grand jury. Joseph G. Robin, the convicted president of the Washingon Savings Bank, is said to have furnished Mr. Whitman with information concerning the Carnegie Trust Co.

WOULD SELL IT TO WINNIPEG

Winnipeg, March 14.—Particulars of proposals made by Sir William Mackenzie, president of the Winnipeg Electric Railway Co., to the mayor and other representatives of the city regarding settlement of the troubles in connection with the traction and commercial lighting matters, were published yesterday. Two alternatives were presented to the city.

(1) The company will sell its street railway, gas power and electric light outfit to the city as a going concern, or

Mr. Mackenzie said the company would sell out on a basis of $250 a share, now worth $190. On this basis the company's full price would be in excess of $15,000,000.

DEADLY FUMES FROM COAL STOVE

Family of Three Have Close Shave At Chatham

Special to The Review.

Chatham, March 14.—Mr. and Mrs. Lake and their young son Orville, narrowly escaped asphyxiation during the night by fumes from the coal stove. The mother and son are out of danger, but the husband is still in a critical condition.

BALLOTS ARE COMING YET

Ballots marked against reciprocity continue to come into the Review office by every mail. It is surprising what a strength of opinion there is—surprising even to those who thought they knew about how matters stood.

This morning the Review received from Saskatoon, from a subscriber, a ballot marked against reciprocity. He says—"I also send my ballot marked against reciprocity, which I think every loyal subject should do for the best interests of Canada, Canada for the Canadians, not for Uncle Sam."

Ballots have been received from every district around the city, some coming to-day from Lakehurst and Westwood. On Saturday dozens of farmers from the county dropped into the Review office to leave their ballots, and give their opinion of the new deal. And it was decidedly against. One of them, James A. Bell, of Smith, said—"Reciprocity is giving us a swinging door between the two countries. The tariff meant we could lock it and so hold our own, but now the weight of Uncle Sam will simply push us in and against the wall. We don't want a national mistake, and we will simply get crushed in the process. The notion that eight million people can compete on equal terms with ninety million, nothing between them to let or hinder, is not right. Let us keep some means of bolting the door to protect ourselves when we want to."

THE SCARLET FEVER CASES

The number of scarlet fever cases in the city has caused a little uneasiness to some parents, but from what Dr. McPherson, M. H. O., says, there is no need for any apprehension. There are fourteen cases of scarlet fever in the city, only five of which are those of children attending school.

There is practically no typhoid, the water being absolutely pure. There is less typhoid fever in Peterborough than any city in Canada, and what there may be does not originate from water.

Some people have claimed that the fact that there is no sanitary inspection of milk, or the places of production, lends a danger of epidemics, pointing out the experience of North Toronto, where impure milk was said by the chief of police to have caused many cases of fever.

"I do not know that these cases of scarlet fever can be laid at the door of milk," said Dr. McPherson. "There is no evidence that this is responsible whatever. We closed the Central school simply as a preventive measure, to make sure contagion did not spread, but the slight epidemic need not cause any uneasiness, as I do not view it as of serious proportions."

TAX ON RACE MEETS WITHOUT REGARD TO THE BOOK-MAKERS

They all Look Alike to the Provincial Treasury—Many Bills Considered, and Dealt With—Educational Matters.

Toronto, March 14.—Bookmakers and pari-mutual machines for horse race speculation all look alike to the Ontario Government.

"We don't recognize that feature of racing in any way whatever," was Hon. Col. Matheson's statement in the Ontario Legislature yesterday afternoon when A. C. Pratt, South Norfolk, recommended that running race tracks where bookmakers officiate should be penalized by a license fee much in excess of the $200 a day provided in the new Supplementary Revenue Act.

The Provincial Treasurer said the only additional charge with respect to the license fees on horse race meetings was to provide that, if two running races a day are held at trotting race meetings, the full $200 a day will be imposed.

The act had been changed with respect to the 2 per cent. tax on stock transfers. Instead of the tax falling in the transferee (the buyer) as at first proposed, it had been decided to levy it on the seller.

Hon. A. G. MacKay asked if the constitutionality of the tax had been fully considered, as it appeared possible that it infringed on the matters of trade and commerce, in which case it would belong to the Dominion jurisdiction.

Hon. Col. Matheson declared that the constitutionality of the tax had been fully defined.

Col. Hugh Clark, Centre Bruce, gave notice that he would ask the Government for a return showing what progress has been made with prison farm at Guelph, and what work is contemplated this year.

Hon. James Duff presented a bill to permit county councils to acquire lands for reforestration purposes, and to issue debentures, not exceeding $25,000 in any one year for this purpose.

J. W. Johnson, West Hastings, asked that his bill asking for a board of examiners to license opticians and elevate their standard of proficiency, be read a second time, and referred to committee. He said that if the public could be guaranteed that such men had skill, there would be an increased confidence and many more defective eyes would be bettered. He did not wish to form a close corporation, but would point out that Manitoba had such a law.

Hon. I. B. Lucas, Centre Grey, drew attention to the fact that according to the way the bill was drawn up the man selling glasses could give no aid or advice to the customer in the selection of glasses, or he would be liable to a fine. This, in itself, was likely to create a close corporation. Nor was there in the bill any provision for the instruction of optical candidates. He, therefore, urged the withdrawal of the bill.

Mr. Johnson acquiesced, with a grateful remark at having the deficiencies of his bill pointed out to him.

Hon. Dr. Reaume's bill to amend the Ontario Game and Fisheries Act passed its third reading without amendment, although R. R. Gamey endeavored to have a clause inserted that would limit the bag of partridge to 50 birds in a season.

Dr. Reaume answered that he would closely observe the partridge question during the next year, but thought the Government's policy of shortening the season whenever birds were becoming scarce, or closing it entirely, was better than limiting the bag.

The Toronto Interurban Railway Co. bill was given its third reading.

Hon. A. G. MacKay asked for information as to whether any machinery or equipment in the transformer station of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission at Niagara Falls has been destroyed; if so, who the contractors were that supplied it; what occasioned the injury, and upon whom would the loss fall in each case.

Hon. Col. Hendrie replied that in the event of any possible litigation, it would be very unwise to make public any of the details respecting these questions.

Valentine Stock asked what was the area of Rondeau Park, how many acres were wooded, what portion contained merchantable timber, and had the Government made any sales of timber?

Hon. Frank Cochrane replied that 5,600 acres was the area, of which 2,500 acres were wooded, except for 500 acres, formerly owned by the Government, from which merchantable timber had been cut. The contract for

FORCED TO DIG THEIR GRAVES

Revolutionists Executed by Mexican Federal Soldiers

Special to The Review.

El Paso, Texas, March 14.—The Mexican federal soldiers have commenced a summary execution of revolutionary prisoners. Three revolutionists, after being captured, were forced to dig their own graves before being shot down by the soldiers.

BURNED TO DEATH IN THE KITCHEN

Toronto, March 14.—Mrs. Elizabeth MacArthur, 29 years old, was burned to death last night at her home, 122 Kenilworth avenue. Her husband was called by her nine-year-old son, who ran down to his father's hardware store at the corner of Kenilworth avenue and Queen street, in his night-clothes.

Mrs. MacArthur was preparing the evening meal, when the fatality occurred. She had just started the fire in the kitchen range, which, however, did not seem to burn. Thinking that the wood was damp, she sprinkled it with coal oil, holding the tin of oil at some distance above the stove. Suddenly the flames burst forth and an explosion followed. A portion of the tin struck her in the face and she fell alongside the range. Her clothing, which was saturated with oil, speedily caught fire, and in an instant she was a mass of flames. Mr. MacArthur had his hands and arms badly burned while trying to extinguish the flames.

WAITING FOR THE RAILWAY

Promises However to Take the Matter Up as Soon as the Railway Is Available—Sir Wilfrid at Last Moment Finds a Way to Head Off F. D. Monk's Discussion of the Georgian Bay Canal Scheme.

Ottawa, March 14.—When the immigration estimates were under consideration in the House of Commons last evening, James Arthurs (Parry Sound) asked the Minister of the Interior if any effort had been made by the Dominion Government to bring people in for the unsettled portions of Ontario, such as along the line of the National Transcontinental and T. & N. O. Railways.

"So far the Government has not taken up the question of colonization in Northern Ontario," replied Mr. Oliver. "We have an interest in colonization in what might be called the western part of Ontario. We have an agent at Port Arthur, who deals with the Thunder Bay and Rainy River Districts.

"We have not taken up this question for the reason that until the National Transcontinental is built and in operation, the clay belt is hardly accessible for settlement." Mr. Oliver admitted there wes land along the T. & N. O. between North Bay and Cochrane, but he did not know whether it was sufficiently desirable to warrant the Government in making any special effort.

"But," he added, "as soon as the clay belt is made available by the construction of the National Transcontinental, there is no doubt the Government will be quite willing to take up the question in assisting to direct colonization to that part of the country."

Under an amendment to the motion to go into committte of supply, ostensibly for the purpose of considering the transportation aspect of the reciprocity proposals, F. D. Monk (Jacques Cartier) precipitated discussion of the Georgian Bay Canal scheme, which was fair on the way to dividing the House, when Sir Wilfrid Laurier discovered that a private member could not propose a resolution that involved an expenditure of money. Several members had spoken before the point of order was raised, and the matter was suddenly dropped. It showed, however, the tendency of Eastern Ontario and Quebec members to favor that scheme over the enlargement of Welland Canal.

Mr. Monk said he was influenced to bring the transportation matter forward by the influence of J. J. Hill in favor of reciprocity owing to his railway connections in the west.

Mr. Monk urged upon the Government the necessity of the immediate construction of the Georgian Bay Canal. His amendment to the motion was that the House, in view of a possible diversion of the country's carrying trade from Canadian channels, and in order to insure the most favorable conditions of transportation between western points and the Canadian Atlantic seaboard, records its opinion and determination that the construction of the Georgian Bay Canal should be commenced forthwith, so as to preserve and further facilitate interprovincial traffic and the carrying of freight in unbroken bulk from the Great Lakes to the sea.

Mr. Fisher will introduce a bill this session to amend the Seed Control Act, and has given notice that on Wednesday next he will move a resolution on which the legislation is to be founded.

It is expedient, says the resolution, to amend the Seed Control Act by providing, "That the Governor-in-council may make regulations determining the species of farm weeds, which shall be included within the meaning of the term 'noxious weeds.'

"That no person shall sell, or have in possession for sale for the purpose of seeding and seeds of cereals, flax, grasses, clovers, or forage plants, except timothy, alsike or red clover and alfalfa, unless they are free from any seeds of noxious weeds, and unless the receptacle is marked with the name and address of the seller, the name of the kind of seed, the seeds of which are present in the seed offered.

"That no person shall sell, offer, expose or have in possession for sale, for the purpose of seeding any of the said seeds, if the seeds of noxious weeds or other useless or harmful plants are present in greater proportion in the seed sold, than the maximum number of such seeds that may be permitted of the grade designated therefor."

UNION LABEL

COALS TO NEWCASTLE

Statistics from Ottawa show some most peculiar and astonishing conditions existing in Canada. Here we have an agricultural population 63 per cent of the whole, producing far more farm produce than the country needs—so it is claimed.

The advocates of reciprocity use as their chief argument the fact that Canada must find more markets for its surplus of natural produts. That is why the United States market of 90,000,000 people looks so inviting.

But coming back to these remarkable statistics, Ottawa tells us that in October, November, December, and even January, we have been importing butter and eggs in large quantities. Great Britain, Italy, Russia, Asia, Turkey, send us butter, while Hong Kong, China, Germany, and even Great Britain assist the Canadian hen in supplying the Great Canadian market. In the three months ending January last, the United States sent us 15,000 pounds of butter, and 250,000 dozen eggs. Imports in February, for which official figures are not yet available, reach 500,000 dozen, according to reliable estimates.

These are figures of importations under a duty. If the duty were gone, what would the imports be? Will the Canadian farmer, who gets the benefit of a high priced winter market, answer? Reciprocity means the levelling of egg prices in winter, and it means that the Canadian farmer must fight for his own home market against more favorably situated—climatically—producers than he.

As reciprocity is designed to benefit the agriculturist in every way, of course, he will not object to losing the cream of his vegetable, fruit and egg market. He will have the compensatory privilege of shipping free these coals of his to Newcastle!

TUBERCULOSIS

The systematic relief of tuberculosis sufferers in Peterborough offers a work than which there is none more worthy. The ravages of the dread white plague have been so often described, and so much has been said about it that one would think people were more familiar with the most effective method of handling cases; but the ignorance on the subject is most appalling.

The movement instituted last night at the meeting in the City Council Chamber was a good one, and cannot help being beneficial to the health of Peterborough and district. While the only action taken was the appointment of a committee to prepare a plan of work, and to arrange for the organization of a health association, to report at a later meeting, the sentiment exhibited was strongly indicative of a general desire to alleviate existing conditions.

Dr. Cameron was authority for the statement that there are from fifty to one hundred cases of tuberculosis in Peterborough, some of these incipient and some advanced. It was agreed the care of these in a Peterborough sanitarium was too heavy a project for the present, but it was the unanimous desire that something should be done for the sufferers.

The provision of a district nurse, to attend to the provision of hygienic conditions surrounding patients, to educate them and those around them as to diet, treatment, avoidance of infection, and to improve home conditions generally was the prevailing idea, as being financially within the reach of the city. The idea is certainly most practicable, such a nurse to work in conjunction with the medical men of the city—some of whom at least might take a little special course in the treatment of tuberculosis without harm to themselves.

Any work that will be preventive; that will check incipient cases, and help advanced cases, is worthy work, and it may be that after this is started, ways and means for a more extensive campaign may present themselves. We would urge all citizens interested in this noble work to join in the movement, for the relief of sufferers right at home is a bounden duty on us all.

OLD BILL MINER

The history of "Old Bill" Miner, the railway bandit and lifelong desperado, offers a study in psychology. A man of iron nerve and desperate courage, he never took a human life in all his wild career. He suffered loss of liberty and hardship and privation during liberty—because of this kindly trait of character, but Miner even now has the satisfaction of knowing that in all his desperate career he has never reddened his hands with the blood of a brother man.

It was lack of money that induced him as a youth to commit the first stage robbery in California, in the palmy days of the gunning west. Success led to repetition, and the hold-ups culminated in train robberies. "Old Bill" Miner often worked alone, and his success in the more remarkable because he was never known to shoot, the mere threat usually being sufficient. What would have happened, had some individual equally as nervy refused to be bluffed by the sight of a grinning revolver mouth is hard to say, but Miner would have found some escape from the situation without calling the bluff. Miner's sensational escape from the New Westminster, B.C., penitentiary, after years of exemplary behavior as a converted Christian, caused a great deal of gossip a few years ago. After wandering around Europe and the United States, shortage of money through his generosity to a widow, led to his capture, and now, in the twilight of life, he is safely confined in Georgia prison, to end his days, perhaps, behind prison walls—a living monument to the folly of a criminal life, and illustrating the end of a man who undertakes to sin against his fellows; against the law of the ultimate triumph of right and justice.

The safe, sane course of a straight life lived to the best of our ability, may be without the glamor of a career such as Bill Miner's; but the end thereof is peace. As Sir Walter Scott said on his death bed to his nephew:—"My boy, when you come to lie here, knowing the end is at hand, the greatest satisfaction of all is to have led a religious life. Nothing else counts in the end."

THE HOME MARKET

The Montreal Witness says—

"Sir William Van Horne boasts that Canada has three times as much external trade per head as the United States. If the United States' foreign trade is comparatively nil, it is because it follows Sir William's principle of shutting out foreign trade. For ourselves, we think the more foreign trade the better. We think every branch of either railway that runs into the United States is so much advantage to Canada, and the more trade that runs over each of those branches the better for us."

The foreign trade of Great Britain is the biggest of any nation on earth. Is the condition of the masses in Britain to be compared with the condition of the people of the United States? Judged by this standard, foreign trade doesn't spell great prosperity to the people. Germany is a heavy exporter—can undersell nearly any other country in her special lines. Are the people of Germany as generally well-off and as prosperous as the United States or Canadian people? It is not foreign trade—it is internal trade that makes a country, and the fact that Canada is already consuming nearly 80 per cent. of its production is evidence of this. Anything that destroys the home market destroys prosperity. Preserve the home market for the home people—the surplus will easily take care of itself.

EDITORIAL NOTES

"Canada is at the parting of the ways." Washington or Britain?

Winston Churchill made the British House of Commons sit all night fighting over a bill. He seems to have stolen some of Joseph Martin's thunder.

The Saskatchewan legislature is in the grip of a deadlock which has already lasted sixty-one hours. We may have the spectacle of the House of Commons in the same situation presently.

The mobilisation of 20,000 troops on the Mexican border ought to indicate what Canada might expect as an independent nation. Our British connection is the saving of Canada. Yet Laurier would hand us over to the Americans without even the delightful preliminary of becoming "independent."

They say that Sir Wilfrid was very wroth at Mr. Fielding for making the agreement, but when the latter threatened to resign, he resolved to swallow the deal, and foist it on an unwilling country. The story is doubtful—Laurier was always an advanced free trader himself who would, if he could, sacrifice the industrial workers of Canada for his pet theories any time.

The government has no intention of appealing to the country on the reciprocity question. It would be the height of political folly for it to do so, knowing that the reciprocity question is so unpopular. Laurier thinks that time will wear away the bitterness, the deeply rooted objections to giving the country into the hands of the American trusts. The public memory won't be so short as that, however.

PLAGUE REPORTS EXAGGERATED

Conditions in China Not So Bad as Stated

Montreal, March 14.—An interesting C.P.R. headquarters Saturday is Mr. William T. Payne, of Yokohama, manager for Japan and China, of the company's trans-Pacific service.

Mr. Payne stated that the reports regarding the plague in China have been very greatly exaggerated.

"Every year," he said, "there is a pest of some kind or other in China. One year it is bubonic plague, another year it is smallpox, this year it is pneumonic plague. It is the result of lack of proper sanitary conditions, and is rendered all the more prevalent by the meagre diet of the people affected. In the present instance the plague is confined to Northern China, and does not affect any of the ports connected with trans-Pacific business. There is no evidence of it in Japan, and as a matter of fact there would be none of it in China if sanitary regulations of even one-tenth the efficiency of those in Japan were in force. These annual plagues will disappear with the progress of modern civilization among the Chinese. Meanwhile there is no cause for general alarm.

"This is not a white man's disease, and the devastation that it is causing is nothing like so general as would appear from some of the despatches. As an instance of the exaggeration of the reports, I know of one man who came down from one of the northern towns in China and who read in a paper on his arrival in the south that 1,000 deaths had taken place in his town from plague. He at once telegraphed back to find if there had been a sudden increase in the death rate since he left, and he found that instead of a thousand deaths there had only been 60."

RUSSIA'S JESTER.

Balakireff Is the Joe Miller of the Muscovites.

HIS WIT TICKLES THE BEAR.

He Was the Court Fool That Many a Time Braved the Anger of Peter the Great—His Miracle of the Sword and a Wondrous Deed of Daring.

Every nation has its typical jester, around whom crystallize all the floating stories of a people. Thus England has its Joe Miller, Germany its Till Eulenspiegel, Italy its Punchinello, the orient its Nasreddin el Khoja and Russia its Balakireff. Like Joe Miller, the last was a real character, though not all the jokes credited to him were his own. Some were inventions of a later age; others were borrowed from the past. He shares the credit for many of the latter with Joe Miller and Eulenspiegel.

History records that Balakireff was the favorite jester of Peter the Great. Tradition represents him as the constant company of that czar, frequently exercising his wit at royal expense. One day, for example, a cousin of his had fallen under the czar's displeasure and was sentenced to death. Balakireff undertook to obtain a reprieve. The czar guessed his errand even before he opened his mouth.

"No!" he cried. "'Tis no use your coming here. I swear that I will not grant what you are going to ask!"

Balakireff dropped at once to his knees. "Peter Alexeivitch," he cried, "I pray you, put to death that scamp of a cousin of mine!"

Peter, thus caught in his own trap, had no choice but to laugh and send a pardon to the culprit.

On another occasion Balakireff asked that he might be enrolled among his master's domestic guards. Peter consented for the sake of the joke, but warned his jester that death was the penalty if any officer of the guards absented himself from his post or mislaid his sword. Then to test the volunteer he sent him up a flagon of wine to "moisten his commission." Balakireff, as was expected, drank to the intoxicating point. While he was sleeping off his debauch the czar himself crept into the room and carried off his sword from the scabbard. Balakireff, though badly scared, on awaking made shift to replace the missing weapon with his own wooden imitation of the guardsmen's sword. He was called to parade next morning, when Peter feigned hot indignation at the untidiness of one of the guards.

"Captain Balakireff," he cried at last, "draw your sword and cut off the head of that sloven!"

Balakireff cast his eyes up to heaven. "Oh, merciful God," he prayed, "grant that my sword may turn into wood before I use it on one of my own fellow soldiers!"

And, lo, when he unsheathed it the blade stood revealed as a wooden one. Peter laughed heartily at the knave's presence of mind and restored him to favor.

A more serious offense resulted in the banishment of the jester. "Never dare to appear again on Russian soil!" stormed the emperor. Judge then of Peter's surprise when, a week later, he beheld his old favorite coolly driving a cart past the palace.

"How dare you disobey me?" shouted the enraged monarch. "Did I not forbid you ever to show yourself on Russian soil?"

"Nay," replied Balakireff, "I have not disobeyed you. This is not Russian soil."

"How say you—not Russian soil?"

"Truly not. This cartload of earth on which I am sitting is Swedish soil. I dug it up in Finland only the other day."

Again the czar laughed uproariously and readmitted his buffoon to favor. Some historians add that when he heard the excuse he said, "If Finland be Swedish soil now it shall be Russian before long," a threat he was not slow to fulfill.

This story, however, was an old one long before the time of Balakireff. It forms the twenty-seventh adventure of Till Eulenspiegel, who is reputed to have died in 1350. Having offended the Duke of Lunenberg, Till was "forbidden the land." He purchased a shilling's worth of earth to fill his cart with, and, being duly challenged by the duke, he answered:

"My gracious lord, I am not in your land, but in mine own, wherein I do sit. I bought it of a boor for a shilling. And rightfully could he sell it, for from his forefathers he inherited it. So is this truly my land."

At the close of one of Czar Peter's campaigns Balakireff overheard some Russian officers boasting of exlpoits they had performed.

"Nay," he cried, "I can tell a better story than any of you." And, being pressed for the story, he continued:

"Never have I liked this modern way of fighting all in a body together. Surely it would be more manly for each to stand by himself. Therefore went I out alone in search of adventures. One day while reconnoitering near the enemy's outposts I espied a Swedish soldier lying on the ground. Before he could rise and give the alarm I rushed upon him and with one blow from my sword cut off his right foot."

"You fool!" cried one of his auditors. "Why did you not cut off his head?"

"So would I have done," retorted Balakireff, "except that somebody else had already done it."—Washington Star.

Kingston, March 14.—Painters and masons' helpers are out with a request for an increase of 25 cents a day. Helpers receive $2 for eight hours, and painters [illegible] for nine hours. A strike is talked of if the increase is not forthcoming by April first.

NOT IN CHINA SHOP.

Curious Adventure of Bull Which Climbed Castle Stairs.

One day recently people walking in the neighborhood of Ballyadams Castle, Athy, glanced up at the historic pile, stopped and rubbed their eyes, then rubbed them again.

Standing high up on the battlements of the fortress, calmly looking out over the surrounding country, was a sturdy bullock. There were various wagers as to how the animal reached its precarious position. That it could climb up the ninety feet of stone spiral stairs, broken and worn in parts, seemed absolutely incredible.

It was found, however, that the bullock had actually done so, tempted by an open doorway, and the cooler air above. On reaching the top the poor animal seemed to realize its danger, and the big crowd that the strange sight attracted were not a little apprehensive that it would jump over the low balcony to destruction below.

Several times it seemed inclined towards this course; with forefeet on to the low wall, it would gaze nervously and wistfully from his terrible height, then retreat, make a circuit of its narrow platform and repeat the performance. At length the on-lookers determined to try and secure the animal, although success seemed very remote, and the effort certainly was not unattended by risk to the lives of the rescuers, half a dozen of whom went aloft to attempt to catch the animal. A wild rush of the frightened brute might mean that the party would be hurled from the parapet, only two or three feet away. However, after a good deal of skilful manoeuvring, the rescuers induced the bullock to get into the gallery, and gradually it was forced down the narrow stairs, eventullay getting to terra firma safely. Ballyadams Castle, the theatre of this occurrence, is one of the most interesting and historic, and perhaps one of the best preserved of the many of those old strongholds with which ancient Leix is dotted. It stands on the land of Dermot Hurley, Ballyadams, though the castle itself is in the control of the Board of Works.

The Little Man at the Pillar.

Close to the famous clock in the Cathedral of Strassburg there is a little man in stone gazing up at the angel's pillar which supports the south wing of the cathedral. Long ago the little man who is now sculptured in stone stood there in flesh and blood. He used to stare up at the pillar with a criticising eye which swept it from top to bottom and again from bottom to top. Then he would shake his head doubtfully each time.

It happened once that a sculptor passed the cathedral and saw the little man looking up as if he did not like the looks of the pillar.

"It seems to me that you are finding fault with the pillar, my good fellow," said the stonecutter, and the little man nodded as if pleased to be found out.

"Well, what do you think of it? Speak out, my man," said the sculptor.

"The pillar is fine enough," the little man said slowly. "The figures on it are beautiful, but I fear that slender pillar cannot hold up the heavy weight much longer. Soon it will totter and fall, and all will go to pieces."

An odd fancy seized the stonecutter. "You shall stay right where you are always gazing at the pillar until it falls under the heavy vault."

And he brought from his workshop his hammer and chisel and made in stone a figure of the little man just as he was, looking upward with a knowing face and an important air. And there this little figure in stone stands to-day, awaiting the fall of the pillar.

Ninety "Not Out."

"If I had my life to live again I would, without hesitation, be a Free Church minister. There never was such golden opportunity for the man with a Christian message as to-day." Thus Dr. Guinness Rogers, the veteran preacher, orator, and politician, who recently entered upon his ninety-first year. Dr. Rogers has a ministerial record of sixty-five years and is the oldest surviving ex-chairman of the Congregational Union. And, in spite of his great age, his voice is still as clear as a bell, and his energy amazing. Needless to say, he has some interesting recollections, and can look back to the time when there was hardly a daily paper in the provinces. In the house of his father, a minister, they had to be satisfied with a weekly journal which cost fivepence a copy. To-day, as he once remarked, porters pick out of an empty train more newspapers than were taken in a whole town seventy years ago.

A Daring Lady Aeronaut.

It is a curious fact that the Hon. Mrs. Assheton Harbord, who recently placed another long balloon voyage to her credit by making an aerial voyage to France, became a balloonist by accident. In 1906 she went to see some friends off who were making an ascent, and at the last moment they suggested that she should go with them. She went, and returned to earth an enthusiastic aeronaut. Since then she has made more than a hundred voyages, owns her own balloon, and has been entertained by the members of the Aero Club in token of their appreciation of her pluck. She has made four voyages across the Channel, and on one occasion, when making a descent in France in a storm, was pitched out of the car as it bumped on the ground. "I can claim, therefore," humorously remarks Mrs. Harbord, "to be the only woman who has landed in France on her head."

They Cannot Afford It.

It is said only ten per cent. of 150,000 English paupers in the poorhouses will avail themselves of the privilege of going on the pension list at the new year. As it is alleged it costs 24 shillings per week for their keep, and the pension is but five, it looks as if they, and perhaps their keepers, know a good thing when they see it.

The Ontario Government will likely take charge of the estate of Mrs. Corrigan, of Hamilton, who died, leaving a small fortune.

SHE GOT WHAT SHE WANTED

This Woman Had to Insist Strongly, but it Paid

Chicago, Ill.—"I suffered from a female weakness and stomach trouble, and I went to the store to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but the clerk did not want to let me have it—he said it was no good and wanted me to try something else, but knowing all about it I insisted and finally got it, and I am so glad I did, for it has cured me.

"I know of so many cases where women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I can say to every suffering woman if that medicine does not help her, there is nothing that will."—Mrs. JANETZKI, 2963 Arch St., Chicago, Ill.

This is the age of substitution, and women who want a cure should insist upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound just as this woman did, and not accept something else on which the druggist can make a little more profit.

Women who are passing through this critical period or who are suffering from any of those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of the fact that for thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills. In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Liverpool Wheat Futures Close Higher, Chicago Lower—Live Stock —Latest Quotations.

CHICAGO, March 13.—Heavy selling carried down the price of wheat to-day after experts investigating had declared the damage from Hessian fly to be inconsequential. Closing figures showed a decline of ⅞c to 1⅜c. Other chief cereals finished also with a loss: corn off ½c to ⅝c; oats, ⅛c to ¼c. Provisions at the end of the day were the same as Saturday, nigh to 7½c below.

The Liverpool market closed to-day ⅝d to ⅝d higher than Saturday on wheat, and ¼d higher on corn. Antwerp closed unchanged on wheat, Berlin ⅛c lower than Saturday, Budapest ⅝c lower.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Union Stock Yards.

TORONTO, March 12.—Receipts of live stock at the Union Stock Yards were 74 carloads, consisting of 1343 cattle, 174 hogs, 1198 sheep and lambs, 27 calves and 63 horses.

Exporters.

Geo. B. Campbell bought 314 export cattle for Morris & Co., as follows: [illegible] steers for London, 1377 lbs. each, at $6.9[illegible]; 57 steers for Liverpool, 1120 lbs. each, at $5.65; also 203 steers for Liverpool, 1236 lbs. each, at $5.89.

Butchers.

Prime picked butchers sold at $5.80 to $5.95; loads of good, $5.30 to $5.75; medium, $5.20 to $5.45; common, $4.90 to $5.15; cows, $3.50 to $5.10; bulls, $4.50 to $5.

Milkers.

None reported on sale.

Veal Calves.

Veal calves sold at $3.50 to $8.50 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Prices for sheep and lambs were a little firmer. Sheep, ewes, sold at $4.50 to $5; rams, $3.50 to $4.25; lambs, $6.50 to $7 per cwt.

Hogs.

Prices unchanged, at $7.05 for selects, fed and watered, and $6.75, f.o.b. cars at country points.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, March 13.—At the Montreal Stock Yards west end market the receipts of live stock for the week ending March 11 were 2900 cattle, 1225 sheep and lambs, 2000 hogs and 1200 calves. The supply offered this morning consisted of 850 cattle, 150 sheep and lambs, 1150 hogs and 350 calves.

Owing to an increased supply of cattle, a weaker feeling developed in the market, and prices, as compared with those of a week ago, show a decline of ¼c per pound, and in consequence of which the drovers complain very much, as they claim that they were not realizing as much as the cattle cost them laid down here.

The quality of the cattle coming forward was never better at this season of the year, it being well finished, consequently butchers had no difficulty in making their choice. At the above reduction noticed in prices the demand was fairly good, and, in addition to those bought for local consumption, several carloads were taken for shipment to Quebec.

Several carloads of choice steers were sold at $5.85, and good stock at $5.65 per 100 pounds, and a few extra choice steers brought as high as 6½c to 6¾c, but these prices were very exceptional, as the bulk of the trading was done at: Choice, at 6¼c; good at 5¾c to 6c; fairly good at 5½c to 5½c; fair at 4¾c to 5c, and the lower grades at 4¼c to 4¾c per pound. There were a number of heavy bulls on the market, which sold at 5c to 5½c per pound.

The tone of the market for hogs was weaker, and prices declined 15c to 20c per 100 pounds, which was attributed to the increased supplies and the accumulation of stock on spot, and the indications are that values will go still lower in the near future. The demand from packers was fair, and sales of selected lots were made at $7.25 to $7.30 per 100 pounds, weighed off cars.

On account of the very limited supplies of yearling lambs coming forward, a stronger feeling prevailed in the market, and prices advanced 15c to 25c per 100 pounds, with sales at $6.50 to $6.65 per 100 pounds, and spring lambs sold at $8 each. Sheep were steady under a fair demand at 5c per pound. A few very choice calves brought as high as $12 to $15 each, and the lower grades sold at from that down to $4 each.

Catarrhozone

Cures Permanently BRONCHITIS, COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA, CATARRH

Throw medicine to the dogs. At best they are unpleasant, often useless. You are suffering from some disease of the throat, nose, or lungs. Doctors call it Bronchitis, Asthma, or Catarrh, or it is a slight or severe cold. Germs cause these diseases—they have a common root.

Catarrhozone destroys disease germs, but it does more, it heals disease tissue.

CATARRHOZONE is little drops of healing carried by air to the exact place where Catarrh exists. Observe, Catarrhozone not only destroys the cause, but immediately repairs the result of diseased condition.

Catarrhozone means little drops of healing carried by air and placed over the lungs, throat, and nasal passages.

Catarrhozone is endorsed by doctors, druggists, and by thousands of Canadian people who have used it.

Catarrhozone

Yes, Sir, it is taken in air.

"Little drops of healing" carried by air to weak places in the lungs, throat, and nasal passages.

Three sizes: 25c, 50c, and $1.00, at druggists, or by mail postpaid from The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Ont.

How a Local Young Man Made Money

There are many people in and around the City of Peterborough who have money, looking for investment, who prefer a safe investment, such as bonds or low rate of interest, to investing in mortgages or other securities which require special judgment in selecting, and constant and careful watching to avoid loss. To such we would commend the following result to their careful consideration—

A young man of the City of Peterborough had his life insured sixteen years ago last January for Ten Thousand Dollars ON A SINGLE PAYMENT 15-YEAR ENDOWMENT PLAN. The premium paid was $6,460.00. On the 31st of January, 1910, the company paid him $12,116.00 in cash, after giving him fifteen years of free insurance. What do you think of that as an investment?

Are bonds or municipal debentures, or even the best mortgages, to be compared with it, when you consider that the risk of the life was carried during the 15 years? And remember, the security is as safe as any debenture or mortgage, and there was no trouble or expense entailed of any kind after the initial investment.

The above result was obtained from the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, under policy No. 47340, W.H.B.

THE WEST CALLS LOCAL FIREMEN

Two Leave This Week to Accept Positions

A couple of months ago a number of gentlemen from Calgary, Fort William and Regina, some of them aldermen in the western cities, paid a visit to this section of the country, and incidentally to buy horses.

The party stopped over at Peterborough for the purpose of seeing the hydraulic lift lock, and while in the city inspected the fire station, and in consequence of that visit two of the members of the local staff leave for the west on Thursday morning, where they have received similar positions at nearly double the salary, with prospects of rapid promotion.

Yesterday Capt. Thomas received a letter from W. A. Wight, chief of the fire department at Regina, offering him a position as captain on the Regina fire department at a salary of $85 per month. He is getting $41.66 here.

Deputy Chief Grange was offered a position as chief at Brockville last year.

THEATRICAL

"The Three Twins"

The performance of the "Three Twins" as given at the Grand Opera House last night to a large and thoroughly pleased audience was all that advance notices said it would be and Clifton Crawford in his first appearance in Peterborough made an emphatic hit, But while he was given a most cordial reception, there were other principals whose work was also heartily received. And they didn't have to work overtime. While the plot in the "Three Twins" is not more so than the average musical comedy, Mr. Crawford was assisted by half a dozen co stars, each of whom, was called upon to do an equal share of work and thus the performance was all the more pleasing to the audience.

A merry mixup follows, when Tom Stanhope, (Clifton Crawford) disguises himself, that he may, be assisted, of course, by a liberal use of title guff, marry his sweetheart, Kate Armitage, Her father falls for it and Mrs. Dick Wintus falls on Tom, taking him to be her own husband, whom she was expecting from a sanitarium. Hubby also arrives on the scene and so does his brother, who with Tom Stanhope, so resemble each other that the mixup becomes further mixed and the rest is all screams.

Easily the feature musical numbers were "Cuddle Up a Little Closer," "Baby Mine" and the "Yama Yama Man," with the unique faceograph novelty of Miss Myrtle Tyson in the former song, finding the audience for the most pronounced approval.

In the second act, Mr. Crawford found time to put in a few extras which made him firmer with his audience and ensured a hearty welcome, should he return to the city at any future time. All the chorus work is tuneful and full of vim.

The electric shower and the canal scene at the close of the first act are strong features.

THE MAN OF THE HOUR

With Felix Haney — First Time at $1.00 Prices

The greatest play of modern times, "The Man of the Hour," under the direction of Wm. A. Brady, will be the attraction at the Grand Theatre next Thursday evening, March 16th. No other American play has commanded such a cosmopolitan following as this strong, vital, vigorous play of Broadhurst's —with its big, forceful types of masculinity, its gentle and appealing examples of womanhood, its charming love story, and its abundant and buoyant fund of general good humor. No other production has been witnessed by so many men eminent in public life, none other has inspired such broadcast and enthusiastic editorial comment, to say nothing of the attention commanded from writers upon social and theatrical topics. Plays of the standard of the "Man of the Hour" encourage the belief that the American stage is pressing into new and sweeter pastures upon which the public will feed in the years to come. Nor is the uplifting influence of these drama lessons in the highest ideals of human aspiration, conditional upon environment of place or action. The play is a message to the people; its pertinent and timely truths are carried straight to the mind and conscience of the playgoer. While it is before him he is alike diverted and uplifted. When he goes away he has something to think about. "The Man of the Hour" is aglow with as buoyant humor as George Broadhurst ever wrote into his merriest farces. There is the sensible, straightforward, appealing love story, just such a one as real men and women figure in, not the mawkish sentimentality often found between book covers. It is a real, vital, wholesome, human play, and there ought to be the heartiest kind of a welcome on its appearance here. Manager Wm. A. Brady's special cast will be seen during this engagement. The principal members are Felix Haney, as Alderman Phelan, J. O. Le Brasse as Boss Horrigan, Edwin McKim, P. J. Rollow, Wm. Lloyd, Gertrude Fowler, Anna Jehr, Bertha Holly and others.

SWORD MIGHTIER THAN MISSIONER

Interesting Debate at Meeting of St. John's Y.P.A.

The St. John's Young People's Association met last night and participated in an interesting and enjoyable debate. The subject for the discussion was, "Resolved, that the sword has done more for the cause of civilisation than the missionary. The debate was most ably led by Mr. W. H. Cluxton, who pointed out that the sword was the great protector of peoples, and without it there could not be the great periods of peace which were requisite for the development of civilisation. In support of his contention he referred to the history of Greek and Roman life, and then passed on to a historical survey of modern times.

He was ably supported by Mr. Wm. Miles, who proved that the Word alone was able to put down troubles quickly and with authority.

The opposition was led by Mr. W. Miles, who proved that the sword alone paper in defence of the missionary. The early Christians when scattered over the world gave enrichment to the then existing conditions of life, and had done more by moral suasion than force could effect. In the present time the struggle for large armaments was a curse and more in keeping with the ideals of the savage. Modern arbitration was almost entirely due to the effect of Christian teaching, and was doing much for the furtherance of civilisatoin.

Mr. G. H. Hamon ably seconded the opposition, and contended that armies and navies hindered the work of the missionary as being directly opposed to the gospel of peace. Edward the Peacemaker accomplished more by his tact than did his armies, and the modern peace conferences and missionary agencies were exercising a beneficient influence upon the world.

A good discussion followed, after which Mr. Cluxton summed up the arguments, and made his final appeal, carrying with him the majority of those present.

All present voted the evening a great success, and it was decided to have another debate before long.

SPOKE ON WHAT THE WORLD NEEDS

Rev. Mr. Woodside at Knox Church—To-nights Subject

The special services in Knox church maintain their interest and helpfulness Last night the audience was somewhat thinner than usual, as is customary on Monday nights. The singing is still a most pleasing feature. The sweet, sympathetic voice of Mr. McBretney continues to delight all.

Mr. Woodside spoke on "The World's Greatest Need—a Saviour." Christ came to save entire manhood. He entered life through its only gateway, and thus associated Himself with childhood. He departs by life's great exit—death. By so doing He touches all life, from the cradle to the grave. In His temptation He met the problems of man, and showed Himself the Saviour of the market, the legislative hall and the finance world.

He furnishes us with the elements of life. As God gathered the elements of the physical and incarnated them in a grain of wheat, so did He incarnate the elements of the spiritual life in Christ. Having done this, Christ shows us the principles by which life must now be governed. Faith in God is essential. Christ never hesitated in His allegiance toward God. This faith will manifest itself in gratitude and love of most winsome character. The speaker emphasized that with this we must possess faith in ourselves, no matter how insignificant our effort seemed. Humanly speaking, Christ's birth was one of the most insignificant events, yet to-day of greatest possible magnitude.

Nobody will doubt His efficiency as Saviour to whom He is the ever living advocate at the Father's right hand. If you are His client He will be your advocate and plead your cause successfully.

To-night Mr. Woodside speaks on "The Tragedy of a Life Without God." At the close of the service he hopes to meet all who signed decision cards, for a special message.

STOCKHOLDERS MET AT ORIENTAL

Meeting Was Addressed by R. J. Francis

The students and stockholders of the International Correspondence schools, and the International Publishing Company met last evening in the parlors of the Oriental Hotel and held another discussion on the value of I. E.P. Company stock.

Quite a number of those interested in technical work were present and the discussion was one of help and value to all.

Mr. R. T. Francis, the salesman for the I.E.P. Company, gave a very interesting address on the business of the company. F. J. McDonnell, the division superintendent, was also present.

There is some talk of building a wagon road from Chilliwack to a group of mining claims on Tomahoy creek.

OBITUARY

The Late Mrs. Grieves

The death occurred last night at 10.30 o'clock of Agnes Darling, wife of Mr. Alexander Grieves, of 47 Dennistoun avenue. The late Mrs. Grieves, who was 75 years of age, passed away after a lingering illness. She was born in Smith township, and had been a member of St. Paul's Presbyterian church. Surviving, besides her husband, are six sisters and two brothers. The sisters are Mrs. Andrew Young and Mrs. Thomas Young, of Smith; Mrs. George Scott, Brandon; Mrs. Robert Barrie, Newcastle, and Mrs. D. Belleghem and Mrs. Wm. Simpson, of this city. The brothers are Messrs. James and Robt. Darling, of Smith. A niece, Miss Sadie Walton, resides at the home.

The funeral will take place to-morrow (Wednesday) afternoon, from the late residence at 3.30 o'clock, to Little Lake cemetery. Service at the house at three o'clock, Rev. R. Pogue officiating.

LAID AT REST

The remains of the late Mrs. Fredenburg, who died at Toronto yesterday, were brought to the city last night and the funeral took place at 3.30 o'clock to-day from the residence of her brother-in-law, Mr. Fredenburg, 207 Murray street.

—o—

The funeral of the late Mrs. Catharine Graham, took place this afternoon to the Little Lake cemetery, Rev. Canon Davidson conducting the services at the late home and at the grave.

The floral tributes were many and beautiful and the cortege was followed to the cemetery by a very large number of friends and acquaintances of the late Mrs. Graham. The pall bearers were ex-Mayor Rush, Robt. Fair, Alex. Elliott, E. A. Peck, P. Campbell and H. Winch.

—o—

The funeral of the late Mrs. Zimmerman took place yesterday afternoon from the residence of her mother, Mrs. B. McCannon, 480 Donegal street, to the Little Lake cemetery, and was largely attended. Mr. Zimmerman's father and mother, of Hamilton, also attended. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. H. J. Keith, of Knox church.

PHILOMANTHEAN SOCIETY MET

Irish Program by Students of the Collegiate

The Philomathean Society of the Collegiate Institute met yesterday afternoon in the Assembly Hall, and a very successful program of Irish numbers was given.

The president occupied the chair, and called the following numbers—

Chorus—Glee Club.
Speech—"Irish Characteristics," Miss O'Brien.
Recitation—Miss Nelson.
Speech—"Thomas Moore," Miss Millaine.
Piano solo—Miss Pierce.
Speech—"Home Rule," J. Milloy.
Piano solo—Miss E. Delaire.
Speech—"St. Patrick," Miss Grady.
Chorus—Glee Club.

Mr. A. N. Merritt ably acted as critic.

The meeting was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

TO ORGANIZE TUBERCULOSIS ASSOCIATION AND GET BUSY

Committee Appointed to Draft Suitable Plan of Anti-Tuberculosis Work—Another Meeting to be Held to Form Permanent Health Association

SLEEPING SICKNESS.

The Grip This Dreadful Disease Ta[kes] Upon Its Victims.

The course of the dreadful dise[ase] sleeping sickness, is an extremely s[low] one. The first stage is said to las[t a] year or more, and the cause of the [dis]ease may be in the blood long bef[ore] any symptoms whatever present the[m]selves. The patient has occasio[nal] fever; indeed, a disease hitherto cal[led] Gambia fever has recently been rec[og]nized as the first stage of sleep[ing] sickness. It is said that the swell[ing] of the lymphatic glands of the neck

Mayor Morrow presided, and in opening the meeting called on Dr. Cameron to explain to the meeting the ravages that tuberculosis was making, and give some information as to the methods being adopted for its prevention and cure.

SANITARIUM COSTLY.

Dr. Cameron dealt with the various phases of tuberculosis treatment, and the advantages and costs of sanitarium treatment was very costly, costing per patient sometimes $9 and $10 a week. The government undertook to pay $3 a week toward the keep of tuberculosis patients in recognized sanitariums, and it would pay twenty per cent of the original cost of such an institution. The cost of maintenance was so heavy, however, that he thought it was not likely Peterborough would go in for a regularly maintained institution.

Dr. Cameron thought that the work in Peterborough could be best carried on until such time as an institution could be afforded by a district nurse. There were from fifty to one hundred cases of tuberculosis in Peterborough, and intelligent instruction and proper care in each case of these, under the supervision of a trained nurse, would do much good.

Such a nurse would lessen the danger of infection, could give attention of sanitation, to fresh air treatment, to ventilation, hygiene, and do much toward the alleviation of the extreme cases.

COST OF A NURSE.

Mr. Bennett referred to the quality of legislation that came out of the council chamber, which was air tight, and reeking with close, foul air. He referred to the old branch of the National Sanitarium Association here, and in his opinion much success in cases at Gravenhurst was missed because of the worry of the patients over how things are going at home. A sanitarium at home would relieve this, and much good accomplished. In this case, however, he thought that a district nurse would perhaps be of more use. Peterborough had the isolation hospital, and this was scarcely the time to add another. At home the patient would get the benefit of scientific attention as to diet, ventilation, and all the hygiene that was used in checking tuberculosis. Mr. Bennett thought such a nurse would mean an annual cost of $1,000 or $1,200, and that such a local association should be called a health association, say the Peterborough Health Association, rather than a tuberculosis association, the name of which frightened many people.

DR. McNULTY.

Dr. Halliday expressed his concurrence in and support of the ideas advanced, and Dr. McNulty referred to the hindrance of the most effective curative work that poverty afforded. He thought there was need of more public education on the question, more information given to the public as to the need of strict care. An active campaign would make the whole population acquainted with the way to check the disease and avoid it. Dr. McNulty thought that the school children should be especially instructed, that popular lectures would aid, the distribution of leaflets would help. The municipality's duty was to care for advanced cases, and look for the incipient cases also.

D. W. Dumble, in the course of twenty minutes' observations, said he thought a corner in the newspapers should be used, as advertising, to give the people the information they should have on the subject.

DR. McPHERSON SPEAKS.

Dr. McPherson, M.H.O., thought that something should be done to keep the disease from spreading, and to help those suffering from it, teaching them not only to take care of their health, but to be careful for the sake of others. There should be a sanitarium for patients, as there was danger from infected people in every public place and gathering. Something should be done in the educational line, not stopping with the mere preventive efforts.

W. H. Moore, K.C., thought a committee would get details for a practicable scheme, and the committee was selected to prepare some workable plan for Peterborough, and to arrange for officers of the association to be formed, which will include laymen and some ladies.

WHO'S COMING AND GOING

Rev. Canon Davidson has returned to the city.

T. E. Darcy, of Lakefield, is at the Munro House.

G. E. Ainsworth, of Orillia, is registered at the Munro House.

Miss M. L. Robertson, of Toronto, is a guest of the Munro House.

Mrs. (Dr.) Dale, of Oakwood, is visiting her sister, Mrs. F. Mullett, Aylmer street.

Mrs. W. H. Denham will receive tomorrow (Wednesday) afternoon, and not again this season.

F. A. Darcy, of Lakefield, is a guest at the Munro House.

Mrs. (Rev.) J. C. Davidson returned last night from Toronto.

Mrs. John Crane, who has been confined to her room all winter through illness, was yesterday taken to Grace Hospital, Toronto, for treatment.

REMODELING OF AN OLD LANDMARK

George Street Structure Being Made Into Stores

Another very old building on George street is being overhauled and made into stores.

It is one of the white plastered houses on the Taylor property, south of Charlotte street. It has been a landmark to the oldest residents of the city, and men who came here as far back as 1850, remember it for a well-seasoned house at that time.

In 1852 a Mr. Yeats owned the property, living in one house while he rented the other, which is now occupied by a second-hand merchant. He was a carter, and upon retiring from the business sold to the late John Carnegie.

Many occupants have come and gone and if it could speak, it would probably tell some interesting stories about the development of Peterborough.

In later years Messrs. Taylor and Eastland purchased the property, Mr. Taylor taking the north part and Mr. Eastland the south.

Mr. Eastland built stables on his property and kept a livery stable for a few years, and finally Mr. Taylor came into possession. He has built some stores and generally improved the property in the last couple of years, and incidentally improved the appearance fo the street.

E. Thompson is doing repairing, and in tearing away the partitions and front finds evidences of the substantial manner in which buildings were made in the earlier days. There is an 8 x 10 beam extending from the foundation to the roof, to which the cross beams of 8 x 6 timber are morticed.

Some of these beams will have to be replaced by smaller ones to make room for the necessary partitions.

The Canadian Furnishing Company, which is now located on the south side of Charlotte street, has already secured one of these stores.

MILK TESTS WERE SATISFACTORY

Last Report Was Good Says Dr. McPherson

Asked to-day by the Review as to the last report on tests made of milk delivered about the city, Dr. McPherson stated that the report was a good one.

These tests have been made in Toronto, but in the future the M.H.O. will test the milk at the local laboratory.

CURLING

The final in the primary of the local bonspiel was won by Skip Taylor and his rink.

There are a lot of games still to be played in the Consolation, and the ice is not very promising.

RUNNING

Nathan B. Cartmell, former star sprinter of the University of Pennsylvania, and before that a student and big point winner for Manual Training High school of Louisville, his home city, is seriously contemplating a trip around the world, in which he will engage in sprinting matches with the crack runners of England, South Africa, Australia and New Zealand.

In a letter to a friend here Cartmell states that he has sent challenges to Jack Donaldson, C. E. Holway, Arthur Postle and R. E. Walker, to meet them abroad in a series of matches from 130 yards up to 500 yards.

Cartmell, who is now twenty-eight years of age, claims that he will yet beat 22 1-2 seconds for the 220-yard dash, and that he will be able to negotiate the 3 00-yard spring in 50 seconds flat. He expects to meet Walker at Johannesburg or Cape Town, and perhaps to meet all of them in England.

BASEBALL

Lindsay Post:—Now that the hockey season has been brought to such a successful close, the local sporting fraternity is talking baseball, and the prospects of a town league or a first-class nine is discussed. There is no reason whatever why Lindsay should not have a town league this year of four or half a dozen teams. There is plenty of material available and now is the time to look over it, not inMay or June Last year the town was practically baseball dead, save for a couple of splendid games, played by the Pirates, who showed that there was at least one team who could uphold the reputation of the town and do it well. All of last year's players are available, and probably if the Pirates organized within the next fortnight, it might induce other lovers of the game to do the same. It is not a bit too early boys. Let us hear from you.

"Whenever I catch a man napping off first base," says Manager Charlie Dooin of the Philadelphia club, "and then hear the spectators in the bleachers calling him such names as 'bonehead,' 'dope' and other pleasant titles,' I feel like apologizing to the victim I managed to catch off the bag.

"Do you know the type of players that get caught off the bases? They are generally the fastest and liveliest players on the team. A poor base runner will seldom be caught off the base, for the reason that he will not as a rule get off the bag far enough to afford such an opportunity to the opposing catcher.

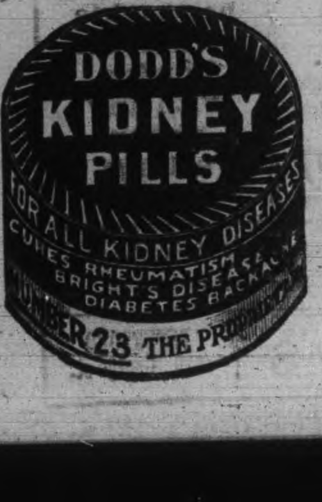
"The man who is caught is the fellow who is on his toes and taking a big lead and not the leaden footed player who is waiting for the succeeding batman to drive him around the circuit. He sticks to the bag like it were heaven and will hardly move an inch, except when somebody hits the ball. As a result it is sometimes an effort for base runners or that kind to get to second base on a single."

NO STANLEY CUP FOR GALT

Ontario Pro Champions Defeated by 7-4 Score

Ottawa, March 13.—The Ottawa hockey team easily disposed of Galt, champions of the Ontario Professional Hockey League, in the Stanley Cup match at the arena to-night. At the finish the score was 7 to 4 for Ottawa, Notching two goals while Galt had a man on the fence in the first period, Ottawa held the visitors without a tally and opened the secsession by making it 4 to 0. Then the defenders appeared to ease up, and Berlanquette bagged two for Galt, one while Darragh was off, and another while Walsh was with the timers. Ottawa led by 4 to 2 when the last period began. Walsh made it 5 to 2 on Darragh's pass, and Dougherty, in 10 seconds, slammed one in for Galt. Ridpath dodged from end to end and made it 6 to 3, and Kerr was responsible for the 10th, the 11th going to Smith of the Galts on a local shot. Towards the finish the crowd shouted for Ottawa to double the score, but Hague s good work and the indifferent shooting of the home team prevented further tallying.

It was the poorest exhibition of the season, and the crowd was by far the smallest The ice was covered with water in spots, and the conditions, in fact, were absolutely adverse to the Ottawa style of play. It is doubtful indeed if Galt will ever try for the cup under such favorable conditions, for they at times seemed in their element, whereas the fast Ottawa team was never able to loosen up.



The Fraser river valley has been pestered with hoboes this winter, more than in any previous year.

DINING ON SEA URCHIN.

Queer Way In Which the Glutton Starfish Devours Its Prey.

Fights to the death are common between sea urchins and starfish. The starfish when ready for battle raises one of his arms toward the sea urchin. The urchin shoots out all his bristling spines, or needles, and, in addition to his always visible arms, brings out an arm that is never seen unless it is needed for active use. This usually invisible weapon is a sort of nipper, edged with teeth. During one fight between a sea urchin and a starfish the starfish, with a sudden movement, broke off the pincers of the urchin.

The pincers remained imbedded in the flesh of the starfish. Finding his chief weapon gone, the urchin drove all his needles into the back of the starfish, not all together, but one after another, with all the method of calculated action. As the needles entered the back of the starfish the starfish broke them, one by one. The urchin, rendered powerless by the loss of his needles, made a few mechanical movements in self defense and then lay motionless and powerless on the water. After a few minutes' hesitation and a close scrutiny of his subject the starfish approached the urchin and prepared to devour him. But as the urchin was six times larger than his mouth he turned out his stomach in the manner noted by naturalists as a common maneuver of certain animals and, having rejected his stomach lining, inserted the urchin's carcass, spines and all. During the time consumed by him in the struggle of digestion he was closely observed. Having writhed in agony for some days, he began to show a change of appearance. The distention of his middle decreased, and his movements lost their spasmodic character. Later he was seen to move with more activity. One morning, warmed up for action by the power of the sun's heat, he moved his stomach rapidly from side to side and from top to bottom and rejected the spines, fins, bone plates, jaws—everything that had not disappeared during the process of digestion. The elimination accomplished and his appetite satisfied, the starfish replaced his stomach in its normal position and resumed the even tenor of his life.—Harper's Weekly.

The Great Art of Dying.

To die without rebellion and without weakness is the masterpiece of a man. A mountain guide whose name the London Mail does not mention in narrating the story of his heroism, with two others, was leading a party over one of the most dangerous passes of the higher Alps.

The men, as is usual, were tied together by a long rope. As they scaled a wall of ice they slipped on the edge of a frightful chasm. The guide was at the end of the rope.

Without his weight there was a chance for the others to regain their footing; with it his experienced eye told him there was none. With instant courage he drew his knife from his belt and said quietly to the man next him:

"Tell mother how it happened, Edmond."

He cut the rope and fell, never to be seen again.

Absentminded George Dyer.

At Clifford's inn lived George Dyer, who lives in history chiefly as the man who walked out of Elia's house in Colebrooke row and into the New river, neck deep, and had to be revived by Lamb and his sister with hot brandy. Lamb was never tired of relating the incident. Dyer, an inoffensive, absentminded old scholar, had Leigh Hunt's friendship as well as Lamb's, and the other essayist has told how, calling on Dyer in answer to an invitation to breakfast, it was to find no butter, no knives and no spout on the teapot. Dyer was so wedded to life in the inn that he wedded his laundress too.—London Spectator.

The Largest Islands.

Australia has long been classed as the least of the continents and not as an inland. The largest islands are graded downward in the order of their size, as follows: Greenland, 850,000 square miles; New Guinea, 312,000; Borneo, 280,000; Madagascar, 230,000. In the absence of exact surveys these areas are rough estimates and must be considered only as approximations, but it is not likely that careful measurements will introduce corrections so large as to change the order of the four. Australia is but slightly smaller than the continental United States excluding Alaska.—Exchange.

Invisible Indians.

All Indians seem to have learned a wonderful way of walking unseen, making themselves invisible like certain spiders, which, in case of alarm, caused, for example, by a bird alighting on the bush their webs are spread upon, immediately bounce themselves up and down on their elastic threads so rapidly that only a blur is visible. The wild Indian power of escaping observation, even where there is little or no cover to hide in, was probably slowly acquired in hard hunting and fighting lessons while trying to approach game, take enemies by surprise or get safely away when compelled to retrea[practically abolished its use by] ted t[h]tion, which deprives it of any at le[g]cal legal significance. President Diaz is suffering from a tubercular affection of the arteries that may terminate fatally at any moment.

Miss Cummings, a Hamilton girl, used a hat pin on a highwayman with such good effect that he took to his heels.

A proposal to create a new department to deal with dominions' affairs will be discussed at the Imperial Conference.

W. E. Webber, a Hamilton traveler, met with an accident in Cleveland, and made the railway journey home, but cannot remember anything of it.

At a meeting of the temperance people of London, resolution was passed asking the Government to pass a measure allowing the municipalities to take a plebiscite limiting the hours of bars.

Democratic success in Maine was continued at the city elections held yesterday, candidates of that party winning the majority contests in four of the five cities which voted. The only upset was at Bangor.

The London Chronicle's Melbourne correspondent cables that Admiral Henderson's scheme for the Australian navy provides a fleet of 52 vessels, costing $117,500,000, spread over 22 years. The scheme pledges the Commonwealth to an annual naval expenditure of nearly five millions after 1933.

Election Riot at Fredericton, N.B.

Fredericton, N.B., March 14.—As a climax to a lively civic election a free fight ensued during the speeches of the candidates after the polls closed. The police took a hand and made two arrest. The crowd turned on them and took their prisoners away, handling the bluecoats roughly. There is great excitement in the city and the opponents to the enforcement of the Canada temperance act elected their whole ticket yesterday.

Two In the Running.

Chippawa, March 14.—Geo. Brown and Edward Whiteman were yesterday afternoon nominated for councillor to succeed William Hogg, who resigned rather than have proceedings to disqualify him instituted. The election takes place on March 20.

Want Hydro Power.

Clarkson, March 14.—Farmers of this vicinity are likely to very shortly avail themselves of the opportunity afforded to those rural residents who want electricity installed in their houses. Quite a number of fruit-growers hereabout are anxious toto get the benefit of hydro juice for lighting and power purposes, and it is probable that an application will be made from the neighborhood to have a line run in here from the nearest transformer station, which is at Port Credit.

Two Struck by Car.

Toronto, March 14.—Stepping out from behind a north-bound Avenue road car, from which they had just alighted at Cottingham street and Avenue road, Mrs. Boyd, 167 Cottingham street, and Mrs. Adair, her daughter, who lives with her at that address, were struck by southbound Avenue road car 546, in charge of Motorman J. M. Brown.

Both women were thrown to the ground, the elder sustaining a severe scalp wound. They were carried into a nearby house and Dr. Hastings, medical health officer, and Dr. Leopard attended them.

U. S. Foreign Trade.

Washington, March 14.—Breaking all records for February, last month's exports were valued at $175,996,467, while the imports, larger than in any other February except in 1910 and 1907, were valued at $121,766,284. These figures, announced yesterday in a report of the bureau of statistics on the country's foreign commerce, embrace $62,453,938 of imports entered free of duty.

Meningitis on Steamers.

New York, March 14.—For the second time within 36 hours a transatlantic steamer was held up at quarantine last night because of several cases of spinal meningitis, some of which had proved fatal. The ship detained last night is the Austrian steamer Martha Washington, which arrived from Trieste, Patras, Palermo and Algiers late yesterday, with one of her steerage passengers dead and four others seriously ill of meningitis. Four others are dangerously ill with pneumonia.

The Greek steamer Patris, which was held up on Sunday because of the death of six and the illness of five others from meningitis, was released late yesterday, after the bodies had been removed and the sick transferred to the Quarantine Hospital.

Child Burned.

Hamilton, March 14.—As the result of the upsetting of a lamp, Gordon Milne, 2 1-2 years of age, was probably fatally burned. Mrs. Georgina Hay was less seriously burned, and her home partially destroyed by fire last night. It occurred at 611 West King street, and at a late hour last night little hope was held out for the recovery of the child. She left it alone in the living room while she went into the basement. The youngster pulled the lamp off the table and was badly burned before Mrs. Hay carried it to the street. The fire department extinguished the blaze.

Side of Face Missing.

Stratford, March 14.—Dennis O'Brien, the thirteen-year-old son of W. O'Brien, Stratford, is in the hospital with his left ear and the whole left side of his face missing. He went out Saturday to shoot muskrats and while getting through a fence the gun exploded, the stock being blown to pieces, and young O'Brien's face torn off on the left side in a horrible manner. He staggered about a mile to a farm house, where help was summoned, and he was removed to the hospital. If he recovers he will be disfigured for life.

A Distinguished Politician Dead.

Berne, Switzerland, March 14.—E. Brenner, Swiss Minister of Justice and Police, died yesterday at Birne. The late Minister was one of Switzerland's foremost politicians. He was born in Basle in 1856, studied law, but entered politics soon after, becoming national councillor, and, eventually, one of the seven distinguished members of the Bundesrath. Mr. Brenner was a great parliamentarian, a debater of convincing force.

New Building for Queen's.

Kingston, March 14.—Work on the Nicol metallurgy building will be commenced at once. Contracts have been let to the extent of $ [illegible],000. When the building is completed and equipped it will have cost $55,000. Queen's graduates subscribed $10,000 to add to Prof. Nicol's gift of $40,000.

The First Deserter.

Montreal, March 14.—Chief Campeau was advised by wire that Ernest Joseph Grise, a volunteer on board the Niobe, of the Canadian navy, deserted the ship March 3.

Sunday night detectives arrested Grise in a hotel, pending orders from the naval authorities.

NOT A GAME OF CHANCE.

The Jury Decided That Seven-up Was Purely Scientific.

One of Mark Twain's old time stories concerned the game of seven-up, or old sledge. Some Kentucky boys were arrested for playing this game under the usual charge of playing a game of chance. When they were brought before the judge their lawyer claimed that this game was not a game of chance, but was a game of science. The court, puzzled, asked for a suggestion, and the lawyer declared that if a jury of six gamblers well acquainted with the game in a scientific way and six deacons be impaneled with a pack of cards their decision ought to be determinative. So the story goes:

"There was no disputing the fairness of the proposition. Four deacons and the two dominies were sworn in as the 'chance' jurymen, and six inveterate old seven-up professors were chosen to represent the 'science' side of the issue. They retired to the jury room.

"In about two hours Deacon Peters sent into court to borrow $3 from a friend. In about two hours more Dominie Miggles sent into court to borrow a 'stake' from a friend. During the next three or four hours the dominie and the other deacons sent into court for small loans.

"The rest of the story can be told briefly. About daylight the jury came in, and Deacon Job, the foreman, read the following verdict:

"'We, the jury in the case of the commonwealth of Kentucky versus John Wheeler et al., have carefully considered the points of the case and tested the merits of the several theories advanced and do hereby unanimously decide that the game commonly known as old sledge, or seven-up, is eminently a game of science and not of chance. In demonstration whereof it is hereby and herein stated, iterated, reiterated, set forth and made manifest that during the entire night the "chance" men never won a game or turned a jack, although both feats were common and frequent to the opposition, and furthermore in support of this our verdict we call attention to the significant fact that the "chance" men are all broke and the "science" men have got the money. It is the deliberate opinion of this jury that the "chance" theory concerning seven-up is a pernicious doctrine and calculated to inflict untold suffering and pecuniary loss upon any community that takes stock in it.'"

SLEEPING SICKNESS.

The Grip This Dreadful Disease Takes Upon Its Victims.

The course of the dreadful disease, sleeping sickness, is an extremely slow one. The first stage is said to last a year or more, and the cause of the disease may be in the blood long before any symptoms whatever present themselves. The patient has occasional fever; indeed, a disease hitherto called Gambia fever has recently been recognized as the first stage of sleeping sickness. It is said that the swelling of the lymphatic glands of the neck is a characteristic early symptom. This was known in 1803 to Dr. Winterbottom, who states that slave traders, recognizing the symptom of a fatal disease, would not buy slaves who had this glandular enlargement. The patient feels well and strong and is able to go about his usual occupations.

The second stage is indicated by a distinct change in the appearance of the patient. His expression grows heavy and dull; he becomes apathetic, lies around a great deal and cannot exert himself. With the progress of the disease these symptoms become more marked; walking and speech become difficult and finally impossible. During the last week the sufferer lies in a state of complete coma, from which the illness derives its name. Often during the second stage of the disease the brain becomes affected, and some of the patients try to run away into the forests or swamps, where they die of exposure or starvation. To prevent this the relatives of a sufferer frequently chain him down until the time comes when he can no longer move.—McClure's Magazine.

Some Famous Men of Old.

The "nine worthies" were Joshua, David, Judas Maccabeus, Hector of Troy, Alexander the Great, Julius Caesar, King Arthur of Britain, Charlemagne of France and Godfrey of Bouillon. The list varies somewhat, but this is the most popular one. The "seven wise men of Greece" were Solon, Thales, Pittacus, Bias, Cleobolus, Myson and Cheilon of Sparta. The supposition is, of course, that these were not the only wise men in Greece, but the wisest.—New York American.

Waiting For Him.

"Yes, mum," said Poetic Pete as he twined an autmun leaf through his buttonhole. "I am a great lover of the romantic. I stopped at dis gate because I saw de sign 'Idlewood.'"

"You did?" approved the housewife. "Well, there is a lot of idle wood down at the wood pile. Just take this ax and split up half a cord."—Chicago News.

A Greater Attraction.

Herr Harden told of a meeting at Gastein between William I. and Francis Joseph. The Austrian sovereign commented impatiently on the too pressing attentions of the crowd. "It won't last long," returned his ally soothingly. "Bismarck will be here directly, and then no one will look at us."—London Spectator.

MAIMED CERVANTES.

Bravery In Battle of the Famous Author of "Don Quijote."

An incident of the battle of Lepanto, which broke the power of the Turks in Europe, has an interest for students of literature. "In the Marquesa galley"—we quote from Commander Currey's "Sea Wolves In the Mediterranean"—"was lying in his bed, sick of a fever, a young man twenty-four years of age, a Spaniard of Alcala de Henares, the son of honorable parents, we are told, although these parents were poor. When this young man heard that a battle was imminent he rose from his bed and demanded of his captain, Francisco San Pedro, that he should be placed in the post of greatest danger. The captain and others, his friends, counseled him to remain in his bed. 'Senores,' replied the young man, 'what would be said of Miguel de Cervantes should he take this advice? On every occasion up to this day on which his enemies have offered battle to his majesty I have served like a good soldier, and today I intend to do so in spite of this sickness and fever.' He was given command of twelve soldiers in a shallop and all day was to be seen where the combat raged most fiercely. He received two wounds in the chest and another which cost him the loss of his left hand. To those to whom he proudly displayed them in after years he was accustomed to say, 'Wounds in the face or the chest are like stars which guide one through honor to the skies.' Of him the chronicler says, 'He continued the rest of his life with honorable memory of this wonderful occurrence, and, although he lost the use of his left hand, it added to the glory of his right.' How glorious was that right hand is known to all readers of 'El Ingenioso Hidalgo Don Quijote de la Mancha.'"

RELIC OF ANTIQUITY.

The Seal That Is So Often Used on Legal Documents.

A most absurd thing connected with legal business is the little piece of red green or blue paper or daub of sealing wax which we often place at the end of a signature to a deed, will or other important document.

It is a very small thing in size, but one to which a great deal of importance is frequently given. It is a relic of antiquity, and no plausible excuse can be invented for continuing its use.

Some of the more progressive states have practically abolished its use by legislation, which deprives it of any technical legal significance. In others, however, it is still used with all seriousness and solemnity, and an almost magical value is given to it by dignified judges that is little less than ridiculous.

A man died years ago leaving part of his estate to another to enjoy while he lived, with the privilege of devising it at his death to others whom he might select by a writing under his "hand and seal." A writing was executed so devising the property, but it was contested by others claiming the property upon the technical ground that the paper contained no seal after the signature and the devise was therefore void.

A wise Philadelphia judge closely scrutinized the signature and after carefully listening to the arguments of lawyers decided that at the end of the signature there was an extra scroll or flourish made with the pen with which the signature was made and that this was sufficient in law to constitute a seal.—Case and Comment.

Be Yourself.

Insist on yourself; never imitate. Your own gift you can present every moment with the cumulative force of a whole life's cultivation, but of the adopted talent of another you have only an extremporaneous, half possession. That which each can do best none but his Maker can teach him. Where is the master who could have taught Shakespeare? Where is the master who could have instructed Franklin or Washington or Bacon or Newton? Every great man is unique. Do that which is assigned to you and you cannot hope too much or dare too much.—Emerson.

Help For the Electrician.

If you are ever puzzled in working with electric wires as to which is positive and which is negative or whether the current is alternating there is no simpler method than the use of a potato. Cut the vegetable in half and insert the ends of the wire into the fresh body. About the positive wire a green stain will at once appear, due to dissolved copper. If the current is alternating the ends of both wires will be surrounded by dark colored stains.—Chicago Tribune.

Whittier's Safeguard.

When an overtimid visitor from the city once commented to the poet Whittier upon the insecurity that seemed inseparable from so many doors opening out from all sides of the large old country home the master of the house strove gently to restore confidence by pleading that most of them were locked at night.

Financial Worries.

"So your debts are bothering you?"

"Yes."

"Walking the floor because you can't pay 'em?"

"No; because I can't make 'em any larger."—Exchange.

BOARD OF HEALTH DEALT WITH IMPORTANT MATTER

Clauses to be Drafted for Garbage By-law and Sent to Council

Medical Health Officer Will Test All the Milk

The Board of Health met this morning, and went pretty deeply into the discussion of the milk and garbage question, and also decided definitely what proceedings and conditions were necessary for the admittance of cases to the new Isolation Hospital.

There were present Mayor Morrow, Dr. McNulty (chairman), Robt. Neill, Dr. McPherson, and Dr. Young. Chief Thompson was also present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and received. A few minor accounts were presented and ordered to be paid.

Dr. McPherson read the following report on the garbage question, which was received and adopted:—

GARBAGE REPORT.

To the chairman and members of the Board of Health;

Gentlemen,—At the last meeting of the Board of Health you requested me to report on the garbage and milk questions with a view of making a recommendation to the Council.

With regard to the former, I may say that I wrote to several cities and received a copy of a by-law from Guelph, St. Catharines and Brantford. These are presented with my report.

The main points are these;—A portion of the city should be marked off in which the garbage should be collected.

An estimate of the number of premises should be made and these classified into private houses, stores, fruit stores, hotels, etc. The amount of money required to finance the undertaking should then be estimated and the levy made in proportion to the benefit desired ie., the amount, will vary according to the classes formed. This amount will be collected with the taxes in the usual way. Further details can be worked out by the committee appointed for the purpose.

The supply of pure milk of a proper quality is of much importance to the health of the citizens than the removal of garbage. To obtain this it requires the rousing of the people to see the danger of a contaminated milk to recognize the case with which infectious diseases may be spread and to realize the danger that results from milk coming from unhealthy cans or from milk that has not been properly cared for from the time it is taken from the cans until it is delivered to the consumer. The customers, the retailers and the supply men must be educated. I would suggest that a by-law be recommended along the lines adopted in other cities like Ottawa, Brantford, Guelph and many others. All the dairymen and vendors should be compelled to take out a license. Before the license is granted conditions should be subscribed to by them. These conditions should refer to the cleanliness of the cans, premises, and the inspecting at the premises by the local health authorities.

I have brought with me a report of the milk commission and shall read to you the recommendation of this body,

Respectfully yours,
A. W. McPHERSON,
M. H. O.

Dr. McPherson has been in communication with several other cities in regard to the disposal of their garbage, and received from them copies of by-laws which are in force in different cities. A number of these by-laws were read and favorably received by the Board.

In regard to them Mayor Morrow suggested that the medical health officer and the chairman of the board be a committee to go over these by-laws, and draft out a number of those which might be used to advantage locally, and, after consulting with the city solicitor, submit the list to the council and allow them to settle the matter.

The milk question was generally discussed, and it was decided that regular tests of milk be made by the medical health officer in the city laboratory.

For some time the milk has been sent to Toronto. Dr. McPherson told of some experiments, which have been held in different centres where points were given to the milk dealer, who paid the most attention to sanitation in his stables, so many points for each division of the dairy duties.

Chief Thompson referred to the condition of milk after it has been carried around in often unclean vehicles, and was strongly of the opinion that milk should be delivered in bottles, as is done in many cities.

As the duties of looking after city sanitation were left in the hands of the police department this year, however, he (the Chief) would endeavor to see that the work was well performed.

In case of infectious diseases, any medical doctor may on his own diagnosis send a case to the Isolation hospital.

R. Neill thought that if the patients can not pay, then the town should lend assistance.

No doctor or official can use compulsion in sending patients to the hospital, unless they are of such a condition and in a place as to be a menace to the community. Dr. McNulty said that if the case was a danger to the other members of the family they should be removed to the hospital, whether they can pay or not. He thought that someone should be appointed to investigate and find out whether the patient is able to pay for his expenses while in the hospital.

It was decided that the responsibility be left with the medical health officer as to whether it would be better for a patient to be sent to the Isolation Hospital or not.

THE SIGN BY-LAW AT WINNIPEG

The Position Taken by the City Council

The following will be interesting to the merchants of the city and the Board of Works, who are inclined to disagree when illuminated signs are under discussion.

The Winnipeg Free Press says;—

The draft of a new by-law for the city of Winnipeg to govern all street signs and making special provision for overhanging signs was discussed at length yesterday by the special committee of the works and property board, and a committee of business men who have met the committee before on several occasions. Several changes were agreed to, and the amended by-law will now go before the council. The new by-law provides that suitable guarantee bonds must in every case be given by the owner of the sign or the owner of the building to whic is attached, absolving the city from all responsibility in case of accident. All signs are to be inspected regularly by the city electrician, who will have the power, on giving five days' written notice, to take down any sign not complying with the by-law. The sign owner must bear the expense of taking down the offending sign.

The annual fees for inspection are set as follows;—Signs, projecting over two feet from lot line, 50 cents; over five feet, $1; over six feet, $1.50; over eight feet, $2; over ten feet, $2.50. For vertical signs the fee is set at 5 cents per square foot. The size of signs overhanging the sidewalk is regulated;—If 18 ft. wide the sign may be 10 ft. in length from lot line; over 14 ft. sidewalks, 8pft; over 12 ft. sidewalks, 7 feet; over 10 foot sidewalks, 5 feet; and over 8 foot sidewalks, 3 feet

In the event of a tenant moving and leaving his sign behind, the owner of the building must remove it within 30 days.

On petition to the city council signed by three-fourths of the property owners in any one city block, all signs in that block may be ordered down by the city.

PRESENTATIONS TO YOUNG LADIES

Pleasing Event at Home of Mr. Jonathan Branch

A very pleasant time was spent on March 9th, when the members and congregation of the Baptist church met at the home of Mr. Jonathan Branch.

One of the most pleasing features of the evening was a presentation, after the reading of the following address;

To the Misses Branch;—

Dear Young Friends,—We, the members and congregation of Selwyn Baptist church have met here to-night to ask your acceptance of these two chairs as a slight token of our appreciation of your efforts in training the children so thoroughly on various occasions and thereby contributing largely to the success of each entertainment and also the children's Sunday. Wishing you both much joy and happiness in the Master's service.

We remain,
Yours in Christ.
The Pastor and Congregation of the Baptist church, Selwyn.

Rev. Mr. Bonner presented the chair, both ladies making a very suitable reply.

The remainder of the evening was spent with song, instrumental and social amusements. Supper was then served after which the crowd parted with singing "Auld Lang Syne."

NAVY DEPARTMENT

London, March 13.—The Admiralty has lent J. W. Oliver, militia stores keeper at Devonport, to the Canadian government for six months. He will organize a supply department for the Dominion navy.

TOWER HILL.

A Noted London Spot, the Scene of Many Famous Occurrences.

Tower Hill is perhaps both the most important eminence and the most notable spot in all London. Few of us think what great persons have quietly lived there and what others, equally great, have wept and died upon it.

To it, or rather to Great Tower street, came Rochester to pursue his trade as an Italian fortune teller, while the bedizened Buckingham often walked thither to consult a conjurer, a shrewd, farseeing rogue, who, when Felton bought at the cutler's shop on the summit of the hill for a shilling the knife with which he killed the duke's father, may have known for what purpose it was required.

William Penn was born on this hill in a house close to London wall. Forty-four years later—that is, in A. D. 1685—a poet lay dead, choked by a crust which starvation had urged him to devour too greedily, in an upper room of the Bull tavern. This was the ill fated Otway. At the time when the son of the muses lay dead Betterton, the celebrated founder of the stage after the restoration, was wringing tears from the eyes of the public, not for the famished dead, but at his own fictitious sorrows in "Venice Preserved."

It was in Great Tower street that Peter the Great used to pass his evenings drinking hot pepper and brandy with his boon companion, Lord Carmarthen.—London Standard.

ATHLETIC DEVOTIONS.

Gymnastic Exercises That Impressed the Kurdish Villagers.

Everything is liable to be misunderstood, even gymnastic exercises. This truth was brought home to George H. Hepworth, and he tells his experience in "Through Armenia on Horseback." The author was stopping in a Kurdish village, and the inn possessed but one general living room.

In the morning I began my regular gymnastics, stooping until my fingers touched the floor, throwing my arms about like the spokes of a wheel, striking out from the shoulder and going through all the exercises, none of which I ever omitted. I would gladly have taken a sponge bath, but it would have been impossible to get enough water. A pint is enough to suffice a Turk.

Well, I got under way with my exercises when I saw that my audience was excited; conversation dropped into a whisper, then ceased; word passed from one to another, and one by one the occupants of the room quietly left. I feared that they were offended and wanted to call them back and apologize. Just then my dragoman entered, laughing.

"What has happened?" I asked.

He laughed the harder as he replied:

"The Kurds think you are practicing devotional religious exercises, and they retired under the impression that you would regard their presence as an intrusion."

Not a Bit Accommodating.

"Meanest folks I ever saw in the city," growled the man from the way back district. "Why, when you find a feller goin' right your way with one o' them big cars he won't give you a lift without chargin' you a nickel for it."

That Was All.

"Maria," demanded Mr. Billus in a loud voice, "what have you been doing to my razor?"

"Nothing," said Mrs. Billus, "except sharpening it again after shaving Fido's tail with it. It's all right, isn't it?"

More Than Devotion.

"Why are you pawning your dress suit?"

"My wife wants to take a little trip."

"There's a devotion for you!"

"Well, the more money I can give her the longer she can stay."

Valuable Advice.

"You are always asking me for advice, but you never seem to take any that I give."

"I know it. You see, I am frequently in doubt before I consult you as to what is the best thing not to do."

Hotel Burned.

Sussex, N.B., March 14.—Fire early yesterday destroyed the Depot House, a hotel conducted here by A. D. Pugsley, cousin of Hon. Wm. Pugsley.

Some 25 people staying in the hotel were trapped, but all got out safely, some down ladders, some by jumping into blankets.

B. J. Sharpe's drug store and the C.P.R. ticket agency were also burned out. The total loss is placed at about $50,000, with insurance of about $24,000.

To Expel Mormon Missionaries.

London, March 14.—A bill to drive Mormon missionaries out of England is being prepared by the Government, and will be passed without any opposition. Investigation by Home Secretary Winston Churchill has shown that 500 young girls have recently left England for the Mormon colony in Utah without the consent of their parents.

Blaze at Wingham.

Wingham, March 14.—The Chisholm Block, consisting of half a dozen stores and the I.O.O.F. Hall, was destroyed by fire at 3 o'clock yesterday morning, nothing but bare walls remaining. The building was one of the best here and the property of Mr. Chisholm, M.P., who is in the west at present.

HYDRO ELECTRIC COMMISSION TO HAVE PROVINCIAL POWER

A Proposed Act Is to Be Announced in the Legislature Giving Hydro-Electric Commission Power Over All Electric Companies In the Province—Reciprocity Is Debated at Afternoon and Evening Sessions.

Toronto, March 15.—W. K. McNaught's bill placing electric power companies competing with municipal enterprises under the control of the Hydro Commission, power which was shelved a few days ago, will be formally withdrawn.

It will be replaced by a new bill, of which Mr. McNaught gave notice yesterday, and will probably be fully explained to the Ontario Legislature this afternoon.

This bill is more comprehensive than the former bill. It will have the status of a Government bill and will be carried through the House with the full strength of Sir James Whitney's influence and that of his colleagues in the Cabinet behind it.

The new bill is made provincial in scope.

While the original bill applied only to companies entering into competition with municipal power systems, the new measure gives the Hydro-Electric Power Commission power over all electrical power companies.

In case of disputes over questions of damages, the jurisdiction is placed under the Municipal Arbitration Act.

The new bill gives the commission absolute control over all power and electric companies in the province. The commission will have supervision over the plant, equipment, operation, erection of poles, stringing of wires and laying of conduits.

Disputes arising between municipal and private electric light companies, other than claims for damages, will in future be stttled by the commission, and all business carried on by any electric company will be done under the direction and supervision of the commission.

The reciprocity debate was resumed by W. Proudfoot (Lib.) Centre Huron, who declared the Liberal party to be equally as loyal and patriotic Canadians as the Conservatives. He believed the opposition of the farmers of the United States to the agreement indicated that it would open a profitable market to the Canadian farmers. His experience in talking with Americans during numerous visits to the United States was that they believed Canada would be benefitted by becoming a part of the United States, but no desire to annex Canada was ever expressed. It had been stated that if the Canadian farmers made more money through reciprocity they would become disloyal.

J. W. Johnson, Conservative, West Hastings, compared the reciprocity offers of the United States to the alluring and enchanting music of the lotus eaters in Greecian mythology, which, if one allowed himself to be attracted by, he could never break away from. Again, it was like the legend of the spider and the fly, and Mr. Johnson quoted the Mosaic law, "Thou shalt not covet," etc.

A. H. Musgrove (Con.) North Huron, said the anti-reciprocity resolution was introduced solely as an expression of the opinion of the majority of the people of the province.

T. R. Mayberry (Lib.), South Oxford, said he had too much faith in the loyalty of the people of Canada to the British Empire to believe that the reciprocity agreement would, in degree, promote a sentiment in favor of annexation. The annexation cry was simply raised to frighten the people.

T. S. J. Smellie (Con.) Fort William, said that the towns of Fort Willian and Port Arthur were dependent upon the transportation business. Their prosperity was threatened by the diversion of traffic through the reciprocity pact.

Dr. McKay (Lib.) North Oxford, moved the adojurnment of the debate.

LIGHTNING'S QUEER FREAK

Harrisonburg, Va., March 15.—A lightning bolt that in its freak course split an iron bed and left unharmed a couple sleeping there, while it destroyed chairs and pictures and other furniture in the room, caused the destruction by fire of the two-storey frame house of David Fulk near Singer's Glen yesterday. The flash shattered the roof, set fire to a vacant bed, darted into the lower room occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Fulk, divided their bedstead, wrought havoc in the room all about them, shot out into the kitchen, demolished a sideboard and chairs, shattered every window and left a trail of flame through the structure.

MEMBER OF SOUTH YORK IS RAPPED BY MAJOR BEATTIE

When Member For South York Brings Up Matter of Capitalization of the C.P.R. Again London Man Handles Him Without Gloves — Lanctot Charges Are Heard But Sitting Ends In a Deadlock.

Ottawa, March 15.—The hearing of the charge laid against Adelard Lanctot, M.P., by P. E. Blondin, M.P., was continued before the Commons' privileges and elections committee yesterday morning and afternoon. The effect of the charge is that Mr. Lanctot got paint and other material from the Marine Department stores at Sorel, and that with these his house was painted inside and out by Governmen workmen during Government time.

The proceedings yesterday were not of a very exciting character. The only situation which developed any great interest was the fact that Mr. Lanctot himself was the first witness called by counsel for Mr. Blondin. There were repeated objections by Mr. Laflamme, Mr. Lanctot's counsel, and particularly by Mr. Victor Geoffrion, to questions asked the defendant by Mr. McDougall, Mr. Blondin's counsel. A deadlock was reached when Mr. McDougall asked the witness if he had got work done by Government employes in the fall of 1908 and had not paid for the work. Several objected, notably Mr. Geoffrion, who stated that this did not come within the charge. Mr. McDougall retorted by reading one of the affidavits, which swore than Mr. Lanctot had got work done that year and that he had not paid for it.

Mr. Geoffrion declared that Mr. Lanctot should not have been put in the witness box at all, but the accuser. He moved that Mr. Lanctot's testimony should be suspended until the other witnesses had been heard.

Mr. Barker said he had never heard of such a thing as an accuser being stopped in his examination and ordered to take some other method of proving his case. He protested against a mere majority of the committee obstructing the proceedings; it was a monstrous proposition.

Mr. Monk quoted precedents to show that this was the regular procedure and said that it was in the interest of Mr. Lanctot that he should be heard first.

The chairman put the motion and it was carried.

Mr. Barker immediately moved that the matter be referred to the House for decision. Mr. Lanctot retired, and George Cartier, a contracting painter at Sorel, was called. He said he had asked Mr. Lanctot for the job in November, 1909. Mr. Lanctot refused, adding that he "would give it to anybody else without seeing him." He was in a position to do the work, and valued it at $950. He admitted complaining that the Government was taking away the work from painters in Sorel.

The effort of W. F. Maclean (South York) to have the control of the capitalization of railways placed in the hands of the Railway Commission; came to an ignominious failure in the House last night shortly after dinner hour. Only two members stood up with him to have the yeas and nays taken on his amendment. They were Dr. Sproule (East Grey) and Joseph Russell (East Toronto). But more than that, Major Beattie, the Conservative member for London, denounced Mr. Maclean as an enemy of the C.P.R. and said that if the C.P.R. had bought him with a small amount, he would never have made the motion, that he was the enemy of everything good, that the member for South York had opposed him (Major Beattie) in London in one of his elections and had said that he was an enemy of public ownership.

Major Beattie said a lot of other things. He was repeatedly called to order by the Speaker. But the gallant major continued to hurl his opinions of the member for South York, and when the member for London resumed his seat, he called down, "I've got even with you at last, Billy Maclean."

Hon. George P. Graham said that the interesting remarks made by Mr. Maclean applied with equal force to all corporations. He observed that railway rates and the tariff frequently bore a relation to one another. In Germany, for instance, the railway was used as an adjunct to the tariff, and German manufacturers were given low rates to assist them in competing with foreign manufacturers. Somewhat similar conditions probably prevailed in Canada to a certain extent, and the fear had been expressed that an international railway board might interfere with certain privileges which exist on either side of the line.

Mr. Graham pointed out that while the C.P.R. occupied an enviable position, new companies who had to finance railways should be remembered. It was desirable that nothing should be done to shake the confidence of the people who held the purse-strings of the world. In conclusion, he said that Mr. Maclean's proposal merited consideration, he was at liberty to say that he had discussed the matter with the chairman of the Railway Board and with railway men, but had not been able to reach the conclusion that the time had arrived when it would be desirable to make a change.

MANIFESTO ISSUED BY THE MEXICAN INSURGENT LEADER

Calls on His Countrymen to Stand Together for True Democracy

New York, March 15.—Before Senor de la Barra left for Washington yesterday, he gave out here the proofs of an article which will appear in The Independent, on "the situation in Mexico," urging all his countrymen, regardless of "all divisions of party, all differences between men," to recall the "sacred interests of our country," and "to work together for the progress of true democracy and of the best development of the motherland."

Insurrecto leaders to whom the paragraph was shown last night, said they considered it an invitation to come into camp, and its issuance makes more noticeable a trend of events that has been discoverable for the past three days.

After the first shock of surprise in the United States and of alarm and distrust in Mexico, caused by the despatch of 20,000 American troops to the frontier, there began on the one side a series of formal diplomatic exchanges between the two powers and on the other a series of carefully weighed interviews and authorized publications in the daily press. Underneath this current ran a deeper tide of sympathy between countrymen who might be at odds, but were still countrymen. "Intervention means war," said Senor Limautour in so many words. "Intervention?" echoed Dr. F. Vasquez Gomez, the insurrecto agent at Washington, who has been here for the last three days: "The moment there is intervention, there will cease to be an insurrection. Both sides will make common cause against a common enemy."

In his morning statement, Senor Limautour warned Americans that if they took part in the insurrection and fell captives, they might expect the same justice meted out to other prisoners. In view of the suspension of constitutional guarantees recently announced, this means death, and the answer made is deliberate, for it is known to have followed diplomatic representations made to Mexico City that captured Americans be treated leniently.

Ask Release of Americans.

Washingtonu, March 15.—An investigation having convinced the American Government that Edwin Blatt of Pittsburg, Pa., and Lawrence Converse of Los Angeles, Cal., held as prisoners at Jaurez, Mex., had been captured on American soil, the State Department yesterday asked the Mexican Government to release them. The request was delivered to the Mexican embassy at Washington.

GOOD ADVERTISING

M. L. Wilkinson, president of the $60,000,000 syndicate that owns the Right House in Hamilton, says his store will spend $25,000 in advertising in the three Hamilton newspapers this year. Its business is rapidly increasing, by the power of judicious advertising.

The Eaton Company, of Toronto, spends $200,000 a year on advertising, carrying a full page every day in all six Toronto newspapers.

John Wanamaker, prince of departmental store proprietors, says:—"To discontinue your advertising is to shut off the power. The car will run for some distance by its own momentum, but the stop is certain."

When all is said and done, it is the masses that keep the big stores going.

EXPRESS ORDER RAISED BY $9

Suspected Man is Behind Prison Bars for Similar Offence

Special to The Review.

Berlin, Ont., March 15.—A Canadian Express order, raised from $11 to $20, and cashed at the office of the company in Waterloo by a man by the name of Bradshaw, and cashed by him at Brantford, has finally turned up here. It is believed that the guilty man is the one sentenced at Ingersoll to five years in the penitentiary for a similar offence.

JURORS BRIBED TO LEAVE CITY

Latest Development in Trial of Camorrists—Strangers Driven Away

Special to The Review.

Viterbo, Italy, March 15.—The soldiers are busy to-day driving all strangers away from the city who are suspected of being friends of the Camorrists, now on trial. It has been found that men called for the jury on the case, were bribed to take their departure before the trial was called.

SAYS HE MISREPRESENTED.

One of Munroe's Lecturers Says His Statements Were False.

New York, March 15.—Horace Greeley Robinson proved on cross-examination to be anything but a favorable witness for the defence of George H Munroe, the former Montreal haberdasher, who is on trial for using the United States mails to defraud.

When the sale of Marconi stocks by Robinson was brought up, Assistant District Attorney Dorr connected the name of Frank L. Crocker, one of Munroe's counsel, with a plan to sell this stock without delivery. The plan, according to Robinson, was thought out by Crocker, to deliver, from the small amount of stock in the English company, which had cost Munroe about $2.50, the first sales to customers and then get money from them for larger amounts of stock at $10 or $15 a share. The plan did not succeed, however, according to Robinson.

Robinson also testified that he had gone to Australia to sell shares for Munroe. He did sell many shares of Marconi stock, but so far as he knew none had been delivered. When he was threatened by some of those who had bought stock from him, he told Munroe he would no longer cheat people, but Munroe cried and said that if more stock was not sold they would both have to go to jail.

Robinson said he delivered lectures all over the United States, Canada and Australia and that the lectures were a tissue of misrepresentations inspired by Munroe.

Electricians Strike at Soo.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., March 15.—Yesterday morning 26 electricians employed by the Lake Superior Corporation rail mill went on strike, alleging that the management had dispensed with the services of electrician J. Wilson on Monday without cause. It is not yet known to what extent the strike will effect the working of the rail mill.

Anarchists Attack Priests.

New York, March 15.—A band of anarchists interrupted the priests who were blessing the site of a new church on East Twelfth street with shouts of "Down with the church" and "Long live anarchy." Policemen rushed to the spot from all directions, and one of the men was arrested. The others scattered.

RUSSIA'S TROOPS ON THE MARCH

Officers Notified—Invasion of China was Contemplated

Special to The Review.

Pekin, China, March 15.—Russian troops are moving toward Kuldja, in eastern Turkestan. The officers in command of the soldiers were notified recently that the invasion of China contemplated.

Scotch Trawler In Fix at New York.

New York, March 15.—Capt. Wm. Craig of the little British steam trawler Coquette from Aberdeen, Scotland, was refused permission by the customs office yesterday to clear for the "high seas." When she came tripping into port last Saturday her crew related that a storm had driven the vessel so far off the Nova Scotian coast that it was decided to run into New York with her big catch of 10,000 pounds of fish. The success of the sale of the fish at high prices in New York prompted Craig to ask for permission to set out again for the high seas, with the evident intention of securing another catch and returning to this market. Collector Loeb refused, because the law forbids a foreign vessel to leave New York on an irresolute course. She must clear for a definite foreign port.

Two New Regiments.

Ottawa, March 15.—A number of militia changes were announced yesterday. Lieut.-Col. J. P. Landry is transferred from the 11th Infantry Brigade to command the 9th Infantry Brigade, vice Lieut.-Col. F. S. Macway, transferred to the reserve of officers.

The organization of two new regiments is gazetted, one of the 26th New Brunswick Dragoons, under the command of Lieut.-Col. H. H. McLean, who is to command the coronation contingent, and the other the 72nd Highlanders of Vancouver, under the command of Major R. G. Edwards Leckie.

Captain J. W. de Corcy O'Grady is gazetted as lieutenant-coloned in command of the 90th Winnipeg Rifles, vice Lieut.-Col. Billman, transferred to the reserve.

TO ANNEX WITH CANADA

Bahama Islands Voted in Favor of Union

Montreal, March 15.—Mr. T. B. MacAulay of the Sun Life Assurance Co., received a cable yesterday from the Bahama Islands stating that the Legislature had voted to be annexed to Canada. The vote stood twenty-three to six in favor of union with Canada.

At an immense meeting of the citizens of Nassau held Feb. 20, which was addressed by a number of Canadians then visiting the Island, a resolution favoring the admission of the islands to the Canadian Confederatio as a province was carried by a standing vote with great enthusiasm, there being but two dissenting votes.

The governor is to invite the Government of Canada to a conference to consider whether annexation to the Dominion is feasible and desirable, and, if so, on what terms it would probably be carried out.

The Bahamas, a chain of islands in the West Indies, contained in 1909, 61,277 people, most of them descendants of liberated Africans. Nassau is the capital, situated on the Island of New Providence. The chief industry is sponge gathering. Bananas, cocoanuts, fruit and vegetables are also largely exported, principally to the United States. The hemp fibre industry is also fairly well established.

South African Corn Trade.

Washington, March 15.—South Africa is desirous of entering the markets of the world with its surplus corn, and to that end Sir Thomas H. Price, commissioner of railways and harbors of the South African Government, called upon Secretary of Agriculture Wilson yesterday to obtain information as to the methods employed by the United States in the handling of that grain for the export trade.

Statute of King Edward.

Ottawa, March 15.—A magnificent equestrian statue of the late King Edward VII. is to adorn the centre of the proposed Plaza Laurier at Ottawa. This is understood to be the wish of the majority of the Dominion Cabinet, who have just approved of the plans for the merging of Dufferin and Sappers bridges into the plaza.

MASS MEETINGS FOR INSTRUCTION

Of Electors in Regard to Home Rule Measure

Special to The Review.

London, March 15.—Large mass meetings have been arranged to be held by prominent Irish Nationalists in various parts of England. The object of the meetings is to interest the electorate on the home rule measure, which will be introduced next year.

Bishop Becomes Father at 78.

Connellsville, Pa., March 15.—David Keim, a Mennonite bishop known throughout the mountain country, has became the father of a boy at the age of seventy-eight.

Bishop Keim, probably the oldest father in the United States, has grown children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, all by a former marriage. Mrs. Keim was a widow of thirty when married to Keim eight years ago, and this is their first child.

Investments Were Unlucky.

Hamilton, March 15.—The will of John H. Tilden shows that deceased in recent years paid out $222,210 for stock that yesterday has market value of only $5,100. The amount was spread pretty well over Canada, the largest item being $152,000 for stock in the Tilden-Jackson Typewriter Co., which proved a failure. Mr. Tilden's estate is valued at $17,000 and is left to his widow. At one time he was very wealthy.

Found Bones and Skulls.

Toronto, March 15.—While digging around the old Duchess street mission yesterday workmen made many gruesome discoveries. First was unearthed a large tablet, and quickly followed the discovery of human bones and skulls, along with several coffin plates. All the coffins had rotted away, but the bones and other findings have kept remarkable, considering the lapse of 76 years.

Died at His Desk.

New York, March 15.—William P. Howe, 52 years old, assistant treasurer of the Standard Oil Co. of New York, died suddenly at his desk yesterday afternoon. He had been connected with the company for thirty years.

BI-LINGUALISM OPPOSED AT GRAND ORANGE LODGE

Smith's Falls, March 15.—Opposition to bi-lingual schools was the feature of the grand lodge meeting of the Royal Black Perceptory for Eastern Ontario, which opened here yesterday. The opening session at 2 o'clock had an attendance of over 150 delegates, a much larger number than usually reports for the first meeting.

One of the most important resolutions to come before the meeting is the following:

"The executive committee having been unable to prepare a Protestant platform for this grand lodge, and there being a possibility that before such a platform can be adopted by the two provincial grand lodges of this province, a provincial election may be held, therefore this grand lodge places itself upon record on the following question, which we hope will become planks in the platform, namely, 'abolition of bi-lingual schools and of sectarian teaching in the Ontario schools'."

Cornell Losing Money Fast.

Ithaca, March 15.—Each student at Cornell University is costing the institution $13.70 more than he is putting back into the treasury for his tuition, according to a statement prepared by the officials. There are over four thousand regularly-enrolled undergraduates in the university.

Begin Mosquito War.

Bayonne, N.J., March 15.—State entomologists have started on the work of draining the Hackensack Meadows so that the many thousands of embryo mosquitoes may be destroyed before they get on the wing. They expect that Hudson County will have a mosquitoless summer. In Bayonne the Board of Health will start this week to soak with oil furnished free by the Standard Oil Co. the nesting places for mosquitoes.

VOTE AT PRESBYTERY MEETING WAS AGAINST CHURCH UNION

Session at St. Paul's Church, Port Hope—Next Meeting to be Held Here

The regular meeting of the Presbytery of Peterborough was held in St. Paul's church, Port Hope, yesterday. There was a large attendance of members and much interest was taken in the proceedings. As this was the annual meeting for a review of the business of the year a good deal of time was taken up with the reports of the various committees and other routine business.

Reporst were presented on Sabbath schools, Home Missions, Augmentation, Young People's Societies, Systematic Giving, Foreign Missions, Social and Moral Reform.

In connection with the latter there was considerable discussion and recommendations were made urging the adoption of temperance measures and commending the local option by-law to the attention of committees where it has not been tried. A strong resolution was passed commending the work being done by Mr. Beal, among boys and young men and overturing the Synod to take up the matter and urge upon the educational authorities the importance of this work with a view to having it taken under the auspices o fthe Department of Education with Mr. Beal in charge.

Commissioners were appointed to the next general assembly which meets in Ottawa on June 7th. Those chosen were Messrs. Pogue and Keith of Peterborough; McLeod, of Brighton; and Abraham, of Port Hope, ministers; with Messrs. Spear, Cobourg; D. Fife, Hastings; J. H. Drummond, Keene, and J. A. Finlay, Norwood, elders.

A call from Mill street congregation, owing to the fact that it was understood that the call was not likely to be accepted, it was not sustained. A committee was appointed to confer with the officials and try to devise a satisfactory basis of union between the two congregations at Port Hope and in the meantime Dr, Marsh was continued as interim moderator of Mill street congregation.

The question of greatest interest was the discussion and determination of what should be done with the union proposals. This question had been discussed by the Presbytery on two former occasions and the debate adjourned. It was agreed that it should be taken up at eight o'clock last night and brought to a vote. A considerable number of people from the town were present and listened to the discussion. As a large number of members wished to speak it was agreed that speeches should be limited to 5 minutes, except in the case of the leaders on each side, who were allowed twelve minutes. Rev. D. A. Thomson, Hastings, led off against the basis of union and Rev. Wm. Beattie, Cobourg, ably advocated the cause of union. A number of others, including Messrs. Clark, Spear, McDonald, Ross, Brown, Rollins, McKenzie, Johnston, Marsh and Lees, took part. The vote stood 10 for union and 16 opposed.

The ladies of St. Pauls' church entertained the members of the Presbytery at supper, serving a dainty and well prepared repast in the basement of the handsome and well equipped church.

Next regular meeting will be held in St. Andrew's church, Peterborough, on Tuesday, July 11th.

Gas Distended His Stomach

Caused Palpitation, and Prevented Sleep—When Health Was Gone, Cure Followed Use of "Nerviline."

"My last wish will be," writes Harry P. Pollard, a well-known boot and shoe traveler of Hartford, "that everyone with a bad stomach may learn as I did, before it's too late, that Nerviline is the one remedy to cure. Why, I was in mighty bad shape, my digestion was all wrong, and every night I would waken with a start and find my heart jumping like a threshing machine. This was caused by gas on my stomach pressing against my heart. When I started to use Nerviline I got better mighty fast. It is certainly a grand remedy for the traveling man, keeps your stomach in order, cures cramps, prevents lumbago or rheumatism, breaks up chest colds and sore throat—in fact there hasn't been an ache or pain inside or outside for the past two years that I haven't cured with Nerviline. Do you wonder I recommend it?"

For general household use Nerviline has no equal; it will cure the aches and ailments of the entire family—refuse anything but Nerviline. 50c per bottle, trial size 25c, all dealers or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

NERVILINE CURES ALL PAIN

The Daily Review

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15, 1911.

McBRIDE'S OPINION

Premier McBride, of British Columbia, is very much against the reciprocity pact. Many reports have come from British Columbia that the province is generally in favor of it, but Mr. McBride says no. The fruit men are decidedly against it; the lumbarmen are opposed to it, since it means the flooding of their market with cheap and inferior wood from the southern states. But Mr. McBride is amply able to speak for himself. He says:—

I take the view that there is no necessity for a reciprocity agreement with the United States, nor has there been a general demand for it by the Canadian people.

We have been most prosperous under protection and the proposed arrangement will dislocate our present trade by diverting a good deal of it to the benefit of the United States. The arrangement is also bound to have an effect on our trade with Great Britain, which is our best customer for our exports and will tend to assist in an early solution of the imperial federation problem.

Canada's best policy is to trade as freely as possible with other parts of the Empire and not tangle herself with an outside country which may suddenly decide to end the agreement with the result of further dislocation of trade.

The United States without doubt is actuated by a desire to secure a greater hold on Canadian resources and to obtain a larger market for her manufactures. The policy followed by both Conservatives and Liberals has hitherto been to make no extensive changes in the tariff without fully consulting the people, and the present government should not have taken so important a step without ascertaining the wishes of the Canadian people.

(Signed) R. McBRIDE.

Parliament Buildings, Vancouver, B.C., March 14, 1911.

"SPECIAL INTERESTS"

In the last few weeks the defenders of the reciprocity pact have been forced in their defense of the measure to resort to raising class cry—to claim that the vested interests of Canada are creating the general opposition to the pact. This cry is natural, though far from correct. It is the PEOPLE of the country—the workingmen, the mechanics, artisans, and many of the thinking and patriotic farmers who have been raising the protest. The deluge of kicks received at Ottawa has come from the people and the protest of the manufacturers—the "special interests," as the hard-put defenders of the pact describe them—are but incidental to the general clamor.

But if these reciprocity defenders claim that reciprocity is a blow at Canadian "special interests" in the behalf of the great and beloved mass of Canadian humanity—the humanity that is richer per capita than any other nation in the world, the humanity that does an external trade per capita three times as much as the United States—how do they propose to deal with the great American trusts into the hands of which they propose to deliver Canada?

The United States Steel trust controls 60 per cent. of the enormous output of steel in the United States. A few men control 80 per cent. of available standing timber. Theodore Roosevelt's administration spent $2,500,000 in trying to curb the Standard Oil Company, without success.

If these reciprocity advocates are going to deliver us from the Canadian "special interests"—what they call the pork packing combine, the milling concerns, etc.—how will they deliver us from the immensely more powerful American food trusts that succeed in oppressing 90,000,000 people? This cry of curbing "special interest" is absurd, because in putting our natural products market on an equal basis with the United States, Canada will be simply submitting herself to the domination, not of ordinary business concerns with which she can easily cope, and over which exercise control, but of the great octopuses which the combined force of 90,000,000 people cannot control.

To free Canada from the supposed domination of our little "interests" we are called on to put ourselves into the jaw of the vastly greater American octopus (to use a queer metaphor)—to jump from the frying pan right into the fire.

NAVAL ARMAMENTS

The remarks of Sir Edward Grey on naval armaments in the British Parliament have created considerable attention, and what he says seems irrefutable. Sir Edward Grey says that the armament of the great nations grows with their civilization, that the time will come when the expense will be so great that the masses who are taxed to maintain the race will rise in revolt. National financial bankruptcy is ahead of the nations, but their rivalry offers no alternative.

The British navy is still safely ahead of that of Germany, and equal to the two-power standard. This is comforting in the sense that the guns of the Dreadnoughts offer an argument for peace that no amount of diplomacy or conciliation would ever afford. Britain will have thirty-one Dreadnoughts against Germany's twenty in 1914. With her over-sea dominions creating navies, so as to be able to protect their own coasts from a possible enemy, relieving the British fleets for closer-at-home duties, the effectiveness of the fighting force flying the old Union Jack is much increased.

Australia is considering a scheme of tremendous importance. The few odd million dollars that Canada proposes to spend on its second-hand cruisers, its torpedo destroyers, its junk-shop outfit, are in comparison suitable for a British dependency like Jamaica. Australia proposes, according to Admiral Henderson's scheme, to provide for a fleet of 52 vessels, costing $117,000,000, and the scheme pledges the commonwealth to an annual expenditure of $25,000,000 after 1933. The construction of the fleet, the docks, equipment with two years' stores, means an investment of $200,000,000.

Australia is doing this! Canada is doing what? The unfortunate mistake made at the time of the conquest of Quebec, in granting such special privileges that part of Canada has remained impregnable to Anglicization, is responsible for the apathetic attitude of Canada, as compared with Australia.

Canada has escaped lightly so far, on account of her peculiar geographical situation. It would be a lucky stroke if the day of arbitration for all matters of international dispute, whether of honor or territory, or else, came before Canada faces the necessity of creating a really effective fighting force to guard her shores.

HAULTAIN'S STAND

The Regina Province, the chief Conservative organ in Saskatchewan, editorially repudiates Mr. Haultain's stand on the reciprocity issue.

The Province article, which is to hand by mail to-day, does not refer to Mr. Haultain by name; its condemnation is only inferential. After a strong protest against reciprocity, the Province says—

"If our political leaders and electors prefer to be provincial rather than national in their policy, they may justify their support and endorsation of the reciprocity pact. To the Daily Province the situation seems to be fraught with the greatest danger to the commercial and political future of our country. To be simply producers of raw material will never make this a great country, and when, in addition, the transportation of that material is given to foreign railroads to be conveyed to foreign markets to build up foreign seaports, manufacturing cities and industries, the result cannot be but commercial suicide.

"The people of Eastern Canada are not high protectionists, but are willing to bear their share of a tariff that tends toward the upbuilding and development of the industrial and political life of this country. The present tariff bears heavily upon our people. The remedy is a general reduction that will remove a portion of our burden and still furnish sufficient revenue and retain our fiscal independence. If any particular concessions are to be made let them take the form of reciprocity within the Empire, having as its ultimate goal imperial free trade.

"The position taken by the Saskatchewan legislature is a case of provincial politicians discussing a national question from the narrow environment of their political sphere."

EDITORIAL NOTES

Hamilton city council has condemned reciprocity. When is the Peterborough city council going to take a vote condemning reciprocity, which means so much loss to Peterborough?

Russia is said to be preparing to grab a piece of China. Its statesmen do not formally announce that they "are preparing to annex" the Chinese province, however.

There are over 600 moving picture picture theatres in Canada, and $1,500,000 is invested in them. The business seems to be one of our infant industries—it grows so quickly.

Premier Gouin was cheered in the Quebec Legislature when he announced that Quebec would make no change in its pulp wood policy. Quebec evidently knows that reciprocity isn't a benefit in this material.

Sir Joseph Ward, premier of New Zealand, will advocate an imperial council of defence at the imperial conference. Sir Joseph is now assured of the life-long friendship of Col. Sam Hughes.

A dress makers convention in Chicago has discussed the harem skirt, and has made several innovations preparing for its general use. One of these is the use of tights. We imagine it will be rather a loose person who will take to the tights.

In the railway committee a bill by Major Sharpe to compel the express companies to pay to the government all unclaimed express order money, after six years of waiting, was mutilated to let the companies retain all unclaimed money. It would seem to us that the same system should apply to the express companies as pertains to banks, which are required to advertise unclaimed bank balances. The location of the sender of express orders not cashed would be a difficult matter as only the name of the sender is taken. Fortunately people seldom leave express orders lying around for years uncashed. A noise like a cheque or an express order is too loud to be overlooked.

Invalid Restored to Health After Five Years Suffering

Antoine Bouchard cured his Kidneys by using Dodd's Kidney Pills, and his Dropsy, Cramps and Backache were cured too

St. Hilarion, Charlevoix Co., Que., March 14.—(Special)—Charlevoix County is ringing with the wonderful cure of Antoine Bouchard. For five years he was practically an invalid; to-day he is a well man. Dodd's Kidney Pills did it, and the people of this neighborhood are more than ever convinced that they are the one sure cure for all Kidney ailments.

Interviewed concerning this cure, Mr. Bouchard said:

"My sickness started with a cold, which developed into Kidney Disease, for five years I suffered from Dropsy, Cramps in the Muscles, Backache and Nervousness. It took two dozen boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills to cure me, but they did cure me completely. They are a wonderful remedy."

Dodd's Kidney Pills simply cure diseased Kidneys. But the different diseases Mr. Bouchard suffered from are all caused by diseased Kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured them by curing the Kidneys.

HENRY THE THIEF.

The Black Heart of the Greely Arctic Expedition.

STORY OF HIS EXECUTION.

The Order Issued by the Emaciated Commander and the Way It Was Carried Out—The Rifle Shot That Put an End to the Traitor.

One of the many tragedies of the Greely arctic expedition was the execution of Private Henry, who had been caught time after time stealing food from the scant store of the starving party. Henry alone was strong and active, thanks to the stolen food and to the fact that he did no labor he could possibly shirk.

Lieutenant Greely had warned and warned Henry and had punished him, but to no avail, and finally, after a particularly despicable act of theft, the commander, in fear that Henry's course would cause a general raid on the store of food and thus bring about the destruction of the whole party, condemned Henry to death.

The story of the execution, which makes a new page in history, is told in the American Magazine by Frank B. Copley, who got his data direct from the survivors of the expedition. He writes:

"All his lethargy gone, Greely dismissed the man, seized pencil and paper and, with trembling, emaciated fingers, wrote:

"Near Cape Sabine, June 6, 1884.

"Sergeants Brainard, Long and Frederick:

"Notwithstanding promises given by Private C. B. Henry yesterday, he has since, as acknowledged to me, tampered with seal thongs if not other food at the old camp. This pertinacity and audacity is the destruction of the party if not at once ended. Private Henry will be shot today, all care being taken to prevent his injuring any one, as his physical strength is greater than that of any two men. Decide the manner of his death by two ball and one blank cartridge. This order is imperative and absolutely necessary for any chance of life. A. W. GREELY."

"In the official report of the Lady Franklin bay expedition it is simply announced that 'shots were heard about 2 o'clock, and later the order was read to the general party.' The manner in which the order was executed here appears for the first time.

"Sergeants Brainard, Long and Frederick could not, as ordered, 'decide the manner of death by two ball and one blank cartridge.' Greely had failed to take into consideration that at this time the party had left only one serviceable rifle.

"The three sergeants drew lots to see who would do the shooting. When they had done so they bound themselves with an oath that the identity of the man thus chosen never should be revealed.

"Henry was at the tent on Cemetery ridge with all the other men when the time for putting him to death came. What was to take place, of course, was known only to the three sergeants and the commander. Two of the sergeants remained in the vicinity of the old hut, while the third went to the tent to bring Henry down.

"The man who went for Henry told him that he was wanted at the old camp to help carry up some more of the supplies that had been left there. Suspecting nothing, Henry readily accompanied the sergeant to the place chosen for putting him to death.

"Now, Greely had repeatedly cautioned the three sergeants to take no chances on Henry's getting away, for, although none at Cape Sabine knew the man's past history, enough of the man's black soul had been revealed to make his comrades feel that no crime could be put past him.

"So Brainard, Long and Frederick, cautioned by their commander and warned by their own knowledge of the man with whom they had to deal, had decided that Henry should be made to stoop to pick up something and that then he should be shot from behind. At least one of the sergeants had no more compunction about killing him than he would have had about killing a mad dog.

"But one of the other two men weakened at the last moment. To shoot a man in cold blood from behind, to send him into eternity with no opportunity to compose his soul, was too terrible a thing for him to stand. It was a mistake that nearly proved disastrous.

"Henry was told face to face that he was to be put to death in accordance with the order of the commander, and he was advised to kneel and make his peace with his God. At the same time the executioner appeared with his rifle at a convenient distance before the doomed man's eyes.

"Henry stood agape. He muttered something about something not being right. Near where the third sergeant stood an ax lay on the ground. Henry's gaze, searching the ground, encountered the ax. He sprang for it. A warning cry was raised. The sergeant who stood near the ax jumped and got his foot on it almost as Henry was upon him. There was a cry of 'Quick!' Even then there was danger of the executioner shooting his fellow sergeant if his aim was the least unsteady.

"But despite all he had been through the aim of the executioner was true. The rifle cracked, and the bullet sped, penetrating the breast of the man for whom it was intended when it was molded. Henry whirled, crying: 'You have tricked me! You have tricked me!' Again the rifle cracked. The second bullet went through Henry's head, and he fell dead."

NEXT DOOR'S FRUIT TREE.

The One Whose Branches Extend Over the Fence Into Your Yard.

The next door fruit tree, growing so near the line that laden branches extend over the fence, has proved a source of untold spankings to the small boy, quarrels between otherwise good neighbors and even resort to the police courts. One is inclined to suspect that the original apple tree of trouble hung over a neighbor's fence.

The cause of friction is, of course, the question of the ownership of or at least the right to take and use the fruit on the too widely spread branches. Generally this fruit is claimed by the person whose property is thus invaded, but if he asserts this claim to the point of gathering the fruit without permission he may feel the iron hand of the law, says Harper's Weekly. If he objects to the presence of the branches which extend over his property the owner of the tree must remove them. But if the owner of the tree applies for the fruit or asks permission to enter and take it the owner of the land over which the branches extend cannot refuse permission for entry for this purpose. If he refuses either to hand over the fruit or to allow the owner of the tree to enter and take it, then the owner of the tree may enter without permission, but he must use no force nor commit any damage in so entering.

Certainly the most neighborly thing to do would be to divide that fruit.

A Great Invention.

Hearing a tremendous noise or series of noises in the lower front hall; Mrs. Goodfellow went to the top of the stairs and looked down.

What she saw was Mr. Goodfellow sitting on the lowest stair, holding his shin and muttering to himself.

"What are you doing there?" she demanded, with full weight of asperity in her voice.

"I am inventing an electric device which will move all the furniture into the back yard the moment the front door is opened at night," said Mr. Goodfellow.

Owls In Asia Minor.

Perhaps Asia Minor is richer in crude and interesting fancies than any other country. When children hear an owl hooting from the cypress groves they cry, "Good news for us, good messages for you." If they catch an owl they hold it up by the beak and chant, "Palm Sunday owl, how does your mother dance?" The meaning of the rite is lost, but the habit lingers.

Expert Advice on Hair Culture

How to Stop Falling Hair and Drive Away Dandruff

Once a day, if only for one minute, every woman and every man too, for that matter, ought to rub the scalp vigorously with the tips of the fingers.

The blood supplies nourishment to the hair, just as it does to the skin, and frequent massaging gently stimulates the scalp and causes the blood to flow more freely.

Both men and women should be careful in the choice of a hair dressing. A good one used regularly, not only destroys dandruff germs, but keeps the hair from falling and causes it to grow profusely and lustrous.

Parisian Sage is the hair dressing, grower and beautifier most in demand by discriminating people. So certain is its tonic action on the scalp and hair, and so sure is it to give the limit of satisfaction that Wm. Madill guarantees Parisian Sage to abolish dandruff, to stop falling hair and itching scalp, or refund your money.

Parisian Sage is free from grease and stickiness and once used will never be displaced by any of the ordinary commercial hair tonics.

A large bottle costs but 50 cents at Wm. Madill's and druggists everywhere. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every package. Mail orders filled, charges prepaid by Giroux Mfg. Co., Fort Erie, Ont.

"I have used Parisian Sage for some time and think it has no equal as a hair beautifier and scalp cleaner."—Mrs. William Hoglund, Sault Ste. Marie, Jan. 2, 1910.

HIS DOLLAR BILL.

He Tried to Bestow It In Charity, but It Went Astray.

Diplomacy doesn't always work, as a certain kind hearted business man in West Philadelphia has just found out. He says that the lesson was cheap at the price, but at the same time he will employ more direct methods next time he wishes to play the philanthropist.

It happened on the subway the other night. He had just closed a real estate deal at considerable profit and was feeling very generous, so when he saw a poor woman in a threadbare dress carefully count out five pennies for her ticket and saw that it was the last money in her worn pocketbook he determined to help her. Of course it wasn't easy, but the man prides himself upon being a diplomat. So, crumpling a dollar bill up in his hand, he stooped over as if picking something up and then, holding it out to the woman, said:

"Madam, here is some money you dropped." He tried to smile significantly as he said it, but she didn't seem to understand and said simply:

"Tain't mine."

"You'd better take it," he said. "It isn't mine, and it was lying right by you."

The woman shook her head at first, then took it slowly out of his hand and looked at it gloatingly. The man smiled, well pleased with himself, but an instant later the woman, seeing a man looking down at the platform, rushed up and cried, "Was you looking for a dollar bill?"

"I sure was," answered the man promptly.

"Well, here it is," said the woman, and the man with a delighted "Oh, thanks!" calmly pocketed the sum and walked away.—Philadelphia Times.

FIRE EATERS.

The Trick of Breathing Flames and Sparks From the Mouth.

Fire tricks were practiced in very ancient times. The first known fire breather was a Syrian slave named Eunus, a leader in the Servile war in Sicily, 130 B. C. He pretended to have immediate communication with the gods. When desirous of inspiring his followers with courage he breathed flames and sparks from his mouth.

In order to accomplish this feat Eunus pierced a nutshell at both ends, and, having filled it with some burning substance, he put it in his mouth and breathed through it. The same trick is performed today in a more approved manner. The performer rolls some flax or hemp into a ball about the size of a walnut, which he lets burn until it is nearly consumed. Then he rolls around it more flax while it is still burning. By this means the fire is retained in the ball for a long time. He slips this ball into his mouth unperceived and breathes through it. His breath revives the fire, and he sustains no injury so long as he inhales only through his nostrils.

Various theories have been advanced to account for other feats of this sort performed by the ancients. An old ordeal was the holding of a redhot iron by the accused, who was not burned if he were innocent. Probably some protective paste was used on the hands. The peculiar property of mineral salts, such as alum, in protecting articles of dress from fire has long been known. An old Milanese devised a costume consisting of a cloth covering for the body which had been steeped in alum. A metallic dress of wire gauze was added to this, and thus protected a man might walk on hot iron.—Harper's.

London's Dramatic Censors.

London has had its absurd dramatic censors even if it cannot quite come up to Vienna. Colley Cibber in his autobiography tells us of one master of the revels who was responsible for the licensing of plays in those days expunging the whole first act of "Richard III." on the ground that the distresses of Henry VI. would remind weak people of King James, then living in France. In fact, Shakespeare has more than once been censored, for "King Lear" was inhibited during the illness of George III. George Colman when reader of plays banned the use of such words as angel and heaven.—London Chronicle.

To Make Him Sleep.

"Unfit for duty because of insomnia" was the record of a New York policeman for several weeks.

Inspector Byrnes sent for the man and gave him a little bit of advice, thus: "Tonight, about midnight, put on your uniform, belt, hat, revolver, take night stick in hand and go to some corner house. Lean against it, and lean against it hard, as if you were really on duty. You'll go to sleep, all right."—New York Tribune.

No Skill Required.

Litigant—Your fee is outrageous. Why, it's more than three-fourths of what I recovered. Lawyer—I furnished the skill and the legal learning for your case. Litigant—But I furnished the case. Lawyer—Oh, anybody can fall down a coal hole!—Boston Transcript.

While Peter Byrnes, whose farm is seven miles east of Prince Albert, Sask., was away from home the other day, two fine big moose strolled in and remained about the barn several hours.

SUFFERED FROM VIOLENT CATHARTICS

The Warning of Mr. Geo. C. Fox Is One That Should Be Heeded by All.

Few men on the road are better known than genial George Fox, whose friends throughout the West are legion. In the following letter he expresses gratitude for signal services rendered by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. He goes on to say: "Until I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills and experienced their wonderful mildness and curative power, I estimated the value of every pill by its activity. Talking about this to a well-known physician I met on the train the other day, he explained there are different kinds of drugs that act upon the bowels, the most active being known as drastic. Except in extreme cases where the life of the patient depends upon speedy evacuation of the bowels, pills should never be drastic. Purgatives cause catarrh of the bowels and inflammation; their dose must be increased, causing even more harm. With such a clear explanation I could see why Dr. Hamilton's Pills are curative and not irritating, why they are mild, yet most searching.

"From my experience I recommend everyone that takes pills to give up the old-fashioned harsh, purging pill, and, instead, to use Dr. Hamilton's. They cure headache, biliousness, constipation, bad stomach, and keep the system in perfect condition."

Refuse any substitute for Dr. Hamilton's Pills; sold for 25c., all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

How a Local Young Man Made Money

There are many people in and around the City of Peterborough who have money, looking for investment, who prefer a safe investment, such as bonds or low rate of interest, to investing in mortgages or other securities which require special judgment in selecting, and constant and careful watching to avoid loss. To such we would commend the following result to their careful consideration—

A young man of the City of Peterborough had his life insured sixteen years ago last January for Ten Thousand Dollars ON A SINGLE PAYMENT 15-YEAR ENDOWMENT PLAN. The premium paid was $6,460.00. On the 31st of January, 1910, the company paid him $12,116.00 in cash, after giving him fifteen years of free insurance. What do you think of that as an investment?

Are bonds or municipal debentures, or even the best mortgages, to be compared with it, when you consider that the risk of the life was carried during the 15 years? And remember, the security is as safe as any debenture or mortgage, and there was no trouble or expense entailed of any kind after the initial investment.

The above result was obtained from the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, under policy No. 47340, W.H.B.

PROTECTIONIST PASSES AWAY

Death of G. D. Griffin Father of Watson Griffin at Toronto

G. D. Griffin, Canada's veteran protectionist, died suddenly yesterday afternoon at his home, 196 Jameson avenue, Toronto, in his 87th year. Senile weakness was the cause.

The late Mr. Griffin was the father of Watson Griffin, who for some months last year was editor of the Review, and is now editor of the Canadian Century. He recently contributed articles on the reciprocity pact, one of which appeared in the Review.

"THE MAN OF THE HOUR" IS A VERY FINE PLAY

At The Grand To-morrow Night—A Play With Lots of Chuckles in It

William Winter, the dean of the corps of New York city dramatic critics, and recognized the world over as the most conservative and thoughtful of all our writers on the stage, said in the New York Tribune of December 7, the day following the premiers in New York city of "The Man of the Hour."—

"Here is a play that will live, because it is a play that means something. Few plays do. Mr. Broadhurst has, in 'The Man of the Hour,' written the best American play we have yet had. We should be the better for more plays like the one displayed last night under the tasteful and artistic management of Wm. E. Brady."

When a successful drama has passed the third milestone on its path, and the fourth is announced with the word "success" stamped all over it, what is the press agent to write further? Local theatre-goers know that "The Man of the Hour," George Broadhurst's greatest play, has had three most prosperous years, and recall the crowded houses when it was presented at the Savoy Theatre, New York, last season. It will be good news to our theatre-goers to know that "The Man of the Hour" will be presented on Thursday, March 16, at the Grand. This new play has rushed straight to the heart of everybody. Here is a beautiful play, presented in so steady a key that the effect is overwhelming. You must see "The Man of the Hour." It touches your heart and your mind as no play will, and it is two hours of bubbling, snapping fun, and hits one just where one chuckles. In a word, no better play than "The Man of the Hour" has ever been seen in this city.

THEY IMBIBED TOO STRONGLY

A Fight Followed — Were Fined $5.75 Each

It costs something to be drunk these days. Fines of $5.75 were meted out to each four young men at the police court to-day for being drunk and disorderly yesterday. All paid forthwith with the exception of one young man, who when given the alternative of having his fine paid by a friend, or spending fifteen days in jail preferred the latter. One of the men comes from Nassau, and wore a decorated eye which fact however did not secure for him any sympathy from the Magistrate. Another said he worked in the lumber camps near Marmora.

DEBATE AT ZION FARMERS' CLUB

Farm Stock More in Need of Improvement Than Property

The Zion Farmers' Club held a most successful meeting in Zion Hall on March 9th. The house was filled and the audience was favored with the following programme;

Instrumental—Miss E. Bell.
Recitation—Miss L. Deyell.
Solo—Mrs. J. Mann.
Recitation—Mr. H. Bell.
Solo—Mr. A. B. Mann.
Reading—Mr. C. Graham.
Solo—Mr. B. Bell.
Recitation—Mr. N. Milburn.

Mr. C. E. Moore gave a very interesting report of Farmers' Institute convention held in Toronto.

The feature of the evening was a debate, 'Resolved that farm stock is in more need of improvement than farm property."

The affirmative was taken by Messrs. Tate, Richardson and Hunter, of Pine Grove Farmers' Club, while Messrs. Stubbs, Milburn and Roe, of Zion Farmers' Club, took the negative.

The speakers on both sides brought out many good points, showing the need of improvement in both stock and property.

The affirmative won the debate by one point.

The ladies then served refreshments and the evening closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

It Will be Used

The CARROLL CLUB PIANO will be used on the stage at St. Patrick's concert. Hear it and investigate the club scheme at 372 Water street. 3d

HAS YOUR HOME NOW A PIANO

If Not Read This Plan to Secure One—It Will Pay You to Act

It would be a good thing if people could realize that much may be accomplished if only a little is done at a time and done steadily.

The Government of the Dominion raises the money to pay expenses, a little at a time, by customs duties. The city pays for the Smith Street bridge, a little at a time, by getting from the ratepayers each 30 cents per year, which is paid into the sinking fund.

In just such way you may acquire a piano. Do not try to do it all at once. Few can spare the money in one lump, but they can easily save it if the payments are moderate.

Are you going to buy one next year? How many next years have passed? Could you have paid $6.00 a month if you had bought one two "next years" ago? Have you saved up all that money. You thought you would "next year." Do you know you can soon own a fine piano and save money, too? How? By joining the Carroll Piano Club. Members secure a $375 piano for $300, and have the choice of five different options of payment? It costs only $10 a month to join, and $6.00 per month to complete payment. Come in, see and hear the pianos; talk it over. You are under no obligations to join the club unless you wish to. No interest charged. The full plan will be told in a full page advertisement in to-morrow's Daily Review. Be sure to read it. Have your wife read it. Read it to the boys and girls of the family, who are anxious that the household should have a piano.

TICKETS GOING VERY RAPIDLY

For Dinner, and Agricultural Meeting Friday Night

The big agricultural meeting and dinner at the National on Friday evening promises to be a most successful event. The tickets are selling remarkably well and no difficulty is experienced by the sellers in disposing of them. Only one hundred and fifty can be sold as that is the number which the hotel tables will accommodate.

J. Lockie Wilson, the chief speaker for the occasion has an enviable reputation as an authority on all matters pertaining to agriculture and stock and dairy questions and his address will be well worth hearing.

OPEN LETTER TO COL. SAM HUGHES

E. C. Drury Replies to Statements Made at Norwood

The following open letter has been received by the Review from E. C. Drury, addressed to Col. Sam Hughes, M.P.:

Crown Hill, Ont.,
March 10, 1911.

Col. Sam Hughes, M.P., Ottawa:

Dear Sir,—My attention is drawn to a report in a Peterborough paper of a meeting held at Norwood on March 4th. If this report is correct, you are credited with stating that the Grange is a semi-political association, allied with the Liberal party. This is not true. The Grange is absolutely free from political influence. We have as many Conservatives as Liberals among our members, and by our constitution are absolutely forbidden to meddle with any man's political leanings. I trust you will accept my explanation on this point.

You also say that "It will do no harm to take what Drury had to say with a grain of salt." This I take as an implication that I did not speak the truth at the meetings I recently held in Peterborough county. I have always made it a rule to make no statement that I cannot substantiae, and I did not vary from this rule during my visit in Peterborough. If you accept my statement you will, of course, as a gentleman, apologize for casting a doubt on my veracity. If you do not I shall be most pleased to meet you on any platform in Peterborough county, repeat my statements and give you a chance to show wherein I am wrong, provided only that both shall have a fair hearing.

Yours sincerely,
E. C. DRURY.

LATE ARRIVALS HAD ROUGH TRIP

Many World be Brides Coming to Canada This Season

While in conversation to-day with a Review man some of the recent arrivals from the old land, who came over on the steamer "Lake Champlain," said that they experienced very rough weather while in mid-ocean, and many of the passengers were ill all the way over.

The vessel encountered very heavy swells and choppy seas, which were responsible for making her nearly three days overdue. One man, whom a Review reporter talked to, said some of the passengers were so deathly ill that they were unable to come on deck at all during the trip. A large number of foreigners were also on board, including Scandinavians, Swedes and other nationalities.

Altogether the passenger list numbered about 1,400.

When asked about the women who came over to Canada to find husands, one man said that there was never any scarcity of applicants for such a purpose.

The matrimonial bureas advertise for the women in England, and the only difficulty experienced by the agencies was in warding off for a time the excessive number of applicants. Already many have come over, and before the season is far advanced the Review's informant stated that there would be five thousand sent out.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

War preparations are going on in the Far East.

The Legislature of the Bahama Islands has voted in favor of annexation to Canada.

The proposal of President Taft for an Anglo-American arbitration treaty has been received with great enthusiasm in Britain.

Intercolonial Railway employes and motormen and conductors on the Winnipeg Street Railway have been granted increases in pay.

Provincial Secretary Fleming delivered the budget in the New Brunswick Legislature yesterday. The surplus for the past fiscal year was $6,563.63.

The Senate discussed the question of withdrawing the restrictions on the immigration of the wives of Chinamen settled in Canada, in the interests of morality.

Milton T. Culbert, manager of the O'Brien mine, Cobalt, Ont., died at at St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, last night, following an operation for appendicitis.

George Sharpe Lindsay, who lost an arm in an accident by working with the Sylvester Auto Thresher near Regina last summer, was yesterday allowed $2,000 in the spring assizes.

A Montreal man served with legal notices in French, which he could not read, ignored them, and judgment was given against him by default. He applied for redress, but was refused.

The ice bridge at Niagara Falls went out yesterday. The structure that has just passed into history, remained in position over three months, establishing a record for the past decade.

A body was brought to the surface in Ostend, Belgium, harbor yesterday which is thought to be that of Cecil Grace, the aviator, who was lost last December while attempting a return aeroplane flight from Calais to Dover.

Embargo on British Cattle.

Ottawa, March 15.—Great Britain has for many years maintained in absolute embargo against Canadian cattle, ostensibly on the ground of danger of infection to British herds, but in reality because of a desire to protect the British cattle-raiser from outside competition. Canada has repeatedly protested that Canadian herds are practically free of infectious diseases, and the British embargo could not be justified on the ground that the importation of Canadian cattle into Britain would lead to the outbreak of cattle disease there.

An illuminative commentary on the situation is now given by the passing of an order by the Department of Agriculture placing an embargo on the importation into Canada of all English live stock except horses. The Department has been advised by cable that an outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease has appeared among cattle near Bobham, Surrey. Pending its eradication all permits to bring in cattle, sheep and swine from England are cancelled. There is at present no foot-and-mouth disease on this continent, and the above stringent precautions are taken to insure the continued immunity of Canadian herds.

Experts Say She's Insane.

Albany, N.Y., March 15.—The defence in the Melber murder trial introduced Dr. H. E. Defrest, of Troy, a former coroner, yesterday afternoon, who testified that he had made fourteen examinations of Mrs. Melber recently, and declared her to be insane.

Dr. Defrest defined her disorder as "Imbecile insanity," and said she had been so afflicted from birth. He expressed the opinion that all professionally immoral women are insane.

Dr. Jessie M. Scott, of Schenectady, who was connected for eight years with the Matteawan State Hospital for the Criminal Insane, was no less positive.

"Doctor, in all your conferences with Edith Melber, did you ever see her cry?" District Attorney Sanford enquired.

"Yes, just once," the witness replied.

"Was it over her dead boy?"

"No, it was over her hard life."

"How long was she crying?"

"I should say a minute — no, I should say part of a minute."

No Libel Found.

Toronto, March 15.—The case of J. E. Wilkinson against The Hamilton Herald, which has involved nearly a week's litigation, was brought to a close by the jury yesterday, when a verdict was returned of "No libel." On the strength of the finding Justice Meredith discharged the cases which were to have been brought against The Mail and Empire and other newspapers. The Wilkinson firm must pay the costs of the suit, which have been heavy.

THE KICKER.

An Entirely Different Sort of Man From the Growler.

There is a world of difference between the man who kicks and the man who growls.

The man who kicks—who truly, earnestly and honestly kicks—is a good kind of man to have about. He kicks because things are not as they should be, and he proposes to correct them. The man who growls is merely a negative quality. He may know that things are not going right, but he hasn't any idea of trying to do anything about it. He just sits round and complains.

You remember Mark Twain's story about the kicker and how successful he was in securing everything that belonged to him. He was a producer in the best sense of the word, just as every man who kicks in the right way is certain to be. You probably know just such men—men who are chronic kickers. Let anything go wrong and they go "up in the air" in a minute, but you can depend upon it that that particular thing will never go wrong again if they can prevent it.

A kicker may not be the most agreeable person to have around, yet he is a healthful factor in almost any establishment. He has his faults, but it is possible to overlook them for the sake of the productive value that he represents.

As to the growler—there seems to be no place for him in the work of the world. He may complain loudly and whine and talk about other people, but he remedies no faults, he repairs no leaks—he just makes trouble.

That is the diffrence between the kicker and the growler.—Business.

WEB OF THE SPIDER.

Thousands of Strands In Each of Its Silky Threads.

For a long time the web of the spider was supposed to be a simple strand of wavy silk, but later it was found that such was far from being the case.

Under the microscope we can get at the secret of the spinning very nicely. We see that there are either four or six teats on the spider near the lower part of the abdomen, almost exactly similar to the teats of a cow. From these issue four or six strands, as the case may be. But these strands themselves are not simple, but are composed of at least a thousand fibers each, for it has been proved that in each teat there is a sieve of at least a thousand holes, through which the silky matter is strained. Thus we see that, fine as is a spider's web, it is yet composed of from 4,000 to 6,000 fibers. Leuwenhoeck states that it would take at least 4,000,000 of the completed threads to make a thread as strong as a silk thread of the size of a hair.

As to the color of the thread, our ordinary spiders spin one of a uniform gray color. But in the riotous tropics there are found spiders that spin vari-colored webs. One particularly produces red, yellow and black threads, which it binds together with a pleasing color effect.

In the thread of the spider lies dormant a great industry once it is properly studied.—Popular Magazine.

Struck a Coincidence.

It was the hour of family confidences. Mr. Buggins had finished his evening papers and in slippers and dressing gown was toasting his toes before the asbestos fire log, while the wife of his bosom was putting a few stitches in the table cover she was doing for Aunt Mary.

"I did something today that I've been screwing up my courage to do for a long time," said Mrs. Buggins.

"Yes?" said Mr. Buggins, mildly interested. "What was it?"

"You know that odious Mrs. Bjones?" replied Mrs. Buggins. "Well, I paid her a call that I have owed for nearly a year."

"My dear, I can sympathize with you," said Mr. Buggins. "Today, by a strange coincidence, I paid that odious Mr. Bjones a bill I had owed him for quite as long."—New York Times.

Throne Jewels.

In the "gold pantry" at Windsor castle, one of England's chief royal palaces, is the gold tiger's head taken from Tippo Sahib's throne in 1789. It is lief size, and the teeth and eyes are of rock crystal. Another relic captured at the same time is the jeweled bird called the uma, shaped like a pigeon, with a peacock tail. The feathers blaze with precious stones, and a great emerald hangs from its breast. According to an old Indian legend, whoever owns this bird will rule India.

It Depends.

Bill—They tell me that a goat eats twelve times its weight in a year.

Jill—Does that represent much food, do you suppose?

"Well, it all depends whether what the goat eats happens to be paper covered novels or lead pipe!—Yonkers Statesman.

An Exception.

"Emerson says there is always a best way of doing everything."

"Is there? I wonder if he ever found a best way of wearing a pair of shoes that were about a size too small."—Chicago Record-Herald.

No Chance.

"Do you always do a little more than is expected of you?"

"No; my boss always expects a little more than you can do."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Sincerity and pure truth in what age soever find their opportunity and advantage.—Montague.

There is some talk of building a wagon road from Chilliwack to a group of mining claims on Tomaboy creek.

A MODERN MIRACLE

SHOWS HOW ZAM-BUK CURES ARE PERMANENT

FACTS

1. He had Eczema for 25 years.
2. His hands were so bad he had to wear gloves day and night.
3. Doctors said he could never be cured.
4. For 25 years he tried for cure in vain.
5. Then he tried ZAM-BUK.
6. ZAM-BUK cured him.
7. TO-DAY, three years after his cure, he says: "I AM STILL CURED—there has been no return."

Mr. T. M. Marsh of 101 Delorimier Ave., Montreal, has had this wonderful experience of Zam-Buk. Mr. Marsh has lived in Montreal for over 30 years, many of them at his present address. He is well known and is willing to satisfy any enquirer as to the genuineness of his cure. He suffered 25 years from eczema in the hands and had to wear gloves day and night, the itching was so terrible when the air got to the sores. Doctors said there was no cure. Three years ago Zam-Buk cured him. Interviewed a few weeks ago he said:—

"From the day I was cured by Zam-Buk to the present moment I have had no trace of the eczema and feel sure it will never return. When I think of the marvellous cure Zam-Buk worked in my case I am more and more impressed by the value of this great household balm. I have had letters of enquiry from all over Canada, and am glad to personally corroborate the published facts of my cure."

It is by working cures like this that Zam-Buk has won for itself a world-wide reputation. Unequaled for ulcers, abscesses, piles, blood-poison, inflamed sores, cold cracks, chapped hands, babies' eruptions, varicose ulcers, burns, cuts, etc. All druggists and stores at 50c box, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

Another Fish Conference.

London, March 15.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Sir Edward Grey, replying to H. Staveley Hill, M.P., said he was unable to give any information regarding the intentions of the Russian Government in introducing a bill connected with the twelve-mile zone regarding the East Siberian fisheries, but that enquiry was being made as to the effect of such measure upon Canadian fishing interests. The Washington ambassador had notified the Government of the receipt of an invitation from the United States to a conference on the preservation of seal and sea otter in the Pacific. The Government was communicating with the Canadian Government in regard to accepting the invitation.

LITERARY NIGHT AT ENNISMORE

Address by Rev. Father Fitzpatrick and Musical Program

On Tuesday of last week, St. Martin's T. A. S. hall, Ennismore, was the scene of a most enjoyable literary and musical entertainment when a number of well-known vocalists of Peterborough visited Ennismore and gave an excellent concert, during which the pastor, Rev. Father Fitzpatrick delivered an interesting address on the subject of "How a Young Man Can Achieve Material Success."

He began by stating his great desire to see all young men of the parish do well, increase their worldly possessions and get settled down in life. He reminded them that in order to do this they must cultivate habits of industry, perseverance and thrift to give close attention to all the details of their work as farmers and they would be certain to be successful. As examples of the benefit of the habit of stick-to-it-iveness he sketched briefly the career of such men as Leland Stanford Sit Thomas Lipton, the Grace brothers of New York, Burke Cochrane and others as men who had started life empty handed and had risen to affuence and fame in a few years. But while encouraging his hearers to better their conditions of material prosperity, the speaker also laid stress on the necessity of being pious and God fearing men because after all wealth is as mere dross when compared with the gold of good character. Throughout the address the speaker introduced many witty and humorous remarks, which together with his pleasing personality gave to the whole discourse a most brilliant effect which kept the large audience interested from start to finish.

Although the main feature of the evening was the lecture, still the musical programme found a host of enthusiastic admirers. The gypsies' chorus, a quartette given by Messrs. Lee, Cairns Douglas and New drew forth rounds of applause. Mr. Douglas' sympathetic rendering of "The Bridge" was also highly appreciated. "The moon bath raised her lamp on high" by Messrs. Lee and New was much appreciated. "Sweet and Low" sung by the quartette was eagerly listened to. Mr. Thompson's comical interludes evoked screams of laughter, while his more serious number, "What is a lady?" was listened to with rapt attention. Mr. Vincent McCoke in his classical volin solo showed his thorough mastery of technique, especially in the artistic and skilful way in which he rendered the most difficult fugue passages. Thus the evening passed along pleasantly and profitably until it closed with a few remarks by Mr. Robert Begley, in his usual witty and lively manner, followed by the singing of the national anthem.

Got Father Morriscy's "No. 10"

Just In Time To Save His Life.

Mr. Aylward's letter tells the story:

Campbellton, N.B., Feb. 5, 1909.

Father Morriscy Med. Co.,

During the winter of 1907, while travelling on the Gaspé Coast, I contracted a severe Cold which settled upon my lungs.

After I returned home I wrote to Father Morriscy explaining my case. I received a letter from him with a prescription for his medicine, which could not be filled at the time here. After one week's delay I received it, just in the nick of time to save my life. After one month's use I felt like a new man.

Yours truly,
Jno. Aylward.

There is not much time to lose when a cold settles on the lungs. Pneumonia kills within a week. With Father Morriscy's "No. 10" at hand, you don't even have to wait for a doctor. "No. 10" cures all throat and lung troubles. It is a real Lung Tonic, and fortifies against future attacks. Trial bottle 25c. Regular size 50c, at your dealer's, or from Father Morriscy Medicine Co. Ltd., Montreal, Que.

THIRTEEN ADDED TO MEMBERSHIP

At Second Meeting of Grange at Stewarts Hall

The second meeting of the recently organized Grange at Stewart's Hall, Otonabee, which was held last night, was very successful, and this farmers' organization at Stewart's has now gotten off to a good start. Thirteen new members were added to the roll last evening, which, with 14 who joined the Grange when it was organized a week ago Friday night, will be charter members.

Mr. Sandy Matchett, Worthy Master of the Stewart's Hall Grange, took the chair. The meeting proved interesting and profitable. Several of the local men took part in the discussion of the practical subjects which were brought before the meeting.

It was decided to hold meetings of the Grange weekly for a while at least, the meetings to be called at eight o'clock each Thursday evening. A committee was appointed to assist the lecturer, Mr. Wm. Sisson, in arranging for the program for the next meeting.

NORTH MONAGHAN COUNCIL SESSION

Effort Will be Made to Have Troublesome Drain Completed

The Township Council met on Monday, the 13th inst., in the county committee room, at 2 p.m.

All the members were present, the reeve in the chair.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

An account was handed in from Mr. G. Moncrief, putting up railing at Lockie's bridge, $38.85; shovelling snow on 1-4 line, $4.50; shovelling snow on Cavan boundary, $5.60.

These accounts were passed and ordered to be paid.

Mr. M. Sucee was present and asked the township to remunerate him to some extent for digging a ditch that he claimed benefitted the road and also other property adjacent thereto.

A communication relating to this matter was also read from W. H. Moore.

Mr. J. Fowler and Mr. R. Lillico attended the meeting and requested the council to take such action as might relieve them from the flood caused by the Cavan long swamp drain.

Moved by Messrs. Foster and Robson, that the clerk is hereby directed to notify the council of Cavan township to meet the council of North Monaghan at the drain complained of by Messrs. Fowler and Lillico, for the purpose of arranging in some satisfactory manner for the completion of the drain, and that Messrs. Fowler and Lillico be requested to be present at such meeting.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. May and Forster, that D. Manley be refunded the sum of $1, dog tax, 1910.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Forster and Morrow, that F. Stinson be refunded the amount caused by error in school tax, 1910.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. May and Morrow, that the collector be paid the sum of $60, as salary and allowances for 1910, —Carried.

The returns of the collector were then presented and read. This account shows the sum of $41.59, as uncollectable in 1910. This return was deferred until next meeting.

The matter of the ditch at Mr. Sucee's was deferred until such time as the council can make an inspection of the work.

Council then adjourned to meet when called by the reeve.

A concert in connection with the South Monaghan Agricultural Society was held in the Sunday school hall, Centreville, on Tuesday night. The program consisted of vocal and instrumental music, recitations, speeches and dialogues. Mr. Gamby, of Orono, was the vocal soloist, and Miss Ross, of Newcastle, an elocutionist, was also greatly appreciated. The local talent also did themselves credit. The dialogue representing a bashful boy, was quite amusing. The society is said to be in good financial standing and the proceeds of the concert, which were considerable, will be added to the surplus already on hand. Fred Waterman occupied the chair, and much credit is due Mr. Jackson, the president, and others connected with the society for their efforts in making the concert such a successful event.

Robert Huggins, representing Mr. Cunningham of the Peterborough music store, passed through the village last week. It was learned that he left an instrument at the home of Mrs. John Kerr.

SHAVING IN ITALY.

The Barber Must Have Used a Cross-cut Saw on This Victim.

Italy may be the land of the flea, but it is not the home of the shave.

The barbers there are generally recruited from the ranks of the butchers or the medical students. They must be able to stand the sight of blood. In the early days of medicine physicians called in barbers to do their bleeding for them.

In Italy a physician now does his own bleeding—if he visits a barber shop first.

Everything is done in an orderly manner in the Latin kingdom. The man who yearns to open a tonsorial parlor appears before the municipality to request his license. No influence is required. He does not have to have a pull. No, he cultivates that later.

"Are you qualified?" demand the city fathers.

"Signori," responds the applicant reproachfully, "does not my father own a horse, and have I not curried it every Sunday? Besides, I have worked in the stockyards."

"Bene," reply the license givers. "You are indeed suited in every way. Here are your shaving papers. Go forth and scrape acquaintance with the strangers within our gates, but cut only distant acquaintances. To cut your friends is bad form and bad for 'em."

Then, if the happy neophyte has the tin, he opens up a dissecting parlor. The tin is necessary for razor blades.

One Italian traveler was heard to remark: "I now believe that the martyr St. Luke was skinned alive. I know the man who skinned him. He shaved me this morning." Twelve good men and true looked at his face and then gave their verdict. He was a truthful man.

When a customer enters an Italian barber shop he is escorted politely to an operating chair. The back of the chair is stationary, but the headrest lets down to a remarkable degree. The result is that while the applicant's hips and knees are bent to an angle of ninety degrees his neck stretches so that his head makes an acute angle with his back, his chin pointing directly at the ceiling. It requires long practice for stout gentlemen to become comfortable in this position.

Then the operator dips his brush in ice water and brushes it lightly across the soap. He then, with a playful air, dampens his customer's beard as if to say, "This is really unnecessary, but I yield to the prejudices of a stranger." No, he never rubs the soap in—he might produce a lather. Then comes the major operation. Afterward the face is washed with a shaving brush full of cold water, and then the powder is applied; no, not talcum powder—powdered alum.

When the damages have thus been temporarily repaired the victim raises his head—if he is still able—and has a coat of brilliantine applied to his hair. He then totters home and, after his wife has fainted at sight of him, resolves to raise a mustache, sideburns, galways and a full beard. The barber, meanwhile having washed up the gore, seats himself in front of his shop and smiles benignly on the passerby. No, Italy is not the land of the shave, although it may be the home of the flea.—New York Sun.

His Advice Not Wanted.

"My dear," says the doctor to his wife, who is cuddling their new boy, "you should not feed the baby oftener than every three hours, you should not take it up every time it cries, it should sleep practically all the time, it should not be shown to every one who calls, your mother and father should not be permitted to dandle it, you should not chuck it under the chin that way, it should sleep in a room without heat and with the windows wide open, its clothing should be simple—none of those lacy, embroidered things—and—and"—

"Humph!" interrupts his wife. "You go and tell that stuff to people that pay you $5 a visit. I don't want any of your old advice about this baby."—Life.

The Big Wind In Ireland.

The night of the big wind in Ireland was Jan. 6 and 7, 1839. It seems to have served for some seventy years as the era point of no little chronology. The gale was by no means confined to Ireland. A score of persons died in Liverpool in the crash of buildings, and the force of the wind was felt through Cheshire, Warwick and Stafford. In Limerick, Galway and Athlone more than 200 houses were blown down and as many more were burned. In 1898 Dublin was swept by a gale quite as great and half the trees in the Phoenix park were put down.—New York Sun.

She Loved Him.

This was after the quarrel. "I can never forgive you," he cried. "Last night you said I was a lobster."

"But you know," she replied, and her tone was conciliatory—"you know how dearly I love lobsters."

With a glad cry he folded her to his breast.—Philadelphia Record.

Abuse.

Abuse is not so dangerous when there is no vehicle of wit or delicacy, no subtle conveyance. The difference between coarse and refined abuse is as the difference between being bruised by a club and wounded by a poisoned arrow.—Johnson.

Doesn't Feed Them.

Slimm—Our landlady says she likes to see her boarders have good appetites. Smart—Well, some women are naturally cruel.—Boston Transcript.

The future is purchased by the present.—Johnson.

COMPETITION FOR FARMERS IN GROWING ALFALFA CROPS

Peterborough Courty Farmers Might Make More Use of This Fine Grass

A $100 crop per acre if grown generally on the farms of Peterborough county, would raise the value of farm land and increase the general prosperity in the county more than can well be reckoned. Such a crop is no dream. It is not even an experiment. It is quite possible, as we shall show here.

Every dairy farmer who wishes to get the best results from his cows feeds rich in protein. In years gone by this element protein has been available to dairy farmers in wheat bran. This product, however, now sells from $20 to $25 a ton, the price varying with the season. It is so expensive that few farmers, who ought to feed it, have the courage to make the investment and lay out so much capital in cow feed; there is no need that he should. The same results as from bran may be secured in alfalfa. A ton of alfalfa hay is practically of equal feeding value to bran, and from four to five tons, sometimes more, of alfalfa acn be grown easily per acre; hence we may presume alfalfa to be a $100 crop.

A COMPETITION.

On practically every farm in Peterborough county there is some land admirably suited to the growth of heavy yielding crops of alfalfa. Farm and Dairy, the weekly agricultural journal published in Peterborough, proposes to induce farmers of Peterborough county to become growers of this wonderful crop of alfalfa. An alfalfa competition is being arranged for the farmers of Peterborough county. The details of the competition will be announced next week.

In various parts of Western Ontario, notably in Haldimand county, land has risen in value until now it sells for double what it did a few years ago, and this has been due directly to the fact that the farmers there have found out that their land will grow alfalfa, and they now grow it largely. One farmer at Caledonia grows each year over 100 acres of alfalfa.

WEALTHY THROUGH GROWING ALFALFA.

In various states of the American Union, farmers have become wealthy through growing alfalfa. In Kansas we learn that a few years ago farming became so popular that all who could get out left the state. The land there became almost worthless; but since alfalfa was introduced the farmers have again became prosperous. In New York state, on land quite similar to ours here in Peterborough county, the farmers generally are becoming large growers of alfalfa; the crop is making so much money for them and is doing so much to raise the general prosperity that even the railroads there have men going from farm to farm inducing farmers to grow this great money making crop.

Full instructions in regard to the culture of alfalfa will be furnished to all our farmers who enter the competition as here announced. An alfalfa expert who is now connected with the Farm and Dairy staff, will, in addition to his regular articles give special instruction by letter, or in person to those farmers who decide to go in for growing alfalfa. Our farmer readers are advised to write Farm and Dairy in regard to this matter and to enter the competition.

THE TRAGEDY OF A GODLESS LIFE

Convincing Message by Rev. Mr. Woodside at Knox Church

The meeting for ladies in Knox church yesterday afternoon was well attended. All thoroughly enjoyed the address which Rev. Mr. Woodside gave on "The Holy Spirit," and several were heard to remark "that clears up difficulties for me." Mr. McBretney sang two solos that were much appreciated.

An after service at the close of last night's meeting was addressed by Rev. Mr. Keith and Rev. Mr. Woodside.

The closing meetings of the mission show no let up in the interest, and no disappointment to those who attend. The singing and the address each night prove to be an inspiration. Mr. Woodside speaks to-night on "Under God's Eye." Each address is on a very high plane—full of rich thought, and expressed in forceful language. Mr. Woodside has a wonderful descriptive power that makes illustrations live and carry a point home.

He was speaking last night on "The Tragedy of a Life Without God," basing his message on the experience of Judas. People who take no notice of God's claims are unbalanced in mind and reason. Judas was no uncommon type, as we are accustomed to consider him, but a very common type of man to-day. What John did for the power of love in the world, and Peter did for the heroic life, Judas should have done for the world of finance. This sphere of life has yet to be redeemed from the curse of Judas. The betrayal was a simple thing, parallelled in many a life today. It is not what you do yourself, so much as what you make it possible for others to do in the life of evil that goes against you. Judas held to the world with one hand, and to Christ with the other. How many there are like him, neither hot nor cold. But, like Judas, you come to the place in sin where you cannot get back. We should not wait until life is marred.

One has to hear Mr. Woodside to appreciate his messages and their remarkable vividness.

The services that will continue tonight and Thursday, will conclude on Friday evening.

St. John's Girls' Auxiliary will hold a sale of home made cakes and candy at China Hall, on Saturday, Mar 18. 1d

ENTERTAINMENT BY BIBLE CLASS

At St. Jame's Methodist Church Before Large Attendance

The Cheerful Workers organized young ladies' Bible class of St. James' Methodist church, provided a most enjoyable entertainment and social at the church last evening, where there was an attendance of about three hundred. The motto of the class is "Our work is for the King," and it was hung in the church. The chairman was J. J. Goodwin, who is the teacher of the class, and Miss Leader acted as accompanist, the piano used being loaned by the J. M. Greene Music Co. The program was of exceptional merit, and throughout was in keeping with the spirit and harmony of the class.

Particular mention should be made of the choral presentation of "The Wise and Foolish Virgins," that number being given in an excellent manner.

The program was as follows—
Opening chorus—Bible Class,
Prayer—Rev. J. G. Brown.
Address—Chairman.
Recitation—"A Reverie in Church," Miss Frost.
Solo—"Outcast Parents," Mrs. Sanderson.
Recitation—"The Last Hymn," Miss Weaver.
Choral presentation—"The Wise and Foolish Virgins."
Violin selection and solo—Miss Leader and Mrs. Hill.
Solo—"The Dear Home Songs," Miss Shakespeare.
Recitation—"Little Joe," Miss Bacon
Rainbow drill—Bible Class.
Duet—"At Eventime," Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin.
Recitation—"Curfew Shall not Ring To-night," Miss Jewell.

Refreshments were served in the basement of the church, and the entertainment was brought to a close in a fitting manner.

BEAUTIFUL EYES

are made beautiful by long, silky lashes, and well defined, lustrous brows. Eyes, like diamonds, depend on their setting. The beauties of the face are lost if the eye brows are thin and scanty; and the lashes are short and lifeless. Parisian Lash Lustre grows beautiful, soft, silky lashes. It has done so for society women throughout Europe, and it comes here well recommended to do the same for you. Parisian Lash Lustre is not a dye or colorator, but a scientific preparation for beautifying the eye lashes and brows. Our guarantee goes with every box of Parisian Lash Lustre. A two weeks' treatment will bring beauty to your eyes that you have never before possessed. By mail, prepaid, in opal boxes, on receipt of price, fifty cents. B. V. DIED VERY SUDDENLY

Stephen G. Hetherington Died at 1.30 To-day From Heart Failure

With terrible suddenness death came to Mr. Stephen G. Hetherington, at his residence, 500 Charlotte street, about 1.30 to-day. Heart failure was the cause.

The deceased was one of the best and most generally respected citizens of Peterborough, and his death will cause the most sincere and heartfelt regret throughout the community.

To the sorrowing wife and bereaved family of four boys and one daughter is extended the sympathy of a wide circle of friends.

The family consists of Sidney, George, Walter and W. P. Hetherington, proprietor of the Peterborough Laundry, and Mrs. J. S. Ferguson, of Pontypool.

The funeral arrangements have not been arranged.

Y.M.C.A. DIRECTORS

Work of Association Progresses in Every Branch

The Board of Directors of the Young Men's Christian Association held its regular monthly meeting last night, the President, Mr. J. J. Turner, Jr., being in the chair. The following directors were present: Messrs. McFarlane, Sisson, Connal, Soden, Hartley, Bennett, Kerr, Gilchrist.

The reports of the different committees were read as follows:—Membership, R. J. Doden; Physical, J. H. Connal; Religious, Mr. Hartley; Property, A. McFarlane; Boy's department reported through General Secretary. The General Secretary's report was received and showed the work to be in a most encouraging condition. The reports of the different chairmen showed that the committees were looking after the work with an earnestness that speaks well for the future of the work of the Association among the men and boys of Peterborough.

A WOMAN'S ADVICE TO WOMEN

TAKE GIN PILLS

TYNESIDE P.O., ONT.

"I received your sample of GIN PILLS and after using them, I felt so much better that I got a box at my druggist's, and now I am taking the third box.

The pain across my back and kidneys has almost entirely gone and I am better than I have been for years, I was a great sufferer from Rheumatism but it has all left me. I strongly advise all women, who suffer from Pain In The Back and Weak Kidneys, to try GIN PILLS. MRS. T. HARRIS.

Thousands of women, right here in Canada, owe their robust health, their strength and vigor, their bright eyes and rosy cheeks—to GIN PILLS. And they know that GIN PILLS will cure the Kidney and Bladder Troubles with which so many women suffer.

Do just as Mrs. Harris did—first, write for a free sample box of GIN PILLS and try them. Then, if they do you good, get the regular 50c boxes at your dealer's. Your money promptly refunded if GIN PILLS fail to give relief. National Drug and Chemical Co., Dept. B., Toronto. 56

PROPOSITION WITH LARGE FIRM TO BE CONSIDERED TO-NIGHT

Peterboro' May be Location of Branch of American Rubber Goods Concern--By-law for Submission to Ratepayers Likely to be Passed by Council

Peterborough will soon have the opportunity of voting on the acceptance of another big industry. This is an automobile tire, buggy tire and rubber goods factory, and it is said that the concern will, when going, employ from 100 to 200 hands.

Commissioner Duggan has been in touch with the representatives of the factory for some time, and a meeting of the city council will be held to-night to consider a by-law which will be submitted to the ratepayers covering the agreement. The establishment proposed is an important branch of a well-known American firm, and the prospects for it doing a highly successful business are said, by those who know, to be exceedingly bright.

Information as to the details of the proposition has been kept quiet, for obvious reasons, as, until the by-law is passed and the deal thus definitely clinched, publicity would do more harm than good. This is the first factory proposition to be brought before the public in the Duggan regime. It is understood that the concessions desired by the rubber goods people are in the nature of a secured loan, but this is not confirmed by those in charge of the matter.

Commissioner Duggan had arranged for a meeting of the council about a week or two ago, but it was called off on account of the proposition not being quite ready for presentation. Lindsay had been trying to get the proposed industry, and in fact, other places, but Peterborough had the call, and it will be up to the people to say whether they want the new concern or not.

Lindsay Warder has the following the matter to say:—

There is an old saying, "The early bird catches the worm," which was exemplified recently in regard to an industrial concern which wished to locate a factory in some Canadian town for the purpose of manufacturing automobile tires, buggy tires and rubber hose.

Mayor Beal, of Lindsay, received a letter from a broker in Toronto in regard to the above matter several weeks ago, who stated that some American and Canadian capitalists wished to locate such a factory and he was writing to Lindsay, Peterborough and other towns with a view to seeing what inducements the company would receive.

As was stated in the Warder a week or so ago, Clerk Ray replied on instructions from Mayor Beal to the effect that the town council would be glad to talk the matter over with the gentlemen from Toronto, and also stating Lindsay's many advantages, etc.; that the town of Lindsay would be prepared to offer a tariff that would be appealing, and soliciting further communication in regard to the matter.

As the citizens of Lindsay are well aware nowadays it is the town that hustles that secures the plums. The Warder pointed out editorially that further steps should have been taken, and that the matter should not have been allowed to stand idle, but that the council and the board of trade should act in conjunction and endeavor to land the industry, which would employ sixty hands at the start and four hundred in a few years. The board of trade at Peterborough jumped at the idea and immediately sent representatives to Toronto, the result being that they practically landed the new concern.

The Toronto broker in the meantime in obedience to Mayor Beal's request, answered his letter, which was read at the meeting of the town council committees last night. The letter simply stated that Peterborough offered inducements and the new industry would in all probability locate in that city.

It would seem that the mayor and the council were very lax in not going after the industry for Lindsay needs all the industries that are seeking location.

THREE YEARS FOR MUNROE

Stock Promoter Goes to Atlanta Federal Prison.

Special to the Review.

New York, N.Y., March 16.—George H. Munroe, the promoter of Marconi Wireless stock, has been sentenced to serve three years in the Atlanta federal prison for using the mails for fraudulent purposes. His victims included people in many distant parts of the world. Munroe was well known in Montreal and Toronto, where he had a specacular financial career.

OPERATOR DEPORTED.

Telegraphers' President Says One Man Went Back.

Toronto, March 16.—According to President Konenkamp, representative of the G.N.W. telegraph operators, who are seeking Government aid towards the reinstatement of thirty discharged operators, the local immigration officials have deported an operator who is said to have been brought here by the company from Detroit.

"W. H. Connors was taken from the G.N.W. office here and returned to Detroit yesterday," said Mr. Konenkamp last night.

"His services were engaged in Detroit, and he was instructed to call at Windsor for transportation. A pass to Toronto was issued at Windsor. A member of the Canadian executive laid the charge of breach of the Alien Labor Act.

"The company have circulated another circular over their whole system similar to the one issued a month ago asking the men to repudiate the committee who were negotiating for an increase in pay and who have been laid off. This time, however, in order to avoid having more men locked out for refusing to sign they assure the men that they will be given an increase of from $5 to $15 a month."

Proposed Seamen's Strike.

Antwerp, March 16.—The secretary of the International Seaman's Congress confirms the report of secret proceedings of the seamen at which it was decided to appoint a commission having authority to declare a general strike if deemed advisable. The German delegates refused to join the movement for a strike, as they have received a wage increase.

Centenarian Dead.

Gorrie, March 16.—Probably one of the oldest men in the Dominion died near Gorrie on Tuesday night in the person of Mr. George Totten, who reached the wonderful age of 108.

Deceased was a native of Ireland, but the greater part of his life was spent in Howick Township. He retained his intellect to the last.

Boulder Struck Train.

Vancouver, March 16.—A boulder falling down the mountain side Tuesday struck a C.P.R. work train near Cisco. Three sectionmen, foreigners, were hurt, and Foreman King was thrown against a car and his back broken. He is still living. The damage to rolling stock was small.

G.T.R. Fireman Hurt.

Toronto, March 16.—Ross Burnam, a fireman on the G.T.R., is in a critical condition at Grace Hospital.

His right arm was taken off above the elbow and he was injured about the head and may be injured internally as the result of being struck by a G.T.R. train which backed into him at the foot of Bathurst street last night.

Seven Years for Manslaughter.

Winnipeg, March 16.—Nikolay Bryoska, convicted of manslaughter for the death of Harry E. Spalding, last November, the result of a fracas at the Pembina subway, Winnipeg, was yesterday afternoon sentenced by Mr. Justice Richards to seven years in the penitentiary at hard labor.

Victim of Typhoid.

Ottawa, March 16.—Herbert Davey, son of James Davey, local manager of the Toronto General Trusts Corporation, a victim of the typhoid epidemic, yesterday succumbed after an illness of five weeks.

BILL IN THE LEGISLATURE

Speeches by Members of Both Parties—Pointed Announcement by Studholme.

Toronto, March 16.—Speeches for and against reciprocity occupied the attention of a bare quorum of members of the House at the Ontario Legislature yesterday afternoon.

Dr. Mackay (Lib.) North Oxford, resuming the debate on the anti-reciprocity resolution, argued that the proposed agreement involved no tinge of disloyalty. As a loyal Canadian true to her best interests and to the British Empire and British institutions he could but welcome any equitable trade arrangement which was designed to strengthen the friendship of the Dominion and the Empire with the American people.

W. S. Brewster, Conservative, South Brant, referred to the protest of the Brantford Board of Trade the other night against reciprocity. Brantford was content to let well enough alone, and this applied to every city in the Dominion. At present, Americans were compelled to come here to make investments in order to extend their trade, while, with the proposal of the Dominion Government, a fiscal policy would be adopted that would be ruinous to Canadian trade. It was the most "jug-handled" agreement ever heard of, and Mr. Brewster saw in it elements that would tend to wreck Confederation.

J. Kohler (Lib.), Haldimand, quoted statistics gleaned from the Toronto Stock Yards and the Buffalo Stock Yards, to show that the price of cattle, calves, sheep and hogs was much higher in Buffalo than in Toronto, and had been without variation for the past three years. If the duty were taken off and the reciprocity bill proposed, what a splendid profit would accrue to the Canadian farmers upon their stock if sold on the Buffalo market.

D. Jamieson (Con.), South Grey, said that his first impression of the bill was that it was a good thing for this country; but he had since changed his mind. At the same time, he was of the opinion that the feeling of loyalty towards the Empire was so strong in Canada that, even with such an arrangement in force, the spirit towards Britain would not be changed. He was very heartily in accord with the resolution presented by Sir James Whitney.

S. Clarke (Lib.), West Northumberland, said that the members of the House had not been in close touch with their riding since the House met, or he believed that most of them would find that they were not voicing the views of the rural constituencies in denouncing reciprocity. The relief the treaty afforded the Canadian northwest was but a sop, a drop in the bucket compared with what was due them.

At the night session E. Fraser (Con.), Welland, said that a large number of Liberals thought Mr. German a disgruntled politician, but the fact was Mr. German had a mandate from the farmers of Welland, who are opposed to reciprocity. In the last few years sixty manufacturers had been established in Welland County, of which 55 were offshoots of factories on the United States side of the line.

Allan Studholme (Labor), East Hamilton, said that he would vote against the anti-reciprocity resolution, as the joining of the industrial forces on this continent would be in the best interests of the wage-earners.

Off to Western Cities.

Montreal, March 16.—Nearly 800 of the finest type of future Canadian citizens passed through Montreal on Tuesday night for the west on special trains.

Most of them expected to make their homes in the cities of Winnipeg and Vancouver.

"Involves Exalted Persons."

St. Petersburg, March 16.—A sensation was caused in the Douma yesterday by M. Milukoff's assertion that "The present affair in the Far East again involves exalted persons."

Mercury Drops 70 Degrees.

Duluth, Minn., March 16.—With a drop of seventy degrees in eighteen hours, the thermometer yesterday morning on city streets registered five below.

CAMORRISTS TO HAVE FAIR TRIAL

Prisoners Laughed When Indictment Was Read in Court.

Viterbo, March 16.—Carbineers, cavalry and Government agents yesterday started a crusade against suspicious strangers in Viterbo as a result of the halt of the great Camorrists' trial through inability to secure a jury. All persons known to have been intimidating talesmen or suspected of such crimes are being driven out of town.

A score of them, mostly Neapolitans, were driven from Viterbo yesterday by soldiers. They were instructed not to return upon penalty of arrest and imprisonment.

The afternoon session was given over to minor details. When the clerk of the court read the indictment, which is very lengthy, the accused men appeared indifferent, and at its conclusion laughed ironically, as though to demonstrate their contempt for the proceedings.

The jury is an admirable one, being for the most part composed of professional men and better class merchants, which fact would appear to guarantee an impartial trial for the prisoners.

ROYAL COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE AT OTTAWA

Skirt Caused a Riot.

Rio Janeiro, March 16.—The pantaloon skirt has reached Rio Janeiro, and two girls who were engaged to popularize the curious garment were mobbed in the street. The police were called in to evict one from a cafe and she was jostled by the crowds that gathered, while the other was saved from complete denudement only with difficulty. The mob seemed greatly amused and gathered up portions of the garment as souvenirs.

Philistines at "The Hub."

Boston, March 16.—Because of their objections to the nude statues in Boston museum of fine arts, Bishop Willard F. Mallalieu of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and a number of other clergymen of Boston and vicinity, have sent out a circular in opposition to a bill pending in the Legislature to permit the city of Boston to appropriate $50,000 yearly for maintenance of the museum.

Suicided With a Hammer.

Sycamore, Ohio, March 16.—William Staum was found in his tin shop on Tuesday with his skull crushed in by blows from a wedge-shaped hammer. The coroner yesterday decided that Staum's death was due to blows administered by himself.

Case Dismissed.

Winnipeg, March 16.—The charge against the Thunder Bay Elevator Co. for the alleged mixing of grain at Port Arthur, brought by the warehouse commissioner, was dismissed in the Police Court yesterday.

STATES WOULD BE IN LEAD

Of Other Countries in Export Trade to Canada in Five Years.

Should Reciprocity Trade be Adopted and Established.

Portland, Me., March 16.—That the United States will enjoy a greater export trade to Canada in five years' time than any other country should the Canadian reciprocity agreement be adopted, was the prediction made here last night by John Ball Osborne, chief of the bureau of foreign commerce of the State Department, and a member of the reciprocity commission, in an address before the Economic Club. He estimated that Canada's total imports in 1915 should be about $540,000,000, and that the U.S. will supply $350,000,000, or 65 per cent. of its imports. This, he said, is an extremely conservative estimate, and may be augmented to $400,000,000 by assuming that the United States' share will be at least 74 per cent.

In reviewing the history of the negotiations which led up to the present reciprocity agreement between this country and Canada, Mr. Osborne pointed out that no more appropriate field than the Dominion of Canada possibly could be found by the United States for the application of the reciprocity policy in regulating trade intercourse.

The speaker discussed the advantages that would accrue to the American people by the adoption of the agreement. Mr. Osborne contended that while the reciprocity arrangement may not immediately cheapen the cost of living, it surely would equalize and steady prices, arresting the upward movement which is bearing so heavily on a large proportion of the population. Taking the free admission of Canadian wheat as an example, the speaker declared that this would operate to prevent speculative disturbances in domestic markets. The speaker did not think that any fear need be felt in the border states lest the agreement should prove injurious to the farming interests. Generally speaking, he said, it may be confidently asserted that the free movement across the border of farm products will benefit the farmers on both sides of the line and the reciprocal removal of existing tariff restrictions will make the surplus for export in either country readily available for supplying any deficiency in the other.

Imperial Navy Support.

London, March 16.—In the Commons yesterday, Hon. Reginald McKenna, replying to Norton Griffiths, said the attention of the Government had been drawn to the Premier of New Zealand's statement that the Dominions were prepared to join in the maintenance of an Imperial navy, but discussion now would be premature. It was more properly to be reserved for the Imperial Conference.

Why Did Government Give Charter to the Farmers' Bank?

All the Circumstances Were Known at the Time.

Ottawa, March 16.—What Government inspection might have done or what the Department of Finance failed to do to avert the wreck of the Farmers' Bank was graphically told in the House of Commons yesterday.

David Henderson (Halton) asked for a royal commission on the motion to go into committee to discuss reciprocity. He referred to the disaster as a financial holocaust, and declared that Mr. Fielding, in response to warnings, said, "I put it up to Travers." He urged the Government to release the shareholders from the imposition of the double liability, on the ground that those involved would have to mortgage their farms with little hope of ever redeeming them.

R. L. Borden said "There is no doubt that the Treasury Board of Canada had the most direct and positive notice that these irregularities were committed."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier claimed that the wreck of the bank was due to the deception of the agent of the shareholders.

T. W. Crothers stated that the certificate had been illegally issued by the Treasury Board at a meeting at which there was not a quorum.

Mr. Borden stated that E. B. Osler and others who, if the royal commission was appointed, were prepared to swear that they had warned Mr. Fielding. The Minister should have ordered the production of the minute book before granting the certificate.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said it was admitted that when the Department issued the certificate it had been deceived to the extent of $80,000 of the $250,000 required in order to fulfill the requirements of the Banking Act. This sum had been made up subsequently, however, and so it was not a deception ultimately.

David Henderson (Halton), in introducing an amendment to the motion to go into committee of ways and means on the reciprocity issue, took up cudgels in behalf of the ruined shareholders of the defunct Farmers' Bank. His amendment was: "That this House is of the opinion that a royal commission should forthwith issue to enquire into and investigate the corporation and organization of the Farmers' Bank of Canada, and the granting of a certificate by the Treasury Board permitting the said bank to issue notes and commerce business and all circumstances connected therewith, and generally to enquire into and investigate the operation and efficiency of the Bank Act in relation to the affairs and transactions of the said bank."

Mr. Fielding expressed sympathy with the misfortune that had come to those who had invested in the bank, but thought they were in no different position than others who had made unfortunate investments.

He did not think a royal commission would secure anything more than would be obtained by the proceedings before the courts. That would lead to a full investigation into the conduct of the affairs of the bank. Should anything arise later to indicate that the investigation was insufficient, the question could be brought up later.

He regretted to have a difference of opinion with Mr. Henderson, but he was obliged to say that the member for Halton was mistaken when he claimed that he had uttered a warning against the issue of the certificate. However, he remembered having had conversation with Mr. Henderson regarding the bank.

Hon. George E. Foster admitted that so far as the granting of the charter was concerned, the House was responsible and not the Government. The incorporation was the one nonessential part of the transaction. The grating of the certificate, he said, was the important matter. Theoretically the Treasury Board was responsible, but actually it was in the hands of the Minister of Finance. It was upon his recommendation entirely that it was granted. Mr. Fielding was responsible for the bona fides of the subscription.

CREW WENT DOWN WITH TUGBOAT

Eight Are Lost and Other Boats Are Missing.

Special to the Review.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 16.—The tug Silver Spray, foundered outside of the Cleveland harbor, at an early hour this morning, and eight of the crew were drowned. Two other tugs are missing, and it is thought that they went down during the storm.

BRAKEMAN DIED FROM INJURIES

Had Attempted to Flag the Winnipeg Express and Was Struck.

Special to The Review.

North Bay, Ont., March 16.—George Cauchey, a brakeman on the Canadian Pacific Railway, is dead here as the result of injuries he received when he was struck by the Winnipeg express, which he attempted to flag some distance west of here. His home was at Point Levis, Quebec.

Commercial Arbitration.

London, March 16.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Hon. Sydney Buxton, president of the Board of Trade, speaking at the dinner of the Associated Chambers of Commerce, said it had been complained that the board did not give information regarding the new tariffs of other countries. The board had been cautious in such matters not to arouse false alarms. The question of commercial arbitration would probably come up at the Imperial conference, and it might be possible, as far as the Empire was concerned, to obtain uniform action.

Georges Meet To-day.

Toronto, March 16.—The mayor has called a meeting of Georges for four o'clock this afternoon in his office. Invitations have been sent to a number of men of prominence in the city who are of the same name as the King and all are expected to attend. The question of taking action to make a present to the King at the time of coronation will be discussed.

Must Stop the Train.

Cornwall, March 16.—An interesting case was tried before Judge Liddell and a jury in the Division Court at Cornwall, in which Duncan Monroe of Cornwall was awarded damages against the Grand Trunk Railway. Mr. Munroe purchased a ticket at Cornwall for Lansdowne, Ont., on Oct. 11. In the early hours of Oct. 12 he went to Hallorytown, a flag station, for one of the morning trains and asked to have the train flagged. The night operator complied with the request, but the engineer failed to stop, and Mr. Monroe was detained an entire day.

It developed that as a matter of law the timetable is a contract with the public and that the refusal of the engineer to stop when signalled, was a breach of that contract.

The jury agreed on a verdict for Mr. Monroe for $50. So far as the public legal records show, this is the first time that an action of this sort has ever been tried in the Province of Ontario.

THE MARVEL OF THE AIR AGAIN

Brings About Arrest of Russian Charged With Murder.

Special to the Review.

New York, N.Y., March 16.—A Russian who gave the name of Zogolowski, was arrested on the arrival of the German liner Zeiten, on a charge of murder. His arrest follows a search by wireless closely resembling that made for the apprehension of Dr. Crippen and Ethel Leneve.

CONFERENCE TO END THE MEXICAN REVOLUTION

Has Been Arranged to Take Place on Cuban Soil.

New York, March 16.—A conference to quell the revolution in Mexico is arranged to take place on Cuban soil between Jose y Limantour, Secretary of State Knox, and General Reyes, and is slated for the second week in April. It was stated positively last night that President Gomez of Cuba is named as intermediary. It is said he arranged the proposed conference. As a result of the conference it is prophesied that General Reyes will consent to run for the Presidency of Mexico, with the united support of the Diaz Government and Madero followers. Limantour will succeed Enrique C. Reel as Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Secretary Knox is now in Florida and within a few hours' reach of Cuba. General Reyes is in Paris. Reports received by Mexican refugees here last night stated that Reyes is about to leave, ostensibly for Vera Cruz, to answer a message from President Diaz asking him to return home whence he was exiled in 1909, but really to go to Havana for the conference. Limantour is in this city.

A Simple Explanation.

Ottawa, March 16.—There is a simple explanation to the complaint of A. S. Goodeve, in the House of Commons as to Lord Strathcona's alleged statement that the Canadian Ministers had been hypnotized by the brilliance of the American offer and had fallen into a "trap."

Mr. Goodeve read the Canadian Associated Press cable in The Ottawa Journal. By an error this paper had joined a paragraph interview with the Canadian High Commissioner in London to an editorial in The London Standard, the latter carrying the obnoxious expression.

GASES CAUSED DEATH OF MINER

Killaloe Man Met Death in Shaft of Mine

Special to the Review.

Cobalt, Ont., March 16.—Albert Sullivan, whose home was in Killaloe, was killed by gases this morning, while at work in a shaft in the Temiskaming mine. He was thirty years of age.

BETWEEN YOU AND ME

When we have the rubber factory in our midst we will always be tired.

Charity covers a multitude of sins, but an automobile frequently covers a swearing man monkeying at its innards.

Thomasville tried to get the rubber factory, but couldn't stretch itself sufficiently. Now it says that rubber factories have no soles anyway.

The spring openings are on to-morrow, ladies. We feared you might be wrapped up so tightly in your furs and fleeces that you mightn't be able to get out in time.

The eternal question is here again; what about my new hat? The aeroplane hat's chief feature is the altitude of the price tag.

Now, even if the rubber factory makes heels,—never mind the soles or other parts of a shoe—it ought to go in Lindsay.

Catarrhal Bad Breath

Corrected Quickly by the Use of

Catarrhozone

Catarrh is an inflammation. Where there is inflammation there is always more or less offensive secretion. Inflammation may be of the very active sort, but it is often of the slow kind, and this is the particular form in which the breath is rendered offensive and the presence of the sufferer becomes an offence to every person of delicate sensibility.

Bad breath is in itself sufficient to urge you to correct it, because one dislikes to be unpleasant to their friends, but this form of catarrh is dangerous because it supplies a hotbed for the development of Consumption or of other diseases of the throat and lungs.

Bad breath is an evidence that the microbes have found a good resting place and are carrying on their evil inroads into the health of the body.

Catarrhozone acts at once and destroys these minute organisms, but it does more—it heals the inflamed surfaces in which they found a nesting place and consequently removes both cause and effects of their action.

If we only highly estimated the value of prevention and used Catarrhozone at the beginning of a cold or just before it becomes well seated, the deadly ravages of Consumption would be stayed and the terrible agonies of sufferers of Asthma or Bronchitis completely abolished.

There is no remedy as effective for bad breath, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, etc., as Catarrhozone. Besides being healing and soothing it is germ destroying. Nothing ever offered to the public can compare with it in its promptness, efficiency, and permanency of action, and you can buy it from any dealer in medicine throughout the Dominion of Canada, 25c, 50c, and $1.00 sizes. By mail from The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

UNION LABEL

THE GARBAGE QUESTION

Citizens generally will be very glad indeed to learn that there is some prospect of the garbage collection question being taken up seriously. The lethargy of those supposed to be actively concerned in the matter of the city's health, due from whatever cause, has been neglect of a most important public duty. Let us hope, now that the garbage matter has been again tackled, that it will be put through to a satisfactory conclusion, in time for operation before the warm weather begins to intensify the nuisance.

Dr. McPherson should be commended for his efforts to gather information from other cities as to their plan for handling this problem, and it is hoped that he and the chairman of Board of Health, Dr. McNulty, will be able to present to the city council some sound, feasible scheme of garbage collection.

The need for some plan whereby regular collections of garbage are made from all houses and stores within a certain prescribed area is manifest, in order that disease-breeding and offensive refuse shall be quickly removed to some isolated spot. The house-holders would willingly pay a little each month towards such a scheme, with business places taxed a little extra in proportion and the city authorities will have strong public sentiment behind them in going ahead with the garbage program.

The Review is publishing the schemes prevailing in two or three Ontario cities in the class of Peterborough, and it may be that the methods adopted in these cities may afford some insight into the best and most economical methods of handling a vexing problem.

In all events let the Board of Health members take the matter up seriously as it deserves to be taken up, and let the city council grapple with the proposition as if it meant it.

BAD INVESTING

A Hamilton manufacturer who died recently, lost over $200,000 in bad financial ventures during his life-time and was reduced to comparative poverty, according to statements filed in the Surrogate Court in proving his estate. The story of financial disaster is not told chapter by chapter, as step by step it probably harrowed the very soul of the deceased. We are left to judge of the agony by the bald and emotionless set of figures presented, but what a tragedy they contain!

The case serves as a great object lesson. This manufacturer was reputed wealthy; was wealthy, to a very fair degree. But his judgment in selecting investments was undoubtedly very bad. Had he bought Cobalt script wholesale he could not have made worse selections. Out of $225,000 stock held in various institutions, the paid-up value of which is given as practically the par value, the market value to-day is $5,000. And that $5,000 is composed of one stock, that of the Canadian Machine Telephone Company, worth a tenth of par value.

The flotations of which the deceased took a good share were the Metropolitan Electrical Company, of Ottawa; Doherty Process Company; the Tilden-Jackson Typewriter Company; Enterprise Corporation, Limited; Fish River Silver and Copper Mining Company, and Hamilton Natural Gas and Mining Company. The net results of this business man's life were only the memories of an active career in iron founding, and the knowledge that some one else was benefiting by the fruits of his hard life labor.

THE WILKINSON LIBEL

For a week the libel action brought by Dr. Wilkinson, of Toronto, against the Hamilton Herald, dragged on in the courts at Toronto, and on Friday the jury returned a verdict of no libel, costs being assessed against the plaintiff.

The action arose out of the publication of news regarding the theft of high-grade Cobalt ore, and the arrest of Dr. Wilkinson, in connection therewith. Dr. Wilkinson objected to the character of the dispatches, and instituted actions against over thirty newspapers. Some of these settled his claim out of court, believing a few hundred dollars spent in that way a cheaper way of evading the issue than fighting it through the courts with the expensive legal fees connected therewith.

Among the big and wealthy newspaper corporations settling were the Toronto Globe, Montreal Star and Hamilton Spectator. The Herald's courage in fighting the action is most commendable, and proves that it is not always wisdom to give satisfaction to the class of people who threaten actions against publishers, on the chance of obtaining a settlement. We do not refer particularly to Dr. Wilkinson.

Many baseless suits for libel are started against newspapers, and in every case the plaintiffs—unless they are a recognized, responsible business concern—should be made to give security for costs. This would kill many actions, to the expense of defending which publishers are now put, in the bud, and would prevent the exploiting of frivolous complaints by legal men, ambitious for business.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Billy Maclean knows now at least what Major Beattie, of London, thinks of him.

Ontario will have a board of examiners on embalming. The beef trust officials are hereby notified to pass the examinations.

The Toronto fire and light committee has recommended a scale of wages for the firemen ranging from $750 to $1,000, although Chief Thompson recommended a minimum of $600 with increases covering six years to the maximum. Peterborough firemen get from $525 to $575. Of course the fact of having to live in Toronto makes the job worth the difference.

The Trades and Labor council at New Westminster, B.C., is against reciprocity, as being a measure against the interests of the workingman. If the farmers get higher prices, the extra money will come out of the pockets of those who buy from him—and that is the men and women who labor in the factories for hard earned wages.

The McNaught power bill to put all electric companies in the province under the jurisdiction of the Hydro-electric commission will not be acceptable to the private companies, because the commission is a rival in the power selling field. The commission might assist municipalities in just grievances frequently, but it will have to go carefully where its own interests are brought into conflict with the interests of the private companies.

Hon. Mr. Fielding is opposing the bill to incorporate the new French bank under the name of the Bank of Canada. Mr. Fielding is right, and should not permit the use of such a name. A mistake was made by those who allowed the Dominion Bank to get that name, although it is not nearly as sweeping in nature as the Bank of Canada. A Bank of Canada might be taken to represent a national institution, and the French concern operated by French capital proposed by Forget and his associates is anything but a national concern.

The senators engaged in a discussion on the admission of Chinese wives into Canada a couple of days ago. One venerable senator thought that as each Chinaman had several wives in the Celestial empire, they should all be admitted, or the Chinaman permitted to practice polygamy. In the interest of morality it is desirable that Chinese should have their own women with them, as the ravages of the Chinese among white women are too horrible to be told. The admission of Chinese women accompanying their husbands, should save much of this.

Liverpool Wheat Futures Close Higher, Chicago Lower—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

CHICAGO, March 15.—Dust storms in the northwest lifted the price of wheat to-day. A cold wave predicted for the winter crop belt to-night had a like effect. The advance, however, was not maintained, and there was an irregular close, ⅛c higher than last night, to ⅜c below. On corn the market suffered a net decline of a shade to ¼c, and for oats a gain was made of 1-16c to ¼c. Provisions wound up 5c to 22½c dearer, as compared with 24 hours before.

The Liverpool wheat market closed today ⅛d lower to ⅛d higher than yesterday; corn unchanged to ⅛d higher. Antwerp wheat closed unchanged, Berlin ⅜c lower, Budapest ¼c higher, Paris ¼c to ⅜c lower.

LIVERPOOL, March 15.—Closing—Wheat—Spot dull; No. 2 red western winter, no stock. Futures steady; March 6s 8¼d, May 6s 9⅛d, July 6s 9⅛d.

Flour—Winter patents easy, 27s 3d.

Hops—In London (Pacific coast) firm, £4 6s to £5 5s.

Pork—Prime mess, western, quiet, 85s.

Hams—Short cut, 14 to 16 lbs., dull, 54s.

Lard—Prime western, in tierces, easy, 46s 6d; American refined, in pails, dull, 47s 6d.

Cheese—Canadian, finest white, new, firm, 61s; Canadian finest colored, new, firm, 62c.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, March 15.—There was no improvement in the demand from foreign buyers for Manitoba spring wheat, and what few did come forward were from 1½c to 2c out of line with values here. It was reported that sales of 50,000 bushels of No. 2 C.W. oats were made to London. The local market was firmer in sympathy with the strength in Winnipeg, but the volume of business passing is small. Demand for flour continues slow from all sources, and prices show no change.

Oats—Canadian western, No. 2, 38¼c to 38½c, car lots, ex-store; extra No. 1 feed, 37¾c to 38c; No. 3 C.W., 37¼c to 37½c; No. 2 local white, 37¼c; No. 3 local white, 36¼c; No. 4 local white, 35¼c.

Corn—American No. 3 yellow, 56c to 56½c.

Feed barley—Car lots, ex-store, 49c to 50c.

Eggs—Selected, 22c; fresh, 23c to 25c; No. 1 stock, 20c; No. 2 stock, 18c.

Cheese—Westerns, 12c to 12½c; easterns, 11½c to 12c.

Butter—Choicest, 26c to 27c; seconds, 24½c to 25½c.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, March 15.—At the Canadian Pacific live stock market the receipts were 600 cattle, 100 sheep and lambs, 550 hogs and 1600 calves. A feature of the trade was the weaker feeling in the market for cattle, and prices ruled ¼c per pound lower than on Monday, which was attributed to the fact that the supply was in excess of the requirements. The demand was slow; the weather was much warmer, and, this being the Lenten season, the consumption of beef was curtailed to some extent, and butchers generally are only buying from hand to mouth for the time being. A few choice steers sold as high as 6¼c, but the bulk of the trading was done at 6c; good at 5½c to 5¾c; fairly good at 5c to 5¼c; fair at 4¾c, and common at 4½c per pound. A slow trade in cows at prices ranging from 3¾c to 5¼c, and bulls at from 3½c to 5¼c per pound.

The feature of the trade in small meats was the large offerings of calves, and prices scored another sharp decline. At the reduction the demand was good, and an active trade was done at prices ranging from $1 to $8 each. Old sheep sold at from $4 to $7, and yearling lambs at from $5 to $8 each. There was no change in the condition of the market for hogs, prices being steady on account of the smaller offerings; and sales of selected lots were made at $7.25 to $7.30 per 100 pounds, weighed off cars.

At the Montreal Stock Yards west end market the offerings of live stock this morning were 200 cattle, 100 sheep and lambs, 600 hogs and 1300 calves. The fire on Monday, which destroyed a portion of the eastern section of the stalls of the above market, has not, nor will it inconvenience business in any way, and the manager states that everything will be in first-class order by Monday next, and that there will be ample accommodation for all the cattle, sheep and hogs that come forward. A fair trade was done in hogs this morning, and, as the supply was smaller, prices ruled steady, with sales of selected lots at $7.25 to $7.30 per 100 pounds, weighed off cars. Receipts of calves are increasing, and prices are steadily tending towards a lower level. The demand is good, and sales were made at from $3 to $12 each, as to size and quality. Sheep sold at 5c per pound, and lambs at $6.25 to $6.85 per 100 pounds, and spring lambs at from $8 to $10 each.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, March 15.—Cattle—Receipts, 100 head; market active, steady; prime steers, $6.50 to $6.75; butcher grades, $3.50 to $6.40.

Calves—Receipts, 200 head; market slow and steady; cull to choice, $5.75 to $10.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 5000 head; market active, firm; choice lambs, $6.75 to $7; cull to fair, $5 to $6.50; yearlings, $5.50 to $6; sheep, $3 to $5.25.

Hogs—Receipts, 1700; market active and lower; yorkers, $7.40 to $7.50; stags, $5 to $5.25; pigs, $7.50 to $7.75; mixed, $7.30; heavy, $7.20 to $7.25; roughs, $6 to $6.30.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, March 15.—Beeves—Receipts, 2300; steers, slow and barely steady; bulls and cows, dull to 10c to 15c lower; steers, $5 to $6.75; bulls, $4 to $5; cows, $2.10 to $4.75.

Calves—Receipts, 1550. Market slow and 50c lower. Veals, $6 to $10; culls, $5 to $5.50.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 10,200; sheep, firm; lambs, 10c to 15c higher; ewes, $3.75 to $4.75; wethers, $5 to $5.35; lambs, $6 to $7.15; yearlings, $5.50 to $6.

Hogs—Receipts, 6490; market, easier; heavy to light, $7.35 to $7.75.

Hamilton will place $533,000 in debentures on the London market at 100 1-2, the bonds to be listed.

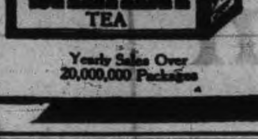
Tea Time Talks

The Healthfulness of Tea

Physicians who often forbid the use of Coffee and Cocoa to the well, prescribe tea for the sick. Of the three, tea is the only beverage that can be drunk for a lifetime without injurious effects. It is a harmless tonic—a gentle stimulant without reaction.

As tea is the most desirable beverage, so "Salada" is tea in its most desirable form.

"Salada" Ceylon Tea comes from tea plant to tea pot untouched by human hands, from the time the leaves fall into the picker's baskets. Its delicate aroma and delicious flavor are perfectly preserved in sealed, air-tight packages.



Yearly Sales Over 20,000,000 Packages

Ask your grocer for "Salada" Tea or send for a free trial package which makes 25 cups of delicious tea. We will mail it to you without charge. Say whether you use Black, Mixed or Green Tea and the price you pay per pound.

Seat For Bonar Law.

London, March 16.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Lord A. Compton, M.P. for Brentford, has resigned. He had a majority of 3,075 in the election last December. He is making way for Joynson Hicks, who will be the Unionist candidate in the bye-election.

Bonar Law, the Canadian, was adopted yesterday as Unionist candidate in Boothe, Lancashire, where Col. Sandys, who was unopposed in the general election, has resigned in his favor.

Max Aitken Coming Over.

London, March 16.—The Evening Times says Max Aitken, M.P., has left for Canada with the intention of initiating an anti-reciprocity campaign, and endeavor to get an appeal to Canadians through a general election. Further, it says that if Laurier can be persuaded to this course, it is probable that in the autumn several British M.P.'s will leave for Canada to assist in the campaign and conduct a mission from Vancouver to Quebec.

Not Workable.

Ottawa, March 15.—The bill to provide that railway employes be paid twice a month was defeated on second reading in the Senate yesterday by 13 to 12. Senator Jones said the bill did not look practicable, and Senator Casgrain declared that it was unfriendly towards the railways. Others favored the principle of the bill, but thought it unworkable.

Fourteen Bodies Recovered.

Nashville, Tenn., March 16.—At two o'clock yesterday afternoon, fifteen men had been recovered from the ruins of the recently burned building, the walls of which collapsed yesterday morning on a gang of laborers, fourteen of whom were dead.

The body of Ralph McCollum, son of a well-known local musician, was the last to be recovered. His head was mashed into a pulp.

Burglars at Lindsay.

Lindsay, March 16.—Daring burglars broke into the Foy shoe store here Tuesday night and got away with some $60 in cash by looting the safe. Strange to say a small bag labelled Sunday school collection, which contained a small sum of money, and which was sitting on the safe, was left untouched.

BRAVE BOYS IN BLUE.

Courageous Constables Who Have Been Killed on Duty.

The recent tragedy in Houndsditch recalls many similar examples of police heroism in the face of terrible odds, all going to show that the men in blue have never hesitated to risk their lives in the course of their duty.

Constable Davey of Acton, so far as record shows, was the first policeman to be shot dead by a thief. Davey suspected a man named Brookes to be implicated in a certain robbery, and Brookes knew that Davey was on his track. Brookes called at Davey's house at night, and shot him down.

In the seventies a policeman was shot at Whalley Range, near Manchester, and two brothers, named Habron, were accused, and sent to penal servitude for life. It was afterwards discovered that they were innocent, and that the real assassin was the notorious Charles Peace. Peace shot at and wounded P. C. Robinson in his last exploit, before his daring career was brought to a close.

Again, in 1881, P. C. Atkins surprised a gang burgling a house standing in its own grounds at Kingston, and was shot down.

Up to the time of this affair burglars had rarely used revolvers, but now the practice became common, and, in the following year, P. C. Cole was murdered at Dalston. The murderer was Orrock, a young man who was a member of the Baptist chapel he was breaking into when Cole came upon the scene, and was considered quite a model youth. But two years went over before justice was done, and then Orrock was run to earth quite by accident.

He had left his chisel behind him at the chapel, and on the blade was scratched the word "rock," and when, some months after the murder, a man named Orrock was sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment for housebreaking, a detective got into conversation with one of Orrock's friends — also "doing time"—and learned something which brought the murder of Cole to his mind. The chisel was then examined under a microscope, and underneath the word "rock" was found another, which the microscopist made out to be "Orrick."

This was enough to hang the murderer, and hanged he was accordingly.

Following the murder of Cole, further regulations were made to enable the police to meet the new class of desperadoes on something like equal terms. Double patrols were arranged in certain places, constables were allowed to have revolvers when it appeared necessary, and whistles were given them.

In the year of the Dalston murder there was a desperate affray in Hoxton. James Wright, a hardened villain, shot three policemen, wounding them severely. The case which followed over roofs of houses, where the ruffian kept his pursuers at bay with a revolver for more than two hours, forms one of the most exciting episodes in police annals.

Inspector Simmons, of the Essex Constabulary, the following January, was shot at Romford by one of three men whom he had been watching. His murderer, James Lee, was tracked owing to his stupidity in pledging his pistol at the pawnbroker's shop where he had previously pawned it.

One of the men with Lee was an ex-convict who had been concerned in shooting at two policemen in Gloucestershire, and another was a member of the gang who burgled Netherby Hall, Cumberland, and whose subsequent flight furnishes an intensely dramatic story.

The gang were pursued from place to place until they were run to earth, twenty-four hours afterwards, and captured, fighting desperately. During their flight they shot four policemen, wounding three, and killing one outright.

Then, in July, 1885, there occurred a terrific fight between a young constable and a masked burglar, whom he surprised on the roof of a house in Kensington. Four shots were fired at the officer, who was subsequently found insensible. Holland, another constable, was assailed by three burglars in St. Marylebone Churchyard, in August, 1886, and was shot in the leg by one of them.

A burglary at Muswell Hill, in 1889, when a gang, armed with revolvers, severely wounded one of the inmates, led to the old, heavy regulation boots being discarded for boots with india rubber soles for night duty; and after this affair came a cessation of murderous outrages with the burglar's revolver until London was startled by the extraordinary affray at Tottenham, in 1908, which is sufficiently recent to be remembered by everyone.

How "T. P." Rests.

It would not be an easy matter to find a man who works more strenuously than Mr. T. P. O'Connor. When, a short time ago, he went to America to collect the funds for the Irish Party which have furnished so much talk and discussion, he traveled 12,000 miles in eight weeks, delivering speeches almost every day. Then the doctor ordered him complete rest. "T.P." rested for two days; then he got restless, wrote a long magazine article, delivered two speeches, each of nearly one hour's duration, and afterwards wrote another short article, which he posted himself between one and two o'clock in the morning. Mr. O'Connor writes everything with his own hands on a typewriter. He has one machine in his library and another by the side of his bed, and each typewriter lasts him little more than twelve months.

Dangerous Work.

Cordite, used by the British soldiers, is the outcome of a strange paradox—the result of mixing two most powerful explosives is a smokeless, slow-burning powder of great velocity. Nitroglycerine and guncotton mixed together with a little petroleum jelly make cordite. In the factory women knead the two deadly explosives into paste with the same unconcern as if they were kneading dough for bread. Indeed, machines similar to those used in bakeries take up the work and knead the buff-colored cordite paste for seven hours.

Lake St. Clair is practically free of ice and an early opening of navigation is assured.

For thirty-five years (and I am now a man over seventy) I have been a terrible sufferer from Constipation.

No matter what remedy or physician I employed, the result was always the same—impossible to get a cure.

About two years ago, I read the testimonial of Hon. John Costigan regarding "Fruit-a-tives" and I decided to give this fruit medicine a trial. I have used "Fruit-a-tives" ever since. "They are the first and only medicine that suited my case. If it were not for "Fruit-a-tives", I am satisfied that I could not live." JAMES PROUDFOOT.

The liver controls the bowels by giving up enough bile to make the bowels move. The only possible way to cure constipation is to make the liver active and healthy and thus store up sufficient bile to move the bowels.

"Fruit-a-tives" acts directly on the liver—ensures an abundance of bile—and causes the bowels to move regularly and naturally. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At dealers, or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Goes to the Jury.

Albany, N.Y., March 16.—Testimony in the trial of Mrs. Edith Melber, the young widow who is charged with killing her child by administering carbolic acid on Jan. 6, was practically closed when the court adjourned yesterday afternoon and the case is expected to go to the jury to-night. Three doctors, who have spent years as superintendents of institutions for the insane, and studied mental disorders, testified yesterday that in their judgment the woman is rational and was mentally sound when the act was committed.

Brutal Hold-Up In New York.

New York, March 16.—Entering a restaurant on Cherry street early yesterday, three hold-up men strangled Diego Lacala, the cook, strung him up by the neck with a noose, which they attached to a meat hook, and slashed his face with a knife as they went through his pockets and robbed him of $136. After robbing the cash drawer of $10, the men fled, and Lacala nearly strangled to death before he managed to free himself. He is in a serious condition from loss of blood.

Sensational Murder Trial.

London, Eng., March 16.—Stinis Morrison yesterday was found guilty of the murder of Joseph Beron, and sentenced to death.

The police tried to connect the tragedy with the Houndsditch anarchist burglar gang.

The trial was one of the most sensational and longest drawn-out that has been held in London.

Beron's body was found on Clapham common with the initial "S" gashed with a knife on each cheek.

Out of the Woods.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., March 16.—Yesterday morning's train on the Algoma Central Railway brought in 250 men who had been working for Oberl Construction Co. and in various camps of the Lake Superior Corporation during the winter. This is the first instalment of lumberjacks arriving in the Soo this season, and is unusually large. The men have overrun the town and the authorities are busy keeping them under control.

Radicals Exult.

London, March 16.—At a meeting yesterday of the extreme Radical members of the House of Commons, among whom are those opposed to a big navy program, resolutions were adopted expressing much satisfaction over Sir Edward Grey's utterances in support of the arbitration suggestion of President Taft.

In a Dual Role.

Kingston, March 16.—Just before the train left for Belleville L. Cuneo, a member of the "Three Twins" theatrical company, secured a marriage license, and with another member of the company, Gladys Peden, went to St. George's Cathedral, where they were married. Canon Starr tied the knot.

OTTUMWA WOMAN CURED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ottumwa, Iowa.—"For years I was almost a constant sufferer from female trouble in all its dreadful forms; shooting pains all over my body, sick headache, spinal weakness, dizziness, depression, and everything that was horrid. I tried many doctors in different parts of the United States, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done more for me than all the doctors. I feel it my duty to tell you these facts. My heart is full of gratitude to you for my cure."—Mrs. HARRIET E. WAMPLER, 524 S. Ransom Street, Ottumwa, Iowa.

Consider This Advice.

No woman should submit to a surgical operation, which may mean death, until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous medicine, made only from roots and herbs, has for thirty years proved to be the most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, confidential, and always helpful.

How a Local Young Man Made Money

There are many people in and around the City of Peterborough who have money, looking for investment, who prefer a safe investment, such as bonds or low rate of interest, to investing in mortgages or other securities which require special judgment in selecting, and constant and careful watching to avoid loss. To such we would commend the following result to their careful consideration—

A young man of the City of Peterborough had his life insured sixteen years ago last January for Ten Thousand Dollars ON A SINGLE PAYMENT 15-YEAR ENDOWMENT PLAN. The premium paid was $6,460.00. On the 31st of January, 1910, the company paid him $12,116.00 in cash, after giving him fifteen years of free insurance. What do you think of that as an investment?

Are bonds or municipal debentures, or even the best mortgages, to be compared with it, when you consider that the risk of the life was carried during the 15 years? And remember, the security is as safe as any debenture or mortgage, and there was no trouble or expense entailed of any kind after the initial investment.

The above result was obtained from the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, under policy No. 47340, W.H.B.

TIME ROLLS 'ROUND

Spring's Here Again

With the Fashion Show of Millinery

WOMAN! Oh, Woman! You cannot stop time, nor can we—seasons come, seasons go, we all try to keep pace, some of us try to get ahead. It's no go, time flies too fast for us and all we end up in doing is "doing our best" "looking our best," The spring season is again here with the gloriousness of other springs; each time we think we have succeeded in outdoing all past records, we're honest in it, but who is the judge?—YOU. You are judge as far as you are concerned, others judge for themselves, and yet we may never know the verdict only by the result of our efforts. The verdict in general must have been a good one in past seasons for the results were gratifying to us.

We open our Millinery Parlors for the judges to come en masse and pass on the show of new spring millinery which we have selected from the season's best. Tomorrow is the first day. All are welcome.

AN INMATE OF THE JAIL DEAD

John Chesney Passed Away at Age of 60 Years

The death occurred at the county jail yesterday of John Chesney, aged 60 years who had been confined in that place only recently. His mind had became unbalanced, this necessitating his removal to the jail.

The deceased had been a farmer near Buckhorn. He was born in Quebec.

Dr. Greer empanelled a coroner's jury for the usual investigation and the inquest was held this morning.

The funeral will take place to-morrow morning at ten o'clock to the Lakefield cemetery.

FINE ST. PATRICK'S Y.W.C.A. CONCERT

Irish Songs and Decorations—Splendid Program

A delightful and very successful St. Patrick's concert was held last evening at the Y.M.C.A., in which Irish songs, decorations and colors predominated.

The program was given in the gymnasium, which was comfortably filled. Mrs. H. P. Kennedy, convenor of the Social Committee, presided in a most capable and pleasing manner.

In a few opening words of welcome she explained the nature of the evening's entertainment, and then proceeded with the program, as follows—

Piano duet—Misses Hawkey and McGill.

Vical solo—Miss Dawson.

Solo—Miss Florence Scott.

Violin selection—Miss Flavelle.

Vocal solo—Miss Olive Howell.

Solo—Miss Kathleen Martin.

Reading—Miss McCalla.

Miss Helen Davies was accompanist for the vocal numbers, and for the violin selection by Miss Flavelle.

After the program dainty refreshments were served by several young ladies and the evening was brought to a happy conclusion.

TALES OF WOE AT THE POLICE COURT

Young Man Charges Another With Assault—Heavy Drink Bill

A young man with a badly battered and cut face appeared at police court this morning and laid an information against his assailant, one of the young men who was involved in the scrap on Tuesday and was fined $5.75 yesterday.

The complainant has been under the doctor's care since, and has his head swathed in bandages, and is minus a tooth. He claimed to have been assaulted without provocation by the young man in question who is of a very respectable family.

The case was adjourned till next Monday when his assailant will appear at court.

A COSTLY SPREE.

A middle aged, respectable appearing man was over-come by strong drink on Wednesday and paid $2 this morning. He came to the city with his wife from Lakefield and blew in a sum of money said to be nearly $40.

They have tickets to Lakefield and will return there.

SHAREHOLDERS DECIDE TO FIGHT

Against Attempt to Collect Double Liability From Them

Milton, Ont., March 15. — A large number of the Halton shareholders of the Farmers Bank yesterday decided to contest any attempt to collect the double liability, on the grounds that the charter of the defunct bank had been obtained by fraud, and funds were subscribed for the costs.

Funeral To-morrow

The funeral of the late Stephen G. Hetherington will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2.45 o'clock, from his late residence, 500 Charlotte street, and proceed to Little Lake cemetery for interment. Service at the house will be held at 2.30, conducted by Canon Davidson.

Mrs. Ralph Thompson is visiting friends in Belleville.

E. W. Williams, of Picton, is a guest at the White House.

Wm. H. Carter, of Orillia, was a guest at the Munro House yesterday.

Mr. Charles Gibson, who has been employed in the city for some time, returned to Toronto yesterday.

Miss Minnie Walker has returned to her home in Welland, after visiting Miss L. Beach, Charlotte street.

Mr. Bert McIsaacs, who has been on an extended surveying trip, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. Clemence, Walton street.

Mrs. R. F. Downey, 298 Boswell avenue, has returned from Whitby, after spending a few days with her mother, who is very ill.

WEDDING BELLS

WATSON—SHARPE.

At Knox church manse last evening at eight o'clock, the wedding was quietly solemnized of Mabel Irene Sharpe and John Steven Watson. Rev. H. J. Keith officiated.

Both young people are very well known and popular in the city, and the best wishes for future happiness are extended to them. They will reside on Sherbrooke street.

OFFICERS FOR THE AUXILIARY

St. John's Branch Held Encouraging Annual Meeting

St. John's branch of the Woman's Auxiliary held a most successful annual meeting last Tuesday afternoon. The attendance was large. All the reports showed an advance in the work.

The 25th anniversary thank offering collection was a good one, with the prospect of an increase from absent members. The following officers were elected:

Hon. President—Mrs. Vernon.

President—Mrs. Davidson.

1st Vice-President—Mrs. A. Stevenson.

2nd Vice-President—Mrs. Campbell.

Secretary—Miss Mencke.

Treasurer—Mrs. Aylmer.

Dorcas Secretary—Mrs. Best.

Literary Secretary—Miss Archer.

Delegates to Toronto Annual—Mrs. Davidson, Mrs. Stevenson, Miss Mencke.

Substitutes—Mrs. McClellan, Mrs Turner, Mrs. Morris (Juniors.)

International Secretary Here

Dr Brown, International Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, is visiting the local association.

While here he will be in conference with Messrs. G. J. Sovereign and James, physical directors, of Belleville and Orillia Y.M.C.A. respectively, an J. J. Thompson, the local physical director.

This afternoon Dr. Brown addressed a shop meeting in the Wm. Hamilton foundry.

SUNDAY OPENING FOR LIBRARIES

Provincial Inspector Advocates This in Annual Report

Open the public libraries on Sunday, Walter R. Nursey, Provincial Inspector of Libraries, advocates. In his annual report to the Minister of Education Mr. Nursey says;

Personally the principle of Sunday opening appeals to me. The same, librarian cannot, of course, be expected to work seven days in the week nor is it desirable, but where the services of an attendant can be secured for an hour or so, why not give access to the reading or reference rooms?

It is noticeable that the one reason advanced against Sunday opening and that in two instances only, is that librarians should, like the majority of workers, have Sundays free. The question of "principle" or expediency is not referred to.

Many libraries in Vermont have Sunday hours.

Rev. Bracken at St. Johns

Rev. H. A. Bracken, who took the service at St. John's church last night gave an interesting address on "Prayer."

Tom Marks Coming

Tom Marks and his company will be seen at the Grand Opera House, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week.

No Class To-night

Dr. McCulloch's home nursing class at the Y.W.C.A. has been cancelled for this evening.

Held Back One Week

Owing to a change in Miss Macdonald's Ottawa program, her coming to Peterborough will be deferred one week. She will address a public meeting in St. Paul's church Sunday afternoon, March 26th, at 4.15, and will also speak at a drawing room meeting on the following Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 at the Y.W.C.A. Miss Macdonald has but recently reached Canada after spending four years in Japan, and has a most interesting story to tell.

Coins Without Crown

The new dies from which Canadian coins will be milled at the mint on Sussex street arrived yesterday from the old country and will shortly replace those in use at present.

When the new coins are turned out they will show the head of King George, but without a crown, as the King of Great Britain has yet to undergo his coronation.

At present the mint is turning out the new imperial sovereign, bearing the head of King George. The only distinguished mark to show that it is made here is a small "C." The new sovereigns are already in circulation.—Ottawa Free Press.

"The Romance of the Reaper," the moving picture lecture entertainment which will be given in the Crystal theatre on Saturday, matinee and evening, by Mr. Wheeler, is an exceptionally good attraction. The Romance has to do, as its name indicates, with the great harvesting operations in the west. It is under the auspices of the International Harvester Co. bureau, and is an intensely interesting representation of the bustle in the wheat fields when the reapers get busy.

There are more than 100 colored views in the entertainment, and over 4,000 feet of motion pictures are used.

The early days of agriculture, its progress from the reaping cradle on to the present day magnificent machines, are faithfully shown. The gasoline tractor is shown, Harvesting scenes in many countries, the making of the great machines, and why the modern farmer is king of all are features of the great entertainment.

The application of modern scientific machine methods to big farming problems is most interestingly given, and the Crystal will undoubtedly be well patronized on Saturday, to hear the gifted lecturer describe his unique and interesting pictures.

NARROW ESCAPE IN A RUNAWAY

Prompt Action of Chief Thompson Prevented Accident

Richard Sheehy, the young son of Contractor Sheehy, narrowly escaped serious injury in a runaway accident last evening about 5.40 at the corner of Simcoe and Water.

Young Sheehy was driving an express cart east on Simcoe street. The bit of the harness broke and the horse commenced to get up speed. At the corner the cart slewed so violently as to throw the young lad out, and it was by the narrowest margin that he escaped going under the wheels.

Chief Thompson happened to be rounding the corner at the time, and promptly ran out and grasped the frightened horse by the nose, the bridle having slipped back over its head. The rig, however, came in contact with a telegraph pole, and was smashed to pieces. Spokes from one of the front wheels were strewed over the road.

Had it not been for the promptness of the chief's actions however, a serious accident might have occurred.

The Advantage of This Modern Plan of cumulative buying has never been illustrated more remarkably than in this Piano Club and the circumstances which have led up to it. Briefly they are as follows:

Messrs. Gourlay, Winter & Leeming, a firm of the highest reputation, with whom we are proud to be associated, found over a year ago that to meet the steadily increasing demand for their Pianos a new factory of enlarged capacity was required.

A new factory was therefore built, which in its equipmenf is one of the finest Piano Manufacturing Plants on the American Continent. In November last, a larger staff of expert piano workmen having been engaged, work was commenced looking to an output of nearly double the previous capacity. During the usually quiet winter months the factory has been running full time, and in some departments overtime, and as a result the larger output is now a daily fact. Though the makers have a market provided for every Piano they can turn out as soon as the Spring season opens, the interval of a few weeks between now and then gave us our opportunity

WE OFFERED A CONTRACT FOR FIFTY PIANOS FOR IMMEDIATE DELIVERY, RECEIVING IN RETURN SPECIAL PURCHASING ADVANTAGES THAT MAKE THIS CLUB OFFER POSSIBLE

A Word About the Pianos

We want to impress it upon the minds of every resident of Peterborough County that these fifty pianos are from the regular stock of the Gourlay, Winter & Leeming factory. They are not, as is sometimes the case, made for special sale of very ordinary material by some unknown maker. They are manufactured throughout of first class materials by the highest skilled labor, in a factory that in its equipment and standards of work, has no superior anywhere. The manufacturers themselves bear a reputation as a firm of the highest integrity who have never yet made a piano of even doubtful quality, and we do not believe they could be induced to do so.

The pianos are what are known as the Style X McMillan Piano, manufactured by Gourlay, Winter & Leeming. The cases are made in handsomely figured walnut and mahogany, are all double veneered throughout and beautifully finished.

50 MEMBERS

The Club is limited to Fifty Members. Fifty Pianos are all we can procure at the Special Figure. We, therefore, need scarcely say that prompt enrolment is advisable.

INSPECTION and COMPARISON ARE INVITED NOW AT 372 WATER STREET

A Word About the Pianos

DESCRIPTION — $7\frac{1}{3}$ octaves; copper-wound overstrung bass; full composite metal frame with maple bushed tuning pins; fine quality spruce sound-board; compound quartered rock maple tuning pin block; double repeating action; three pedals, third pedal sustaining; dulcephone or muffler stop under key board; ivory keys and ebony sharps; full length music desk; Boston double fall board; continuous hinges on top and fall board; carvidg on panels hand work, not stucco or machine carving.

DIMENSIONS — Height, 4 feet 8 inches; depth, 2 feet 3 inches; width, 5 feet 2 inches; weight (boxed) 850 pounds.

This Piano Club offers to its Members Advantages and Privileges not otherwise obtainable. Read them carefully:

First — Members secure a Fine Upright Piano which regularly sells at $375 for $300 -- actual saving of $75.

Second — Members pay $10 deposit upon joining the club; the piano is delivered at once, and the balance may be paid in weekly instalments of $1.50 each without interest or extras of any kind.

Third — We agree to tune the Piano whenever required without charge until the time of payment has elapsed — a saving to club members of what is usually an expense.

Fourth — We have made arrangements to insure every club piano delivered in the county of Peterborough against loss by fire until it is fully paid for. Should a piano be injured or destroyed by fire during the time of payment, we agree to replace it by a new piano of similar style and make — another item of expense and worry saved.

Fifth — In some cases another plan of payment may be more convenient than that outlined in Clause 2. We have, therefore, prepared four other plans for the option of members, from which it will be seen that the faster you pay the less it will cost. The options are as follows:

Plan B — A deposit of $10 and monthly payments of $6 until paid, without interest. Price $300.
Plan C — A deposit of $25 and monthly payments of $8 until paid, without interest. Price $288.
Plan D — A deposit of $50 and monthly payments of $10 until paid, without interest. Price $280.
Plan E — Payment of cash in full within 30 days. Price $265.

NEW SCHOOL.

A new school will be erected on S. S. No. 13, Methuen, and the clerk was authorized to prepare a by-law for the issuing of debentures for that purpose. The debentures will extend over a period of four years and bears interest at 6 per cent. The county treasurer was instructed to accept $25.00 in payment of all taxes against taxes of west half of lot 29, in 6th concession, up to December 31, 1909. It was decided to open up the 7th concession line across lot 13 to the south shore of Belmont Lake, and a by-law to that effect will be introduced at next meeting. Several transactions in regard to timber on the township roads were also made. The next meeting of the council will be held on March 25th in the Havelock town hall.

C. A. Ghent, of town, was elected treasurer of the East Peterborough Liberal Conservative Association at their annual meeting in Norwood. Mr. Jos. Knox was selected as Havelock's representative on the executive; J. B. Peebles, for Belmont, and Norris Whitney for Methuen.

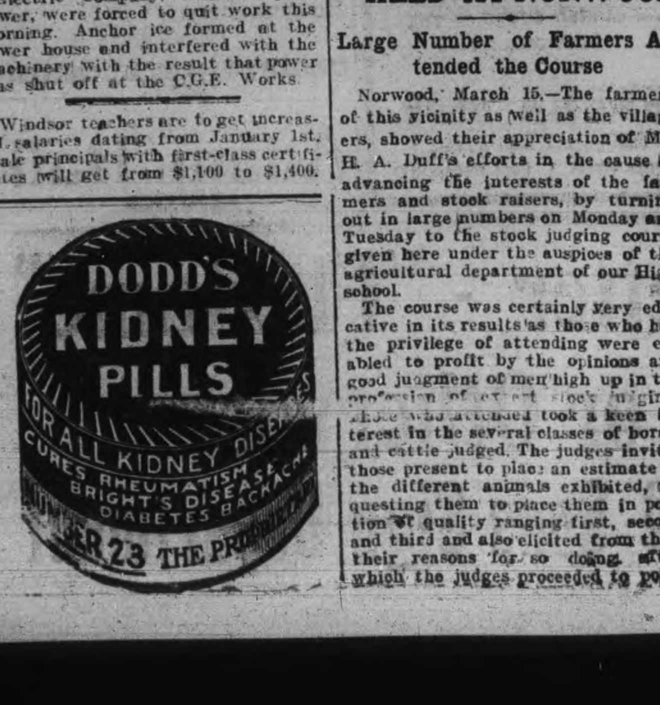
Mr. Mullett, I.O.F. organizer, of Peterborough, was in town on Tuesday.

Interfered With Machinery

The employees of the different departments of the Canadian General Electric Company, which require power, were forced to quit work this morning. Anchor ice formed at the power house and interfered with the machinery with the result that power was shut off at the C.G.E. Works.

Windsor teachers are to get increased salaries dating from January 1st. Male principals with first-class certificates will get from $1,100 to $1,400.



STOCK JUDGING HELD AT NORWOOD

Large Number of Farmers Attended the Course

Norwood, March 15.—The farmers of this vicinity as well as the villagers, showed their appreciation of Mr. H. A. Duff's efforts in the cause of advancing the interests of the farmers and stock raisers, by turning out in large numbers on Monday and Tuesday to the stock judging course given here under the auspices of the agricultural department of our High school.

The course was certainly very educative in its results as those who had the privilege of attending were enabled to profit by the opinions and good judgment of men high up in the profession of expert stock judging. Those who attended took a keen interest in the several classes of horses and cattle judged. The judges invited those present to place an estimate on the different animals exhibited, requesting them to place them in position of quality ranging first, second and third and also elicited from them their reasons for so doing, after which the judges proceeded to point out the exceptionally strong points in the different animals, comparing one with another and gave reasons based on expert judgment why he would award the animals exhibited first, second or third place. Such demonstrations as we have had the pleasure of witnessing will no doubt have a lasting effect and will act as a stimulus in the breeding and production of a superior class of horses and cattle in East Peterborough.

Mr. Duff is to be congratulated on the very successful and satisfactory efforts in behalf of the people of the County of Peterborough.

Miss Florence Foster, of Peterborough, spent the week-end here, the guest of her parents.

Mrs. H. Stuart and little son, are the guest of Miss Jane Stuart.

Preston Armstrong and Leonard Armstrong, of Jerymn, attended the funeral of the late Mrs. J. Knox here last week.

Take TWO Havelock—

Fred Kemp, who has been employed in Walter Perrin's jewellery store for several years, left on Saturday morning accompanied by Fred Cummings, for Nelson, B.C.

Mrs. Geo. Kempt is visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. Richardson in Tillsonburg, also Mrs. J. K. Brightwell, (nee Ina Kempt) in River Rouge, Mich.

Miss Payne, of Warsaw, is the guest of Miss Roxie Andrews.

Mrs. Geo. Duffield is in Toronto with her mother, Mrs. Minaker, who is seriously ill.

Mr. Eaton, of Peterborough, has beeen engaged as clerk in Mr. J. Rorks' Hardware store.

We are sorry to note the very serious illness of H. G. McFarlane, one of our High school teachers. His mother, Mrs. McFarlane, of Ridgetown, is with him for a few days.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Newel took place this morning from her residence to St. Paul's church and then to the R.C. cemetery. The deceased was in her 87th year.

Mrs. C. W. Waters and Master Lesly, were in Peterborough last week.

Mr. H. Mawson spent Sunday in Springbrooke.

Dr. Wilson, of Hastings, has opened up a dentistry office here and visits Norwood every Friday.

Miss Belle Howson spent Sunday at her home in Keene.

Mrs. W. J. Trenouth is visiting her parents in Bowmanville.

Geo. Duffield has returned from Toronto.

Miss S. Livingston, of Peterborough, is the guest of her mother here.

The staff of Mr. E. P. Cuffe's millinery parlors are busy getting ready for their spring millinery openings.

Miss Eva Patterson entertained a number of her friends on Monday evening.

Fred Neibly, of Toronto, is the guest of his parents here.

CHEESE FACTORY IMPROVEMENTS

New Machinery to be Installed —News From Jermyn

Special to the Review.

Jermyn, March 15.—Harry Evans is in town again, after having spent the past two months in Toronto.

Miss M. Eason, of Peterborough, spent Sunday with her parents.

Miss R. Carter, of Norwood High School, spent Sunday in town.

A number of people from here attended the funeral of the late Mr. Breckenridge, of Indian River, on Sunday.

Mr. James Lang, jr., accompanied by Andy Shearer, left for the prairie provinces Monday night. We wish him every success in the west.

Those Jermyn people who had the good fortune to be at a wedding in Dummer last Wednesday, report an enjoyable time.

O yes! We are all going to the Indian River social to be held at the church Friday night under the auspices of the "Green Amateurs" committee. It is understood that considerable outside talent will assist in the program, so a good time is assured. We would remind any from Peterborough who contemplate attending the social that the morning train leaves at 7.20 a.m.

Walter Dixon, assessor, passed through the locality.

Robert Shearer, of Lang, passed through town Sunday en route from Lakehurst. "Darky" came home also.

J. Hogan, of Shearer cheese factory, shows us that he is a man who believes in keeping up to date. He is remodelling the interior of the factory and is installing new machinery.

Mr. S. Armstrong, proprietor of Whitewood camp, No. 37, intends to start sawing shingles this week, as no more logs are to come in.

Mrs. Hunt, of Red Deer, Alberta, is visiting with her brother, Fred Fife.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Fife, of Norwood, visited friends here recently.

A mass meeting of all those who get their mail from Jermyn is being called on Tuesday night to discuss post office matters.

BENSFORT

RECIPROCITY.

Reciprocity and annexation have been main topics for some time. The financial standpoint has been discussed as to how it would affect us as a country, and people generally from a profit and loss basis. But the financial standpoint is not the only condition from which we should judge a matter of such vital importance to a country or countries. Reciprocity would ultimately mean annexation. And with this point in view would it not be best for us to consider whether or not it would be best for us to dismember ourselves from the British Empire, of which we are proud on account of the liberty we enjoy, and of our national purity, and annex ourselves with a country which has no national Sabbath, and whose saloons and workshops are open on that day as on any other. Truly, they are of our own flesh and blood, but missionaries in the far west claim that they are the hardest to Christianize, with which they have to deal. We are bad enough as a people, no doubt, but we recognize crime as being contrary to law. Law is with them a thing of minor importance, especially in regard to things religious. The scientific Americans build stars, as was shown a few years ago, and no doubt thought that it belittled God's handiwork. Our politicians do God an injustice sometimes when they claim that our prosperity is due to their good government. God is blamed for a poor harvest and should, therefore, be praised for good, but I fear our sense of praise will perish altogether, should we become one with a people who set God aside as our cousins across the line do. Let us ever remember that righteousness exalteth a nation but sin is a reproach to any people.

Quite a number of our young people have been to Millbrook to hear the famous evangelist, Rev. H. G. Crossley. All speak highly of him and much good will be accomplished by his two weeks' sojourn in our neighboring village. We may at some future date have him with us.

Walter Sanderson and Miss Louise Wilson, of Harwood, were married on the 8th inst, and have taken up residence in the house vacated by Mr. Benjamin McMann. Friends join in wishing them much happiness in their new home. A charivari party waited on them after they had returned to their home and were courteously received by them. Music and the accompanying little hop was given.

Master Wilfred Nurse, son of Mr. George Nurse, of Long Island, Rice Lake, has been very sick. Nurse Jamieson, Baileboro, has been in attendance, and we are pleased to learn that he is recovering.

Peter Dodd, of Elgin, Manitoba, after visiting friends here, has left for his home.

We are sorry to hear of a disastrous fire in Millbrook on Friday night. It is learned that quite a section of the business centre has been wiped out by the fire demon. This is the second outbreak of fire in that village within little over a month, when Mr. Needler's flour mill succumbed to the flames.

Montreal reports a rumor that the C. P. R. is trying to acquire the Erie Railway.

THE STARS FELL DOWN

Kingston Frontenacs Had Easy Victory—Score 18-5

Kingston, March 16.—The junior Frontenacs defeated the All-Stars of the O.H.A. here last night by a score of 18 to 5, with the half-time score standing 9 to 4 in favor of the champions. The Frontenacs started off bewildered, and for a few minutes it was anyone's game. The little chaps tallied five before the Stars had time to notice, two being scored direct from the face-off. The Stars' first goal was scored by Hunt of the Frontenacs. The Frontenacs' fine team work assisted them a great deal. The ice was in fine condition and the game was very fast all through.

Both teams played better and faster than at Toronto. The Stars endeavored to make up for lost time, but the Frontenacs checked harder than ever, and almost succeeded in shutting the Stars out. In the last half they only made one goal to Frontenacs' nine.

The teams—

All-Stars—Goal, Addison; point, Heffernan; cover, McBurnie; centre, McKenzie; rover, Crane; wings, Brown and Hill.

Frontenacs—Goal, Williams; point, Davidson; cover, McCammon; centre, Hunt; rover, Brouse; wings, Millan and Boyer.

Referee—Harvey Sproule, Toronto.

BASEBALL

The Reach Official American League Baseball Guide for 1911 has reached this office. This issue is the twenty-ninth consecutive annual publication fo the Reach Guide, the twelfth issue under the present editorship and the eleventh yearly edition as the official handbook of the American League.

As the Official Guide of the American League the Reach Guide contains in completed form, everything of interest—both official and unofficial—concerning the doings, the records and the averages of that organization during the eventful season of 1910. Nothing has been left unrecorded, and everything has been so exhaustively narrated as to warrant the complete satisfaction of the magnates, managers players and patrons of the American League.

But, while the Reach Guide is distinctly an Official Guide of the American League, it has not discarded any of the features which have made it hitherto a valuable general guide. It still covers the entire baseball field, doing ample justice to the National League and the various National Association minor leagues, all of whose official records and averages for the season of 1910 are given in full.

Considering the vast ground covered, the care and work expended upon the text, the number and beauty of the illustrations, and the completeness alike of the historical and statistical presentations, we are confident that the 1911 Reach Guide is up to its standard, and that means supreme excellence in this line of baseball literature—a broad claim truly, but one that we are confident will be, as heretofore, amply sustained by both critics and public; in fact, by the entire baseball world, to please which in all ways is the earnest and constant endeavor of the A. J. Reach Company.

Y.M.C.A. SPORT

The game last night between the Ponies and Featherweights of the City Baseball League, furnished one of the surprises of the season. The Ponies had their shooting togs on and they certainly showed that they knew where the basket was when they got their hands on the ball, the half-time score being 23 to 4, in favor of the Ponies, and at full time 49 to 17 in Ponies favor.

The teams were:—

Ponies.	Featherweights.
A. Flowers	C. Bartlett
W. English	W. Willis
H. Wallis	A. Darling
J. Shore	W. Irwin
M. Turner	A. Deem

Referee—S. Hall. Umpire—M. McCarrell.

The bowling game between the Midgets and Millionaires prove to be no exception to the rule, and after a most strenuous contest the Millionaires landed a victory, winning by 132 pins. Score—Millionaires 1239, Midgets 1107.

THE SYSTEM OF GARBAGE DISPOSAL IN SOME CITIES

How the Work is Undertaken and What it Costs a Year.

Below will be found various methods undertaken in other cities for the disposal of garbage. Guelph, Windsor, Brantford and Westmount, Que., have a system that is giving satisfaction, and which is explained here.

GUELPH'S SYSTEM.

Guelph defrays the cost of collection out of a flat rate of 15 cents a month for houses and 40 cents a month for hotels and stores. The rate, which is collected from the owners, lessees or occupants of the real property within the district from which the collection is made, is added to the collector's roll and collected with the other municipal taxes. The collection is made by contract, the collector being paid $5 per day for every full day of 10 hours. The contractor must provide a suitable vehicle and a pair of strong horses, to the satisfaction of the sanitary inspector, and shall employ one man to assist him in the performance of his contract.

The contractor and his men work under instructions from the sanitary inspector. The collection must be made no less often than once a week, and the refuse shall be deposited in such places as the inspector shall direct. All kinds of refuse except night soil, manure and building material are collected. If the number of barrels or boxes of refuse so collected from any one place exceed four, five cents extra shall be charged for each barrel or box, the contractor passing the money on to the city treasurer. The occupants have to provide receptacles.

WINDSOR'S WAY.

Stephen Lusted, city clerk of Windsor, has the following to say about garbage collection in that city—

"We have experimented a good deal and given it much thought, and believe that now we have adopted a plan the fairest and best, but possibly not the cheapest for the community at large.

"Our town is not compact, but spread over a wide area, making the cleaning up business, if all outlying residences are to receive the same treatment accorded to the denser parts of the municipality, a pretty big undertaking, and for some years the principle of treating all taxpayers alike has been adopted and followed. The Board of Health assumed control over the service, annually letting by public competition a contract, based upon the condition that in May, at latest, each spring the winter's accumulation of rubbish, etc., must be thoroughly gathered up, and deposited upon a plot of land rented by the board for that purpose, and that thenceforward for twelve months house offal, etc., must be removed from every place in the city, not less frequently than once a week. This cost in 1909, the board's last experience, $1,400, with the addition of $75 for rent of dump ground.

"In 1910 the Public Works Committee of the council undertook this service at the request of the Board of Health, the latter becoming tired of the responsibility and the constant complaints that the contractor s'ighted many residences and alleys. I should have previously said that the gathering and removal of ashes has always been done by the Public Works. In 1909 the new scheme showed the wisdom of the change by reason of the fact that the work was thoroughly done, all premises and alleys being systematically relieved of garbage and rubbish, including waste paper, but the expense was increased. The spring clean up cost $972.79, whereas the subsequent regular collection was done for $1,274.54.

"Our town is divided into six portions, and to each is assigned a dump wagon, operated by a single horse, driven by a trustworthy man, whose first duty is to effect thorough work. Every division is thoroughly gone over once a week. I should add that anthracite coal was the fuel used here until recently, when natural gas came into almost general use; and so long as the latter commodity lasts the expensive gathering up of ashes will almost cease.

"I have seen statements of methods adopted in many places for the performance of this sanitary work, but regard them all as mere makeshifts, schemes to partially effect the purpose at a minimum of cost, occasioned by fear to face the expense of thorough work. Like every other task, if it is worth doing, it is worth doing well; and sooner or later municipalities will learn that cleanliness at any cost is cheaper than dirt at the lowest figure."

BRANTFORD'S METHOD.

H. F. Leonard, city clerk of Brantford, states that the garbage collection in that city cost $9,000 last year. The garbage is collected all over the city, and the cost of same is included in the general rate of taxation. About one-half a mill on the dollar is considered sufficient to pay for the work.

WESTMOUNT'S INCINERATOR

Westmount has a destructor plant in which the refuse is destroyed, producing power for the operation of the light plant. In 1910 the number of tons disposed of was 15,280, at a total cost per ton of 61 cents. The use of the destructors effect a big saving in the coal bill. Approximately, the saving in the winter months is from one-third to one-half. Another feature is the great extent to which the cinders produced can be utilized in concrete and road work. Up to October, 1909, 3,039 loads were used by the city roads department, and in addition nearly 2,000 loads were disposed of to contractors.

SCHEME FOR HAMILTON.

A sub-committee of Hamilton is considering a scheme to purchase 22 horses and single carts, and build stables at a cost of about $19,000. With this equipment it was estimated that a twice-a-week collection of garbage could be made during the summer months, and that all the garbage receptacles could be removed from the rear of the houses at a cost of about $3,000 a year. The present cost of collection is $18,000, without the twice-a-week collection during the summer or the removal of receptacles from the rear of the houses.

BANK INQUIRY COMMISSION IS BLOCKED BY GOVERNMENT

Liberals Defend Finance Department in Giving Charter to Farmers' Bank — Majority of Thirty Eight.

Ottawa, March 17.—The two days' debate on the motion of David Henderson (Halton), to have the Government grant a royal commission to investigate the affairs of the Farmers' Bank, came to a close last night. The whole attitude of the Government appeared to be directed toward preventing the Department of Finance from being brought under the probe. As the debate progressed the Liberals abandoned the struggle; only an occasional Government supporter spoke, while numbers of Conservatives were ready to take the floor. They were a few sharp passages between members, but most of the attack was centered on the Finance Minister. E. Gus Porter (W. Hastings) charged that it was the "most iniquitous and indefensible transaction in the history of Canada."

The division was reached after 1.30 a.m. The Conservatives voted 62, Liberals 97. The commission was refused by a majority of 38.

On the resumption of the Farmers' Bank discussion, Dr. J. W. Edwards (Frontenac) stated that the failure of the bank would mean a loss of $60,000 to his county, and the sadness of the whole affair was only equalled by the fortitude of the men and women facing bravely a loss which meant to them penury and want.

Digressing from the Farmers' Bank failure, Dr. Edwards referred to the number of bank failures in Canada during the last twenty years, and said that out of 48 banks chartered during that period, nearly 30 had failed since the Minister of Finance had taken office. He endorsed the movement instituted by H. C. MacLeod, formerly general manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, for Government inspection, and declared that a few hours spent in the books of the defunct banks would have disclosed an insolvent condition.

E. W. Nesbitt (North Oxford) said he would like to see a commission named, not for the purposes of the motion, but to enquire into the present condition of the Farmers' Bank, to see if any portion of the money invested could be recovered. If anything was wrong, he said, it was not the fault of the Minister, but of the Bank Act. Touching on W. S. Calvert's connection with the matter, he said that a former mayor of Toronto had written to Mr. Calvert asking him to introduce Travers to Mr. Fielding.

Richard Blain (Peel) said that while some responsibility for the affair doubtless rested upon the banking and commerce committee, and the House, the chief responsibility must remain with the Minister of Finance. One word from Mr. Fielding at the right time would have prevented the inauguration of the bank and its subsequent failure.

M. Y. McLean (Huron) thought that the speeches of Opposition members had been made up chiefly of insinuations. If the foresight of the Conservatives was only as good as their hind sight, they would be very wise. He regarded the whole discussion as an attempt to make political capital against the Government.

C. J. Thornton (Durham) remarked that from its inception the operations of the Farmers' Bank had been on a basis of deception.

The Government, Jos. E. Armstrong declared, was not going to lose anything by this transaction, but on the other hand the depositors looked as if they would lose every dollar. He gave as his reasons for supporting the resolution that Travers had not been entitled to his certificate, that the necessary $500,000 had not been subscribed, that the $260,000 had not been properly deposited, and that the Minister of Finance had been given notice, before the certificate was issued, that Travers had been guilty of perjury.

W. M. Martin (Regina) said he did not agree with the statement made that the Government should recompense the shareholders and depositors. He regarded it as a dangerous precedent to establish. He thought it was advisable to allow the bank to be incorporated as the Farmers' Bank. No doubt the responsibility for the issue of the certificate rested with the Minister of Finance, but, according to the official documents Mr. Fielding had complied with all obligations.

Captain J. W. de Corey O'Grady is gazetted to the command of the 90th Winnipeg Rifles, vice Lieut.-Col. Milman, retired to reserve.

140 NEW STATIONS; 50 NEW TOWNS

Winnipeg, March 16.—The assumption that the present year will show a remarkable railway development in Western Canada is established by a number of important announcements by various transportation companies during the past fortnight. These were supplemented to-day by the statement that the Grand Trunk Pacific will build 140 new stations, and that the Canadian Pacific Railway will open fifty new towns on its new lines this summer.

MANIAC KILLS HIS GUARD

Two Patients Escaped But One is Found Again

Montreal, March 17.—Francois d'Haine, a guardian, was struck down and killed at the Asylum of St. Benoit Joseph on Wednesday. Two inmates escaped from the institution, one of whom, Augustus Panneton, is said to have been the assailant. Raphael Gadbois was found walking the streets yesterday afternoon and was taken back to the asylum.

The men displayed great cunning and resource in making their getaway. Panneton was confined in one of the strongest cells in the institution. His hands were manacled behind his back; the door was a stout one, secured with immense locks, and the transom at the top was small and was barred with stout iron rods. Somehow the man managed to get rid of the handcuffs. Then he tore out several of the bars over the transom, and, being a thin man, crawled through. Then he proceeded to the cell of Gadbois and released him.

Francois d'Haine, aged 55, the night guard, heard noises issuing from the corridor and proceeded to investigate. When near the cell he came upon the two men.

D'Haine immediately tried to get the maniacs under control, and return them to their cells, but he was attacked. One of the pair wielded an iron bar about two feet long, which had been wrenched from its place in the lavatory, probably on the preceding night. D'Haine's skull was fractured by the blow he received and death was almost instantaneous.

The lunatics searched the body and took the keys. As it was so early none were stirring, and they quietly and without difficulty made their escape, opening all barriers with the stolen keys.

It was not until several hours later that the corpse was found and the escape of the pair was discovered.

ORANGEMEN GIVE THEIR APPROVAL

Smith's Falls, March 17.—At the afternoon session of the Orange Grand Lodge here yesterday, the members placed themselves on record as approving the course taken by the Education Department in withholding the grants to schools of the Counties of Prescott, Russell and Glengarry because they did not comply with the requirements of the Public School Act. A resolution was passed expressing regret at the death of his late majesty, King Edward, and expressing loyalty to King George.

The Gas That Failed.

Niagara Falls, Ont., March 17.—The natural gas pressure failed yestereday when the thermometer registered zero. The majority of homes here are heated only by natural gas and the suffering from the cold was severe.

Western Prosperity.

Calgary, March 17.—Calgary bank clearings for the week showed an increase of over a million dollars over the same week last year. The figures for the past week are $3,184,134, and for the same week in 1910, $2,158,753.

TRIED TO SECURE LAND BY FRAUD

Toronto Men Face Serious Charge Preferred by U. S. Government

Special to The Review.

Chicago, Ill., March 17.—Three Toronto men, G. L. Francis, Henry C. Osborne and Francis H. Stewart, are under indictment here, along with six others, all of whom are charged with attempting to secure from the United States government by fraud, one thousand acres of land in Alaska. The property is worth millions.

EXPRESS DRIVERS ASKED TO STRIKE

Big Tie-Up May Result in Greater New York

Special to The Review.

New York, March 17.—All the express drivers in greater New York were ordered out on strike this morning. Twenty-two thousand men are affected by the edict. Some opposition is being made on the part of the men, and those in two out of five large companies have refused to leave their employment.

Lamp Trust Comes Down.

Washington, March 17.—As the first direct result of the Government's anti-trust suit against the so-called "electric lamp trust," the Department of Justice has received intimation that the prices of all electric light bulbs will be reduced 33 1-3 per cent. all over the United States.

By such a cut in present prices folks who buy the electric lamps will save more than $6,000,000 a year. The department continues to receive word that the various pools in the so-called trust are breaking up in anticipation of the suits which have been prepared.

Will Exchange Professors.

Paris, March 17.—The French Government and Harvard University have reached an agreement providing for the exchange every other year of professors at the Sorbonne and at Harvard, thereby continuing officially the foundation of James H. Hyde of New York, who established a French lectureship at Harvard in 1898, and an American lectureship at the Sorbonne in 1904.

Boy Scouts for Coronation.

Montreal, March 17.—Announcement was made yesterday that "The Canadian Century," a weekly magazine published here, would send twenty boy scouts to the coronation in London in June.

CAMORRIST SAYS HE IS INNOCENT

Fails Exhausted After Making Impassioned Appeal

Special to The Review.

Viterbo, Italy, March 17.—Alfano, the leader of the Camorrists, whose trial is proceeding here, made such an impassioned declaration of his innocence during the hearing to-day, that he fell to the floor in an exhausted condition.

Object to Name.

Montreal, March 17.—The news that the Banque du Canada Bill had passed the committee caused a good deal of unfavorable comment in banking circles in Montreal yesterday. With hardly an exception the bankers are opposed to the new and untried institution securing the name of Bank of Canada, and every effort will be made to have the action of the committee revoked when the bill comes before the House.

It was pointed out by a prominent banker that the Farmers' Bank forms a good illustration of the lure or attraction that a name has for the class of individuals with which a bank intends to deal.

Another banker dreaded the possibility of any future trouble in the new bank, which, he said, recent events have proved is always a contingency in the case of a new institution.

Put Arabs to Flight.

Frankfort, Germany, March 17.—A despatch from Saloniki to The Frankfurter Zeitung, says that the young Turks central committee has received a despatch from the seat of hostilities in Yemen to the effect that the Turkish troops are putting the Arabs to flight everywhere, and that the machine guns have caused great havoc among the tribesmen. The Arabs have lost 200 in the last two flights, while 40 of the Turkish troops were killed.

Sheik Jahia (Yahya), the leader of the revolting Arab tribes, is said to have taken refuge on British territory. The telegraph lines between Rodsitia and Sana have been restored.

HERMIT TOOK HIS OWN LIFE

Odd Character Committed Suicide by Shooting Himself

Special to The Review.

Ottawa, March 17.—Matthew Kennedy, an eccentric old man, who had been living like a hermit near Hull, committed suicide by shooting himself.

LOOK FOR A VICTORY

Irish Speakers See Home Rule For Ireland Coming.

London, March 17.—In honor of St. Patrick's Day and the near approach of home rule for Ireland, several Irish leaders last night issued formal statements and greetings on the occasion of the national anniversary. These included John E. Redmond, chairman of the Irish Parliamentary party and chairman of the United Irish League of Great Britain; Wm. O'Brien, M.P. for Cork and leader of the important Nationalists and Lord Dunraven, president of the Irish Reform Association.

H. H. Asquith, the Prime Minister, and A. J. Balfour, ex-Premier and leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons, declined to make any comment on the probability of home rule, refusing to break the ironclad tradition against Cabinet members giving an interview.

In a speech at the St. Patrick's banquet in the Hotel Cecil last night Mr. Redmond referred to how, amid a long list of valuable Irish reforms achieved by hard labor during the past twelve years, they had met year by year at this festival, almost despairing of achieving the great goal of their aspirations.

"Now at last," he said, "we meet with the light of victory shining on our country and our cause. The struggle between England and Ireland is ended. England and Ireland have joined hands against the common foe of both in defence of the peoples' liberties and rights. All bitterness has left our souls. We want peace with England. We want friendship with the English people. We want our proper place in the British Empire, and to bury fathoms deep in the ocean of oblivion and memory the wrongs, the miseries and the oppressions of the past."

T. P. O'Connor, speaking at the St. Patrick's banquet at Liverpool, said: "This is the brightest and happiest St. Patrick's Day any of us have ever seen. Ireland's deliverance is close at hand. The first step towards the realization of Sir Edward Grey's arbitration proposals must be reconciliation with the Irish people through self-government."

ANYTHING BUT PLAIN SAILING IN THE RECIPROCITY DEBATE

$66,000 ON PARKS

Calgary, Alta., March 16.—$66,000 will be spent on seven Calgary parks this year in seeding, sodding, levelling ground, and otherwise making parks attractive.

VERDICT OF GUILTY

Brought in by Jury Against Mrs. Melber at Albany.

Albany, March 17.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Edith Melber, charged with the murder of her son last January, brought in a verdict of murder in the second degree yesterday afternoon, after being out two hours and nineteen minutes.

Justice Howard immediately sentenced the woman for an indeterminate period of not less than twenty years' imprisonment at hard labor at Auburn prison, with life the maximum.

Mrs. Melber showed not the slightest trace of emotion when the verdict was rendered, nor did she waver when sentence was pronounced.

Immigrant Smuggling.

Niagara Falls, Ont., March 17.—Charged with assisting two foreigners to enter Canada by making false representations to the immigration authorities, George Wahl of Niagara Falls, N.Y., was fined $20 and costs in the Police Court yesterday. Max Menier and Henry Wessman, whom he assisted, across the border, were fined $5 and costs each and deported.

Wahl accompanied by the two foreigners crossed the upper bridge. They were stopped and Wahl stated that they were going to a skating rink. Officer Carter, who made the arrest, recognized Menier, who had been rejected last week under the name of Borner and the three were taken into custody. Menier said that he was suffering from mental relapse and could not remember his name.

Whitney and MacKay Wind Up Reciprocity Debate.

Chieftain of the Opposition Enthusiastically Endorses Tariff Agreement and Sir James Rises to Reply Just Before House Rises—He Is Expected to Finish His Speech This Afternoon.

Toronto, March 17.—Crowded galleries yesterday afternoon attested the public interest in the reciprocity question when discussed by political leaders. The general expectation was that the day would see the conclusion of the debate with speeches by the two leaders, but the member for North Grey was bent on making the speech of his life, and, as he frankly intimated, it was a rallying call to the farming element to gather to his support.

Hon. A. G. MacKay's address was the ambitious oratorical effort the House has yet had this session. He was two hours and twenty-five minutes delivering it. The Opposition leader spoke rapidly and so vigorously that his voice broke down so utterly that he had to pause and swallow water several times when he was finally reading his amendment to Sir James Whitney's anti-reciprocity resolution.

Sir James Whitney was greeted with loud and prolonged applause when he rose to reply. The House, he said, had listened for two and a half hours to a most interesting speech by the leader of the Opposition, but for at least an hour and a three-quarters, the speech had not been within touching distance of the subject which he was supposed to be criticising.

In his amendment, the Opposition leader denied the charge that the loyalty of the people of Canada was purchasable property. Not one member had made such a charge, and he congratulated the followers of the honorable member upon having as their leader the only man who had dared to publicly suggest that the loyalty of Canadians is purchasable.

Sir James is expected to close the debate this afternoon.

A. E. Fripp (Con.), West Ottawa, resumed the debate. He said that if any Canadian thought there was nothing beyond the reciprocity agreement but a business idea on the part of the United States, he would not think much of his intelligence.

It was a great fallacy, declared Hon. A. G. MacKay, to say that this country could expect to get something for nothing in her trade dealings with her cousins to the south, unless she robbed the United States. He believed it was possible between nations, as between men, to make a mutually fair agreement.

Mr. MacKay then sailed into the Conservatives for having, he alleged, deserted the policy of Sir John A. Macdonald, whom they extolled so highly for his protective principle. No man could intelligently read the history of Canada for the past forty years without realizing that the very bill which the Laurier Government was passing was the realization of Sir John's dearest dreams. No other interpretation could be put on that revered statesman's utterances that "I will build up a tariff wall so that the United States will give us reciprocity."

"What does all this talk of loyalty to the Empire mean? Where were the Conservatives when the Liberals proposed to give British goods a preference of 25 per cent. over all other countries? There was the testing time for their British loyalty!"

As to the cry that the arrangement was to be ratified without a mandate being asked from the people to ascertain whether it was right or wrong, Mr. MacKay answered, "Why, the greatest change that was ever made in this country—confederation of the various provinces—was made without a mandate from the people!"

Fourteen Georges Show Up.

Toronto, March 17.—An organization meeting of the George who are to unite in sending a testimonial to the King on the occasion of the coronation, was held in the city hall yesterday, on the invitation of the mayor. There were thirteen whose first names are the same as the King's and then there was W. K. George, making fourteen in all in attendance. These were all there on a special invitation from the mayor and will constitute the local committee for carrying out the scheme suggested in the letter of His Excellency, Earl Grey, to Lieutenant-Governor Gibson. They will also, in all probability, form the nusleus of the Ontario organization.

FRATERNAL INSURANCE CALLS FOR INVESTIGATION

Grand Lodge of A. O. U. W. to Ask Ontario Government for Commission

Toronto, March 17.—That the Ontario Government should appoint a commission to investigate fraternal insurance in Ontario, so as to ensure its being on a sound basis, was adopted by the Grand Lodge of the A.O.U.W. yesterday.

After discussing the cost and value of life insurance and getting the best expert evidence obtainable on valuation of policies held by members of all ages accepted by fraternal insurance orders, this resolution was adopted: Moved by J. M. Peregrine, P.G.M.W., Hamilton, seconded by Capt. T. M. Cornett, P.G.M.W., that this Grand Lodge of Ancient Order of United Workmen of Ontario, in annual session assembled, respectfully request the Ontario Legislature to appoint a commission to enquire into and take such action as may be necessary to place all fraternal benefit orders working under provincial charter on a safe and business-like basis to enable all the fraternal societies to meet the promised benefits when they become claims, and that a committee from this grand lodge do wait upon the Ontario Government to present the matter before them contained in this resolution."

Submarine Wrecked.

La Rochelle, France, March 17.—The submarine Loutre while rising to the surface yesterday in the roadstead at La Palice came into collision with the fishing boat Antioche. Thee Loutre sustained a bad breach in her starboard bow and took in water rapidly. The guardship Active was notified by the Antioche, and sent two whale boats to the rescue. They took off the commander and crew of the submarine, which drifted ashore on the rocks, and it is believed will prove a total loss.

Must Observe the Law.

Kingston, March 17.—Mayor Graham is out with a big stick after the enforcement of the city bylaws. He says there are dozens of bylaws violated. The city carters have been violating a bylaw in standing in front of the City Hall, and yesterday they were ordered to their proper stands by the police, at the mayor's request.

Dirigible Damaged.

German Mat Artist is in an Unconcious Condition

Special to The Review.

Chicago, Ill., March 17.—Hernz Bahan, the German wrestler, known as "Sampson," lies in a hospital here in an unconscious condition, as a result of the injuries he received in a bout with Frank Gotch last night.

Military Changes.

Kingston, March 17.—Capt. A. De M. Bell of the army service corps has been transferred to Toronto, and will be succeeded by Capt. W. A. Stinson, recently returned from taking a special course in England. Lieut. T. Pugh of the Ordnance Corps has been transferred to Montreal Capt. P. E. Prideaux of Ottawa takes his place. The changes go into effect next month.

Escaped In Their Night Clothes.

Kingston, March 17.—Two men passing saved the lives of William Kelly, wife and children, and a boarder named Thomas Walton. They saw the house in flames and got them out in safety. The inmates had to escape in their night clothes.

Won't Refuse Gift.

Washington, March 17.—The navy department has decided that it has no right to refuse the gift of a silver service from the people of Utah for the battleship Utah because it bears Brigham Young's likeness.

HAULTAIN EDUCATED HERE

Reciprocity, which has divided Canada into several warlike camps, has cut party lines at several points. The breaking away of Hon. Clifford Sifton and the less spectacular defection of two other members of the Liberal party at Ottawa—W. M. German and Lloyd Harris—have been followed by the endorsing of reciprocity by a Conservative, who, like Mr. Sifton, has long been connected with the affairs of Western Canada. That man is F. W. G. Haultain, leader of the Conservative Opposition in the Saskatchewan Legislature. He spoke in favor of the Saskatchewan Government's resolution, which was carried unanimously.

Mr. Haultain is largely of the English type of public man. He is strong, but scarcely brilliant. Thinking clearly and arguing logically, he has played a large part in the affairs of Western Canada, and some of his friends used to say that he was destined to become leader of the Dominion Conservative party. However, while he commands respect and is also well thought of as an administrator, he is not regarded as the type of politician who goes on to such leaderships as that at Ottawa. He has a tendency to hold himself aloof, and does not take easily to making combinations and rallying forces as political leaders usually do. In a word, Mr. Haultain is much of a "lone furrow" man. His stand on reciprocity is not altogether a surprise, for he has always had quite a streak of independence.

Frederick William Gordon Haultain is of English descent. He was born November 25, 1857, and was educated at the Montreal High School, Peterborough Collegiate Institute, and the University of Toronto. He was called to the Ontario Bar in 1882, and was made a K.C. in 1902.

UNION LABEL

A CHEERFUL OPTIMIST

A cheerful optimist is John Ball Osborne, chief of the Bureau of Foreign Commerce of the United States, and a member of the Reciprocity Commission. He says that within five years the United States will have the great bulk of Canada's trade. In a speech at Portland he estimated that Canada's total imports in 1915 should be about about $540,000,000, and that the U.S. will supply $350,000,000, of 65 per cent. of its imports. This, he said, is an extremely conservative estimate, and may be augmented to $400,000,000 by assuming that the United States' share will be at least 74 per cent.

The reciprocity advocates contend that Canada should take markets wherever she can find them. This looks good and sensible, on the face. But to trade with the United States without restriction, means most inevitably that our commerce will be so intertwined with theirs that national disaster would follow any sudden dislocation. Rather than face national disaster of that sort, how far would Canada be willing to go in the matter of fresh concessions?

The advocates of reciprocity ask, with much flourish, what harm in selling more to our neighbor, and in buying more from him? It has been pointed out repeatedly, and no satisfactory answer has been forthcoming, that to put all our trade eggs in one basket, and hand that basket to the keeping of the politicians at Washington, is mighty poor business for Canada. They might let it drop any time, and where would Canada be? Her progress put back a century.

Is it not reasonable to adopt the position that if the United States wants our natural products—and she must have them soon—let her reduce her tariff or wipe it out to get them. She is the only one blocking the way. But Canada should pursue the policy that for twenty years has been the source of such great satisfaction to all Canadians—the development of our national resources, our national spirit, our British and imperial relations, without pandering to foreign nations. With the exception of our imperial sun, let Canada plough her lonely furrow, straight toward the goal of highest national success. When we stop to swap with our neighbors, we are running chances of losing our grip.

THE NE TEMERE DECREE

After all is said about the "Ne Temere" decree of the Roman Catholic church, the one on the mixed marriage question, there can be only one stand justified by common-sense and a proper interpretation of the law. In Canada the state is, or should be, supreme in all things, over all the churches or denominations whatsoever. The law says that all marriages of qualified persons performed by regularly ordained ministers of the gospel, of whatsoever denomination, are legal, taking no cognizance of differences in religious views of the contracting parties. Any church or any denomination may seek to control the action of its members in regard to marriage before the ceremony, but no church or denomination can legally declare any marriage invalid that is performed by a qualified minister, and conforms to the requirements of the law as to age, etc. A church or denomination may suit itself about recognizing the faithfulness of a member who contracts a marriage against its rules, but it has no right of any kind to declare that any such marriage, properly performed, is not binding and legal, for the law of Canada—which is, or should be, superior to all ecclesiastical ordinances—says that it is.

LETTING IT STAND

The evident intention of the government is to let the reciprocity proposals hang fire in the House of Commons while other business is pushed forward for consideration. This course has a double merit, from the governmental standpoint,—that of enabling the reciprocity defenders to organize resolutions and memorials favoring the pact, and thus endeavor to offset the protests against reciprocity from all sorts of business and trade organizations, and to minimise the chances of the opposition blockading supply.

The government evidently is also waiting for the new congress to consider the reciprocity measure as embodied in the McCall bill, delaying Canadian action until it is seen what attitude the Democrats are likely to take when in control of the House.

The refusal of Mr. Fielding to present for the consideration of the members of the House all the memorials and resolutions against reciprocity received by the government is regarded as significant, in view of the fact that similarly worded resolutions have been received lately from many organizations favoring reciprocity. It indicates that the government desires to present as many, if not more, memorials and resolutions in favor of the pact than against, and must have time to work the necessary machinery.

The process is much the same as stuffing the electoral ballot box, but reciprocity must be vindicated.

He is a rash man who will predict that reciprocity is not against the will of the majority of Canadian people.

THE TIRE CO., BY-LAW

An examination of the bargain made with the Independent Tire Co. for the location of its factory in Peterborough seems to demonstrate that it is quite reasonable, and can safely be passed by the property-holders of the city. In the first place it may be regretted that the city is called on to give concessions. This cannot be helped, as all the municipalities are offering inducements, and unless Peterborough is to remain without new industries, she must meet the competition up to a safe and reasonable limit. The question to be decided with reference to any industrial proposition is simply this: Is the bargain a reasonable business-like one, and is the city getting the worth of its money?

The proposition with the rubber company is, briefly, that the company shall build a 3 story factory to cost $40,000, and instal a plant, the value of which shall be at least $75,000. On completion of this, and when ready to operate, the city shall loan to the company $20,000, and a month after manufacturing is commenced, another $20,000 fully secured by first mortgage on building, and machinery. This $40,000 shall be repaid at the rate of $2,000 yearly, with 3 per cent. interest, and the company shall have exemption for ten years. The company will be asked to bind itself to employ 75 hands on receipt of the full loan, and 100 per year continuously during the life of the agreement.

The cost of carrying the loan by the city is 1 1-2 per cent. on $40,000, reducing by $2,000 yearly, as the city pays 4 1-2 per cent. on debentures, and gets 3 per cent interest from the company. Roughly, this cost to the city will be $600 the first year, reducing by $30 each year of the twenty, until the loan is wiped out. The total cost to the city over the period of twenty years will be about $6,000, not including the exemption, of course.

The assessment of the city is $8,873,000 for general purposes. The cost of carrying this factory on these terms would amount to about 6 cents a year for each $1,000 of assessment, lessening, of course, a cent in every three years. Thus a man with $1,500 assessment would pay 10 cents a year toward the factory loan cost at the outset. The principle of exemption may be wrong, but a ten year exemption for a new factory will be given anywhere, and Peterborough must do this.

It will be seen from this summary of the financial aspect of the deal, that the concessions given by the city are reasonable. If $60,000 is distributed in wages—and it will easily be more—that means over $3 per head of the entire population and means greatly added prosperity for the city.

If the company agrees to a minimum number of employees at the outset, as it should do, guaranteeing the people the worth of their money in wages outlay, it is a good proposition viewed from every standpoint. Some means should most assuredly be taken to ensure that agreements for the employment of a certain number of hands, made in this fashion with the city are adhered to. There is sometimes too much taken for granted after a factory is established, no one thinking it his business to enquire if the agreement is being observed. Some means should be devised whereby the city shall be shown at regular periods that the companies are living up to their undertakings, as the city must perforce adhere to its side of the contract.

There is no reason why the city should not ratify the by-law, on submission to the people. Peterborough would get a black eye industrially, if it refused, and to turn down a good proposition presenting itself, would mean the end of others coming. Factories are like sheep in some respects. They follow the leader, and Peterborough can ill afford to refuse any reasonable and fair proposition. It might as well go out of the business of trying to grow industrially if it does.

A $150,000 concern employing one hundred hands, and paying out $60,000 a year wages or more, is not to be sneezed at. Rubber tire manufacturing is a desirable business. The by-law will go to the people within the next two or three weeks, and as a three-fifths majority of the eligible property owners is necessary to carry the by-law, every property owner should record his vote.

EDITORIAL NOTES

A free breakfast may be good economics and good politics, as the Toronto Globe says, but it doesn't always mean a full dinnerpail.

If Senator Macdonald of Victoria had been occupying an elective office, he wouldn't have commended the character of the Chinese on the coast.

The Farmers' Advocate of Winnipeg, says the Grain Growers' Association officers have swelled heads. More unlikely things than that come to pass.

The letters and memorials against reciprocity are being held back by Finance Minister Fielding, while manufactured resolutions in favor of it are being put through the farmers' organizations, and rushed to Ottawa to offset them. The government intends to make public opinion to suit its own purpose—not be guided by it.

Three years in prison is the sentence meted out to George Munroe, the Marconi stock operator, the Berna Motor Taxicabs, the Universal Signal Company promoter. Once worth millions, Munroe now has practically nothing. The paths of the genuine high financier do not seem to be all roses after all.

There is one thing about the reciprocity argument on which we do not agree with the opponents of reciprocity. We do not see where the C.P.R. will get it in the neck. The C.P.R. is the biggest transportation company in the world. It is able to look after itself, without any assistance from the people, having a yearly income as big as the Dominion of Canada. As for the G.T.P. that is a different matter. It was built to provide another great developer of trade between east and west, built through the wilderness for the long haul. If reciprocity and the Hudson's Bay line work havoc with the freight on the long haul, then the new line, without feeders will have a hard time.

FEAT OF LOCOMOTIVE FIREMAN

To a husky young man, shovelling twenty tons of coal a day may not sound like a terrific undertaking; but that is because he fails to appreciate the difference between shovelling that quantity in the course of a ten-hour day, standing on a steady footing and pausing for a moment whenever he feels like it to gaze at the scenery or light a cigarette, and trying to keep his balance on a jolting, jerking, plunging steel deck, which tries ceaselessly to pitch him head first into the side of the cab, while with legs spread wide apart he bumps over a scoop shovel working with frantic energy to get coal into the firebox fast enough to keep steam up. While the engine is running the fireman must be straddled out on the deck working continually to the limit of his strength, for ordinarily he will have to get from two and a half to three tons of coal into the firebox every hour. Three and a half tons is generally regarded as the limit of a fireman's capacity, but this has been greatly exceeded on the fastest trains.

To turn from the general to the particular, one of the Lake Shore's monster Pacific type locomotives, weighing 266,000 pounds, hauling the westbound Twentieth Century Limited with seven cars in the train on a test run December 5, 1919, made the run between Toledo and Elkhart in 2 hours and 4 minutes at an average speed of 65 miles per hour. In this short time 8 3-4 tons of coal were shovelled into the firebox. The average scoop used on a locomotive holds 14 to 15 pounds of coal. Taking the latter figure as the average scoop load the fireman had to reach out into the tender, a long stretch, get a shovel full of coal, swing it around and throw it into the firebox, not anywhere, but on the particular spot on the 56 1-2 square feet of grates that happened to need it most at that instant, every 6.3 seconds from start to finish. This is the most remarkable feat of firing for which authoritative figures are available, and it may also be submitted as a marvelous feat of endurance.—From "Machines to Fire Locomotives," in April Technical World Magazine.

TOLSTOY WANTED BLOOD.

His Quarrel With Turgeneff and the Reconciliation That Followed.

Raymoud Recouly in the Paris Figaro gives the following account of an early encounter between Tolstoy and Turgeneff, which shows the Russian sage in a different frame of mind from the one in which the world has since come to know him:

It was on the estate of his friend, the poet Fet, near Yasnaya. Turgeneff was among the invited guests. The hostess inquired after his daughter, who was being reared in France. Turgeneff spoke highly of his English governess. "With a truly British exactitude," he said, "she requested me to fix the sum which my daughter might spend for charity. And now she teaches her pupil to mend the ragged clothes of the poor."

"And you consider that a good thing?" asked Tolstoy.

"Certainly," replied the other. "It brings the benefactor into direct contact with the persons whom he is helping."

"On my part. I think that a well dressed child who handles dirty and ill smelling rags is playing a hypocritical and theatrical farce."

"I must ask you not to speak in this way," exclaimed Turgeneff, with menacing looks.

"Why should I not say what I am convinced is the truth?" remarked Tolstoy.

"You think, then, that I am educating my daughter badly," and, while Fet was interceding, "If you will talk in that way I shall box your ears." Then he left the room, begging his hosts to pardon his abrupt departure.

Tolstoy also went. At the neighboring station he wrote to Turgeneff demanding an apology. He ordered pistols and tried to provoke his rival to a duel. Turgeneff's answer, very dignified, brought the apology demanded by Tolstoy. He closed by saying that he thought it best that two men with such opposite tempers should henceforth break off all relations. Tolstoy, carried away by his anger (it was in 1861), declined to be satisfied with such an answer. He felt that he had been gravely offended. He demanded reparation by arms. He therefore repeated his provocations. His friend Fet, who attempted to pacify him, succeeded only in drawing from him this vigorous reply: "I beg of you henceforth not to write to me any more. I shall return your letters unopened, the same as I do with Turgeneff's." After these occurrences Turgeneff returned to France, where he passed the greater part of his time. Some months later, on reflection, Tolstoy regretted his violence. Seized with remorse, he sent Turgeneff a letter asking his pardon. "I find it exceedingly painful," he wrote, "to think that I have made an enemy of you."

Turgeneff forgave, as one may imagine, but the complete and definitive reconciliation took place much later.

OLD ENGLISH HOUSES.

In the Days of Wooden Huts, Thatched Roofs and Clay Floors.

The habitations of English common people for centuries consisted of a wooden hut of one room, with the fire built in the center. To this hut, if a man increased in family and wealth, a lean-to was added and later another and another. The roofs were of thatch, the beds of loose straw or straw beds with bolsters of the same laid on the floor or perhaps eventually shut in by a shelf and ledge like the berths of a ship or by a small closet.

The Saxon thane or knight built a more pretentious "hall," a large open room like the Roman atrium with a lofty roof thatched or covered with slates or wooden shingles. In the center of the hard clay floor burned great fires of dry wood whose thin acrid smoke escaped from openings in the roof, above the hearth or by the doors, windows and openings under the eaves of the thatch.

By day the "hearthsmen" and visitors when not working or fighting sat on long benches on either side of the fire and, as John Hay puts it, "calmly drinked and jawed" or, gathering at long boards placed on trestles, regaled themselves on some sort of porridge with fish and milk or meat and ale.

At night straw or rushes spread on the floor formed beds for the entire company in the earlier and ruder days, when the "baser sort" were glad to share their straw with the cows.—Charles Winslow Hall in National Magazine.

The Cabal.

The term "cabal" as applied to secret factions of any kind had its rise in England about 1667, being first applied to the cabinet of Charles II. and formed from the initials of the cabinet members' names—Lord Clifford, Lord Ashley, the Duke of Buckingham, Lord Arlington and the Duke of Lauderdale—C, A, B, A, L. Since that day it has been customary, in all English speaking lands at least, to apply the name to any secret conclave, especially in politics.

The Way She Saw It.

"You must not mock people, Hazel. Once upon a time, the Bible says, a crowd of little children mocked a good man named Elisha, and two bears came out of the forest and killed forty-two of them."

"Wasn't that an awful thing for their mothers?"—Newark News.

Useless Telling.

"You can always tell an Englishman," said the Briton proudly.

"Of course you can," replied the Yankee, "but it doesn't do any good, because he thinks he knows it all."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Zoroaster.

All classical antiquity, without a dissentient voice, speaks of Zoroaster as a historical person. But there is great diversity of opinion with regard to his time, the date of his birth being placed all the way from 5,000 B.C. to 800 B.C. He probably lived about 1400 B.C. From all accounts the father of the old Persian faith possessed a most beautiful character and gave the world many of its finest teachings. There is no doubt that in the Persian Scriptures, known as the Zend Avesta, we have the substance of Zoroaster's teachings, though, of course, they have been greatly added to. In the present day Parsees of Bombay we have the historical descendants of Zoroaster and his religion.

MIGHTY ARCTURUS.

If This Star Were Our Sun It Would Instantly Consume the Earth.

The parallax of a star is its angular displacement as seen from two opposite points on the earth's orbit. The base line employed in this gigantic species of surveying is 186,000,000 miles in length, but the calculation is reduced to the semidiameter of the orbit. The results are at the same time amazing and instructive.

Let us take the famous star Arcturus, often called the "star of Job" because in the Old Testament the Almighty is represented as saying to the unfortunate patriarch, who maintains a certain dignity in spite of his helplessness and his sufferings, "Canst thou call forth Arcturus and his sons?"

Many conflicting measures of the parallax of Arcturus have been made, but the latest made at Yale seem more probably correct than their predecessors. They fix the parallax at 0.066 seconds—i. e., sixty-six one-thousandth of a second of arc. From this it is easy to calculate the distance of the star. It comes out at nearly 290,000,000,000,000 miles (two hundred and ninety trillion miles). This is more than 3,000,000 times the distance of the earth from the sun.

Having this distance, we can calculate the actual amount of light shed by Arcturus, or, in other words, its actual brightness as compared with that of our sun, on the supposition that both were at the same distance from us. We thus find that Arcturus exceeds the sun as a light giver about 2,500 times! It is a sun 2,500 times brighter than ours.

Put the earth as near to Arcturus as it is to the sun and all life would disappear from its surface as if swept off by a blast of inconceivable heat. The summer temperature would rise to tens of thousands of degrees. The oceans would boil away. Vegetation would be burned up in a twinkling. The eyes of living beings would char in their sockets. The plains and mountains would burst into flame. Minerals would run in molten streams. There would be no comfort for a living world nearer to Arcturus than about 4,000,000,000 miles. If he has planets he must keep them at a respectful distance. And yet nearly 300,000,000,000,000 miles from him we can look into his blazing eye and see only a bright star.

Still, Dr. Alfred Russel Wallace maintains that this little earth, this tiny attendant of a tiny sun, is the only seat of intelligent life—outside of the misty midregion of disembodied spirits—that the universe contains, and Dr. Wallace is a learned man. But his learning is not that which astronomy offers.—Garrett P. Serviss in New York American.

Unavoidable Delay.

A woman went before the magistrate and modestly inquired:

"Your honor, can I have a warrant for the arrest of my husband? He boxed my ears yesterday."

"Certainly, ma'am," replied the judge. "I will make out a warrant on the ground of assault and personal injuries."

"Can I fetch the warrant in about a month?"

"In a month? Why won't you take it at once?"

"Please, your honor, when my husband slapped my face I took my rolling pin and hit him on the head so that he had to be removed to the hospital. The doctors say, however, that he will be on his legs again in a month."

Discrediting an Astrologer.

A certain king, says a tale from the Persian, asked an astrologer, "How many years of life remain to me?" The wise man replied, "Ten." The king became very despondent and betook himself, as one stricken with a sickness, to his bed. His vizier, who possessed great wisdom, sent for the seer and in the king's presence asked him, "How many years have you to live?" He replied, "Twenty." The vizier ordered that he should that very hour be executed in the king's presence. The king was satisfied and commended the sagacity of his minister and no longer attached any importance to the astrologer's saying.

Getting Into German.

In the use of legal terms the German lawyer's gain in a saving of number of words over our equivalent expressions seems to be lost in multiplication of syllables in the words used by him. For example, he says "Zuruckbehaltungsrecht" for "right of lien" and "gesammtgutsverbindlichkeiten" for "liabilities of common property." What an awful word he must have as an equivalent for our "imprescriptibility."—Docket.

Rung In an Actor.

"How did you enjoy the vaudeville performance?"

"It was good. They had performing cats, a baseball player, a champion pugilist, a trained cockatoo, and, I give you my word, they even had an actor doing a turn."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

ALL PACK MULES.

The Dull Street and the Load, Not the Green Pasture, Our Portion.

Never a spirit without its saddle, says a writer. It was not always so. We began life free. Like young colts frisking in the meadow, with nothing to do but kick up their heels, feed and frolic. Then we were caught, bridled, broken to the saddle and the shafts, and now no more open pasture days, but the dull street and the load and the driver's lash.

Since we are all destined to be pack mules there must be some design in it. What is nature's object? Does she want to break us down, plow wrinkles in our brows, dig crow's feet by our eyes, dry our skins and our hearts, hump our backs, and squeeze all the juice and sparkle of youth out of us? If this were all, nature were surely cruel.

There is another end she has in view in the carrying out of which our life forces are spent. And that end is—character. No man can reflect long upon the events and laws of life and avoid the conclusion that we were put here, not to be happy, but to become great. Nature sets a great deal more store by character than we. She does not care so much for getting things done, such as building cities and churches, establishing huge institutions, and carrying on wide reforms as she uses these things to train her children.

It is the burden that makes the soul fiber. No careless spirit ever became lofty and strong. Those who do not work have no muscles, and those who do not suffer have no spirit muscle.

Even when we dodge the unnecessary burdens, much remains to be carried up the steeps of life. The one who cannot feel them is not to be envied. There are butterflies and parasites who never tote anything. They flit or fasten themselves upon some worker. Every earnest soul that is drawing his cart of responsibilities has a number of these light-hearted gentry stealing rides. Why bother about them?

Recount on Queer Grounds.

M. Rawlinson, aldermanic candidate in Toronto, who asked that a recount be made, attributes his defeat to a false rumor that he gave ham sandwiches to Jewish children in his philanthropic dispensations.

Twelve Hundred Arrested.

During the year just closed there were 1,291 arrests made by the police of Quebec. Of the total 456 were residents of the city and 835 strangers.

An Ardent Wooer.

The Right Idea.

"It's remarkable how often a woman changes her mind."

"Oh, not always! There's one idea every woman gets that she never changes."

"What's that?"

"The idea that she's pretty!"

The Domestic Relay.

"Son, how would you like to enter a relay event?"

"Fine, dad. I was a star at relay events in college."

"So I've heard you say. "Well, your ma is about ready to relay the carpets."

The Two Charlies.

Among those who came in contact with the railway officials of Canada there are no better known pair than "Charlie" Macpherson and "Charlie" Foster, of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Both men hail from St. John, N.B., where they did their first work for this great railway corporation. Each in turn went from St. John to Toronto, where each made a "hit." Mr. Macpherson went to Winnipeg, where he has repeated his Toronto success. A few years later, Mr. Foster went from Toronto to Vancouver. Now comes the announcement that the passenger traffic of the West, recently in charge of Mr. Ussher, is to be placed wholly under the two "Charlies." Macpherson will manage the lines between Fort William and Revelstoke, and Foster all traffic west of that point.

Urbanity, courtesy and good-fellowship are the qualities which distinguish these two successful officials. At the same time, each has shown his ability to handle large business in a large way. The man with urbanity does not always have exceptional ability, and the capacity for much hard work, but when he does he is a winner. Each of these men fulfils the higher conditions. The public has always had the confidence in them which is again so clearly exhibited by the C.P.R. executive in making these latest promotions.

Fernie will soon have an up-to-date fire alarm system.

How a Local Young Man Made Money

There are many people in and around the City of Peterborough who have money, looking for investment, who prefer a safe investment, such as bonds or low rate of interest, to investing in mortgages or other securities which require special judgment in selecting, and constant and careful watching to avoid loss. To such we would commend the following result to their careful consideration—

A young man of the City of Peterborough had his life insured sixteen years ago last January for Ten Thousand Dollars ON A SINGLE PAYMENT 15-YEAR ENDOWMENT PLAN. The premium paid was $6,460.00. On the 31st of January, 1910, the company paid him $12,116.00 in cash, after giving him fifteen years of free insurance. What do you think of that as an investment?

Are bonds or municipal debentures, or even the best mortgages, to be compared with it, when you consider that the risk of the life was carried during the 15 years? And remember, the security is as safe as any debenture or mortgage, and there was no trouble or expense entailed of any kind after the initial investment.

The above result was obtained from the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, under policy No. 47340. W.H.B.

GOT THE BENEFIT OF THE DOUBT

Lister Said Sickness Made Him Stagger on the Street

License Inspector Stewart's carefully cultivated and infallible ability to distinguish the difference between a whiskey breath and a beer breath enabled him, this morning, to say what intoxicant was responsible for a well known young man's infaction of the black list. The two came together on Charlotte street.

G. N. Gordon defended.

The accused said he had not been drinking on the day in question, but was feeling very ill, which was responsible for him staggering on the street.

His Worship was unable to make a conviction from the evidence, and the charge was dismissed.

HIS FIRST FALL.

John McGee pleaded guilty to being found drunk yesterday. He coughed up the usual $2 this morning. It was his first appearance.

LAID AT REST

The remains of the late Stephen G. Hetherington were laid at rest this this afternoon. Service was held at the family residence, 500 Charlotte street, at 2.30 o'clock and the funeral took place at 2.45 to Little Lake cemetery, Rev. Canon Davidson officiating at the house and grave.

The pallbearers were Messrs. R. Wilson, F. F. Snelgrove, J. Ingram, A. Scott, I. Scott and J. T. McCoy.

The funeral of the late John Chesnedy took place at 10 o'clock this morning from Comstock's undertaking establishment to Lakefield, for interment. Rev. J. Rollins, of St. Andrew's church, officiated in the city, and Rev. Mr. McCorkindale, of Lakefield, at the grave.

COAL WILL BE WEIGHED

But Customers Must Pay Five Cents a Load

In the future, all coal purchased from local dealers shall, at the request of the customer, be weighed at the market scales, and at the expense of the customer. The cost will be five cents a load.

The by-law, which has been in operation since 1905, and which governs the weighing of coal, was amended last night by the city council, the motion being brought forward by Ald. Brown.

It will not be compulsory to have the coal weighed, but Ald. Brown is of the opinion that with the new regulations, better satisfaction will be given.

The old by-law called for the Chief of Police to weigh eighty loads of coal each year. This amount was to be made up of coal from all dealers, with the chief having the power to compel the weighing of any load at any time.

"That is a pretty good tag on coal dealers as it is,'" remarked Ald. Brown," but I don't think there is anything dishonest about any of them."

"There were only twenty-three loads of coal weighed last year and the city is losing considerably. The workingman is not taking advantage of the by-law and the government and county buildings are having the coal weighed free of charge."

Ald. Brown held that the market clerk, too was due some consideration in the matter.

Ald. Morgan was against the by-law being changed. He was not in favor of putting a charge of five cents per load on the workingmen and moved an amendment that no action be taken. Ald. Anderson was a seconder, but when the vote was taken, the majroity were with Ald. Brown.

MAIL DELIVERY.

Ald. Graham brought up the matter of supplying the mail to the Isolation Hospital. The local postmaster had objected to the delivery of mail to the hospital, but had stated that he would ask the department for a ruling. Ald. Duncan held that a box should be placed at the gate.

The matter of a proper advertisement for the city on a large sign which J. J. Turner & Sons are erecting on the island to the north of the C.P.R. bridge, at the Wolfe street wharf was left in the hands of the chairman of the Property Committee and the city clerk.

For the privilege of erecting the sign which will also contain an advertisement of J. J. Turner & Sons, the city is given a space.

"THE MAN OF THE HOUR" IS GOOD

Deals With High Finance and Bossism in Politics

"The Man of the Hour" is a very gripping play of high finance, so familiar to the public. It is on the same plane as "The Fourth Estate," and similar in some respects to "Paid in Full." The presentation was forcible and decidedly interesting, though dealing with phases of modern life from which Canada has as yet been free, notably the corruption of elective judiciary. The story has to do with the election of a young man as mayor of a great city, and his fight to prevent a great steal of traction rights. This involves the girl he loves in misfortune, his father's good name, and is quite interesting in showing how the wiles of the conspirators are defeated at every turn. Felix Haney, as Ald. Phelan, was a very jolly, taking type of ward boss. The company was very capable and the production thoroughly enjoyed.

LOAN OF $40,000 ASKED BY INDEPENDENT TIRE COMPANY

Would Erect Building of Three Storeys 250x50 and Install Machinery at Cost of $75,000—To Employ 100 Hands---Loan to be Returned With Interest of 3 per Cent.

The suggestion of Mayor Morrow, calling for a more definite understanding with the Independent Tire Co., Ltd., of Toronto, with regard to the number of men the company should employ before receiving the second installment of a $40,000 loan from the city, delayed the passing of the by-law by the city council at a meeting held last night, this being the new industry which is probably coming to Peterborough.

E. H. D. Hall, city solicitor, was notified to communicate with the company's solicitor at Toronto to-day, and the matter, it is expected will be satisfactorily settled.

The by-law, as it now stands, was returned to the city solicitor by the company's solicitor, with his approval and accompanied by a cheque for $250, which will go towards defraying the cost of submitting the by-law to the citizens, the date of which will be shortly announced.

in his store. When he reached the he was barred by the authorities claimed that he was not a naturali American citizen. The rules rega ing such a case are that any per coming into a country via anot country in which he has not been turalized, is regarded as an immigr and hence can not be admitted, u they have been naturalized.

The local immigration officers t the matter up with the authorit at Ottawa, who replied that t could do nothing in the matter.

GUEST OF HONOR

...by-law as it now stands, no mention is made of how many hands are to be employed when the second half of the loan is paid, although the company is bound to employ from 50 to 70 hands within the first year, and Mayor Morrow led a discussion on this point, and which resulted as stated above.

After the first year the company agrees to have a staff of not less than one hundred employees with the intention of increasing as the business demands.

The company will be exempted from taxation, except for school purposes and local improvement, for a period of ten years.

The city will get a first mortgage on the property, and the loan will be paid back by the company in yearly instalments of $2,000, with three per cent interest.

Automobile and buggy wheel tires and other rubber goods will be manufactured by the company.

WAS OUT OF THE CITY.

The City Solicitor called up Toronto to-day over the long distance telephone but found that the representative of the Independent Tire Company would be absent from the city till to-morrow night. Nothing therefore can further be done in regard to the by-law until his return to Toronto.

WOMAN SPOKE AT PRESBYTERY

On Behalf of Rev. J. G. Potter's Church at Montreal

Montreal Star.

Mrs. John Scott, yesterday created a precedent when she appeared as the first woman speaker who has ever been heard before the Montreal Presbytery, and, during the time she was presenting her case for the preservation of the MacVicar Memorial Church from competition, she was listened to with the greatest attention.

It has been proposed to move St. Giles' Church from its present location on St. Denis street to a point west of St Lawrence Boulevard, between St. Joseph Boulevard and Mount Royal avenue, and after three other speakers had dealt with the case, Mrs. Scott was heard as one of the commission of the MacVicar congregation. She pointed out that if it had not been for the efforts of the Macvicar church congregation, there would not be any Presbyterian congregation in the district at present.

Mr. A. C. Hutchison and Mr. Yuile argued that the present position of St. Giles church gave little field for operation, and Rev. Mr. Potter was opposed to moving St. Giles' Church into the Annex west of Mount Royal. His own church had already had a hard struggle for existence and now that they were just beginning to get in a better position, he thought that they should not be interferred with.

The discussion was also taken part in by Messrs. James Roger, Gladstone Gamble and Rev. Mr. Dobson.

At the evening session of the Presbyterian argument of the matter was heard from Rev. Mr. Potter, Dr. Clark Dr. Scott and Rev. Mr. McGillivray, the latter of whom moved that the question of a new site for St. Giles' church be left to the decision of the old commission, with the addition of three members from each of the churches and three from the Outremont church, with the inclusion of Dr. Scrimger, Dr. Clark and Mr. W. Paul.

The motion was seconded by Mr. Drysdale, and it was finally adopted, with the proviso that the presbytery will meet again on April 5th in Knox church, at 8 p.m., for the report of the commission.

RAILWAY COMPANY HAS LIVED UP TO AGREEMENT WITH CITY

Says City Solicitor Hall—Cannot Be Compelled to Extend Their Line—A Misunderstanding

During the meeting of the city council last night and while the by-law was under discussion, City Solicitor Hall supplied some rather startling information.

Ald. Brown had remarked that there might be some diffficulty in getting out the vote, to pass the by-law, because some citizens would say, "what's the good of an agreement, if the council does not make the company live up to it and Ald. Brown mentioned the Street Railway Company. The City Solicitor came right back with the statement that the company had lived up to the agreement with the city, and that there was a general misunderstanding amongst the citizens on this matter.

The city could not compel the company to extend their line.

The city might ask the company to build on certain streets, and if this was not done within a certain time, the rights could be given to another company. The present frenchise was for thirty years.

THE BOW-WOW MINSTRELS ARE A COMPANY OF CLEVER ARTISTS

Swinging Music, Good Jokes and New Jokes in the Program—Lots of Fun—See Them To-morrow Night

There is always an attraction about about a minstrel show, and the announcement that the Bow-Wow Minstrels would appear at the Grand to-morrow afternoon and evening has occasioned a lot of interest. This is the second annual appearance of the minstrels, and they have been met with great success wherever they have been.

In the first part of the program there are a number of songs with rattling good choruses and a swing to them that catches the ear. Some of these are 'Casey Jones,' which is now the rage in New York, 'Listen to the Jungle Band,' 'Smile, Simply Smile,' and 'Honeymoon Glide.' The chorus have been well trained and the soloists always make a good impression on their audiences. During the olio a number of novelties will be introduced including R. C. L. Lukey, who appears as a novelty whistler, and John A. Kelly, assisted by Master Nelson Kelly, in a ventriloquial sketch, "The Happy Family." Then there is G. B. Hunt in various numerous selections, Scully, Rolls and Wood in buck and wing dancing, and a monologue by W. G. Charlebois. If you wish to pass a pleasant hour or two and have a few chuckles, make up your mind to see the Bow wow Minstrels to-morrow afternoon or evening. The prices for the matinee are, any seat, 25 cents; children 15 cents; while in the evening any seat in the house is 50 cents and the gallery 25 cents.

SPENDTHRIFT ISABELLA.

A Sight That Checked Her Royal Extravagance For Awhile.

We are accustomed to think that the day is long past when a sovereign could oppress and offend a whole kingdom by personal extravagance. But the late Isabella of Spain belonged in spirit to the sixteenth century. An incident of her reckless career—which ended in the loss of the throne—is noted in Munsey's Magazine.

She spent money, pouring it out like water, at a time when the treasury was nearly bankrupt and when the proverb "Poor as a Spaniard" was far too true. All her best advisers urged her to practice economy. Very few of them succeeded, and these only for a short time.

A certain chamberlain of hers once hit upon a plan to make her realize how enormous were the sums that she was spending. Passing through the hall of the palace, she was surprised to see a vast heap of silver pieces, resembling the contents of a great bin of wheat, but piled up in the middle of the floor. The queen summoned her chamberlain.

"What is the meaning of all this money?" she demanded of him.

"Oh," he replied, with a low bow, "this is merely the amount which I have brought out to pay the bill of your majesty's glovemaker."

The queen colored and then laughed, and for several months she was less extravagant in her expenditures for clothes.

E Pluribus Unum.

The country is indebted to Jahn Adams for its national motto, with an Englishman of note sharing in the honor. It seems that while Adams was minister to England Sir John Prestwick, an eminent English antiquary, suggested to him a good motto to represent the union of the American colonies. Adams at once was taken with the idea, which he transmitted to Charles Thompson, the secretary of congress, who on June 20, 1782, reported to that body his design for a government seal. In this the Latin legend "E Pluribus Unum" was to be borne on a ribbon held in the beak of an eagle.

Just where Sir John got the idea is not certain, but it is a fact that the motto was in use on the cover of the Gentleman's Magazine, first published in 1730, and it may have struck his fancy by its applicability to the situation then obtaining in America.

New Zealand's Glaciers.

The great size of the glaciers around Mount Cook, in New Zealand, has been often remarked. The Tasman is eighteen miles long, the Murchison ten miles, the Godley eight miles, the Mueller eight miles and the Hooker seven miles. Most of these glaciers have moraines of exceeding roughness, but the approaches to them are not steep, as is usually the case with European glaciers. The southern Alpine snow line is only a little over 7,000 feet. Glacially polished rocks are rare, and in many ways the mountains are singularly different from those of central Europe.

PLAGARIZING AN EPITAPH.

Wag Turned an Old Rhyme Into a Joke on Late R. Walker.

In an article which recently appeared in an English periodical on ancient epitaphs one was quoted which must have inspired a quatrain that attracted some attention in Toronto a quarter of a century ago. The epitaph in question is described by the English writer as "a delicious blending of the temporal and spiritual, and one which shows that in the olden times the spirit of successful advertising was already to be found in the business world." The verse ran:

Beneath this stone, in hope of Zion,
Doth lie the landlord of the Lion,
His son keeps on the business still,
Resigned unto the heavenly will.

Some anonymous joker who lived in Toronto in the eighties was evidently familiar with this epitaph as the following facts show. One of the great merchants who helped to build up the commercial prosperity of Toronto at the time it started to grow in real earnest was the late Robert Walker. The large emporium of R. Walker & Son stood on King street on the site now covered by the King Edward Hotel and the Victoria street extension. Those were the days of trade marks, and the title of the Walker establishment was "The Golden Lion." An immense gilded lion was prominent on the front elevation of the store. Robert Walker was a prominent Methodist and foremost in all religious works. In course of time he was called to his fathers, and shortly after his funeral someone inscribed on the fence of the cemetery so close to his tomb that the allusion was apparent, the following verse:

I am on my way to Zion,
My sons are still at "The Golden Lion,"
Measuring goods and filling the till,
Thus fulfilling their father's will.

Oratorical Bulls.

The Ottawa Free Press thinks that no bulls made nowadays compare to those of Sir Boyle Roche, but they had once in Ottawa an orator who closed an oration by quoting "the historic language of Lord Byron in Paradise Last, 'A man's a man for a' that'." Up at the Canadian Soo they have a close second named John Collins. He attended a political reception given to W. R. Smyth, now M.P. for Algoma, then just elected M.P.P. Collins, among other things, said: "There is an old Greek proverb, 'Vox populi, vox Dei,' which being interpreted means that the Lord is well pleased with the way you voted around here." At another meeting which he addressed, he is alleged to have said: "I see many of you absent to-night that were not present either the last time I was here." W. B. Northrup, M.P., tells one that is good enough for Mrs. Partington. This lady had just returned from a trip through France and was describing the beauties and glories of that magical country. "It was simply delightful," she said, "to hear the pheasants singing the mayonnaise." A Conservative member was once being introduced to Sir Wilfrid Laurier by a Liberal member. "Our friend here," said the Liberal member, "was once a Grit, but he fell from the error of his way." Apparently he had in mind two things, "fell from grace" and "saw the error of his way," and he got them mixed.

Not Puffed Up.

What's in a name. Allen Bristol Aylesworth suddenly becomes Sir "Alan." Dan Mann becomes Sir "Donald." What magic is there in the touch on the right shoulder of the royal sword, which changes the commonplace nomenclature into things of oral beauty? There is no doubt that Dan will still be Dan to the average man, no matter what his official name may be in the table of precedence. And as for Sir Alan, he will continue to be familiarly known about the Parliament Buildings as "old A.B.," the man who spends hour after hour each week in his little private office studying the reports of judges concerning convicted prisoners, weighing every title of evidence to see if by chance justice can be tempered with mercy. He has a great contempt of the little, petty things of politics. And that new bowler hat he bought for his Washington trip is not a whit larger in size for "Sir Alan" than it was for Hon. Allen B. Aylesworth.—Saturday Night.

Emma Came Back.

Captain Jones of the steamship Canada relates the following story illustrating the remarkable sagacity of dumb animals:

Besides the crew of this ship of the White Star-Dominion Line there is a feline supernumerary named Emma. When the boat landed in Montreal, near the close of the past season, Emma, deserting for the time her newly-born family, set out, according to custom, for a walk up Commissioner street. But Emma became so interested in the improvements to the harbor that she lost track of the time and returned to the dock to find that the Canada, her floating home, had sailed. Was Emma perplexed? Well, perhaps; but she was not nonplussed. Strolling along the wharves she took passage by the Allan Line, there until she found her ship, ran up the gangplank and a week later landed in Liverpool, trotted up the quay and joined her family.

His Proper Place.

Mr. George Reginald Geary has received a vaster vote than has been for the Toronto mayoralty. Some years ago, Toronto, in a fit of carelessness, allowed a "Joke" to be elected—and Toronto has profited by the blunder.

On a certain occasion a deputation of ladies waited on the "Joke" Mayor, and promptly appeared at noon—the hour of appointment.

"Ah," said His Worship, gruffly. "I think I'll have to postpone this interview. It's my time to feed."

A bright and disgusted woman who was secretary of the deputation said sweetly. "Certainly, Mr. Mayor. We'd hate to detain you from your trough."

CHICAGO, March 16.—Official forecast that rising temperature would be widespread, and that in Minnesota there would be rain or snow, removed to-day as a wheat market influence all talk of cold dry weather. In consequence the close was easy at a net decline of ⅛c to ½c. Other leading cereals showed an advance—corn and oats both making a gain of a shade to ⅛c—provisions declining 7½c to 25c and 27½c.

The Liverpool wheat market closed to-day ⅝d higher than yesterday; corn was ⅜d to ½d higher. Antwerp closed unchanged on wheat.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, March 16.—Cables on Manitoba spring wheat came stronger with bids 1½ to 3d higher. Demand was fair, but even at the advance they were 1c to 2c per bushel below cost. Canadian western oats were stronger, and prices advanced ½c to ¾c per bushel in sympathy with the strength displayed in the Winnipeg market, which was due to short covering. There is an unsettled feeling in spring wheat flour and prices are being cut in some cases 10c to 20c per barrel, which, if continued, will lead to a general decline in the near future. Stocks are large, and the demand is very limited.

THE GENUINE ALWAYS SUPERIOR TO THE IMITATION

The experienced buyer never permits the shrewd merchant to convince him that an imitation is superior to the genuine advertised article. In refusing a substitute he protects himself and the manufacturers who have expended enormous sums in giving the public information regarding their products.

Advertised articles have stood the test of public approval on their merits and materials embracing their make-up The mere fact that they are imitated is competent testimony of their worth.

You are safe in rejecting the article offered as "just as good."

INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION

A Synopsis of Inspector Seath's Exhaustive Report Made by Inspector Mowat

Dr. Seath, Superintendent of Education for Ontario, has recently issued a voluminous and comprehensive report upon "Education for Industrial Purposes."

Dr. Seath visited the chief industrial centres of England, Scotland, France, Switzerland, Germany, and the United States. In his report he explains what has been done in the way of industrial training in these various countries, and he points out and recommends many comprehensive changes for Ontario, if this province is not to lag hopelessly behind in the industrial world.

A comprehensive review of the 400 page report is impossible, but some of Dr. Seath's recommendations for Ontario should be of interest to everyone who has given any attention at all to the question.

Dr. Seath first explains the organization of the Ontario system of education as it is administered at present. Our system, he explains, has three divisions:—

1. Primary—provided for in our Public and Separate schools.
2. Secondary—provided for in our Continuation schools, High schools, and Collegiate Institutes.
3. Higher Education—provided for at Toronto University with its affiliated colleges, which together provide courses in Arts, Medicine, Applied Science, Education, Forestry, Agriculture, Dentistry, Pharmacy, Music and Veterinary Science.

The chief defect of the primary course of study is that it is determined by the requirements of the entrance examination, into the High school, and the courses of the secondary schools are largely determined by the matriculation examinations and the examinations for teachers' certificates.

As a result of such courses of study in our primary and secondary schools, the most important products of these schools for many years have been teachers and professional men. There has been a general desire for an occupation that allows "clean hands and good clothes," and no suitable provisions have been made for industrial education.

As a preliminary step towards remedying this defect, Dr. Seath thinks that the primary course of study will have to be somewhat modified. The subjects of study of the public school course will have to be brought into closer relation to the pupils' life than they hitherto have been, and more stress will have to be laid on manual training, household science, art and drawing. In the near future, he thinks, that manual training and household science should be made compulsory in the upper forms of all urban, public and Separate schools.

To bring Ontario abreast of other countries in industrial training there will have to be gradually established three classes of day schools for boys who leave the public school at 14 years of age.

1. The General Industrial School, which will provide a two years' course for boys in shop work, English, mathematics and science. This school aims at laying a broad foundation for all trades.
2. The special industrial school into which the boy passes from the general industrial school. In this school the trades and occupations are taught with a view to make efficient workmen. The length of this course depends upon the nature of the trade taken up by the student.
3. The Technical High School which provides a course for young men requiring special technical knowledge. It would fit young men for positions of greater importance and responsibility than those held by skilled mechanics. In Europe and in the U.S. this course is one of four years. For girls who leave the public school at 14 and who may wish to enter industrial life, a single industrial course specialized from the beginning will have to be provided. The course will vary according to the industrial centre in which it is pursued. In some centres courses are provided the girls in clothing, publishing and book-binding, salesmanship, domestic science, drawing and designing. In addition to these technical branches the girls' general education is continued and careful provision is made for their physical training.

Provision will also have to be made for workmen and workwomen who have already entered upon their trades.

Three classes of schools are also provided these in the older countries.

1. Day Industrial Schools, to which employers permit their apprentices to go for a certain number of hours each week. In some cases employers supply these schools themselves for their apprentices.
2. The Evening School, which supplements the day shop work by instruction in the same branches.
3. The Correspondence Study school, which furnishes instruction partly by a staff of travelling teachers.

To make industrial training effective there should also be established in Ontario an Industrial and Technical College for the training of all grades of industrial teachers, and for the conduct of a correspondence study school with travelling teachers.

If Canada is to keep pace with other countries in industrial education, the Dominion Government should not only aid the provinces in this department of education, but should also establish an Institute of Industrial Research for the advancement of the trades, as the Dominion has already done in the case of agriculture and mining.

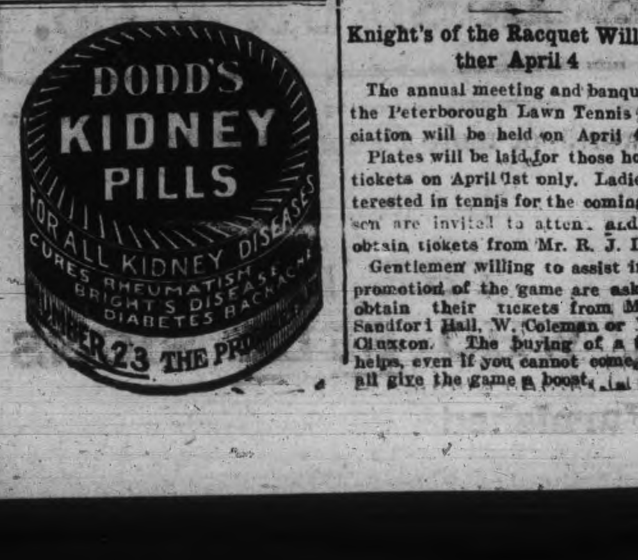
Before manufacturing centres can intelligently take up the question of Industrial Education, Dr. Seath recommends the appointment by the Ontario Government of a Director of Technical and Industrial Education. This officer would be able to visit the different centres and give expert advice, thereby preventing serious economic and educational blunders by boards unacquainted with the requirements of modern industrial education.

Dr. Seath, in this report, goes fully into all phases of industrial education. He explains what is being done in other countries, and also recommends important changes in

1. Drawing and Art Education.
2. Agricultural Education.
3. Commercial Education.

He shows that in these branches, as well as in strictly industrial education, Ontario is far behind other countries, and earnest effort is needed to effect improvements.

The whole report is clear and comprehensive, and anyone wishing to understand what is being done in the older countries in the line of industrial education should secure a copy and study it in detail.



THE TRIALS OF A BLACKLISTER

Also Those of His Wife — Fine of $10 Imposed

A young married man who is on the black list was fined ten dollars this morning for having indulged again. License Inspector Stewart laid the charge.

The Inspector said that he had been called to the home of the prohibited one by a telephone message informing him that a disturbance was being raised at the house and that the husband was drunk.

When he reached the house he said he found the wife of the household with a black eye and thought that he detected liquor in the husband's breath. According to Mr. Stewart, the head of the house admitted that he had been drinking that morning. The time of the disturbance was about three o'clock in the afternoon.

HOW IT HAPPENED.

The defendant's wife, who took the stand, said that she and her husband had had a dispute after dinner over money matters.

She had locked the door of the pantry on the husband when he went to look for a shoe brush. A fork happened to be lying on the floor near the door and her husband kicked the door open just as she was in the act of stooping down to pick it up. This was the cause, so she said, of her black eye. She also said that both she and her husband had bad tempers.

The husband told a very smooth story of the affair the acts of which mostly agreed with his wife's account.

His Worship, however, held that in view of the fact that he had undoubtedly been guilty of an infraction of the liquor act and that a disturbance had occurred at his home, he felt that the least he could do was to impose a fine of $10.

When asked where he procured the liquor the defendant answered at his home, where it was used as medicine for a sick child.

NOT ALLOWED TO COME TO CANADA

Relative of Local Fruit Dealer Stopped at Border

A relative of a local fruit dealer, residing in the United States, was turned back at the border recently by the Canadian immigration authoriteis, as he was endeavoring to enter Canada. The reason for refusal to admit him was that his case did not comply with entering this country.

It appears that his relative in this city who is an Italian asked his friend to come over to Canada and assist him in his store. When he reached the entrance port into Canada he did not have any money.

He was accordingly turned back. His friend in this city hearing of his trouble forwarded him fifty dollars in his store. When he reached the en- he was barred by the authorities who claimed that he was not a naturalized American citizen. The rules regarding such a case are that any person coming into a country via another country in which he has not been naturalized, is regarded as an immigrant and hence can not be admitted, until they have been naturalized.

The local immigration officers took the matter up with the authorities at Ottawa, who replied that they could do nothing in the matter.

GUEST OF HONOR AT A DINNER

Farewell to Mr. Arnold Haultain—Is Known Here

To-day's Mail and Empire says—Mr. Arnold Haultain, who is leaving on Monday to reside for a few years at least in England, was the guest of honor at a dinner last night at the Toronto Club. The company consisted of friends of Mr. Haultain who are in some way associated with literature or journalism.

Mr. Haultain, who to a critical circle of readers is esteemed as the author of "The Mystery of Golf," "Hints to Lovers," and "Two Country Walks in Canada," and who was for seventeen years private secretary to the late Professor Goldwin Smith, as well as being the editor of that gentleman's "Reminiscences," goes to England to pursue his literary career there.

Mr. Haultain resided in Peterborough at one time, and for some years was assistant editor on the Review.

CANADA'S CHAMPION DANCER

Cured of Piles by Zam-Buk

Mr. Thomas J. Hogan, Champion Clog and Pedestal Dancer of Canada, who resides at 59 Chambord street, Montreal, writes: "It gives me much pleasure to let you know my opinion of your wonderful Zam-Buk. For some time past I have been troubled with piles, but this year I suffered so much that I was obliged to cancel a number of engagements. I tried all the so-called remedies that were recommended, but they seemed to do me no good. Having been advised to try Zam-Buk I purchased a box, and after applying it a few times I felt marked relief. I continued with the Zam-Buk treatment, and the relief was extended into a permanent cure. I gladly permit you to use my experience (as an illustration of the great value of Zam-Buk for piles."

Another illustration of how Zam-Buk cures long standing cases of piles is provided by Mr. William Kenty, of Upper Nine Mile River, Hants Co., N.S. He says: "I suffered terribly from piles, the pain at times being almost unbearable. Zam-Buk was recommended to me, so I procured a supply and commenced with the treatment. After a very short time Zam-Buk effected a complete cure."

Zam-Buk is also a cure for ulcers, abscesses, eczema, cold sores, chapped hands, varicose ulcers, rashes, blood-poison, ringworm, cuts, burns, bruises, children's abrasions, tetter, salt rheum, etc. All druggists and stores sell at 50 cents a box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Zam-Buk Soap, which may be had from any druggist at 25 cents per tablet, should be used instead of ordinary soap in all cases of eruptions and skin diseases.

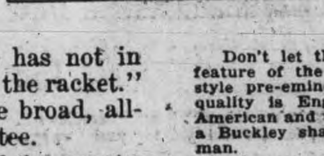
BUT

if it happens to be a Buckley, he can get another without it costing him a cent.

You've seen "guarantees" before—but you never yet heard of a hat guarantee that guaranteed the owner even against accident.

Here's one that does—the sweeping Buckley guarantee—provides for such cases as that shown in the picture.—provides for a new hat within 4 months from date of purchase, if, for any reason—accident or otherwise—your Buckley hat has not in every sense "stood the racket." Read carefully the broad, all-embracing guarantee.



Why, you ask, should the guarantee be made so far-reaching?

Well, in the first place, the makers of the "Buckley" have absolute confidence in their product—they feel sure it will give satisfaction in 999 cases out of 1,000.

But there's always that thousandth man—even he must be satisfied.

And, in order that he may get a new Buckley hat from any Buckley dealer, without having to answer questions or give a lengthy explanation, it has been thought well to provide that, whatever his reason, if the Buckley he's been wearing has not lasted four months, it will be cheerfully, promptly, unquestioningly exchanged.

Don't let this remarkable guarantee feature of the Buckley overshadow the style pre-eminence of these hats. The quality is English, but the styles are American and up-to-the-minute. There's a Buckley shape to suit every type of man.

Buckley hats are made by Union workmen—there's high grade material and honest workmanship in every hat that bears the Buckley name. Price, $2.50, at all the best hat shops.

Balfour Backs Effort.

London, March 17.—Mr. Balfour speaking in the House of Commons yesterday, said:

"The late Government did its best to carry out an arbitration treaty with the United States. I hope that there is a general feeling in America that the time has come when these two great countries may at last be bound by treaty to refer all questions which could possibly produce anything so horrible as war between them, to some arbitration tribunal.

"The Secretary for Foreign Affairs will find no heartier friends of such a policy than those in the Unionist party."

Mr. Balfour's speech, which was quite unexpected, has given a new impetus to the arbitration movement, and in the opinion of the Liberal morning papers, brings the question of an Anglo-American treaty within the region of practical politics.

Woman Burned to Death.

St. Catharines, March 17.—The firemen had two alarms last night, one which resulted fatally, Mrs. John Motley, aged 68, being burned to a crisp by falling while walking with a lighted lamp from room to room at her home on Division street. The other alarm was at the Reo automobile plant, but was unattended with any serious results.

Mrs. Motley was alone in her house at the time, so exactly how her death occurred will never be known. It was only when passers-by noticed flames in the interior of the house that an alarm was telephoned to the fire department. Firemen lost no time in gaining an entrance, but the woman was then lying dead on the floor, her clothes having been completely destroyed by the flames. A broken lamp was also found on the floor beside the body, thus telling the sad story.

Underpaid and Underworked.

Winnipeg, March 17.—The grand jury of local assizes handed out some strong recommendations to the Provincial Government yesterday regarding the existing accommodation in such institutions as the local jail and Selkirk Asylum. The staffs are underpaid and overworked. In regard to the asylum the grand jury says that a provincial board of examiners should be appointed to inspect them. At present there is no classification, the insane and those of insane tendencies being all herded together.

BOARD OF WORKS DECIDES TO USE OIL ON ALL STREETS

Central Part of City to be Treated Late at Night

No more dust.

Death to the flies.

Grin and bear it.

The water wagon will hereafter appear only in calithumpian processions.

The Board of Works at a meeting last night recommended that oil be used on the streets of the city during the coming season. Not just on a few streets, but over the 21 1-2 miles covered in other years by the watering system. There were no dissenting voices.

Here are a few expressions of opinion—

Ald. Graham—"I'm in favor of oil, but George street should be treated as late in the evening as possible."

Ald. Metheral—"Are we going to take it up as a general work all over the city?"

Ald. Morgan—"Ashburnham wants it whether the city does or not."

Ald. Brown—"There ought to be some precautions taken, but I want the oil."

Mayor Morrow—"Have you all had an expression from the public?"

Ald. Duncan—"I'll take the oil. If the Board says oil, put it on. Treat the main streets late at night, Mr. Potvin says, and he will have no objection."

Ald. Brown—"Mr. Coleman objects to it."

Ald. Metheral—"There will be objections, but it protects the road."

Ald. Morgan—"It kills the flies."

Ald. Kerneghan—"Put canvas on the crossings. The ladies object to the damage to their skirts."

On motion of Ald. Graham and Ald. Duncan it was decided that oil be used on the streets this year.

SANITARY WORKS

A report from the city engineer was read. It referred to the practice of dumping garbage, ashes, etc., at the river bank at the east end of Edinburgh street, and at Charlotte street east, also at the corner of Murray and Stewart streets. In some cases the signs prohibiting this work do not appear.

"Put Detective Newhall on the job," suggested Ald. Duncan.

The matter was left in the hands of the chairman and city engineer, with power to take such action as is necessary.

A letter was read from Dr. McCullough, Provincial Health Officer, who stated his approval of the plans for the septic tank at the Waterford street river bank, with the exception that the city agree to make changes if any dissatisfaction is brought about by the improper working of the tank.

A WIDER CURVE.

The chairman was asked to interview Mr. Munroe, of the Street Railway Company, in regard to the curve at the corner of Smith and George streets, where accidents have occurred owing to the small space for traffic of horses.

The chairman and engineer will make a report to the council on the proposed new walk at Victoria Park. The Horticultural Society have asked for a grant of $200 that they may do the work. The County Council made a grant of $100.

Martin Neary and John Thorndyke have applied for the position of foreman on sewer work. Action was deferred.

NO MORE "WALK THE PLANK."

Several members remarked on the small ponds which gather each spring in different parts of the city. The engineer was asked to investigate and report.

Mayor Morrow moved that a surface drain be laid from the creek to the corner of Aylmer and Hunter streets, with a sufficient number of catch basins, and that the work be done this year. The proposition found favor and carried.

The chairman was authorized to purchase a light grader, for road work. It will cost $60. He was also authorized to advertise for tenders for cement.

INCREASE FOR POLL CLERKS

Will Receive $3 — Polling Places For Voting on By-Law

The polling subdivisions for the voting on the by-law authorizing the agreement between the city and the Independent Tire Company were re-arranged last evening, and the deputy returning officers and poll clerks appointed. Following a suggestion by Ald. Morgan, the remuneration of the poll clerks was increased from $2 to $3. The D.R.O. receives $4. The polling places, D.R.O. and poll cerik of each follows:—

Nos. 1 and 3.—M. H. Halpin's, 39 George street. Josiah Robertson, W. Mason.

No. 2 and 3—T. J. Murray's, 111 Rubidge street. J. P. Bryson, A. Graham.

No. 4—L. Fory's, 216 Stewart street. W. VanEvery, T. O. Rush.

No. 6, 7, 8, 9—City Council Chamber. T. B. McGrath, A. S. Maguire.

No. 10, 11—J. E. Lillico, 356 Charlotte street. F. Brownscombe, J. O. Moss.

No. 12—R. Begley, 263 Babb's Lane. F. J. A. Hall. T. G. Robinson.

No. 13, 14.—N. Routley, 392 Brock street. A. Sawers, N. Routley.

No. 15, 18—T. H. Hooper's, 601 George street. G. H. Howson, D. Kennedy.

No. 16, 17—J. J. Cocks', 159 Dublin street. John Sawers, J. J. Cocks.

No. 19—J. T. Braund's. S. W. Robinson, Jas. Middleton.

No. 20, 21—Former Village Hall. R. Hamilton, John Kerr.

No. 22—George Coons, 539 Rogers street. J. T. Craig and E. Dillon.

The polls will be open from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Commissioner Duggan's suggestion is that the voting take place on a Saturday, but this did not meet with the approval of the council. Ald. Edgar was of the opinion that a thorough organization for the bringing out of the vote should be undertaken.

SERVICES WILL CLOSE TO-NIGHT

At Knox Church—Subject of Address "God's Responsibilities"

The services that have been conducted in Knox church for the past two weeks will close to-night. Those who have not yet heard Rev. Mr. Woodside will have to avail themselves of this last opportunity. The service last evening was well attended. Rev. Mr. Ridgiford and Rev. Mr. Henerson took part. The message was one of Mr. Woodside's most vivid deliverances based on the words of Jesus before Herod. "He answered him nothing." Herod had received his massage from John, but refused to listen. Jesus will not answer his question until Herod deals with his own past. To-night Mr. Woodside's closing message will be, "Gods' Responsibilities." All who have attended any of the series will be looked for at this closing meeting.

J. J. Turner's Efforts to Get Big Gathering for Peterboro'

The representative of Peterborough at the Grand Lodge of the A.O.U.W., just concluded in Toronto, was J. J. Turner, sr., who has been in attendance at the Grand Lodge for the last five or six years.

Mr. Turner made a gallant fight to get the Grand Lodge to meet in Peterborough next year, urging the good accommodation, the brightness and attractiveness of the city, but he was outweighed by the Toronto influence. The motion to meet at Peterborough was not put until many of the visiting delegates had gone, and so was defeated.

Mr. Turner is determined to get the Grand Lodge, which is composed of five hundred members, for Peterborough sooner or later, and if in attendance next year, will make another attempt.

Charlotte Street League

An evening of unusual interest and enjoyment is promised to those who attend the regular meeting of Charlotte street church league on Monday evening next.

A somewhat novel program is being arranged, which will be in the nature of a contest. Two sides have been chosen to provide the program, each side to contribute seven numbers, and the side which provides in the opinion of the judges, the most entertaining numbers will be given the reward.

A few musical selections will also be given and a large attendance is expected. Come and bring your friends. No admission fee.

Only $65,000 has been subscribed in London so far to retain "The Mill" to the National Gallery.

There was a discussion over certain alleged discrimination against homesteaders who were known to be Conservatives. Dr. Neely stated that no discrimination was made on political lines, and if there was, the Minister of the Interior would make an investigation.

In response to Conservative jeers, Dr. Neely said: "It is known that my hon. friend (Mr. Campbell) has taken steps himself, on certain occasions, to lead even officials to do what was not in the best interests of the country."

"My hon. friend is a liar, absolutely a liar," said Glen Campbell.

There were cheers and cries of "Order."

"It will be necessary for my hon. friends to withdraw those words," said the Deputy Speaker.

"I called him a liar and I refuse to take it back!" Dr. Neely shifted in his seat nervously.

The Speaker insisted on considering the point of order he had raised.

"He had better talk of his honesty," said Mr. Campbell. "Where is the capital of Saskatchewan? What does it cost to vote for it?"

"The member for Dauphin will realize that he has spoken hastily, and also that his words are not Parliamentary. I think that will be sufficient to cause him to withdraw them," said the Deputy Speaker.

Col. Sam Hughes here raised a second point of order with regard to Dr. Neely, saying what he did concerning Mr. Campbell. "It is his place first to withdraw his declaration."

"What I said goes, he is absolutely a liar, but if it is not Parliamentary, I take the word back. But he is absolutely a liar," called out the member for Dauphin.

The Deputy Speaker: "Such a breach of order must be—"

Here the House got into a tremendous uproar. "I will not take a word back. He is a liar, first, last and all the time," said Mr. Campbell, while half a dozen members tried to speak.

The Deputy Speaker: "Inasmuch as the hon. member has refused to withdraw, it will be my duty to report the matter to the House, for such action as it deems proper and desirable."

"It is a hard task, Mr. Chairman, to withdraw something that is absolutely true," observed Mr. Campbell.

More cries of "Order."

After further discussion Mr. Campbell withdrew the expression "At your order, Mr. Chairman."

Dr. Schaffner (Souris): "Now you had better make that man withdraw."

Col. Hughes then raised the point of the propriety of Dr. Neely's remark, that the member for Dauphin had sought to induce the officer of the crown to perform an illegal act. The Speaker did not think the expression was unparliamentary.

Dr. Neely denied using such words, and when interrupted by Col. Hughes, said he would give him an opportunity to speak, adding: "I am not cowardly enough to make insinuations."

"Why don't you call him to order," said Dr. Reid (Grenville), but the chairman said he had not heard the word.

Dr. Neely, in explaining his assertion, said that he meant to convey that the member for Dauphin had "made the admission or statement—"

SIX MONTHS WILL GET IT

Reno, Nev., March 17.—The popularity of the State of Nevada as a place to secure quick action in divorce cases was increased last night. The legislature let down the bars further than they have been when both Houses passed a bill making a residence of six months the only requirement in divorce actions. The privilege of leaving the state "when necessary" is to be accorded to all who are establishing a residence. The bill now goes to the governor.

SIR EDWARD GREY EXPLAINS NATURE OF ARBITRATION IDEA

Would Not be Defensive Alliance, But Might Help Against a Third Power

London, March 18.—Sir Edward Grey further developed his views on arbitration at the annual banquet last night of the International Arbitration League, and corrected some misapprehensions which had arisen regarding his now famous speech in the House of Commons, in which he gave support to the suggestion of President Taft for an Anglo-American treaty providing for the settlement by arbitration of any question that might arise between the two Governments.

"I observe," said the Foreign Secretary last evening, "that some of the words I used the other day are being construed as if a general arbitration treaty between these two great nations would be tantamount to a defensive alliance between them. If a general arbitration treaty were made between two great nations and became firmly rooted in the feelings of both countries, and if one of them was in the course of time made the object of an attack in a dispute with a third power, in which arbitration had been offered to and refused by the third power, certainly, I think, there would be a strong sympathy between the two powers who had made the general arbitration treaty. But that is a matter which depends upon public opinion, and in which opinion will take care of itself.

"To introduce any such condition or stipulation into an arbitration treaty would impair the chances of it here or elsewhere. It might even lead other countries to suppose that the arbitration treaty between the two powers was directed against one or more of those powers. That would completely spoil its possible effect in mitigating the general expenditure on armaments.

"If an arbitration treaty is made between two countries on the lines sketched out as possible by the President of the United States, let it be done between the two powers concerned without 'arriere pensee' (by-purpose), but don't let them set narrow bounds to their hopes of the beneficient results which may develop from it in the course of time—results which, I think, must extend far beyond the two countries originally concerned."

CHINA YIELDS

Pekin, March 17.—The Chinese Government declares its intention of agreeing to both points at issue with Russia and is now drafting a reply to the recently received ultimatum along this line.

MANITOBA IS SOLID UNIT

Hon. Robert Rogers Says its Against Reciprocity.

Montreal, March 18.—Hon. Robert Rogers, Minister of Public Works, in the Manitoba Cabinet, who is here today, states in the most emphatic manner that if the Federal Cabinet were to dissolve to-morrow, on the reciprocity agreement, as they will have to do sooner or later, the Province of Manitoba would not send a single member to Ottawa in support of the agreement. "Some of the farmers were deceived at first," said the minister, "but their eyes are thoroughly opened to the danger that lurks in the passage of the measure."

Mr. Rogers says that irrespective of the fate of the pact before the United States Congress, Sir Wilfrid Laurier will have to make his election on this question, and the minister has no fear of the result.

WHY WAS IT REFUSED?

In the House of Commons on Thursday in the debate on the question of the Farmers Bank commission, Dr. Edwards, of Frontenac, said—

The Government had granted aid to the sufferers from the San Francisco earthquake and the Paris floods, who had no claim upon the Government. Why should it not come to the assistance of Canadians who had suffered from the failure of the Farmers Bank. The only argument of Sir Wilfrid Laurier in opposition to the motion was that the Finance Minister had been deceived. Dr. Edwards agreed that this might be so, but he pointed out that repeated warnings had been given which might have made Mr. Fielding more vigilant.

"There must be some other reason which induces the Prime Minister to refuse the enquiry by Royal Commission," said Dr. Edwards. "Is it because the member for West Peterborough (Mr. J. R. Stratton) or even the Finance Minister would have to go into the witness box? If the Minister was deceived that is all the more reason for a thorough investigation."

Apart from granting the certificate Mr. Fielding was still under a heavy responsibility to the country. His attention had been called to many crooked transactions by the Farmers Bank. But he had made no effort to stop them or to enforce the law.

A HAPPY DAY

T.P. O'CONNOR.

"This is Ireland's happiest St. Patrick's Day in her history until the St. Patrick's Day two or three years hence, when Ireland has gained her ancient Parliament. Everything points to our success putting an end to the long struggle of centuries."

TRIED TO ESCAPE

THE SULTAN.

Vienna, March 18.—If the reports in the Vienna papers from Salonica are true, ex-Sultan Abdul Hamid recently attempted to escape from the Villa Allantini, with the assistance of several soldiers who had been bribed.

The officer who discovered the conspiracy was killed by the leader he implicated. The soldiers afterwards revealed the details of the plot, and its failure made so deep an impression upon the ex-Sultan that he fell into a paroxysm of fury and smashed the furniture to pieces.

Doctors attempted in vain to calm him and were finally forced to put him into a straight-jacket.

WOULD GIVE THE LASH TO BRUTE

Montreal Judge Scores a Wife-Beater Severely.

Montreal, March 18.—"My only regret is that the complaint against you was not laid in such a way that it would be possible for me to condemn you to the lash."

Such was the remark of Judge Lanctot yesterday when Maxime Branchaud, who had been found guilty of cruelty to his wife and of non-support, appeared before him and asked for clemency of the court.

Branchaud arrived in Montreal from Cornwall six months ago with his wife and eight children, and, according to the evidence yesterday, made no effort whatever to support them. Dr. Pilon said that Branchaud twelve days after the birth of a child had beaten his wife into unconsciousness.

After Mrs. Branchaud told the court that both she and her children were afraid to live with Branchaud, Judge Lanctot, after lecturing the accused, sentenced him to six months, a fine of $100, or three months, after which he would have to furnish bail of $200 to keep the peace or serve an additional three months.

SIX HUNDRED CATTLE BURNED

Union Stock Yards at Chicago Visited by Fire

Special to The Review.

Chicago, March 18.—One man was killed and six hundred cattle were burned to death in a destructive fire at the Union stock yards. Thousands of cattle stampeded and broke through the stockades, and were thus saved from being destroyed by the fire. The loss will reach $100,000.

MUST RETURN TO THEIR COMMANDS

British Officers on Furlough Advised to Report at Once

Special to The Review.

London, Eng., March 18.—All officers of the British army out on furlough have been ordered to return to their commands at once. No explanation for this sudden move can be received from the War Office.

Rio Janeiro, March 18.—Thirty cases of bubonic plague have been discovered at Porto Algreum, Brazil. It is thought that the disease has been brought by sailing vessels.

ALMIGHTY DOLLAR CAN'T KILL THE PATRIOTISM OF ONTARIO

Sir James Whitney's Ringing Answer to the Sordid Cry — Arti-Reciprocity Carries by 75 to 17.

Toronto, March 18.—Ringing cheers for the King and a demonstration of loyalty unexampled in the history of the Ontario Legislature formed the climax to the reciprocity debate.

The galleries were crowded with spectators when the House opened yesterday afternoon, and the preliminaries on the order paper were made short work of. When the Prime Minister rose to close the discussion, by a reply to Thursday's lengthy address of the leader of the Opposition, expectancy was keyed up to a high pitch. Prolonged applause came from the Government supporters, and their chief proved his prowess by a vigorous address.

The anti-reciprocity resolution of the Premier was carried on a straight party division, Allan Studholme, the Labor member, voting with the Opposition. Hon. A. G. MacKay's amendment was first defeated by 75 to 17, and the resolution carried by 74 to 17. Hon. I. B. Lucas was absent when the later division occurred.

"It is my purpose this afternoon," said the Premier, "to make some observations on the subject before this House and some observations in relation to certain statements in the amendment, the like of which were never before seen in this House.

"My hon. friend, the leader of the Opposition, spoke yesterday for an hour and a half; read a compilation of mixed statistics, the truthfulness of which is not in question; and gave a wicked compilation of quotations respecting the attitude of a prominent Canadian statesman of the past."

"The remarkable feature of the addresses on this subject from the other side of the House is that all the speakers, from the whip down to the leader, have dwelt on the mere sordid dollar. They have not discussed the question of the effect on the Empire, but have only discussed the very slight higher price paid in Buffalo for hogs and lambs.

"I was struck with the circumstance that the member for West Huron stated that Mr. Taft was not the tempter. The tempter was the market in Buffalo. He contrasted Toronto and Buffalo, but did not mention the wider difference between the prices in Buffalo and Chicago and Omaha.

"The amendment suggests that the loyalty of Canada is a purchasable property."

There has been no direct attempt to answer the statements of Mr. Taft, J. J. Hill, Champ Clark and Senator Beveridge that reciprocity will draw Canada towards the United States. The only effect, according to the Opposition leader's speech, will be two cents more a pound for lamb and $1 per cwt. more for hogs.

The serious effect would be that it would separate our east from our west. That just as we have fastened the hooks of commercial activity on all parts of Canada, that as Canadians have just stepped out on the mountain of nationhood, the tempter appears and the Dominion is asked to step aside and abandon her nationality. The American politicians do not expect immediate annexation, but their whole idea is to gradually lead the people of Canada towards annexation.

A scene of inspiring patriotism was the sequel. Differences of resolution and amendment appeared to become forgotten. Capt. Machin, Kenora, led off by starting the "Maple Leaf," Alex. Muir's matchless Canadian anthem was rendered with impressive force and vigor by the hundred sturdy legislators, irrespective of party. The chorus of "Rule Britannia" followed, and instinctively every person present rose in every part of the House, including all the galleries, and "God Save the King," attested by its volume and ring that the Ontario Legislature is British to the core.

Cheers for the King scarcely sufficed to give full vent to the enthusiasm of the inspiring moment.

The division was on strict party lines, except that Allan Studholme, who usually votes with the Government, voted for the amendment.

WILL BUILD A NEW LINE

Railroad From Quebec to St. John Probable.

New Venture in Transportation Matters Mooted.

Montreal, March 18.—It is apparent that still another railway is to be built from Quebec to St. John and Halifax, and the statement is made that if the people of the lower provinces persist in keeping the I.C.R. under Government control that the new line will be handed over to the Canadian Northern as constituting their Atlantic section.

It was announced the other day that Mr. Thomas Malcolm, who has just completed the International from Campbellton to St. Leonards on the St. John River, would build the river railway from Grand Falls to St. John and over country to Moncton from Fredericton.

It appears, however, that Mr. Malcolm, who owns the Quebec and New Brunswick charter, has a more formidable project on hand, and will construct the Quebec and New Brunswick line as part of the system. By this route the distance from Quebec to St. Leonards, on the St. John, is 174 miles, from St. Leonards to Grand Falls, 12 miles, from Grand Falls to Woodstock, 74 miles, and from Woodstock to Fredericton, 62 miles, and from Fredericton to St. John, 80 miles, or 402 in all.

Then it is proposed in order to form an alternate route through to Halifax to run across country from Fredericton to Moncton and on to Halifax.

Sudbury Link.

Montreal, March 18.—The official announcemenet was made for the first time here yesterday as to the probable date of the opening of the Canadian Northern Railway from ocean to ocean. Mr. D. B. Hanna, en route for Quebec, stated that the several links would be hitched up by the fall of 1914, and the third vice-president also confirmed the statement to the effect that the five hundred-mile stretch from Sudbury to Port Arthur will be built in two years' time.

Mr. Hanna likewise expects that by that time there will be no less than six trains daily running from Montreal and Toronto to the Pacific Coast, two to be operated by the C.P.R., two by the Grand Trunk Pacific and two by the Canadian Northern. He also wants to know why, if Canada can give business enough for six daily transcontinental trains, why can she not support at least a daily steamer from Great Britain to the Canadian ports? This is what he says will happen, and travelers from Bristol to Halifax will only pass four nights on shipboard.

"There is no room for knockers here in Canada," said the third vice-president in conclusion, "and there is also room for three great railways."

EVERYTHING ON WHEELS TO STOP

Declaration of Labor Leader—Express Companies Must Bend.

Special to The Review.

New York, March 18.—The labor leader in the strike in greater New York has declared that unless the express companies yield to the demands of the strikers, the strike will be extended "till everything on wheels is stopped." Fifty thousand men will be affected.

TOGO IS COMING

Victoria, B.C., March 18.—Admiral Togo has decided to make a tour of North America on his way back from the coronation of King George V., according to advices brought yesterday by the steamer Sado Maru from Yokohama.

SHELDON CREDITORS GET ONE CENT ON THE DOLLAR

Assets Amount to About $8,000 and Liabilities $800,000.

Montreal, March 18.—About one cent on the dollar is the latest estimate of the dividend of the seekers of wealth who sought quick and easy fortunes through the medium of Charles D. Sheldon's "Blind Pool."

According to Mr. Burnett, of the firm of Wilkes & Burnett, who are the curators of the estate of the one-time financial "wizard" of 189 St. James street, there is at present but little more than $15,000 in receipts available to divide among the unfortunate creditors, whose losses total up in the neighborhood of $800,000.

Nearly $7,000 must come out of the $15,000 to provide for expenses, legal and otherwise, in connection with the winding up of the "Investment Broker's" business.

Some little ray of hope, however, was held out to the creditors by Mr. Burnett, who said that if the law suit which the curators had taken against a certain party for the recovery of $14,000 or $15,000 was successful, twenty or more other suits would be instituted to recover amounts which, if not quite as large as the first one, would swell the total receipts considerably.

SIR ELZEAR ILL

Ottawa, March 18.—Sir Elzear Taschereau, former Chief Justice of Canada, last night suffered a stroke of apoplexy, and grave fears are entertained for his recovery, owing to his advanced age.

BAD FIRE AT HAVELOCK SCHOOL

Pupils Escaped Without Injury — Damage Amounts to $1000

Special to the Review.

Havelock, March 18.—On Wednesday last a bad fire took place in the school. It is not exactly known how the fire started, but it is thought that the blaze originated from the pipes. The fire was first seen from the roof of the building. All the children escaped unhurt, the men fighting bravely against the threatening flames.

The damage will amount to $1000. It is now known whether or not, insurance to cover the damage was carried.

BANK TELLER SHOT HIMSELF

Suicide in Montreal Bank at Toronto This Morning.

Special to The Review.

Toronto, March 18.—William Morton Kelly, the teller in the head office of the Bank of Montreal here, committed suicide this morning in the bank by shooting himself. His books have been found to be in good shape, but as Kelly had been in poor health for some time, it is believed that such was the reason for his act.

This Old Gentlemen Cured of Rheumatism

By One Box of GIN PILLS

YARMOUTH, N.S.

"I have been bothered with Rheumatism for the past year and have taken a good many different kinds of medicine and found no relief for it.

One day a friend advised me to try GIN PILLS, and after taking one box of them, I felt like a new man. I thought I would write you a few lines to let you know how thankful I am for the relief they gave me, and would advise all sufferers from Rheumatism to try GIN PILLS."

WM. CONTY,

Don't bother with liniments and so-called "blood purifiers". They won't help your kidneys—and Rheumatism is caused by weak, strained or irritated kidneys. The only possible way to cure Rheumatism, is to cure the kidneys. GIN PILLS will do this as nothing else will.

Take GIN PILLS NOW and be free from Rheumatism this winter. 50c. a box—6 for $2.50—and money promptly refunded if you are not satisfied.

Order from us if your dealer does not handle GIN PILLS. Sample box sent free on request. National Drug and Chemical Co., Dept. B., Toronto. 57

AN INDEPENDENT OPINION

The Hamilton Herald has been steadily in favor of reciprocity, although an independent newspaper. But it agrees with the Conservative contention that such an important reversal of the national policy should go to the people for consideration. It objects to the principle of having such a revolutionary change rammed down the parliamentary and public throat by two old men. However, let the Herald present its own case—

Anti-reciprocity agitation has developed a new phase. The demand is now for an appeal to the country on the great question.

Well, why not? The demand is not unreasonable.

Probably there will be plenty of time for a general election before the trade agreement could go into effect. Even when it passes both houses of parliament and receives the sanction of the crown, it will go into effect only by order-in-council, and not until the Washington government is ready to give effect to it in the United States. That may not be for many moons yet. No doubt the opposition at Ottawa would agree to facilitate business and have the session close early in order that there may be a speedy dissolution of parliament followed by a general election.

The question at issue is one of sufficient importance to warrant such a course. Not for many years has there been before the country a public question upon which public opinion was so sharply divided, and which has caused lines of cleavage to run in so many directions. One may have an opinion as to what verdict the country, as a whole would render, but nobody knows. It is true that the stalwarts on each side assert most positively that they represent the vast majority of the Canadian people; but they don't know. Nobody can tell until after the votes are counted.

If the general elections were to be delayed for another year, there would be other important questions to divide the attention of the electors, and a clear-cut decision on this one issue could not be given. If the general elections were held soon, it would be in the nature of a referendum on the reciprocity question. That would be virtually the only issue before the electors.

Again we ask, Why not give the people the opportunity to pronounce upon it?

This Medicine Is Breathed

Have You a Cold?—It Can Be Completely Cured By

Catarrhozone

It Quickly Cures Whooping Cough, Grippe, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Hay-Fever, Asthma, and Colds.

Catarrhozone is not like other remedies, but is so healing and soothing that when it is breathed through the inhaler it kills the germs that cause diseases of the throat and lungs.

Catarrhozone quickly soothes and heals the mucous surfaces so that in a short time the whole mucous lining is healed.

If you are subject to throat irritation or have a tendency to consumption you should use the "Medicine that is breathed."

Thousands who have used it tell of its merit.

Air which you breathe through the Catarrhozone inhaler carries healing to the very spot affected, and there is no chance of failure by going to the wrong place. That is why it cures.

Catarrhozone

Approved by Doctors, Druggists, and thousands of Canadian people who have used it. Little drops of healing for weak places in the throat and nasal passages—that's Catarrhozone.

Three sizes, 25c., 50c., and $1.00, at druggists or by mail, postpaid, from The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

A CHANGE OF HEART

"If we know the hearts and minds of our people at present, I think I am not making too wide a statement when I say that the general feeling in Canada to-day is not in favor of reciprocity. There was a time when Canadians, beginning with the honorable gentleman himself (Sir Charles Tupper) would have given many things to obtain the American market; there was a time, not long ago, when the market of the great cities of the Union was the only market we had for any of our products. But, thank Heaven, those days are past and over now. We are not dependent on the American market as we were at one time."

This is what Sir Wilfrid Laurier said in 1898, in the course of a debate. If that is Sir Wilfrid's opinion in 1898, what has caused him to change that opinion in 1911? Nothing has happened in the meantime to change the public opinion, of which he was then so sure! The whole thing is this: Laurier is an opportunist, and seeing an opportunity to make a little political capital, at once seized it, and ran chances on dragooning the public sentiment into line, through the subsidized government organs.

THE FARMERS' BANK AFFAIR

The refusal of the Government to take up the matter of investigating the circumstances surrounding the granting of the Farmers' Bank charter by the treasury board is significant. It did not matter to them that the granting of the charter, in the face of the most direct an repeating warnings from prominent business men and bankers, enabled the Farmers' Bank crowd to ruin many innocent shareholders. It was of no importance whatever that many worthy farmers lost the savings of a life time. Isn't it odd that the Government which refused to show what was responsible for the granting of the charter happens to be the Government that is so solicitous for the welfare of the farmer in reciprocity. With the same breath they say, "The Farmer be Damned," and nothing is Too Good for the Farmer."

The public is entitled to know what is behind this veil of secrecy at the finance department. Mr. Fielding took the unsupported word of W. R Travers against the combined testimony of Sir Edward Clouston, Leighton McCarthy, K.C., and half a dozen others. Why did he take such an unusual course? What is the grinning skeleton that the Government is afraid will be disclosed? Is it the skeleton of political wire-pulling, of the using of influence by politicians of the party?

The public is connecting circumstances connected with the treasury board's action which may be true or may not be true. But if the Government refuses to allow a commission to investigate, is it not a logical conclusion that the Government is afraid of an inquiry—of the evidence that might be dragged forth from unwilling witnesses?

ABOUT THE WEST

In his address last night to the Fair association, J. Lockie Wilson, laid bare some very important truths regarding life in the west. Few eastern people are inclined to believe that the west is not all honey and roses—in fact most easterners who have never been west think that it is an Elysium and Eldorado combined, so well has it been advertised.

If the truth must be told, the west offers many of the disadvantages of a pioneering life, especially to the agricultural man. Land is cheap, but life on the farm in the west, especially in the new districts, is a lonely affair, bereft of many of the ordinary comforts and advantages that make farm life in the east at least tolerable.

The writer has been over the west, in nearly every important section of the country, and while a firm believer in the future greatness of that land of opportunity, yet it must be stated that the ordinary farmer in Ontario has a much better time, and can make almost as much money. Many of the homesteaders of the west are spending their years holding their land, it is true, perhaps accumulating a little more than the first 160 acres. But for what? They grow wheat only, as a rule, and the financial rewards are, as a rule, good. In the course of ten years or twenty years, they may have accumulated a comfortable independency. But for what? Situated on the prairie, without school conveniences, without neighbors for two or three miles, ten, twenty, thirty or forty miles from a village, without fuel except what may be drawn miles from the railway line, and bought at a high price, with only a deadly level and bare expanse around, what is there in the passing years for the broadening and the betterment of their lives? How much does the self-sacrificing woman who goes with her husband on to a homestead get out of life. The life which a woman leads on a homestead, frequently in a one room shack without a woman for miles with whom to speak a companionable word, is nothing but a heroic obliteration of self in her loyalty to the man she has chosen for life.

Life in the west has many advantages over life in the east, but it must be remembered that Ontario offers a field to the man who can climb just as much as the west, and that no place is without serious disadvantages and drawbacks. The west is a wonderful country, but it cannot offer the varied and immense resources of every nature that our old Ontario can.

Horse Distemper

Prince Edward Farmer Solemnly Declares "Nerviline" Is a Specific.

"After fifty years' experience in raising horses I can safely testify that no remedy gives such good results for an all-round stable liniment as Nerviline." Thus opens the very earnest letter of J. J. Evanston, who lives near Wellington, P. E. "I had a very valuable horse that took distemper a month ago, and was afraid I was going to lose him. His throat swelled and hard lumps developed. His nostrils ran and he had a terrible cough. I tried different remedies, but was unable to relieve my horse of his pain and suffering till I started to use Nerviline. I mixed a bottle of Nerviline and sweet oil and rubbed the mixture on the throat and chest three times a day and you would scarcely believe the way that horse picked up. Nerviline cured him. I also have used Nerviline for colic in horses and cows, and earnestly recommend it to every man that is raising stock."

Nerviline CURES QUICKLY

For strains, sprains, swellings, colic, distemper, coughs, and colds, no liniment will prove so efficacious in the stable as "Nerviline"—it's good for man or beast, for internal or external use. Wherever there is pain, Nerviline will cure it. Refuse substitutes. Large bottles 50c, trial size 25c, at all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

CORNS CURED IN 24 HOURS

WHAT COMES IN THE TRAIL OF THE COLD

Spells Danger Unless You Cure it With Dodd's Kidney Pills

Peel County Man Tells of Three Months Pain, That He Found a Complete Cure for, in the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy.

Rockside, Peel Co., Ont., March 17.—(Special).—In these days when nearly every one has a cold and the cold brings on some form of Kidney Disease, the statement of Ernest F. Davidson, a well known resident of this place, is of general interest.

"When I would bend over," Mr. Davidson says, "a pain caught me in the small of the back, and I had other symptoms, which I knew were caused by the Kidneys being out of order. It was a cold that started my trouble, and I suffered for three months. Then I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, and three boxes cured me so that it has never come back. That's why I recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills."

If your cold leaves you with a touch of Rheumatism or Lumbago or a pain in the back, you can be sure that your Kidneys are affected. Then you are in danger. Neglected Kidney trouble means Rheumatism, Dropsy, Gravel or Bright's Disease. The safeguard is Dodd's Kidney Pills. They always cure.

One would imagine to read certain Grit papers, that millionaires only are opposed to Reciprocity. In a test vote the other day between five and six hundred employees in the Electric General works of Peterborough voted to a man against the Fielding pact with the United States. How many millionaires do you suppose there were in that lot?

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

ABOUT SPIES.

Great Britain Is Not Fond of Watching the Enemy.

Much twaddle is told concerning British spies. Britons dislike the word spy; it goes rather against the grain when they hear of Britishers, British officers, engaged in spying.

Yet spies are as necessary to an efficient modern navy or army as battleships, fighting men, or guns. The Russo-Japanese War was won by a network of spies covering Siberia and Manchuria. The Boer campaign would have finished in half the time if we had had a quarter the spies our now good friends had. France spends $750,000 a year on secret service; Russia a quarter of a million. Germany has 25,000 spies in France alone, and —well, thousands in England, all masking their official duties by otherwise earning their living.

England is worse off as regards secret service than any other European great power. Lord Charles Beresford is a typical Briton, if ever there was one, and to him we owe our Intelligence Department. We have to spy, if only in self-defence.

Look at the Borkum affair the other day. An object lesson in fine-art spying.

The Board of Admiralty had to have a plan in case Germany attacked us. They decided that Borkum Island, most westerly German territory, was the place we should have to take for a base.

By means of her spies Germany at once knew that. She started strengthening the forts. When British officers arrived to see what was going on, as we are aware, they were arrested. Everything was known; they had it all nicely wrapped up for us.

Instead of being indignant for our spying, how mildly we play the game amuses some of our neighbors. Pictorially, they pull our leg. A cartoon shows two somewhat "haw-haw" British officers as tourists, with enormous "War Office" notebooks. A foreign officer holds open the door of a fortress, inviting:

"Only having a little holiday look round! Well, won't you step inside—and stay?"

Some ask why naval and military officers are employed in spying, honorable and dangerous as it is. The reason is because civilian spies make a hash of military matters! Officers know what to look for, and where and what it is when they see it. A few years ago a civilian spy reported a huge bastion to protect a coming naval dockyard. An officer went over, and found the solid foundations of a large observatory.

Then officers always keep faith.

Professional spies sell to the highest bidder. If there are two bidders, they sell to one, and spoof the other. The Lords of the Admiralty were approached as to plans of Toulon, Best and Cherbourg. Carefully checked by officers, these proved to be only builders' plans, supplied to contractors for portions of the work.

Arguments against British officer spies are they look officers, and disfavor tricks.

Three years ago a stalwart cyclist, with camera, pottered about, observing coast defences. "On your honor, are you a British officer?" he was asked. "I am," was the reply; and he was promptly escorted out of the country.

About the same time a well-dressed gentleman presented to the sentinel of Breakwater Fort, Portland, a card from the admiral then in command. Complying with the written request, the visitor was shown all over the fort. Returned to the admiral, the card was found a forgery.

Formerly all information obtained was submitted direct to Secret Intelligence Service headquarters in London. That was cumbrous; it gave facts away. Consequently, a British Government Intelligence Bureau was established in a northern capital, and there may be others. It is easier working in such than amidst hordes of foreign spies, cat-like, watching Spring Gardens and Pall Mall. There are overlooking houses in four great capitals, whence observation is kept on the British Embassies day and night.

Was It Stale?

While playing in a provincial pantomine on one occasion, Mr. G. P. Huntley, the English actor, had an amusing experience. The stage hands organized a draw for a turkey, and all the members of the company bought tickets. The turkey was won by a limelight man, but as his wife did not know how to cook it, she asked him to put it up again. This was done, and the next time it was won by a scene-shifter, who did not like turkeys, so he followed the limelight man's example, and organized another raffle.

These draws went on for several weeks, and they were always being won by the stage hands, and financially supported by the actors and actresses. At last, on the concluding night of the pantomime, Mr. Huntley won the bird. By this time it had cost him over a couple of pounds, and in telling the story he has said: "I took that unfortunate turkey out of the theatre, but I did not take it home; I thought it advisable to leave it on the doorstep of a local sanitary inspector!"

Tercentenary of Baronetcy.

Among the celebrations to be held this year is the tercentenary of the institution of baronetcy. This is a rank which the country owes to the first Stuart sovereign of Great Britain, but it is denied that it was created in order to provide the British Solomon with money.

The celebration is a function in which the public generally will feel very little interest, but on the other hand those most interested are preparing to celebrate the occasion with befitting solemnity, for the baronets are very proud of their order and have recently taken steps to clear its ranks of unlawful intruders. There are over 1,200 baronets altogether, but even if they decided to have a grand procession of the order to call public attention to their existence the public, in the light of recent events, it is to be feared, would be found more inclined to scoff than to admire.

A DOUBLE CURE FOR DOUBLE TROUBLE

Father Morriscy's No. 26 Cures Catarrh by a Combined Treatment.

The sudden weather variations in our climate result in a great many cases of catarrh—a troublesome disease usually considered hard to cure, and one which often leads to serious pulmonary and intestinal troubles.

A neglected cold in the head weakens the nasal membranes, so that at every future exposure the trouble returns. At length these conditions are fastened onto the system, and the sufferer undergoes the annoyance and danger of chronic catarrh.

Some doctors confine themselves to prescribing external applications, and thus do not reach the seat of the trouble. Others give internal treatment exclusively, and thus do not promptly relieve the affected parts.

Father Morriscy, the skilled priest-physician, rightly regarded catarrh as a double trouble, consisting of unpleasant local effects and their fundamental causes, the latter having to do with impaired general vitality.

His famous remedy, No. 26, is a combined cure for catarrh. It consists of tablets to be taken three times a day, and an especially compounded salve.

The salve is antiseptic, and quickly heals the inflamed membranes of the nasal passages. The tablets go to the seat of the trouble and restore the system to its usual tone. Together, they cure.

Instead of neglecting a disease that is unpleasant to yourself and to others, and one which often leads to pneumonia and consumption, it is surely the part of wisdom to take timely steps to do away with the effects and at the same time remove the cause. No. 26 does just that.

50c. for the combined treatment. At your druggist's, or from Father Morriscy Medicine Co., Ltd., Ch[illegible]

All men of eighteen years or over will be heartily welcomed. In the Princess Theatre, to-morrow, at 3 o'clock.

Married at Belleville

Belleville, Ont.—On Monday evening, March 13th, a quiet wedding took place at St. Thomas Rectory when Miss Lillian Harran was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Oscar Coones. Both parties to the contract reside in Peterboro. Only immediate friends witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Rural Dean Beamish.

Epidemic of Mumps

Compromise on License.

Brockville, March 18.—A new situation has been created in the license district of Leeds by a ruling of Eudo Saunders, chief of the department. A year ago a Robert Service of Rockport applied for a yearly license, which was opposed by the temperance people of Scotland, and as a compromise the board granted him a six months' license for wine and beer. This year the temperance people raised the point that to obtain a six months' license it required a requisition signed by a majority of the votes in the polling sub-division, the same as for a yearly license. The matter was referred to the department by Inspector Tabber, with the result that the contention of the temperance people holds good. The ruling affects three other hotels in the district.

Libel Suit Against Paper.

Montreal, March 18.—Silas Carpenter, chief of the city detective department, through his attorneys, Deaudin, Loranger & St. Germain, took out a $5,000 libel action against Peter Pigeon, proprietor of Le Bulletin, yesterday morning, in Superior Court.

The chief alleges that Le Bulletin made an attack on his department, particularly as to how they handled pickpockets and sent them into the United States. These attacks, which have appeared in the paper for several Sundays back, also state, it is alleged, that Chief Carpenter conspired against Chief Campeau of the police department, in the working of the department.

Explosion Caused Fire.

Barrie, March 18.—An explosion in the cellar of J. R. Hambly's hardware store Thursday afternoon was responsible for a $17,000 fire.

V. Hambly, nephew of the proprietor, was very badly burned about the head by the explosion.

The loss to stock is estimated at $15,000, on which there is $9,000 insurance. The damage to the building, which is owned by Mrs. James Plummer, Toronto, amounted to about $2,500, and is fully covered by insurance.

DELICATE BABIES NEED BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Mrs. H. L. Boone, Tay Mills, N.B., writes—"I think Baby's Own Tablets are an excellent remedy to keep in the house and I would not be without them. My baby was not exactly sick but was very delicate and I gave him the Tablets and they have made him strong and healthy." Such is the testimony of thousands of mothers. Baby's Own Tablets always do good—never harm. They can be given with absolute safety to the youngest child, as they are guaranteed by a government analyst to contain no harmful drugs. Never give baby "soothing" stuffs—that only dopes him. Give him a medicine that will act right on the root of his trouble. A medicine that will strengthen his stomach; regulate his bowels; sweeten his breath and make him bright, healthy and strong—such a medicine is Baby's Own Tablets. They are sold by medicine dealers or at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Gets Ten Years.

Chicago, March 18.—Judge Landis in the U. S. District Court yesterday sentenced Edward S. Nichols, who was convicted of having enticed Elsie Ferrier, 13 years old, to Hammond, Ind., in violation of the Mann "White Slave" statute, to ten years' imprisonment in the federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

While the court was reading sentence, secret service operatives of the department of justice were arresting Jacob Finklestein on the charge of having placed his young wife in improper places in El Paso, in Mexico, and in California, and of abandoning her thereafter, taking $5,000 of her earnings to purchase a saloon property.

Let Colonies Send Members.

London, March 18.—(C.A.P. Cable.) —The Irish Times says: "If it is really desired to introduce fresh blood into the Upper House and at the same time justify the title of an Imperial Parliament, we see no better way than by giving considerable representation to the great dominions."

Fishers Use Wireless.

Halifax, March 18.—The first wireless message from the Newfoundland sealing fleet was received yesterday when Job Bros., of St. John's, Nfld., and Halifax, had a telegram from the Beophic. The message read: "Prospects encouraging for successful voyage." Two-thirds of the vessels in the fleet are equipped with the wireless installation.

Archbishop Spilled.

Winnipeg, March 18.—Archbishop Langevin was thrown from the rig on Thursday night in which he was driving to St. Anne's, but happily was not seriously injured. His grace continued on a hand car and was able to officiate at an ecclesiastical function yesterday.

DR. NEELY IS CALLED LIAR

"That is absolutely false," broke in Mr. Campbell.

"That in connection with a certain transaction, a firm with which my hon. friend was identified, that it cost that firm a certain amount of money in order to induce an official of the department to obtain this grazing lease." He added that he had a report of a speech of Mr. Campbell in which that statement was made.

Mr. Campbell denied this and after a couple more wrangles both members made withdrawals satisfactory to the Deputy Speaker.

Friday is a clearing up day in the House. On the motion to go into supply yesterday afternoon, A. G. Boyes (W. Algoma), directed the attention of the Minister of Labor to a disturbance among electricians employed by the Lake Superior Corporation, who had resented the dismissal of their foreman. This was the culmination of a long series of grievances due to the fact that the alien labor law had been laxly administered, and hundreds of men had been imported from the United States at Sault Ste. Marie. The Canadian workmen resented this, because they felt their living was in jeopardy.

Hon. Mackenzie King stated that the Labor Department was not charged with the enforcement of the law, except in regard to contract labor. Otherwise it was in the hands of the Interior Department to see to its enforcement. He said that the Department had been in receipt of complaints from the Lake Superior Corporation that the immigration officers at Sault Ste. Marie were too active in this regard.

W. M. Martin (Regina) read a telegram from the Association of Saskatchewan Municipalities in session at Moose Jaw, which stated that the reciprocity agreement had been unanimously endorsed by two hundred delegates present. Mr. Martin added: "So far I have not met a single man in the province of Saskatchewan who is against reciprocity."

Sam Barker (Hamilton) read a communication which stated that quarantine conditions in Groose Isle were in a deplorable condition. With the outbreak of cholera there was danger of persons infected getting into Canada. He thought the Government might save some of the money now being squandered on wharves all over the country and extend the docks at Grosse Isle, to make it possible for ocean liners to come alongside.

Civil Service Conditions.

Ottawa, March 18.—Representations are to be made to the Government by twelve hundred clerks in the third-class of the civil service with a view to improving their conditions.

When the civil service was re-classified several years ago it was done according to salaries being received. Examinations were set by the commission, which some of the older employes claim are a hardship, and prevent their getting promotion.

BEAUTIFUL EYES

are made beautiful by long, silky lashes, and well defined, lustrous brows. Eyes, like diamonds, depend on their setting. The beauties of the face are lost if the eye brows are thin and scanty; and the lashes are short and lifeless. Parisian Lash Lustre grows beautiful, soft, silky lashes. It has done so for society women throughout Europe, and it comes here well recommended to do the same for you. Parisian Lash Lustre is not a dye or colorator, but a scientific preparation for beautifying the eye lashes and brows. Our guarantee goes with every box of Parisian Lash Lustre. A two weeks' treatment will bring beauty to your eyes that you have never before possessed. By mail, prepaid, in opal boxes, on receipt of price, fifty cents. B. V. How a Local Young Man Made Money

There are many people in and around the City of Peterborough who have money, looking for investment, who prefer a safe investment, such as bonds or low rate of interest, to investing in mortgages or other securities which require special judgment in selecting, and constant and careful watching to avoid loss. To such we would commend the following result to their careful consideration—

A young man of the City of Peterborough had his life insured sixteen years ago last January for Ten Thousand Dollars ON A SINGLE PAYMENT 15-YEAR ENDOWMENT PLAN. The premium paid was $6,460.00. On the 31st of January, 1910, the company paid him $12,116.00 in cash, after giving him fifteen years of free insurance. What do you think of that as an investment?

Are bonds or municipal debentures, or even the best mortgages, to be compared with it, when you consider that the risk of the life was carried during the 15 years? And remember, the security is as safe as any debenture or mortgage, and there was no trouble or expense entailed of any kind after the initial investment.

The above result was obtained from the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, under policy No. 47340, W.H.B.

VAGRANTS WERE GIVEN LIBERTY

On Condition They Leave the City—Ten Days for a Drunk

Not having the necessary two-spot to pay his fine for being drunk and disorderly yesterday, a young man named James Hiles, will spend ten days in jail. He appeared before the Magistrate this morning.

TWO VAGRANTS

James Gordon was charged with vagrancy at police court to-day. He was arrested early this morning by P. C. Newhall, who said that he found him on Aylmer Street, asking passers by for money. The prisoner claimed Perth as his home town, and said he was on his way to Lindsay.

"You may for Lindsay but not for Peterboro," said His Worship, and he accordingly gave him his liberty to make tracks in that direction.

Vagrancy was the charge against John Burns, who was next on the list Burns said he came from Lindsay, He has spent two nights in the police court cells already. He told the Magistrate he was on his way to Belleville, and he was also given his liberty to continue his tramp.

TRAVEL TALK ON BRITISH ISLES

Interesting Evening for Brotherhood of St. James Church

At an open meeting last night of the Brotherhood of St. James' Methodist Church, S. J. Keyes, English master, at the Normal School, gave a most entertaining travel talk, on a trip through the British Isles, illustrating by means of some excellent views, the various points of interest.

The first scenes were those in Ireland, some of which related to the legions of St. Patrick's birth and his life. Killarney Lake and other views depicting Irish rural life, were shown and explained as well, also pictures of Dublin, Londonderry and the Giant's Causeway.

Scenes in England included Westminster Abbey, and the Tower of London were thrown on the canvas, the speaker recalling incidents in connection with them, and explaining their association with English literature.

The lantern and slides were operated by H. O. Fiske, and a hearty vote of thanks was tendered on motion of Messrs. W. S. Robinson and J. J. Goodwin.

THE STORY OF JEAN VAL JEAN

In Knox Church April 24 by Rev. Dr. Cleaver

Not even second to the pleasure to be derived from the visit of the Sheffield Choir will be the delight and profit of listening to the marvellous story of Jean Val Jean, as told by Rev. Dr. Cleaver, of Trinity Methodist Church, Toronto. Jean Val Jean is Victor Hugo's most entrancing character, and the most interesting character in fiction. Rev. Dr. Cleaver is one of the princes of story tellers, and a most distinguished orator of the Methodist Church. Many people have heard Dr. Cleaver tell this story eight and nine times, and they are watching for the next opportunity to enjoy the experience once more. He has given this lecture over forty times in Toronto, four of which were in the Metropolitan Church, the last audience crowding to the doors that great edifice. Dr. Cleaver will tell this wonderful story in Knox church on Monday evening, April 24th. No one should miss this treat.

The Correct Style in Spring Overcoats

A VISIT to the Semi-ready tailor shops is most interesting at this season of the year, when all the new style creations are being shown in patterns and weaves which are the pride of the English woollen mills. Four of the prevailing models in spring top coats are shown in the accompanying sketch.

The Chesterfield and the Rigby top coat are in evidence, while the button-through chesterfield and the motoring coat show how closely the sartorial artists follow the needs of the modern day. These overcoats or top coats are shewn in all the varying standard values of the Semi-ready shops, from $15 to $20 and $30. Since the Semi-ready company has started tailoring clothes to order in four days, when one does not find just what one wants in the stock, they are getting 50,000 new customers every year.

WILL ASK GOVERNMENT FOR AN AMENDMENT TO ACT GOVERNING LOANS BY CITIES

To Agricultural Societies—Fine Addresses at First Banquet of West Peterborough Society..

There were many interesting remarks made at the first banquet of the West Peterborough Agricultural Society held at the Hotel National last evening with an attendance of about one hundred, the majority of which were well known and successful farmers of the county, and while those in charge of the arrangements are to be congratulated on the success that attended their efforts, President Leary and his Board of Directors are to be doubly congratulated on the result of the affair.

For while the choice repast provided by mine host Denison, was up to its usual high standard, and the remarks of the different speakers, educative and thoroughly interesting, the most important item of the evening was the carrying of a resolution, which calls for a request to the Ontario Government to amend the present act so to enable cities to issue dentures up to $10,000 to aid agricultural societies, and without going to the people for a vote. The motion was brought forward by Hon. J. R. Stratton seconded by J. H. Garbutt, and unanimously carried.

J. Lockie Wilson and Jas. Thompson, M.P.P., will have the resolution brought before the House at the present session. With the act amended the difficulties of the society will be considerably lessened, for with the money, which the city would have the power to loan, and which the council no doubt would agree to, the present site or other property could be purchased, the society could go ahead and erect substantial and up-to-date buildings and it would be up to the merchants and citizens of Peterborough and the farmers of the county to work co-operatively to make the exhibition the success that it should be and can be made. The society would also need aid from the county to the same amount as from the city. At the present time, a city cannot give more than $3,000 to an Agricultural Society.

The visiting speakers at the banquet last night were J. Lockie-Wilson, of Toronto, superintendent of Fairs Association, and Dr. Simmons, president of the Fair's Association of the Province. Others who spoke were Jas. Thompson M.P.P., Havelock; Hon.J.R. Stratton, M.P. His Honor Judge Huycke, J. H. Garbutt and Wm. Collins, made brief remarks in moving a vote of thanks to the speakers.

THE PRESIDENT.

R. H. Leary, president of the West Peterborough Agricultural Society, was the chairman of the evening and after the call to attention, outlined the position of the society and the reasons for the holding of the banquet. "He was sorry," he said, "that there were so few business men present. It was desirable that the business men and the farmers form themselves into a sort of mutual benefit association for the advancement of the best interests of the fair. New buildings were necessary. It was not fair to ask exhibitors to send their goods under the conditions existing as a result of the dilapidated condition of the buildings. With the society not owning the grounds it was simply a waste of money to spend it for repairs to the buildings."

Mr. Leary introduced Mr. Wilson and Dr. Simmons to the gathering and read letters of regret at their inability to be present from Mayor Morrow, Warden Coben, and Mr. Sexsmith, M. P. for East Peterborough.

J. LOCKIE-WILSON.

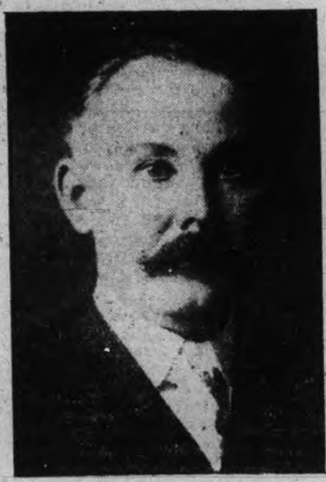
J. Lockie-Wilson was the first speaker and he expressed his pleasure at being present and to meet the business men and farmers.

"We are endeavoring in a humble way at Toronto to promote the best interests of the farmers of Ontario," said Mr. Wilson, "and in doing that we feel that we are furthering other interests. If the farmer is prosperous others are affected. And the great thing is to make the masses prosperous. Farmers are not the only toilers. There are the toilers in the workshops, in the business houses and in every profession. And what is wanted is for all to work in harmony, each to see that he is in his own sphere is working for the best interests of this great Dominion."

The speaker remarked on the absence of the business men and held that they could have well afforded to spend an hour with their fellows from the county. It was a matter that would not only benefit the farmers but the business men and manufacturers as well.

"I have noticed with pleasure the forward march of your exhibition," he remarked. Citizens might ask what have we to do with these agricultural societies and exhibitions.

Mr. Wilson went on to explain how a successful exhibition was a big asset to any city. It drew outside attention. The city of Toronto realized what the bringing of 800,000 people to their exhibition meant. People coming to Peterborough to a successful exhibition would stop and consider if the city would not be a good place to live; if it was not a good centre to start a business or for other reasons. Peterborough had the greatest lift-lock in the world and why couldn't it have the greatest exhibition in the Dominion? Thirteen thousand people attended the exhibition last year. What would be the result if all stood shoulder to shoulder for the welfare of the society.



R. H. LEARY,
President of the West Peterborough Agricultural Society, who presided at the banquet last night.

The speaker pointed out that as a direct result of the visit of Americans to her exhibition, Toronto had become a great convention city. Why should not Peterborough have the same experience?

But it was necessary for every one to do his part. The farmers were doing their work. The finest scores in the district stock competition were secured by farmers of West Peterborough.

The speaker enumerated other ways by which the farmers would draw attention in advancing agricultural pursuits, and then in a most interesting manner went on to explain the demerits of the western provinces and the merits of the Province of Ontario from the standpoint of the farmer. He championed Ontario in no uncertain way as the best place for the farmer to make good. Young farmers had better stay in Ontario he said. The successful men have been heard of but what about the thousands of "dumb oysters" of the west.

DR. SIMMONS.

Dr. Simmons expressed the pleasure it gave him to be present and represent the oldest agricultural institution in this part of the country as its president. He referred to the fair of his own home, Frankford, of its start and growth, and of its present success.

He was a strong advocate of the societies formed to instruct and assist the farmers in their work with the soil, and with their stock and farm produce. One instance he gave of the splendid results was that of a breeder of Holstein cows, in Hastings county, which had given 24,000 pounds of milk individually in one year. The agricultural societies stimulated the farmers to get the very best out of everything on the farm. Mixed farming, he held, was to be the kind of farming for this country.

And as there were pedigreed horses and cattle, so might there be pedigreed seed grain. Everything should be of the highest type. Canada was second to none in the cheese world, and at the World's Fair had been only two points behind Denmark in butter, and the future might see Canada on a par with Denmark, and second to none within five years in the dairy business.

But the speaker was of the opinion that the matter of technical schools had been neglected.

Speaking on the question of the exhibits of an exhibition, Dr. Simmons stated that Peterborough Fair had a great many better exhibits on the boards than they had at Toronto. He held that every exhibit should be marked, so that it could be known where the exhibit was raised or grown, and by what farmer. Grain should be accompanied by a sheaf, so as to show the quality of the grain, and to show what the quality of the straw would be.

HON. J. R. STRATTON.

That he was present at the banquet as a citizen who wished to give his assistance as such, was the reason given by Hon. Mr. Stratton for his attendance. He referred to the glowing conditions existing in the province of Ontario, and spoke enthusiastically of future prospects.

As to the Peterborough exhibition, Mr. Stratton was of the opinion that the midway and special attractions might be done away with, and that the exhibition be made purely agricultural, and that the farmers be encouraged to grow and exhibit the very best.

As to the question of property and buildings for the society, Mr. Stratton suggested that the Ontario Government be asked to amend the present act, and that prompt steps be taken, so that the matter would be taken up at the present session.

With the act amended, the society could secure assistance from the city, and with the co-operation of the country and the business men of Peterborough, the grounds could be purchased and new buildings erected.

JAS. THOMPSON, M.P.P.

Mr. Thompson advocated the purchasing of property as soon as possible. He cited the case of the society at Havelock, where grounds were purchased three years ago. The property was now worth twice as much as was paid. He was strong for the province of Ontario, and held that the public men of to-day in their addresses boon the western provinces and say very little about our own province.

He made some interesting statements to show how the county of Peterborough was forging ahead in agricultural pursuits, and Mr. Thompson advocated that more attention be paid to advertising.

HIS HONOR JUDGE HUYCKE

Judge Huycke explained to the gathering how the success of the Cobourg Horse Show was brought about. It had not been without effort, and united effort, by the citizens of Cobourg and the surrounding countries. The show had started in a one-day meeting, and since then it had grown by leaps and bounds, until it was now a four-day show, and could be stretched out to one week. And it brought visitors to Cobourg. It was a splendid object lesson for farmers.

"There is no reason why you could not have just as good a horse show here," remarked his Honor. "And it did not kill the fair, but rather boomed it. Now there was great rivalry amongst the farmers.

After deciding on the course to be undertaken, the resolution above noted was carried, and the affair came to a close with the singing of the National Anthem.

Halpany's orchestra supplied the music of the evening in their usual highly satisfactory manner.

Three stores were burned at Leary, P. E. I., loss $15,000.

SOME APPEALS WERE SETTLED

Session of Court of Revision—To Meet March 27.

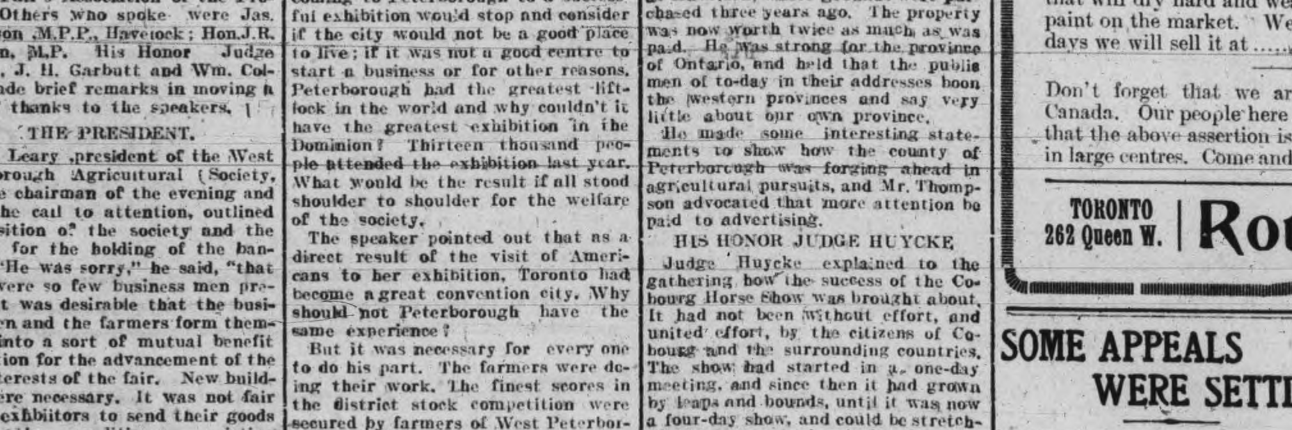
The Court of Revision met last evening with only Messrs. W. Langford (chairman), and B. Morrow present.

The consideration of appeals respecting the special assessment for sidewalks constructed in 1910, was resumed, and a large number were taken up.

The consideration of appeals respecting special assessment, to pay for the cost of sewers constructed as local improvements in 1910, was taken up and several appeals settled.

The court adjourned to meet on Friday night, March 24.

Census taking, which will begin on June 1st, will cost over $1,000,000. There are 220 census commissioners.



The Sheffield Choir, 200 strong, which comes to The Grand Monday, April 3. Subscription list is in the hands of Mr. Walter Stocker and also at the Dominion Bank, and is now open.

WINDOW DISPLAYS FOR SPRING MILLINERY OPENING

Bright and Attractive Exhibition of the Latest Styles in City Stores

Under the most enthusiastic and promising conditions the spring millinery displays which have kept the ladies of Peterborough tingling with anticipated delight for the past month were thrown open for their inspection and purchase yesterday.

Many and beautiful are the hats which will adorn the heads of Peterborough ladies this spring. Many of the creations are gorgeous in the extreme, and the energy and talent of the designers seems to have been devoted largely towards making them as varied as possible in shape.

To enter into a detailed description of the predominating styles which will be in demand this year would involve too much time and space, but suffice to state, there is something suitable for every lady no matter how particular her taste.

The window displays of the various millinery establishments have done their best to reveal to advantage some of the styles which are most popular. Some of the displays are indeed beautiful and cleverly designed. Most of them abound in life and color while the blending of the various shades effectually relieves any of them from an appearance of gaudiness or ill taste.

CRESSMAN'S.

A. W. Cressman's departmental store has arranged their large window display space in a most attractive and clever manner. In the immediate background is hung a cluster of three cornucopias, suspended by chains from a brass cupid on which is marked the colors of the Emerald Isle. To the left of this is a vase or wooden urn from which two more cornucopias hang, filled with flowers. The urn itself is filled with maiden hair ferns. The right wing of the window is occupied by a smaller urn filled with flowers and maiden hair ferns.

The dress goods for sale are also arranged to advantage. A popular opera clock of the richest material and a lady's beautiful white suit are placed on either side, of the display. Another article shown which will prove to be very popular with the ladies this year is what is known as the corsage bouquet of the most natural appearing artificial violets, in which is cleverly concealed a delicious sachet powder. A noticeable feature of the whole exhibit is the absence of show cards which would detract from the ornamental appearance of the window. In their place are substituted two or three handsomely mounted pictures of styles of the letest modes of gowns and hats. Green trimmings have not been omitted and they are in keeping with St. Patrick's with many of the fair sex this year. Day anniversary yesterday. They are draped around the window in a most graceful and pretty fashion.

The designing and work of the entirely original window arrangement is certainly a credit to Mr. J. C. Edwards, the advertising manager and window dresser of the establishment.

FAIR'S.

Robert Fair also has a very clever and artistic display. A large sized harp trimmed with white silk and decorated with imitation apple blossoms is placed on one side and over which is strung a canopy of artificial flowers. The millinery arrangement is also worthy of special mention. The Georgette hat with Tiga braid, black crepe covering and trimmed with pink roses is one that is shown and for which a great demand is anticipated. The helmet hat is another popular creation which will win the approbation of the ladies this year. It is of the Camille Roger type with touches of Ibis red and black and white mount.

The travelling hat of black in the envelope fashion will be another popular style. The Marie Louise bonnet with hemp braid and touches of black is also shown. The display was the result of the joint efforts of Mr. Harold Burns and Mr. Jervais.

TURNBULL'S.

J. C. Turnbull has one of the most compact and varied exhibits of all lines and shapes of dress goods and hats of any store of the same limited window display capacity in the city. No particular plan of arrangement has been adhered to, hence it has been made possible for the window dresser, Mr. Chester Taylor, and the head milliner, Miss Brooks, to place on exhibit a complete and extensive display of hats. The display yesterday attracted general attention, and many complimentary and very flattering remarks were passed on its fairyland like appearance.

HALL & SON'S.

Richard Hall & Son's have with their usual enterprise and reputation for having clever window arrangements, fitted up their wide show windows in a manner worthy of the highest praise. It is the result of the efforts and ingenuity of Mr. James McNicholl, who has won many valuable prizes in window competitions. The creations and dress goods are very becomingly and attractively exhibited. In the immediate centre is a large framed mirror, over which is inscribed Spring.

The aeroplane hat, coming up on either side and with a large plume on one side, is destined to be a favorite It is exhibited with other shapes at Miss McGiverin's.

The Bee Hive has a most elaborate display. The reigning favorites in the hat line are there to be seen, and many are the favorable remarks passed on their neat arrangement and general air of attractiveness.

BASEBALL

New York Exchange: Matty showed a new slow ball to-day, which he made an effective part of his delivery after he had practiced it on the side lines for half an hour before the game started. This ball floats up to the batsman with all the seams showing and does a double dip that is so deceiving, that even the catchers missed it yesterday. Matty throws this ball after wetting fingers, and the Giants call it the slow spitter.

PUBLIC LIBRARY NOTES

SOME OF THE BOOKS

As will be seen by the appended list of books the Library Board has started to make substantial additions to its stock. The new arrivals are mostly in the reference and historical line, and so may not appeal to the average reader, but amongst them will be found books of rare usefulness and enjoyment to those who indulge in that particular class of literature. Landor's story of Tibet and Nepal should be especially interesting from the fact that that intrepid traveller a few years ago suffered terrible tortures in the land of Tibet at the hands of the fanatical inhabitants. There is an added interest lent to any books from that author, also, from the fact that he is a close connection of the famous Walter Savage Landor, who was one of the most brilliant of the mid-Victorian men of letters.

The librarian appeals to the public to take especial care as to the disposition of books when they are taken out to be examined at the shelves. If a book is laid down at haphazard, after being taken from its rightful resting place, the amount of trouble entailed in locating it for the next person anxious to examine it is sometimes very great. Time is precious always, but especially so at the present, when so many things have to be attended to in order to get matters into smooth working condition.

The number of persons now on the books amounts to 1,027.

PUCKLAND

Now that the hockey season is over again the question naturally arises, will the members of the team be lured away with the offers of good positions? Last year it will be remembered that Marchand and Davidson journeyed to distant pastures, but they got there it was not like being in Kingston, and they found that the fields looked greener from a distance than they really were.—Kingston Whig.

Because of Ottawa's typhoid epidemic, the annual convention of the Baptist Y. P. U. will be held at Hamilton.

Acute Dyspepsia

Restoration of Stomach Power Comes Quickly With the Right Medicine.

"My food seemed to decompose in my stomach," writes Mr. Ralph Clemmons, of Newbridge, P.O. "I had a stomach that failed in some way to perform its work. Digestion seemed more or less arrested and I grew thin, yellow, nervous. The stomach became distended and impeded apparently the action of the heart, for often at night it would do great stunts. At times I would vomit a mucous mass, and at these times my head ached most terribly. A friend, who had been cured of a similar condition, advised me to take Dr. Hamilton's Pills regularly, which I did. The result in my case was simply marvelous. Dr. Hamilton's Pills removed the cause, strengthened the stomach, excited the liver to normal action, the kidneys were released of excessive work. Health soon glowed within me. I can now eat, sleep, and live like a live man."

Be advised—Use Dr. Hamilton's Pills—they are sure to do you good. 25c per box, at all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

WOMEN SUFFER

More Than Men

Women have more than their share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity. They must "keep up" in spite of constantly aching backs or headaches dizzy spells, etc. Mrs. Edward Calwood of 123 S. Harold street, Fort William Ont., says:

"I suffered with dull miserable pains soreness across my back and in my sides for months. They would catch me so badly at times that I could scarcely move around. I would have dizzy spells and altogether felt generally run down. After using a number of remedies without finding relief I learned of Booth's Kidney Pills and found them an excellent remedy. They not only relieved me of the miserable pains and soreness in my back but cured me of my kidney trouble."

Booth's Kidney Pills

Booth's Kidney Pills cure Backache, Dull Shooting Pains, Thick and Cloudy Urine, Gravel or Stone, Rheumatism and all diseases of the kidneys and Bladder.

All druggists and dealers 50c. box or post paid from the R. T. Booth Co. Fort Erie Ont. If you derive no benefit your money will be refunded. Could we say more? Sold and guaranteed by Wm. Madill druggist Peterborough.

Campbellford Street Cars

The citizens of Campbellford and Warkworth are agitating for the building of an electric railway through Northumberland county, now that it seems probable that the C. P. R. will build along the Lake front instead of winding through the county, as provided by the original charter. It is stated that the charter is secured and plenty of electric power available.

Rev. R. H. Bell, of Dublin Street Methodist Church, Guelph, has been invited for a third term.

DOCTORS FAILED TO HELP HER

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Pound, Wis. — "I am glad to announce that I have been cured of dyspepsia and female troubles by your medicine. I had been troubled with both for fourteen years and consulted different doctors, but failed to get any relief. After using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier I can say I am a well woman.

I can't find words to express my thanks for the good your medicine has done me. You may publish this if you wish." —Mrs. HERMAN SIETH, Pound, Wis.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills, and suffering women owe it to themselves to at least give this medicine a trial. Proof is abundant that it has cured thousands of others, and why should it not cure you?

If you want special advice write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for it. It is free and always helpful.

Camorra Trial.

Viterbo, Italy, March 18.—The entire session of the trial of the 36 Camorrists was taken up yesterday by the cross-examination of Corrado Sortino and Nicola Morra, both of whom are accused of the actual murder of Gennaro Cuoccolo. Both men strenuously denied the charge, and in an endeavor to prove an allibi testified that at the time Cuoccolo was killed they were under police surveillance and could not possibly have left Naples to go to Torre del Greco, where the murder occurred.

Sortino attempted to justify the scars on his hand, which, according to evidence adduced, were received from Cuccolo, while Sortino was killing him, by saying that one of them was caused by a pair of scissors and the other by the scratch of a hat pin.

Both Sortino and Morra have bad criminal records.

Subjects for Conference.

London, March 18.—Mr. Harcourt has announced that additional subjects for the Imperial Conference are the enforcement in one part of the Empire of the commercial awards given in other parts, and the extension of the Imperial postal order scheme.

Hon. W. Peel, speaking at Deptford, said the Government had outraged Canada in interest as well as sentiment. If it was unable to respond to Canada's appeal for preference, it need not have been rude.

Mr. Pagecroft, at the same meeting, expressed his conviction that Hill, the American railway king, was at the bottom of the reciprocity treaty.

Deserter Went Back.

London, March 18.—Colin Duncan Mackenzie has surrendered to Plymouth police for deserting from the Seaforth Highlanders. He deserted in 1909, went to Canada, and it is alleged made a lot of money in Saskatchewan. He returned voluntarily at his own expense, and says he intends after receiving punishment purchasing his discharge and returning to Canada.

Seven thousand two hundred and ninety-five people left England for Canada last month.

Six Firms to Tender.

Ottawa, March 18.—At least six firms are expected to tender for the construction of the ships of the Canadian navy. Proposals are to be received up till May 1, and the correspondence indicates considerable competition. Ten ships are to be constructed, and at Canadian yards.

Earnings of U. S. Steel.

New York, March 18.—The annual pamphlet report of the United States Steel Corporation for the year ended Dec. 31, 1910, issued yesterday, shows a volume of business done by all the subsidiary companies during that period of $703,961,424, compared with $646,382,251 in 1909.

Just Like Uncle Sam.

St. Petersburg, March 18.—Large bodies of Russian troops en route for China are concentrated at Sharkent, about sixty miles west of Kulja.

An official communication announcing the movement of the troops euphemistically describes it as "a test of mobilization."

Lonely Man Ends His Life.

Ottawa, March 18.—Matthew Kennedy, aged 53, was found dead at his home near Meaches Lake, several miles north of here.

He lived alone, and was found dead in bed. He had loaded a gun, tied a string to the trigger, placed the weapon in such a position that it pointed to his abdomen, and, with his right hand, had pulled the string.

Kennedy owned his farm and had money in the bank. He was a bachelor, with two sisters living near here.

DEBATE WAS WON BY COLLEGIATES

Interesting Arguments on Public Ownership of Public Utilities

The Philomathean Society of the Collegiate Institute held an open meeting last night, at which the Normal School and Collegiate representatives debated on the subject, "Resolved that public ownership of public utilities is in the best interests of Canada."

The decision was given to the representatives of the Collegiate.

The affirmative was taken by Harold Matthews and Meredith Huyoke, of the Collegiate Institute, while Miss Dix and Mr. Clubine, of the Normal School took the Negative.

The meeting opened by the chairman's address from John Harstone, after which the leader of the affirmative, Harold Matthews, was called upon.

He described the meaning of public utility, and the many ways in which a county would benefit by the public owning, and operating of the utilities. He cited instances of the good public ownership of public utilities was doing for other countries, and also how cities in Canada would benefit by adopting this method.

Miss Dix, leader of the negative gave reasons why public utilities, under public control would not be beneficial and would even be detrimental to the good of the community. When the government changed the public positions would be filled with men of the party in power, who often did not know anything about it. She gave many facts and figures and her delivery was of the best.

Meredith Huyoke for the affirmative spoke on the advantages in particular of water supply, gas, light, and street railways being operated by the public.

Mr Clubine, the second speaker for the negative had his facts well arranged. He gave figures to show that the cost of building and operating railways by public ownership was greater than by private companies. Public ownership could not exist where there was competition.

Harold Matthews in reply battered down many points in the negative's argument and after his address, the judges, Messrs. E. L. Goodwill, Rev. I. Couch, and R. E. Wood, retired for deliberation.

The following numbers were given while waiting for the decision of the judges

Violin solo—W. Wilson, accompanist, Miss Choates.

Vocal solo—G. A. Ferguson, accompanist, Miss S. Elliott.

Piano Duet—Misses Gumpricht and Greaves.

In giving the decision of the judges R. E. Wood congratulated all the speakers.

The subject was a large one and might be divided into two parts—public ownership of public utiliteis operated by the municipalities or by the Government.

The negative speakers made a good argument on the latter part, and the affirmative based their points chiefly on the former, namely, operating of public utilities by municipal representatives.

The meeting was closed by the singing of the National Anthem.

SICK HEADACHES AND NERVOUSNESS

"Fruit-a-tives" Completely Cured Me.

LAKELET, ONT., May 12th, 1910.

"It is my firm belief that every woman should take "Fruit-a-tives" if she wants to keep herself in good health.

Before taking "Fruit-a-tives", I was constantly troubled with what is commonly known as "Nerves" or severe Nervousness. This extreme Nervousness brought on the most violent attacks of Sick Headache, for which I was constantly taking Doctor's medicine.

Constipation was also a source of great trouble for which the Doctors said "I would have to take medicine all my life" but "Fruit-a-tives" has banished these troubles and I am a well woman.

When I started taking "Fruit-a-tives", I took four at a time, but have reduced the dose so that it is only necessary for me to take one in a week, and that one "Fruit-a-tives" tablet every week keeps me well". MRS. FRED GADKE.

It is wonderful how quickly women get better when taking "Fruit-a-tives". These famous fruit tablets relieve headaches and tone up the whole nervous system. They regulate the bowels, strengthen the stomach, stimulate the appetite, and take away that pain in the back. Pale, weak, nervous women should always use "Fruit-a-tives".

THE GREAT QUESTION ? Of Spring Attire

What is going to be worn, and what particular style or shade is most suitable, are two questions that confront almost every woman at this season of the year. A visit to our store will very easily solve the problem for you.

Individual Suitings

Here is an opportunity for the woman who wants "Something Exclusive." There are no two patterns alike. There are checks, stripes and diagonal weaves, in grey—cream with black stripe—black, blue, cream, brown, etc., with the favorite pin stripe—the new homespun effects, and many others which space will not permit us to mention. These are all of English, Scotch and French manufacture, and represent the best display we have ever shown.

French Silk Foulards

The preference for Foulards this spring makes the mention of our complete stock unusually interesting, In black, green, navy, king's blue, etc. We are showing a splendid array in spot, diamond, ring and two-tone effects. These are all shower-proof.

New Laces and Trimmings

Laces are extensively used this season to garnish the new gowns, and we are well prepared for the great demand. Every fashionable trimming is there in every desirable kind and color.

New Motor Veils

Imported direct from Paris, France. Colors white, black, cream, champagne, grey, pink, sky and navy. Ask to see them, they are very pretty.

Custom Tailoring and Dressmaking Dept.

We are pleased to say this department has earned the WELL DESERVED PRAISE of all its patrons. To avoid disappointment, orders for Easter should be sent in without delay.

Spring Millinery Exposition

This has proved MORE THAN any mere FASHION DISPLAY, as evidenced by the great number of women who have already found and claimed the distinctive model that seems made for them alone. Shapes are varied as woman's needs. Hats of dainty tailored charm, with just the right simplicity for the walking suit, side by side with the Picture Hat, makes a delightful study, each striking some new note, and embodying some new ideal of elegance. We extend an invitation to all to come and see the season's latest productions.

ANNUAL ST. PATRICK'S DAY ENTERTAINMENT A SUCCESS

Highly Creditable Work by Young People Who Took Part Before Very Large Audience.

Beloved old St. Patrick must surely have felt gratified and delighted at the capable and high class manner in which his memory was celebrated at the Grand last night by a concert under the auspices of the Sisters of St. Joseph. The program was divided into two parts followed by the operetta, and every division given lavish applause.

Long before the affair commenced the house was packed and not a vacant seat was to be seen. The evening was distinctly Irish in both selections and decorations, and without doubt the program was one of the best of its kind ever given in Peterborough.

As the curtain rose at the commencement five tiers of little boys were revealed all costumed alike, and carrying flags of green. These boys gave two rousing Irish choruses in a manner which showed excellent training. They sang in a lively, bright manner, and with heart and soul in their work. Their first number was "The Isle that's Crowned with Shamrock," and the second, "The Irishman's Toast."

The vocal quartette by four young men, who sang, "Believe me, of all those," was given with fine expression and was responsible for a hearty encore.

Little Helen McCarthy and Master Joe Clancy in their sketch, "Under the Old Umbrella," were undeniably popular, and performed without the least trace of nervousness.

The mixed quartette and the chorus by the girls of the Convent school were also warmly applauded. This included the first part of the program.

In the second part, probably the most charming and decidedly novel number of the evening was introduced, when a number of little tots appeared on the stage, and went through the graceful motions of the old-fashioned minuet. The pleasure and enjoyment of this little novelty was heightened by costumes worn by them which corresponded exactly with those worn in the eighteenth century. So slever and popular were the little ones that they were forced to return to the stage and repeat their evolutions.

The Boys' Glee Club, in the character song, "The Old Top Hat," was also extremely good, and were encored.

Mr. Harry Quinlan's rich, resonant voice was heard to fine advantage in the charming little ballad, "My Little Irish Rose."

The operetta which followed was given by the cast without the slightest discernible trace of stage nervousness and reflected great credit on the performers.

Miss Carrie White in the leading part was certainly admirably adapted to the part, and she carried it through with remarkable ease and effectiveness. She was apparently as much at home as though she were really living the part and character displayed in the sketch.

The charming little operetta, the story of which is familiar to all was tastefully and accurately portrayed in a most natural manner. All the performers were good, especially Miss Emma Derocher as Madame Arrogant, and Miss Lily Simons as Dame Cronin, the good fairy. The costuming was also rich, and perfectly suited the production.

Altogether the affair was one of very high order and deserves warm praise.

The following was the program and the cast of characters for the operetta:—

PART I.

(a)—"The Isle That Crown'd With Shamrock."

(b)—"The Irishman's Toast."
—Boys of St. Peter's School.

Vocal Quartette—"Believe Me, If All Those"—Messrs. Henshaw, Daly, Quinlan and Hickey.

Song—"Under the Old Umbrella"—Helen McCarthy, Joe Clancy.

Vocal Quartette—"Kerry Dance"—Misses M. Clancy, K. Gannon, Messrs. Henshaw and New.

(a)—"Hibernia's Champion Saint."

(b)—"The Day We Celebrate"—Girls of the Convent School.

PART II.

Character Song—"The Tall Top Hat"—Boys' Glee Club.

Recit. and Pantomine—"Minuet."—The Little Ones.

"The Hobby Horse Brigade"—Twenty-eight boys.

Song—Selected—Mr. H. Quinlan.

—Operetta—

Act I.—"The Arrogant Homestead." Madge receives a visit from Dame Cronin.

Act II.—"The Princess' Reception." Loss of the Golden Slipper.

Act III.—"Village Maidens entertain an emissary of the Princess. Dame Cronin discloses the Secret of the Mysterious Visit. Madge is borne in Triumph to the Palce amid strains of "O, How Happy are We."

GOD SAVE THE KING.

—Cast of Characters—

Madame Arrogant—A proud and haughty dame—Miss Emma Derocher.

Her Daughters—Frieda, Miss Margaret Merrill; Stella, Miss Eileen McCabe.

Madge—A ward of Madame Arrogant—Miss Carrie White.

Princess Otillia—the Regent — Miss Ethel Jayes.

Dame Cronin—A Sorceress—Miss Lily Simonds.

Lady Rosamond—Miss Florence Leahy.

Lady Revere—Miss Lillian Clancy.

Lady Osmund—Miss Eva Lajeunesse.

Encratido—A Court Emissary—Miss Harriet Pierce.

Village Maidens, Court Attendants, etc.

The management deserve unstinted praise for the successful way everything connected with the entertainment was put on and handled.

SPRING REMINDERS OF RHEUMATISM

Raw, Damp Weather Starts the Pain, but the Trouble Lies in the Blood.

Spring weather is bad for rheumatic sufferers. The changes from mild to severe weather, cold, raw, damp winds, following mildness start the aches and twinges, or in more extreme cases, the tortures of the trouble going. But it must be borne in mind that it is not the weather that causes rheumatism, the trouble is rooted in the blood—the changeable weather merely starts the pains. The only way to reach the trouble and to cure it is through the blood. The poisonous rheumatic acids must be thrown off and driven out. This is a solemn medical truth every rheumatic sufferer should realize. Liniments and outward application may give temporary relief, but they never did and never can cure rheumatism. Any doctor will tell you this is true. The sufferer is only wasting time and money with this sort of treatment, and all the time the trouble is becoming more firmly rooted—and harder to cure. There is just one sure, speedy cure for rheumatism—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They act directly on the weak, impure and tainted blood. They purify and strengthen it and thus root out the cause of rheumatism. Here is a bit of proof out of thousands of similar cases that might be given. Mrs. F. X. Boisseau, St. Jerome, Que., says—"For almost two years I was a terrible sufferer from rheumatism. The trouble first located in the right leg, making work about the house impossible, and walking very difficult. I tried to cure myself by means of all sorts of liniments and lotions, but with no result—it was only money wasted. The trouble constantly grew worse and the pains more unbearable. Finally it attacked the other leg, and I was all but helpless and completely discouraged, thinking I would be a sufferer for the rest of my life. At this time I read in our home paper of the trouble being cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I decided to try them. After using the pills for several weeks I could see that they were helping me, and I continued them until I had used nine or ten boxes, when every symptom of the trouble had disappeared, and I could walk as well as ever I did. Had I known of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills earlier I would have saved myself much suffering and much money spent in other useless treatment as well."

Whether you are ailing or not a few boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will increase your vitality and give you increased strength to withstand the torrid summer weather coming, when even the strongest feel easily fagged out. You can get these pills from any dealer in medicines or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

What he did say was that if the system was forced on the merchants it should be done at a late hour on Saturday night.

CLEVER WORK OF MARY MURPHY

The clever reciting and dancing of little Mary Murphy, a mere tot, at the St. Patrick's concert at the Grand Opera House last evening found instant favor with the entire audience, who applauded her work with great fervor.

Her very diminutive stature made her even more popular, and after she had recited in a sweet childish treble, she followed it up by doing a graceful little dance which won the hearts of the crowd. She is certainly a talented child and bids fair to be an ideal entertainer in later years.

HON. MR. MURPHY AT ENNISMORE

Address of Greeting Read to Him A Happy Occasion

The visit of Hon. Charles Murphy, Secretary of State, to Ennismore, last night, brought with it an event, which occasioned wide interest, and pleasure, to the large gathering at the hall.

Those present included prominent citizens of Peterboro, and the feature of the evening was an eloquent address by the distinguished visitor, Hon. Charles Murphy, who based his remarks, fittingly, with St. Patrick's Day.

Father Fitzpatrick and F. D. Kerr, moved the vote of thanks to Mr. Murphy.

Father McGuire of Downeyville was the chairman of the affair, and short addresses were also given by Rev. Dr. O'Brien and D. O'Connell. During the evening the following greeting was read to Hon. Mr. Murphy:

To the Honorable Charles Murphy,
Secretary of State.

Hon. and Dear Sir;

On this, the occasion of your first visit to our midst, we wish at the outset to bid you a very hearty "Caede Mille Faicthe," and to thank you most faithfully for the great honor you have conferred upon us, our parish and our pastor by coming here to lecture for us, and especially on a subject so dear to every Irish heart.

We know full well the value and importance of your time, and we know moreover that any Irish Catholic Society in Canada or elsewhere would feel proud to have our distinguished Secretary of State as their honored guest on this, the Feast of our Patron Saint.

As our representative in the Dominion Cabinet, you have, by your marked ability, integrity and fixedness of purpose, done honor alike, yourself, your fellow-countrymen, and the city of Ottawa, which is so proud to claim you as your own.

The country at large already realizes and recognizes in some small measure the tower of strength you have become in safeguarding your country's interests, in defending the principles of true Liberalism, in spreading abroad a noble and patriotic sentiment, in purging our public institutions from graft and corruption, and in laying deep and broad by the purity of your own life, and the frankness and sincerity of your every utterance, that foundation of Christian honesty, Christian charity and Christian forbearance, on which alone a people of mixed races and creeds can stand shoulder to shoulder, and work in harmony and unison, for the common welfare of us all, and the proper development of our young and fair Dominion. In calling you to assume the important and onerous duties of Secretary of State, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, your honored Chieftain, our country's pride, has given us one more proof of his wonderful powers of perception, of his keen penetration and his remarkable knowledge of men and of our political and social wants.

It is needless to assure you that we, the people of Ennismore parish, Irish Catholics, all are proud of our Secretary of State, proud that one of our number brings to the legislature of his country so clear and cultivated and unspotted a life.

That Almighty God may long spare you to aid in guiding the destinies of this young country, is the sincerest wish of your friends and admirers in Ennismore.

Signed on behalf of the parish.
P. J. Scollard, Wm. Crough, James Killen, Thomas Flood, Michael Perdue, John O'Donoghue.

THE REPUTATION AND QUALITY OF THE NORDHEIMER PIANO SELLS IT

To own a Nordheimer means a New Enthusiasm and New Delight in a Piano that is richly excellent in Tone and Beauty, full of volume and sweetness. It reflects upon its owner an exclusive distinction. It indicates a buyer of judgment, one who recognizes its superb quality throughout. The Nordheimer satisfies the most exacting buyers, which is the best evidence of its merit; and furthermore it imposes upon its buyers no penalty of price beyond value.

LISTEN !

This is the exact statement made by the judges at the Franco-British exhibition in July, 1908. "Pianos were shown by Nordheimer of Toronto, Williams of Oshawa, Martin Orme of Ottawa, Bell of Guelph, Leach of Montreal, Gerhard Heintzman of Toronto, and Newcombe of Toronto. Those that we tried were excellent in touch and tone, though one or two needed tuning after the voyage. The Nordheimer, in particular need fear no comparison with any competitor, and it is a matter of congratulation that such excellent instruments are manufactured in Canada."

THE BOYS GAVE HIM A FAREWELL

R. F. Pier Also Presented With Pipe and Curling Stone

A rousing time was held last evening at the Oriental, the occasion being a farewell supper to R. F. Pier, genial and popular foreman of the transformer department of the Canadian General Electric Works.

Mr. Pier has been connected with the C.G.E. Company in the capacity of head of that department for the past fourteen months, during which he made himself a great favortie with the employees. Yesterday afternoon they showed their appreciation, by presenting him with a handsome pipe and a valuable curling stone. Mr. A. Doris made the presentation and read the address which accompanied the gift.

Mr Pier replied suitably thanking the employees for the kind expression of their feelings.

The affair at the Oriental last night was mainly to give everybody a chance to bid him farewell. He left to-day on the 4.38 C.P.R. for Cincinnati where he has accepted a very lucrative position.

ALL ENGLAND ENDORSES THE LASTING PEACE MOVEMENT

Balfour Supports the Proposition That Taft's Arbitration Proposal be Considered---Move. For Peace of all Anglo-Saxon World.

London, March 20.—The movement for peace in the English-speaking world is well timed for the lowest ebb of political affairs at Westminster, where "little water is running under the bridges."

Sir Edward Grey has lifted discussion to the e higher levels of noble idealism. He had not definite proposal to offer at the peace conference Saturday night for the carrying out of President Taft's suggestions for an Anglo-American coalition against fratricidal war, but he spoke like a statesman who has appealed to the best instincts of the nation and had behind him the moral forces of public opinion.

Radical Hotspurs who have chattered about sending him upstairs to the House of Lords, where he would be out of David Lloyd-George's way for a future Premiership, are now silent. He has become the English evangel of President Taft's gospel of the hegemony of the English-speaking race and the effective crusade against the barbarism of war and the wastefulness of armaments.

The Unionist press was cold and critical until Mr. Balfour warmly approved Sir Edward Grey's utterances. It now admits that he will have the kingdom and the Empire behind him if he succeeds in making a definite treaty with Washington.

Leading preachers of the free churches proclaimed the glad tidings of world's peace from their pulpits yesterday, and a mass meeting at Albert Hall will be arranged at an early date, which will represent all religious bodies. The Bishop of Southwark and other prominent churchmen have welcomed the movement with as much ardor as the free churchmen.

Sir Edward Grey's impressive call upon enlightened public opinion has aroused the dormant energies of churches, brotherhoods, Christian Endeavor unions and peace societies.

Naval martinets with two keels for one formulae and military doctrinaires agitation for the universal training of men in the service have fallen into the background.

Old-fashioned experience meetings on the wickedness of war and the folly of excessive armaments have been substituted for barren debates on the number of Dreadnoughts in a reasonably probable combination against England and the impracticability of limiting armaments by agreements among suspicious nations.

So unmanageable is the sudden outbreak of enthusiasm for national peace that there are serious risks of a revel of sentimentalism without practical results.

Sir Edward Grey has already corrected the misconception that an arbitration treaty between England and America will necessarily involve a defensive alliance directed against Germany or other European powers.

President Taft's suggestion in a strictly limited form needs to be adhered to literally, without the menace of coercion to other powers. A treaty between England and America on his lines will be the pivot on which a new history of civilization can turn. When that example is set for the benefit of Christendom it will be time enough to talk about deliverance from armaments and inocuous measures for policing the world.

TO HUNT SLEEPING SICKNESS

Boston, March 18.—With the characteristic sacrifice of the physician, Dr. J. L. Todd, of the medical department of McGill University, of Montreal, and Mr. Simon D. Wolbach, assisting the professor of bacteriology at the Harvard medical school, have departed for the unknown tracts of West Africa to study the so-called "sleeping sickness" and its allied diseases among the natives.

The two physicians have a single white hunter as escort and will brave the dangers of hostile natives in their efforts to discover the primary source of the baffling disease.

DOMINION COUNCIL WOULD SEND SCOUTS TO CORONATION

But There is no Approval to Scheme Just Announced

Ottawa, March 20.—A notice from the headquarters of the Canadian Boy Scouts, Ottawa, says:

"The attention of the chief scout, and the Dominion council has been called to an announcement by a Montreal weekly publication that arrangements were being made towards sending a party of boy scouts to England to the coronation ceremonies. It is desired to announce that this scheme has not the approval of the Dominion Council, and all scout associations are warned against participating in it. The Dominion Council do not approve of the boy scouts being made the basis of an advertising scheme, a policy directly opposed to the principles of the movement. Further, if such a party of boys is sent to England, it will not be recognized by the English boy scouts without the approval of the Dominion Council.

"Arrangements are now being made by the Dominion Council towards sending a contingent of boy scouts representing each province, to England in June, either to attend the coronation (if provision can be made for them) or to participate in a rally to be held at Windsor Park early in July. The discipline and care of such a party is of so much importance that the utmost caution will be exercised to ensue competent officers being in charge and every precaution taken to safeguard the welfare of the boys."

Killed For a Woman.

Winnipeg, March 20.—The police are searching for Gaston Monrosin, a Winnipeg horse dealer, who was implicated in a row at the Koblin Hotel, in which M. Giovanni lost his life. The two men, it is alleged, quarreled in the bar of the hotel over a woman, and the argument became heated, revolvers were drawn, Giovanni getting the worst of it. Monrosin made his escape, but as he is well known to the police, having on a previous occasion been arrested by the morality office, his capture is imminent. He is a native of France, 37 years of age, of heavy build, weighing 220 pounds, and five feet 9 3-4 inches in height. He has black hair, dark moustache and marked by a mole on each cheek, his eyes being dark blue. He has also a scar on the left thumb.

Opening Up Navigation.

Montreal, March 20.—One day ahead of last year's record, the staunch little icebreaker Lady Grey has reached Three Rivers, leaving a clear channel behind her all the way down to Quebec. This was a record that has only been possible within the last two years. Now the icebreakers will probably be able to commence operations above Three Rivers, and it is hoped that they will commence breaking the Lake St. Peter ice, which is the toughest proposition of all, earlier than usual. In the work of clearing the channel, the icebreaker Montcalm and the Lady Grey take alternate turns.

Self-Sacrifice of Physicians.

Boston, Mass, March 20.—With the characteristic sacrifice of the physician, Dr. J. L. Todd of the medical department of McGill University of Montreal, and Dr. S. B. Wolbach, assistant professor of bacteriology at the Harvard Medical School, have departed for the unknown tracts of West Africa to study the so-called "Sleeping Sickness" and its allied diseases among the natives. The two physicians have a single white hunter as escort, and will brave the dangers of hostile natives in their efforts to discover the primary source of the baffling disease.

Thirty Firemen Overcome.

Chicago, March 20.—Thirty firemen were overcome by the flames of ammonia yesterday while fighting a fire which destroyed a warehouse of the Monarch Refrigerating Co. and caused an $800,000 loss.

Thrilling rescues were made in carrying the unconscious firemen from the burning structure. It was necessary to take them down the fire escapes, as the cables of the elevator in which the rescuers ascended, snapped and the cage plunged three floors to the basement with a load of firemen.

The fire started early yesterday afternoon and raged with unabated fury until late last night. Five explosions of ammonia filled the building with fumes and made the work of fighting the flames dangerous. The structure was heavily stocked with poultry, meats and butter.

While attempting to escape from the roof by sliding down a rope. Battalion Chief Fisher became unconscious when he reached the fourth floor and dropped to the pavement. He fractured a leg and was internally injured.

Immigrants Are Men of Mystery.

Boston, Mass., March 20.—Eighteen strange-looking men, wearing "drum major" hats, quilted blouses and trousers and high leather boots, are being detained at the immigration station because the Government interpreters are not able to classify them or to understand their language. The men arrived on the Ivernia Friday, and during the time they have been here, the immigration inspectors have been wholly unable to identify them, but it is thought that they may be natives of some village in the Caucasus Mountains. They have tickets for Seattle.

No Reply to Ultimatum.

St. Petersburg, March 20.—China has not yet replied to the last Russian note, which amounted to an ultimatum, insisting upon a closer adherence to the provisions of the treaty of 1881.

A despatch to the Novoe Vremya from Mukden says that an attempt by Chinese police to enter the quarantine lines has led to serious conflicts between the police and the Japanese guards at Fu Shun. One Jap and one Chinaman were killed, and many wounded on both sides.

NEGRO LECTURER BADLY BEATEN

By Husband Who Alleges His Wife Was Insulted

Special to The Review.

New York, March 20.—Dr. Booker T. Washington, the negro lecturer and educator, was attacked and badly beaten by Albert Ulerich, a carpenter, who is now under arrest on a charge of assault. It is alleged that Washing insulted Ulerick's wife, and attempted to peep into the Ulerich departments.

SONG SERVICE AND FIGHTS IN MISSOURI LEGISLATURE

Members Slugged in First Session to be Held on Sunday

Jefferson City, Mo., March 20.—A sacred song service and fist fights were features of the first all-day Sunday session ever held by the Missouri Legislature.

The forenoon meeting closed with all the members singing "Nearer, My God, to Thee," "In the Sweet By-and-Bye," and "America." The afternoon session ended abruptly with a knockdown and drag out, a riot, and a panic. House floor leader N. J. Simmons was in the centre of the fight, in which Representative David W. Stark of Cass County and Kirby J. Smith, a clerk for the game warden, were the busiest participants. The fight was preceded by a party division on the appropriation rider, which calls on the governor to remove Game Warden Tolerton from office or accept the other alternative of permitting the department to forfeit the $90,000 allotted for its support.

Governor Hadley announced last night he would do neither. Smith was on the floor when the House concurred in the Senate amendment to the contingency appropriation bill containing the Tolerton rider. Smith resented the attitude of the Democrats and declared they "lacked a whole lot of getting Tolerton."

Simmons ordered Smith from the noor.

Smith struck Simmons, then slugged Stark. Stark slugged Smith, and in doing so stumbled over Representative Swearington's chair. Stark fell to his knees and while down, Swearington says, Smith struck him three times about the head.

Stark jumped up and sent his right to Smith's jaw, laying open the right cheek. Smith went sprawling into a group of girls seated just outside the railing in the southwest corner of the hall. Stark sprang after Smith, bore him to the floor and choked him.

In an instant the House was in an uproar. Many women, girls and children were in the hall watching the Sunday proceedings. Their screams added to the din. Many members rushed to the scene of combat. Doorkeeper Wilson pushed his way through the hysterical women and fighting solons and dragged Smith to the door. Blood streamed from the cut in his cheek. Meanwhile a dozen held the other combatants.

PENNY POST

Melbourne, March 20—Penny post between Australia and the oversea dominions of the British Empire is to be established in May next. The reform, which has been long delayed, is to bring a large postal revenue in its train.

NO CONFIRMATION FROM OFFICIALS

Of Story That Edward Jardine Has Confessed to Murder

Special to The Review.

Goderich, March 20.—Police officials to-day refuse to confirm or deny the story that Edward Jardine has confessed. It was stated ,however, that medical testimony at the trial will show that Jardine is partially idiotic as the result of vicious habits.

PASSING OF COUNTY JUDGE

Justice Deacon Was Prominent in Many Branches of Public Work.

Pembroke, Ont., March 20.—Thomas Deacon, senior judge of Renfrew County, died yesterday. He was 80 years of age.

His Honor Thomas Deacon was born at Perth on Nov. 7, 1832, where he lived during his childhood and youth. He was educated at the grammar school there, and at the age of 30 was called to the Bar. For many years he practiced at Pembroke, to which place he removed.

Fourteen years later, in 1876, he was appointed Q.C. by the Provincial Assembly. A similar distinction was bestowed on him by the Marquis of Lorne, then Governor-General, in 1881.

About this time he became deeply interested in local affairs in Pembroke, becoming successively member of the school board, town council and official assignee. He was also president of the Pembroke Lumber Co., and a director of the Kingston & Pembroke Railway.

Judge Deacon was a staunch Conservative, and was elected member of the Ontario Legislative Assembly from 1871 to 1879, when he was defeated. He also ranked high in the Orange Order, being of the Methodist faith.

In 1864 he married Caroline Rebecca, the eldest daughter of John Dunlop of Pembroke.

His appointment of county court judge was made on Jan. 3, 1895.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

The C.P.R. is negotiating for an entrance to Stratford.

Mr. Lloyd-George is seriously alarmed over his throat complaint, and may be out of Parliament for some time yet.

Mrs. William Johnson, whose home is at Sarnia, was struck by a street car in Detroit on Saturday, and was seriously injured. The physicians say she will recover.

The Radical members of the Italian Cabinet, Signor, Sacchi, Minister of Public Works, and Signor Credaro, Minister of Public Instruction, have resigned their portfolios.

A Hamburg paper announces that four Germans and an Englishman have been arrested charged with having transmitted plans and specifications for German warships under construction to Great Britain.

Thomas Fitzgibbons and his wife, Nora, were found in their home in Ansonia, Conn., with their skulls crushed and the house on fire. Their son, Thomas, jr., is being held by the police charged with the double murder.

The U. S. cavalry will participate in the international horse show at London in June in connection with the coronation festivities. Five officers and ten listed men of the cavalry will represent the military establishment at the show.

Charles Harrison, a Toronto young man, who has been employed at a St. Catharines moving picture theatre, was severely and painfully burned about the eyes and on the hands as the result of an electrical explosion on Saturday night.

Only a miracle prevented a serious accident when a horse hitched to a delivery wagon dashed full tilt across the interesection of Queen and Yonge streets, Toronto, Saturday afternoon. The streets were crowded with conveyances and people going home from work.

American Liner Damaged.

London, March 20.—The American Line steamer St. Paul, from New York for Plymouth, Cherbourg and Southampton, was reported 208 miles west of the Lizard at 7.54 Saturday morning, and signalled that in lattitude 49, longitude 17 (about 400 miles west of the Scilly Islands) she passed the American steamer Sun, from Amsterdam and Southampton for Philadelphia. The Sun reported that after leaving Southampton her steering gear became disarranged, but had been repaired, and the steamer was proceeding.

Will Improve Property.

St. Thomas, March 20.—General Superintendent Oberne and Superintendent McNeillie of the C.P.R., were in Port Burwell, proposing to spend $30,000 in improvements on the company's property in the shape of a roundhouse, elevator, etc., provided the town agrees to certain transfers of property. Otherwise the C.P.R. will locate the improvements at some other port.

Innocent of Crime.

Pittsburg, March 20.—Andrew Toth was released from the penitentiary here yesterday after serving twenty years for a crime he did not commit. Toth was accused of murdering a fellow-workman at the furnaces and sentenced to prison for life. Recently it was discovered he was half a mile away from the scene of the crime. Governor Tener promptly signed the pardon.

TERRIBLE DEATH OF AGED WOMAN

Apron Caught Fire Fire From Gas Stove—Was 86

Special to The Review.

Chatham, March 20.—Mrs. Anna McMillen, aged 86, died as a result of the burns received when her apron caught fire from a gas stove this morning. She suffered terribly and death was a welcome relief.

LEVEL CROSSING RAILWAY ACCIDENT KILLS TWO PEOPLE

GREATEST CRIME

London, March 20—Mr. F. E. Smith, K.C., M.P., speaking at Oxford, said that if the reciprocity treaty were made and the advantages following it enjoyed by America were lost to this country for all time it would be the greatest crime to the greatest empire that the world has ever seen.

Passenger Train Hits Trolley Car on Which Green Motorman Was Under Instruction.

Buffalo, N.Y., March 20.—Two persons were killed and four were injured yesterday afternoon when a Lackawanna passenger train, running at high speed, crashed into a street car at a grade crossing on Clinton street.

The dead are: Mrs. John McCormack, 35 years old; Robert W. Hoehn, motorman, 30 years old.

The injured are: John Fay, vaudeville actor, three ribs broken, leg broken, internal injuries, may die; Fred. Gottman, motorman, almost completely scalped, arm broken; Thomas Uhl, conductor, slight bruises; unknown man who was hurried away in an automobile before the police could learn his name.

The street car was outbound on Clinton street, and being near the end of the line, there were only three passengers on board. Gottman, an experienced motorman, was teaching Hoehn, who was handling the controller.

Conductor Uhl was standing on the rear platform prepared to run ahead to throw the derailing switch at the tracks. As the car neared the crossing, the gates went down for the passage of the express train, which was then in plain view, but to the horror of every one in the street car, it failed to slow down. Gottman was seen to jump forward and wrench the controller from Hoehn's hands. It was too late, however. The street car struck the derailing switch and leaving the rails, bumped along the pavement until it was stopped by the rails of the steam railroad. Before a person on the street car could make another move, the engine of the passenger train crashed into it, cutting it completely in two and carrying the debris 500 feet down the track. Mrs. McCormack was instantly killed. Hoehn died at the hospital an hour later.

Quarantined the Hospital.

Fort William, March 20.—The Board of Health at a special meeting Saturday approved of the quarantine of McKellar Hospital. A man recently discharged from the hospital has developed symptoms of smallpox. No connection between the latest smallpox case and the one which developed about three weeks ago has been established.

Chinese Celebrated.

Ottawa, March 20.—The rival factions of the local Chinese are still pushing ahead. The Chinese Reform Association have until now been the only possessors of a hall. Now the Free Masons have opened one. Saturday night they celebrated this event with fireworks, tom toms, and a feast.

One Million For Roads.

Montreal, March 20.—According to a report submitted to the Board of Control by the road department, it is shown that last year there was expended on macademizing streets in the various wards over one million dollars.

Winnipeg Grain Shipments.

Winnipeg, March 20.—During the last six months, 64,315 cars of grain were handled through the Winnipeg gateway.

DEED WAS PREMEDITATED

Bank Teller Had Said He Would Shoot Himself

Toronto March 20.—W. Morton Kenley, a teller in the Bank of Montreal, at the corner of Front and Yonge streets, was found dead in the basement of that building at nine o'clock Saturday morning with a 32-calibre bullet through his brain. He had taken his life with a 32-calibre revolver found with him. His body was removed to the morgue in the patrol wagon.

Kenly had boarded with his widowed mother at 266 West Bloor street. A clergyman broke the news to the bereaved mother about an hour after the shooting.

Kenly was away in Ottawa Friday at the funeral of a relative and only returned Saturday morning. He came down to work at nine o'clock and a few minutes after his body was found.

He was employed by the Ontario Bank until the Bank of Montreal took it over in 1906. Since then he has been employed in the Yonge and Front streets branch of the Bank of Montreal.

Kenly is known to have made some money in two Cobalt stocks, and it is rumored that he lost a considerable sum in New York stocks. His accounts at the bank were perfectly in order.

While he was preparing to leave for Ottawa to attend the funeral of an aunt, it is said he received a message from his physician telling him he was seriously affected with tuberculosis.

It appears he had been in dread of the disease for a long time, and had told his confidants that he would shoot himself if he ever learned that he had it.

When he got back to Toronto, so it is said, one of his superiors told him that he would have to be taken off the cash and put back on the books because it had come to the ears of the management that he was dealing in mining stocks—an indulgence which is not tolerated among responsible employes of the Bank of Montreal.

New Armories for Ingersoll.

Ingersoll, March 20.—Col. Caldwell, Toronto, of the engineering staff of the Department of Militia; Col. T. R. Mayberry, M.P.P.; Major W. A. Edgar and others were here on Saturday going over the local situation for the establishment of an armories for Ingersoll. They inspected the Charles Street Methodist Church property, which has been suggested as a site for the armories, if brought here.

Ottawa's Georges Busy.

Ottawa, March 20.—Mayor Hopewell is to call a meeting of the Georges of this city to participate in the coronation presentation to His Maesty King George V. The movement to make a presentation from all the Georges in Canada is being furthered by His Excellency Earl Grey and the mayor has been asked to start the list on a systematic basis in Ottawa, by calling a meeting of some of the prominent Georges of the capital. The mayor has not yet fixed a date for the meeting.

Let Off With Lecture.

Goderich, March 20.—Lorne Armstrong, the 20-year-old Stanley Township youth, who rented rigs from Clinton and Goderich liverymen a few weeks ago and sold them at Seaforth and Blyth, obtaining $15 for the two, was before Judge Wyle Saturday and let off with a lecture. His father went surety for his future conduct.

Will Get a Raise.

Brantford, March 20.—Brantford fire department members are likely to get a raise to-night, when the fire and light commission will submit a favorable report on the petition of the men. The raise in Chief Lewis' salary will be from $1,200 to $1,500 a year.

London Old Boys' Reunion.

London, March 20.—A meeting of the London Old Boys' Home Guard will be held to-morrow night to discuss the advisability of holding a reunion of former residents this summer.

PHILLIPS IS OUT AGAIN

Former York Loar General Manager Had Sentence Shortened.

Kingston, March 20.—At noon Saturday the big prison doors at Portsmouth opened for Joseph Phillips, head of the defunct York County Loan Co., he having served a term of four years and three months. His sentence was five years, but for good behaviour nine months was cut off. Phillips is looking well, in fact, much better than when he entered prison.

He is the last of the big financial men to be released. However, it will not be long before his place is taken by another, W. R. Travers. During his stay in prison, Phillips was employed as a clerk in the offices.

This effectually puts a stop to the persistent rumor which has been circulated for more than a year, that he had been secretly released from the prison.

Phillips was sentenced by Col. Denison to serve five years for his thefts from the company. Sentence was imposed March 23, 1907. He served four years less five days, which is two months and five days less than his complete term, allowing for a full good conduct allowance.

BETWEEN YOU AND ME

When all the Georges get together to make donations toward the coronation gift, won't the Willies and Percies gnash their teeth in envy.

Prices for seats on the coronation route are going up. The Peterborough firemen have secured the $1500 reservations—cheap at the price, too.

The Bahamas want to be annexed in order to enjoy the protection of OUR NAVY, of course.

An English surgeon says he will soon have noses made to order. He is a man who knows.

Sir Eddie Grey and Taft are talking of peace. But scrapping goes on at Ottawa as usual.

The Sheldon victims who get a cent in the dollar, will make up for the loss in sense of more stable kind.

They're paying $1500 for a window at the coronation route. Wouldn't it give you a pane!

ALL ENGLAND ENDORSES THE LASTING PEACE MOVEMENT

Balfour Supports the Proposition That Taft's Arbitration Proposal be Considered---Move For Peace of all Anglo-Saxon World.

London, March 20.—The movement for peace in the English-speaking world is well timed for the lowest ebb of political affairs at Westminster, where "little water is running under the bridges."

Sir Edward Grey has lifted discussion to the e higher levels of noble idealism. He had not definite proposal to offer at the peace conference Saturday night for the carrying out of President Taft's suggestions for an Anglo-American coalition against fratricidal war, but he spoke like a statesman who has appealed to the best instincts of the nation and had behind him the moral forces of public opinion.

Radical Hotspurs who have chattered about sending him upstairs to the House of Lords, where he would be out of David Lloyd-George's way for a future Premiership, are now silent. He has become the English evangel of President Taft's gospel of the hegemony of the English-speaking race and the effective crusade against the barbarism of war and the wastefulness of armaments.

The Unionist press was cold and critical until Mr. Balfour warmly approved Sir Edward Grey's utterances. It now admits that he will have the kingdom and the Empire behind him if he succeeds in making a definite treaty with Washington.

Leading preachers of the free churches proclaimed the glad tidings of world's peace from their pulpits yesterday, and a mass meeting at Albert Hall will be arranged at an early date, which will represent all religious bodies. The Bishop of Southwark and other prominent churchmen have welcomed the movement with as much ardor as the free churchmen.

Thomas Fitzgibbons and his wife, Nora, were found in their home in Ansonia, Conn., with their skulls crushed and the house on fire. Their son, Thomas, jr., is being held by the police charged with the double murder.

The U. S. cavalry will participate in the international horse show at London in June in connection with the coronation festivities. Five officers and ten listed men of the cavalry will represent the military establishment at the show.

Charles Harrison, a Toronto young man, who has been employed at a St. Catharines moving picture theatre, was severely and painfully burned about the eyes and on the hands as the result of an electrical explosion on Saturday night.

Only a miracle prevented a serious accident when a horse hitched to a delivery wagon dashed full tilt across the interesection of Queen and Yonge streets, Toronto, Saturday afternoon. The streets were crowded with conveyances and people going home from work.

American Liner Damaged.

London, March 20.—The American Line steamer St. Paul, from New York for Plymouth, Cherbourg and Southampton, was reported 208 miles west of the Lizard at 7.54 Saturday morning, and signalled that in lattitude 49, longitude 17 (about 400 miles west of the Scilly Islands) she passed the American steamer Sun, from Amsterdam and Southampton for Philadelphia. The Sun reported that after leaving Southampton her steering gear became disarranged, but had been repaired, and the steamer was proceeding.

Will Improve Property.

St. Thomas, March 20.—General Superintendent Oberne and Superintendent McNeillie of the C.P.R., were in Port Burwell, proposing to spend $30,000 in improvements on the company's property in the shape of a roundhouse, elevator, etc., provided the town agrees to certain transfers of property. Otherwise the C.P.R. will locate the improvements at some other port.

Innocent of Crime.

Pittsburg, March 20.—Andrew Toth was released from the penitentiary here yesterday after serving twenty years for a crime he did not commit. Toth was accused of murdering a fellow-workman at the furnaces and sentenced to prison for life. Recently it was discovered he was half a mile away from the scene of the crime. Governor Tener promptly signed the pardon.

LEVEL CROSSING RAILWAY ACCIDENT KILLS TWO PEOPLE

GREATEST CRIME

London, March 20—Mr. F. E. Smith, K.C., M.P., speaking at Oxford, said that if the reciprocity treaty were made and the advantages following it enjoyed by America were lost to this country for all time it would be the greatest crime to the greatest empire that the world has ever seen.

Passenger Train Hits Trolley Car on Which Green Motorman Was Under Instruction.

Buffalo, N.Y., March 20.—Two persons were killed and four were injured yesterday afternoon when a Lackawanna passenger train, running at high speed, crashed into a street car at a grade crossing on Clinton street.

The dead are: Mrs. John McCormack, 35 years old; Robert W. Hoehn, motorman, 30 years old.

The injured are: John Fay, vaudeville actor, three ribs broken, leg broken, internal injuries, may die; Fred. Gottman, motorman, almost completely scalped, arm broken; Thomas Uhl, conductor, slight bruises; unknown man who was hurried away in an automobile before the police could learn his name.

The street car was outbound on Clinton street, and being near the end of the line, there were only three passengers on board. Gottman, an experienced motorman, was teaching Hoehn, who was handling the controller.

Conductor Uhl was standing on the rear platform prepared to run ahead to throw the derailing switch at the tracks. As the car neared the crossing, the gates went down for the passage of the express train, which was then in plain view, but to the horror of every one in the street car, it failed to slow down. Gottman was seen to jump forward and wrench the controller from Hoehn's hands. It was too late, however. The street car struck the derailing switch and leaving the rails, bumped along the pavement until it was stopped by the rails of the steam railroad. Before a person on the street car could make another move, the engine of the passenger train crashed into it, cutting it completely in two and carrying the debris 500 feet down the track. Mrs. McCormack was instantly killed. Hoehn died at the hospital an hour later.

DEED WAS PREMEDITATED

Bank Teller Had Said He Would Shoot Himself

Toronto March 20.—W. Morton Kenley, a teller in the Bank of Montreal, at the corner of Front and Yonge streets, was found dead in the basement of that building at nine o'clock Saturday morning with a 32-calibre bullet through his brain. He had taken his life with a 32-calibre revolver found with him. His body was removed to the morgue in the patrol wagon.

Kenly had boarded with his widowed mother at 266 West Bloor street. A clergyman broke the news to the bereaved mother about an hour after the shooting.

Kenly was away in Ottawa Friday at the funeral of a relative and only returned Saturday morning. He came down to work at nine o'clock and a few minutes after his body was found.

He was employed by the Ontario Bank until the Bank of Montreal took it over in 1906. Since then he has been employed in the Yonge and Front streets branch of the Bank of Montreal.

Kenly is known to have made some money in two Cobalt stocks, and it is rumored that he lost a considerable sum in New York stocks. His accounts at the bank were perfectly in order.

While he was preparing to leave for Ottawa to attend the funeral of an aunt, it is said he received a message from his physician telling him he was seriously affected with tuberculosis.

It appears he had been in dread of the disease for a long time, and had told his confidants that he would shoot himself if he ever learned that he had it.

When he got back to Toronto, so it is said, one of his superiors told him that he would have to be taken off the cash and put back on the books because it had come to the ears of the management that he was dealing in mining stocks—an indulgence which is not tolerated among responsible employes of the Bank of Montreal.

New Armories for Ingersoll.

Ingersoll, March 20.—Col. Caldwell, Toronto, of the engineering staff of the Department of Militia; Col. T. R. Mayberry, M.P.P.; Major W. A. Edgar and others were here on Saturday going over the local situation for the establishment of an armories for Ingersoll. They inspected the Charles Street Methodist Church property, which has been suggested as a site for the armories, if brought here.

Ottawa's Georges Busy.

Ottawa, March 20.—Mayor Hopewell is to call a meeting of the Georges of this city to participate in the coronation presentation to His Maesty King George V. The movement to make a presentation from all the Georges in Canada is being furthered by His Excellency Earl Grey and the mayor has been asked to start the list on a systematic basis in Ottawa, by calling a meeting of some of the prominent Georges of the capital. The mayor has not yet fixed a date for the meeting.

Let Off With Lecture.

Goderich, March 20.—Lorne Armstrong, the 20-year-old Stanley Township youth, who rented rigs from Clinton and Goderich liverymen a few weeks ago and sold them at Seaforth and Blyth, obtaining $15 for the two, was before Judge Wyle Saturday and let off with a lecture. His father went surety for his future conduct.

Will Get a Raise.

Brantford, March 20.—Brantford fire department members are likely to get a raise to-night, when the fire and light commission will submit a favorable report on the petition of the men. The raise in Chief Lewis' salary will be from $1,200 to $1,500 a year.

London Old Boys' Reunion.

London, March 20.—A meeting of the London Old Boys' Home Guard will be held to-morrow night to discuss the advisability of holding a reunion of former residents this summer.

Quarantined the Hospital.

Fort William, March 20.—The Board of Health at a special meeting Saturday approved of the quarantine of McKellar Hospital. A man recently discharged from the hospital has developed symptoms of smallpox. No connection between the latest smallpox case and the one which developed about three weeks ago has been established.

Chinese Celebrated.

Ottawa, March 20.—The rival factions of the local Chinese are still pushing ahead. The Chinese Reform Association have until now been the only possessors of a hall. Now the Free Masons have opened one. Saturday night they celebrated this event with fireworks, tom toms, and a feast.

One Million For Roads.

Montreal, March 20.—According to a report submitted to the Board of Control by the road department, it is shown that last year there was expended on macademizing streets in the various wards over one million dollars.

Winnipeg Grain Shipments.

Winnipeg, March 20.—During the last six months, 64,315 cars of grain were handled through the Winnipeg gateway.

PHILLIPS IS OUT AGAIN

Former York Loar General Manager Had Sentence Shortened.

Kingston, March 20.—At noon Saturday the big prison doors at Portsmouth opened for Joseph Phillips, head of the defunct York County Loan Co., he having served a term of four years and three months. His sentence was five years, but for good behaviour nine months was cut off. Phillips is looking well, in fact, much better than when he entered prison.

He is the last of the big financial men to be released. However, it will not be long before his place is taken by another, W. R. Travers. During his stay in prison, Phillips was employed as a clerk in the offices.

This effectually puts a stop to the persistent rumor which has been circulated for more than a year, that he had been secretly released from the prison.

Phillips was sentenced by Col. Denison to serve five years for his thefts from the company. Sentence was imposed March 23, 1907. He served four years less five days, which is two months and five days less than his complete term, allowing for a full good conduct allowance.

SONG SERVICE AND FIGHTS IN MISSOURI LEGISLATURE

Members Slugged in First Session to be Held on Sunday

Jefferson City, Mo., March 20.—A sacred song service and fist fights were features of the first all-day Sunday session ever held by the Missouri Legislature.

The forenoon meeting closed with all the members singing "Nearer, My God, to Thee," "In the Sweet By-and-Bye," and "America." The afternoon session ended abruptly with a knockdown and drag out, a riot, and a panic. House floor leader N. J. Simmons was in the centre of the fight, in which Representative David W. Stark of Cass County and Kirby J. Smith, a clerk for the game warden, were the busiest participants. The fight was preceded by a party division on the appropriation rider, which calls on the governor to remove Game Warden Tolerton from office or accept the other alternative of permitting the department to forfeit the $90,000 allotted for its support.

Governor Hadley announced last night he would do neither. Smith was on the floor when the House concurred in the Senate amendment to the contingency appropriation bill containing the Tolerton rider. Smith resented the attitude of the Democrats and declared they "lacked a whole lot of getting Tolerton."

Simmons ordered Smith from the noor.

Smith struck Simmons, then slugged Stark. Stark slugged Smith, and in doing so stumbled over Representative Swearington's chair. Stark fell to his knees and while down, Swearington says, Smith struck him three times about the head.

Stark jumped up and sent his right to Smith's jaw, laying open the right cheek. Smith went sprawling into a group of girls seated just outside the railing in the southwest corner of the hall. Stark sprang after Smith, bore him to the floor and choked him.

In an instant the House was in an uproar. Many women, girls and children were in the hall watching the Sunday proceedings. Their screams added to the din. Many members rushed to the scene of combat. Doorkeeper Wilson pushed his way through the hysterical women and fighting solons and dragged Smith to the door. Blood streamed from the cut in his cheek. Meanwhile a dozen held the other combatants.

PENNY POST

Melbourne, March 20—Penny post between Australia and the oversea dominions of the British Empire is to be established in May next. The reform, which has been long delayed, is to bring a large postal revenue in its train.

NO CONFIRMATION FROM OFFICIALS

Of Story That Edward Jardine Has Confessed to Murder

Special to The Review.

Goderich, March 20.—Police officials to-day refuse to confirm or deny the story that Edward Jardine has confessed. It was stated ,however, that medical testimony at the trial will show that Jardine is partially idiotic as the result of vicious habits.

TERRIBLE DEATH OF AGED WOMAN

Apron Caught Fire Fire From Gas Stove—Was 86

Special to The Review.

Chatham, March 20.—Mrs. Anna McMillen, aged 86, died as a result of the burns received when her apron caught fire from a gas stove this morning. She suffered terribly and death was a welcome relief.

BETWEEN YOU AND ME

When all the Georges get together to make donations toward the coronation gift, won't the Willies and Percies gnash their teeth in envy.

Prices for seats on the coronation route are going up. The Peterborough firemen have secured the $1500 reservations—cheap at the price, too.

The Bahamas want to be annexed in order to enjoy the protection of OUR NAVY, of course.

An English surgeon says he will soon have noses made to order. He is a m an who knows.

Sir Eddie Grey and Taft are talking of peace. But scrapping goes on at Ottawa as usual.

The Sheldon victims who get a cent in the dollar, will make up for the loss in sense of more stable kind.

They're paying $1500 for a window at the coronation route. Wouldn't it give you a pane!

Coal Results

¶ We sell the very best quality of hard coal, as good as we know how to buy.

¶ Are you getting results from the coal you are now using? Are you sure it is good? Are you burning it the right way?

¶ There is a deal of difference in how you handle the range or furnace. Our long experience tells us that fact, and we are ready to advise any in doubt as to the best way to make so of coal as fuel.

WASTING TIME

Is it not a blessing that man's mind and body are so busy with the joys and the pains, the problems and the questions of the day, that he pauses not to look at the flight of time? The race of the flying minutes is beyond the control of mortals: we may do much or we may do little, but relentless Time pursues us, with its beckoning finger, saying every day, "One day less on earth for you."

This concentration of the mind on the problems of the day gives us no time for speculation as to time. We crowd into the twenty-four hours some sleep for the rehabilitation of a worn body and mind; some work, and perhaps a little leisure. If our work is heavy, or exacting, it encroaches on our leisure, and perhaps on our sleep. Perhaps the only real consciousness of the swift passing of the days is when we hear the remark, "How the years are slipping by. It seems no time since I was only a child."

Jeremy Taylor says: "Dost thou love life? Then do not squander time for that is the stuff life is made of." Page after page, book after book; library after library has been written on the need of a proper utilisation of the fleeting moments, but their influences are unconscious. Yet there is a great deal to be learned as to the value of time, and how best to allot it, that we reap, and those whom we meet may reap the fullest benefit of it. Henry Trumbull says, "To-day is, for all we know, the opportunity and occasion of our lives. On what we do or say to-day may depend the success and completeness of our entire life struggle. It is for us, therefore, to use every moment of to-day as if our very eternity were dependent on its words and deeds." This sage observation is so manifestly true that it is a pity that so few will act on it.

The sin of wasted and misspent time is one of the great hindrances to the progress of the world that we know to-day. He who would make existence merely a case of sleep, eat and work—the latter as little as is necessary to secure a livelihood, the others as much as can be secured—is not living. He merely exists, of no use to himself or his fellows. Dr. Chalmers says: "Live for something. Do good, and leave behind you a monument of virtue, which the storms of time can never destroy. Write your name in kindness, love and mercy on the hearts of those with whom you come in contact, and you will never be forgotten."

A CLEAR VIEW

There are times when English statesmen who have studied colonial problems and inclinations seem to get a clear, sharp focus on the exact situation, before the fogs of misrepresentation sweep over it and again obscure it. One of these is Austen Chamberlain, who a few days ago sized up the Canadian reciprocity situation, covering the course of years, in these few, cogent words:

"For years, in the infancy of her development, it was entreaty and constant effort of Canada to secure favorable reciprocal treatment from their great neighbor across the southern frontier. They were repulsed until at last they decided that they would alter their own system that independently of any external power they could build up a great national industry of their own and secure full and free national development, not along this and that single line, but along all the lines on which national life should grow and prosper. It was not till that policy had been practiced with such success that the Prime Minister of the Dominion declared that there would be no more pilgrimages to Washington, that the pilgrimages set in in the other direction. That which had been refused to Canada when she was weak and defenceless is now pressed upon her because of the advantages which she has derived from her protective system."

That is a very fair and lucid presentation of the case. For years Canada sought reciprocity with the United States, only to be rebuffed and humiliated every time. Forced to save herself, Canada shielded herself behind the barrier of protectionism, applied moderately. How she has prospered it is needless to say. Her prosperity has been beyond the fondest expectations of the passing generation.

Not only did Canada by the wise policy of protecting her home industries, fostering her own institutions, gather wealth and strength, but she conserved unto herself the great natural resources with which Nature so bountifully provided her. She has them to-day, at the time when the demand for the riches of the earth was never so keen. The policy of protection is the only policy that will conserve to our children, and our children's children, the share in the great goodness of Nature that they are entitled to. In the last analysis, it is the natural resources of a nation which are the test of her commercial greatness—because they are the basis of all wealth and activity.

The past thirty years of exclusion from the markets of the United States, except in buying from them the manufactures they wished to find a market for, did not stop Canada from growing. In fact, it was the shadow of the McKinley and Dingley tariffs which was the making of Canada. To-day the United States is only too anxious to stop the tide of this prosperity, setting in towards closer relations with the empire.

Mr. Taft says that Canada is at the parting of the ways. Mr. Taft is right in this, but he makes a mistake in thinking that the people of Canada are consenting parties to the policy which leads them to Washington.

Some of the pro-reciprocity newspapers are making a great hulabaloo about the necessity of Canada being friendly to the United States, about the folly of the spirit which says "You go your way, and I'll go mine." These papers and politicians would have Canada jump into the open arms of Uncle Sam (now that he wants us) and be mighty glad not to get again snubbed.

There is no need for a narrow, an exclusionist spirit by Canada. Canadians have always been broader in their attitude than the Americans, in the matter of international relations. Any caution which Canadians may show in closer relations with the United States is not evidence of dislike towards that country in itself—it is simply the reasonable and admirable desire to conserve our full national independence. Any measure that will tend to make Canada a dependent on the country to the south will be righteously unpopular in Canada.

INTERESTING CONFESSION

One of the most interesting confessions of the reason for the anxiety of the United States to secure Canadian trade and attention while she is "at the parting of the ways," comes from the St. Paul Despatch, one of the most influential newspapers of the middle west. We reproduce the article. This is the American view, loyal Canadians:—

"Nobody is watching the progress of the reciprocity agreement between Canada and the United States at the present time more anxiously than the people of Great Britain. But the reasons which justify so much interest on that side should develop support for the agreement here.

"THE EFFECTUATION OF THAT AGREEMENT WOULD PRACTICALLY DESTROY GREAT BRITAIN'S SCHEME FOR IMPERIAL FEDERATION, a scheme which not only implies closer bonds politically between Great Britain and her dependencies, but closer relations commercially and undoubtedly preference for the products of the dependencies in the great markets of the world located in Great Britain.

"If the Canadian reciprocity agreement is ratified on both sides, the federation idea will be sadly discouraged and the granting of the preference in favor of the products of the dependencies would be impossible as such a scheme would amount to nothing with Canada eliminated.

"Here's an argument for reciprocity which the American farmer ought to be able to appreciate. If our Government rejects the proffers of reciprocity now under consideration, Canada will certainly turn the current of her trade as far as possible toward Great Britain. In that direction will pass her entire agricultural output through her own water channels to the Liverpool markets, and from Great Britain will be bought an increasing proportion of supplies of manufactured goods of all kinds. The wall between Canada and the United States will be built up higher and stronger than ever before.

"And just where that is to interest the American farmer is in the fact that when Great Britain adopts a policy giving preference in her markets to the products of her own dependencies, Canada included, our food products will have to compete in the world's markets of Liverpool and London at a disadvantage with the products of Canada and suffer by whatever percentage of preference may be granted to Canada.

"When that day comes Canadian wheat will be worth more in the market of Liverpool than that grown on this side by the amount of the discrimination made in favor of the Canadian product. And this will apply to all agricultural products which Canada is capable of producing.

"That situation may be regarded as inevitable result of further refusal on our part to make proper trade terms with our northern neighbor. This is probably our last chance to head off this discrimination against our products in favor of those of Great Britain's dependencies.

"We have an export trade with Canada now amounting to nearly a quarter of a billion dollars. We could no doubt double it in the next ten years, if we had a mind to do so, and while doing it we will not only preserve for ourselves equal terms in the world markets of Great Britain for our agricultural products, but stimulate our industries by the addition of a large area, of rapidly developing country constituting a great market for many things which cannot be grown in Canada, and many others which can be manufactured in the States to better advantage than in Canada."

Deathly Cramps, Stomach was Bloated

A Bad Case That Proves Cramps and Stomach Disorders are Cured Fast by Nerviline.

"The distress I suffered from cramps last summer was so severe I thought it meant death," writes P. R. Emerson, of Guys Hill, P. O. "I was doubled up with pain and in such bad shape I couldn't walk a hundred feet. I remembered having Nerviline on hand and took half a teaspoonful in sweetened water. In five minutes I was well and my stomach derangements disappeared entirely."

NERVILINE AN INSTANT RELIEF

For cramps, flatulence, diarrhoea and disorders of the stomach and bowels, Nerviline knows no equal—one million bottles used every year—fifty years on the market, that's proof enough of its merit. Large bottles, 50c., trial size, 25c. All dealers or The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Good evening! have you secured your berth for the coronation trip yet?

Hon. Robert Rogers says that Manitoba is against reciprocity. If he also one of the wolves that makes so much noise?

The first woman has taken a seat in the Scandinavian Parliament. She couldn't possibly equal our own Allan Studholme for loquacity, however.

The Globe and Star are hustling reporters all over the country for hand-picked opinions favoring reciprocity. This is the "public opinion" they present.

The United States demonstration on the Mexican border is a warning to Japan. As an ally of Japan and friend of the United States, Great Britain's position in the event of a clash, would be a nice bit of calculation.

You will notice that no matter how much hubbub the M.P.'s make in the House about each other being liars, they never seem to carry their quarrels to the alley, and make good their valorous declarations.

The C.N.R. will be able to open its trans-continental line in 1914. That will mean six transcontinental trains daily when the G.T.P. starts operations. Truly, this will be a great country if we manage to hold our heads, and not make reciprocity treaties.

THE REPORT OF OVERSEER WATT

To Game and Fisheries Departments, For Past Year

Below will be found the report of John Watt, Fishery and Game overseer. The amount of fines for fishing infractions for last year was $40.00 and for game $64.00. This year his territory will be from Lakefield to Bensfort, whereas it was only to the Locks before. The report is as follows:—

Overseer John Watt, of Peterboro, reports that the fish run for 1910 was unusually long, commencing early on account of the very warm weather, in the latter part of March and first part of April. The cold weather setting in a little later on seemed to have driven the fish into deep water for a time, to return to the shallow waters towards the end of the close season, and the early part of the open season.

By keeping a constant patrol on the waters, here is the only way we can possibly preserve the fish, during the close season, and hope to have any good fishing, when the open season comes in.

Part of the fishing ground in this territory, is within the limits of the city of Peterboro, and along this portion of the river front there are fifty or more boat houses, each containing from two to five boats, so you may understand the amount of trouble he experiences in trying to enforce the fishery laws. If the lovers of angling among the owners of these boathouses would assist in any small degree, in endeavoring to compel others to observe the law, there would be no better maskinonge and bass fishing anywhere, but he gets very little information as to infractions of the law from them.

Through the valuable assistance he received from Mr. Guerin, he is able to keep the poaching down to the minimum, in fact, he had not heard of any violations, except in a very few cases of fish having been caught which were under size.

By request, Mr. Guerin visited a section of the district which is outside of his territory, and on July 1 last, made a raid and captured five gill nets in the one night.

He built a fire in front of his boathouse, and in the presence of a number of gentlemen, destroyed twenty two gill nets, some of which were one hundred feet in length, and all of them long enough to span any of the creeks in that section.

He fined two persons $5 each, with costs, for violation of the fishery laws.

The fish and game laws are to his mind being more strictly observed than formerly, but he feels more and more the necessity of an overseer devoting his entire time to the duties of his office, in order that he may more effectively carry on the work of preserving the fish and game, and preventing the breaking of the laws governing the fishing and shooting.

Nearly all of the American citizens, who have stopped there on their way to fishing resorts, have been supplied with their angling permits of which he sold twenty-three this year. So far this season he has sold twelve game dealers licenses, and there is a possibility of a few more being needed later on.

Charlotte Street League

An evening of unusual interest and enjoyment is promised to those who attend the regular meeting of Charlotte street church league on Monday evening next.

A somewhat novel program is being arranged which will be in the nature of a contest. Two sides have been chosen to provide the program, each side to contribute seven numbers, and the side which provides in the opinion of the judges, the most entertaining numbers will be given the reward.

A few musical selections will also be given and a large attendance is expected. Come and bring your friends. No admission fee.

Not a Nationalist.

London, March 20.—"I am an Irish Catholic, not an Irish Nationalist," declared Bishop Fallon at St. Peter's Cathedral last night. "I detest nationalism that makes a man a servant, but I love the man who will cleave to the faith through prosperity and adversity. The faith is the shield of Ireland's greatness. It is the richness of her poverty, it is the pride of her humility, the sweetness of her tears, the consolation of her sorrow and the balm of her ever-bleeding wounds."

Sailor Meets Instant Death.

Fort William, March 20.—Stepping under an anchor on the sand barge Luddington, which is under repairs on Mission Island, F. Lottonville, 55 years of age, a sailor, was instantly killed on Saturday, when a chain holding the anchor suddenly gave way. The anchor chain was not being moved, and the cause of the accident is unknown. Lottonville lived here. He was unmarried. An inquest will be held.

London's Dramatic Censors.

London has had its absurd dramatic censors even if it cannot quite come up to Vienna. Colley Cibber in his autobiography tells us of one master of the revels who was responsible for the licensing of plays in those days expunging the whole first act of "Richard III." on the ground that the distresses of Henry VI. would remind weak people of King James, then living in France. In fact, Shakespeare has more than once been censored, for "King Lear" was inhibited during the illness of George III. George Colman when reader of plays banned the use of such words as angel and heaven.—London Chronicle.

To Make Him Sleep.

"Unfit for duty because of insomnia" was the record of a New York policeman for several weeks.

Inspector Byrnes sent for the man and gave him a little bit of advice, thus: "Tonight, about midnight, put on your uniform, belt, hat, revolver, take night stick in hand and go to some corner house. Lean against it, and lean against it hard, as if you were really on duty. You'll go to sleep, all right."—New York Tribune.

No Skill Required.

Litigant—Your fee is outrageous. Why, it's more than three-fourths of what I recovered. Lawyer—I furnished the skill and the legal learning for your case. Litigant—But I furnished the case. Lawyer—Oh, anybody can fall down a coal hole!—Boston Transcript.

HE WON THE HOUSE.

Ned Harrigan's Plea at a Critical Point in a Play.

Edward Harrigan once said that the most trying moment in his theatrical career occurred in New Orleans soon after the civil war. He had gone south with his company and, yielding somewhat to popular request, put on "The Blue and the Gray." The play had been a success up north, but down south, with the air still full of the bitterness of the war, it was a dangerous experiment. Tony Hart was to represent the Confederate gray, so he hunted up a uniform of the Louisiana Tigers, and when he came marching on, young, stalwart, handsome, the typical soldier boy in the beloved uniform, the house, men and women, cheered and shouted and cried for all their heroes embodied in this boy. Harrigan, standing in the wings in his northern blue, waiting to go on, had just one thought —"They'll kill me!" Then he stepped out, the embodiment of the enemy, and a cold, dead silence fell upon the house. Not a hand moved for him. The audience was tense with emotion, and there was only an instant to act if the play was to be saved. Harrigan, big, kindly, good looking, came swiftly down to the front and stepped over the footlight gutter, leaning down to them. "For the love of heaven, won't you give the Yankee a hand?" he exclaimed. At once the house was caught and all the pentup feeling turned the right way. There was a yell of applause.

RULE OF THE ROAD.

Decided Abroad by the Sword and Here by the Gun.

Several travelers were seated in the hotel lobby discussing the difference in customs of the various countries they had visited. "What struck me as most peculiar abroad," said one, "is the custom of keeping to the left instead of the right, as we do here. Why is the rule reversed?"

"I think I can explain that," said a reserved looking man in the corner. "In medieval and later periods abroad men were in the custom of wearing swords. The sword was worn, as it is now, on the left side. Consequently in drawing their weapon it was done with the right hand, and to get quickly upon guard a man had to have his right side to his opponent; hence the custom of keeping to the left.

"In America when every man carried his life in his hand on account of savage Indians all men carried guns. The easiest and most natural way to carry a gun, either afoot or mounted, is over the left arm with the muzzle pointed outward, and it takes but a very slight movement to throw the butt against the right shoulder. For that reason the early settlers kept to the right of the road so their weapon could instantly be brought to bear on any mark that was necessary."—Philadelphia Times.

Romance of a Shadow.

It is hard to believe that a shadow is probably the origin of all astronomical, geometrical and geographical science. The first man who fixed his staff perpendicularly in the ground and measured its shadow was the earliest computer of time, and the Arab of today who plants his spear in the sand and marks where the shadow falls is his direct descendant. It is from the shadow of a gnomon that the early Egyptians told the length of the year. It is from the shadow of a gnomon that the inhabitants of upper Egypt still measure the hours of work for a water wheel. In this case the gnomon is a lhurra stalk supported on forked uprights and points north and south. East and west are pegs in the ground evenly marking the space of earth between sunrise and sunset. In a land of constant sunshine a shadow was the primitive chronometer. It was also the primitive footrule.—London T. P.'s Weekly.

Men With Green Hair.

"Copper is scarce," said a broker, "but there is still enough of it left to turn the copper worker's hair green."

"His hair green?"

"Precisely. In those copper districts where the ore is of a low grade it is roasted in open furnaces to refine it and make it more marketable. A gas emanates from the furnaces that turns the firemen's hair a bright green, this arsenic green that the firemen's hair takes on.

"So if you ever see a man with green hair you can say, a la Sherlock Holmes:

"'There, my dear Watson, is a copper furnace tender.'"

A Request.

"I shall never forget," says the eminent man of wealth during the course of his little speech on "How to Become as I Am," "I shall never forget how I saved my first hundred dollars."

At this juncture a weary individual in the audience, who has heard this story many times and has read it many times more, interrupts:

"Well, if you can't forget it, for heaven's sake give the rest of us a chance to."—Chicago Post.

A Friendly Tip.

Sapleigh—Would you—er—advise me to—er—marry a beautiful girl or a sensible girl? Hammersley—I'm afraid you'll never be able to marry either, old man. Sapleigh—Why not? Hammersley—Well, a beautiful girl could do better and a sensible girl would know better.—Exchange.

All They Could Find.

"What's all that noise in the next room?"

"My wife and three of her girl friends are trying to play whist with only forty-seven cards in the pack."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

An engineer reports that thirty or forty horsepower can be developed near Claremont.

SHAVING IN ITALY.

The Barber Must Have Used a Cross-cut Saw on This Victim.

Italy may be the land of the flea, but it is not the home of the shave.

The barbers there are generally recruited from the ranks of the butchers or the medical students. They must be able to stand the sight of blood. In the early days of medicine physicians called in barbers to do their bleeding for them.

In Italy a physician now does his own bleeding—if he visits a barber shop first.

Everything is done in an orderly manner in the Latin kingdom. The man who yearns to open a tonsorial parlor appears before the municipality to request his license. No influence is required. He does not have to have a pull. No, he cultivates that later.

"Are you qualified?" demand the city fathers.

"Signori," responds the applicant reproachfully, "does not my father own a horse, and have I not curried it every Sunday? Besides, I have worked in the stockyards."

"Bene," reply the license givers. "You are indeed suited in every way. Here are your shaving papers. Go forth and scrape acquaintance with the strangers within our gates, but cut only distant acquaintances. To cut your friends is bad form and bad for 'em."

Then, if the happy neophyte has the tin, he opens up a dissecting parlor. The tin is necessary for razor blades.

One Italian traveler was heard to remark: "I now believe that the martyr St. Luke was skinned alive. I know the man who skinned him. He shaved me this morning." Twelve good men and true looked at his face and then gave their verdict. He was a truthful man.

When a customer enters an Italian barber shop he is escorted politely to an operating chair. The back of the chair is stationary, but the headrest lets down to a remarkable degree. The result is that while the applicant's hips and knees are bent to an angle of ninety degrees his neck stretches so that his head makes an acute angle with his back, his chin pointing directly at the ceiling. It requires long practice for stout gentlemen to become comfortable in this position.

Then the operator dips his brush in ice water and brushes it lightly across the soap. He then, with a playful air, dampens his customer's beard as if to say, "This is really unnecessary, but I yield to the prejudices of a stranger." No, he never rubs the soap in—he might produce a lather. Then comes the major operation. Afterward the face is washed with a shaving brush full of cold water, and then the powder is applied; no, not talcum powder—powdered alum.

When the damages have thus been temporarily repaired the victim raises his head—if he is still able—and has a coat of brilliantine applied to his hair. He then totters home and, after his wife has fainted at sight of him, resolves to raise a mustache, sideburns, galways and a full beard. The barber, meanwhile having washed up the gore, seats himself in front of his shop and smiles benignly on the passerby. No, Italy is not the land of the shave, although it may be the home of the flea.—New York Sun.

A $50,000 Fire.

Pottsville, Pa., March 20.—Fire on Friday night destroyed the breaker of the St. Clair Coal Co. at St. Clair, near here, causing damage estimated at $50,000. Much valuable machinery was ruined and 1,200 men will be prevented from working in the mine for six months.

Taft as Dove.

Augusta, Ga., March 20.—President Taft has followed with keenest interest the discussion of the last few days in the British Parliament on the subject of the international arbitration treaty proposed by him. He is delighted with the manner in which the proposal has been received in Great Britain, as indicated in the speeches of Sir Edward Grey and Mr. Balfour.

The President is extremely hopeful that the treaty may be adopted by both countries, and believes it will be a great step toward the abolition of war. And with war practically impossible between the two great English-speaking nations, there is every reason to hope, according to the President's view, that other nations may come into such an agreement and thus make for universal peace.

In some quarters there has been an impression that the proposed treaty involved an offensive and defensive alliance between Great Britain and the United States. This is an error. The treaty is a broad one, however, and proposes that all disputes, including even those of national honor and territory, shall be settled in an arbitration.

British approval of the proposed peace pact has not come to the President as a surprise. In all of his recent conferences with the British Ambassador, Mr. Bryce, the President was led to believe that the treaty would be received in just the spirit that the press despatches of the past few days from London have indicated.

Germany Warns Britain.

Berlin, March 20.—"Die Post" editorially warns Britain against an arbitration treaty with the United States of America, declaring that it would threaten Britain's world supremacy and the only effect would be that of driving Canada and the Indies and Australia into the wide opened arms of Uncle Sam.

Both Much Improved.

Ottawa, March 20.—Sir Elzear Taschereau, former chief justice of Canada, who is suffering from a stroke of apoplexy, and Mr. Justice Girouard of the Supreme Court, injured in a runaway accident two weeks ago, whose condition was serious, are both reported as somewhat improved.

How a Local Young Man Made Money

There are many people in and around the City of Peterborough who have money, looking for investment, who prefer a safe investment, such as bonds or low rate of interest, to investing in mortgages or other securities which require special judgment in selecting, and constant and careful watching to avoid loss. To such we would commend the following result to their careful consideration—

A young man of the City of Peterborough had his life insured sixteen years ago last January for Ten Thousand Dollars ON A SINGLE PAYMENT 15-YEAR ENDOWMENT PLAN. The premium paid was $6,460.00. On the 31st of January, 1910, the company paid him $12,116.00 in cash, after giving him fifteen years of free insurance. What do you think of that as an investment?

Are bonds or municipal debentures, or even the best mortgages, to be compared with it, when you consider that the risk of the life was carried during the 15 years? And remember, the security is as safe as any debenture or mortgage, and there was no trouble or expense entailed of any kind after the initial investment.

The above result was obtained from the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, under policy No. 47340, W.H.B.

DATE OF INSTALLATION OF CHIMES IS DRAWING NEAR

King's Birthday or Coronation Day May See Inauguration Ceremony

Late information from John Taylor Company, Loughborough, is to the effect that the eleven bells of the original order from this city, were cast and two more extra bells, recently ordered, under way.

The frame for the bells will be of oak and steel, and the whole work of installation will likely be completed within one month or six weeks. This will it is hoped, suggest the advisability of the prompt payment of the few unpaid subscriptions, a number of which have recently been sent in.

The church tower has been carefully examined by engineers and masons who found it solidly built and pronounced it fully equal to the great extra strain.

It will, however, be strengthened by steel rods as a further precaution. The Toronto Globe recognizing the importance of the event, has arranged to devote an illustrated magazine section to the inauguration ceremony and illustrations of the church, bells and city.

The ceremony will take place on the first holiday after the receiving of the bells, possibly on the King's birthday or more probably on Coronation Day, when it is expected that the municipal and military authorities will participate.

GET OUT OF CONVENTIONAL RUTS SAYS CANON DAVIDSON

In Speaking on Echoes of the Toronto Mission

Cultivate Warmth and Enthusiasm He Urges

At the evening service at St. John's yesterday the subject taken by the rector, Rev. Canon Davidson, was "Echoes of the Toronto Mission," in which twenty-eight churches had co-operated. The preacher said that while it was impossible to tabulate results, it was generally agreed that the net effects had been far beyond the most sanguine expectations. He pictured different sides of the mission operations in different parshesi, and especially of the one at which he was in charge St. Cyprian's. Remarkable power had been visibly exerted, in many different ways, and the effect at times was most thrilling. The informal and unconventional nature of the services had done much to stir the lethargic members of the church out of the rut of ordinary religion, which threatened to become formal and mechanical. He referred to the support received by him from Peterborough citizens and former members of St. John's, who had rallied around him, with all the admirable loyalty, which was characteristic of Peterborough people when fellow-citizens were concerned. In conclusion he drew attention to the fact that much of the power of the mission came from the attendance and co-operation of the congregations. Rev. Mr. Davidson said it was in the power of the members of any congregation to put themselves in a definite receptive attitude and yielding spirit, and to be definitely responsive to appeals which were made, and directions given by their leader. In this way preachers were stimulated and a spirit of enthusiasm and warmth was generated. A more general effort should be made to get out of conventional ruts; to put away society stiffness and coolness in the house of a loving Father, and to cultivate the warmth and enthusiasm of religion, by which the cause of God was intended to go forward victoriously.

THE DEATH OF W. E. WILLIAMS

Had Been Well Known Visitor Here As Representative of English Firm

Mr. Robt. Fair received the sad intelligence this morning from Manchester, Eng., that W. E. Williams, who had represented the firm of Messrs. Rylands & Sons, of Manchester, and who had made semi-annual trips to this city for the past eighteen years, was dead at his home in Montbelle Beach road, Stockport. His death occurred during the first week in March.

The late Mr. Williams was well known in the city, and he was one of the regular attendants at the excursions of the Olympic Club. He was one of the survivors of the "Scotsmen" which was wrecked off the coast of Belle Isle, some nine years ago. He made friends wherever his business called him, and will now be greatly missed. His illness extended over a period of from nine to ten months. A widow and one son survive.

OBITUARY

The Late James Madill

At the grand old age of four-score and ten years, James Madill passed away this morning at the residence of his son, William Madill, 554 Aylmer street. The late Mr. Madill came to this city six weeks ago from Southern Ohio, where he had been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Gadsby, of Marietta. For three weeks he had been confined to his bed, and his passing was that of a man who had lived well, and who had at last answered the final summons, his life's work being done.

He was born in the north of Ireland, and came to this country when but a boy, settling with his parents in Pickering township, and residing in that locality for the greater part of the remainder of his life. Of late he had made his home at Whitby. Four years ago he, and his wife celebrated their diamond wedding anniversary, and in February, 1907, Mrs. Madill passed away.

It had been his custom for some years to come to this city and visit his son, and on each occasion won many friends, who will regret to hear of his demise. Surviving are six sons and one daughter, who are Messrs. Thomas, of Syracuse; John, of St. Catherines; Benjamin, James, and Walter, of Toronto; William, of this city, and Mrs. Gadsby, of Marietta, Ohio.

On Wednesday morning at 10.30 o'clock a service will be held at the home of Mr. William Madill, 554 Aylmer street and the remains will be taken to the G.T.R. station, where they will be sent on to Whitby, on arrival of the 11.45 train. Interment will take place at Whitby.

Death of Mrs. Costello

Mrs. Mary Loretta McAuliffe, wife of Albert Costello, died at an early hour this morning at her home, 271 McDonnel street, after a lingering illness. She was 27 years of age and is survived by a husband and three children, and two brothers, one in Regina and one in Calgary. The funeral will take place to-morrow morning at nine o'clock to St. Peter's cathedral and thence to St. Martin's cemetery. Mrs. Costello's death is mourned by many warm friends.

Douro Resident Dead

The death occurred at Douro Saturday of Mrs. William Moher. Her husband predeceased her about three years ago.

The funeral was held yesterday afternoon to St. Joseph's church, Douro, and thence to St. Joseph's cemetery.

PLEADED FOR THE MINISTRY

A Noble Calling — Eloquent Sermon by Rev. G.W. Henderson

Rev. G. W. Henderson, of Charlotte St. Methodist church, made a strong plea for the profession of the ministry in his sermon last night, as an introduction to the educational sermons which will be preached in Charlotte St. church next Sunday by two noted divines, who specialize along educational lines. He divided his discourse in the following divisions: Conversion, Call, culture.

Taking as his text Eph. 15, 16, "Be ye a minister," he traced the necessary conditions and proceedings which follow after a young man has been called of God to the ministry.

In the first case, that of conversion, it is necessary for a man to be thoroughly convinced that he is a child of God, and to experience the second birth described in His word.

Next, he must be convinced that he has been called of God to enter the ministry, and not go into it as a matter of choice. It is better for a man to dig ditches all his life than by mistake find his way into the ministry.

Thirdly, the aspirant for the calling of God must possess a natural ability of high standing, in order to be successful in the work of the ministry.

The sermon was well delivered, and thoughtful, and made a deep impression on the congregation.

SUNDAY RUNAWAY CAUSED DAMAGE

Livery Rig Out of Commission—Occupants Thrown Out

One of Jones Bros. livery rigs was badly smashed and three young men who were in it had narrow escapes yesterday afternoon when the horse which they were driving took fright and ran away.

The horse was passing the Salvation Army band at the corner of Hunter and George Streets. In front of Knox store it fell, and rolled completely over, and it was here the three occupants were pitched on to the muddy road. Two went out on one side and one on the other. Fortunately none was seriously injured.

The affrighted animal continued down George Street, and in front of Richard Halls' store careered against a telegraph post, and it was here the rig received its damages. The top was completely ripped off, and one of the shafts broken.

The animal slackening its speed somewhat at this point and a passer by ran out and brought it to a halt.

The injury to the vehicle will amount to considerable, and the three occupants have much to be thankful for in escaping as safely as they did.

FINED $20 FOR ASSAULT

Magisterial Hand Falls Heavy on Scrappy Young Man

He May Have to Face Other Charges for Misconduct

A well known local youth was fined $20 this morning by Magistrate Dumble for assaulting, without provocation, and badly disfiguring another young man on the night of March 14th, in a local hotel.

G. N. Gordon appeared for the complainant and F. D. Kerr for the defendant.

ROUGH TREATMENT.

The complainant was the first to be heard. His story was to the effect that on the night in question he was at the bar with others, when a dispute arose between himself and the bartender. While they were arguing the defendant came up and struck him with his fists, without any warning, and followed him out into the yard, where he persisted in striking him. He (the complainant) tried to defend himself as best he could. As a result of the conflict he had had both eyes blackened, a tooth broken, and had required a doctor's services.

He also said that he had never seen his assailant until that night.

Dr. Amys was called and gave evidence as to the condition of the injuries received by the complainant.

SAW BLOWS DELIVERED

A spectator of the mix-up, or at least part of it, said that he saw the defendant strike several of the blows. The first time he hit him he knocked him down. The complainant rose, only to be laid low again. The spectators, so the witness said, had then interfered. Later, when the witness went out of the hotel, he saw the two still fighting further up the street.

From the other evidence submitted it appears that the complainant called the bartender several vile names. It was then that the defendant had committed the assault.

COMPLAINANT WAS NOISY.

The proprietor of the hotel was called by the prosecution, and stated that on the night in question the complainant was in the bar, and was very noisy. He had called the bartender some nasty names, and he (the witness) had tried to pacify him, but he refused to listen. The defendant then came over, and a mix-up occurred. Witness had separated them, showing one out into the yard, and the other into a side room.

The magistrate, in passing judgment, said that a man who goes around from bar-room to bar-room and constantly getting drunk, must court the consequences, and in the case of the defendant considered the assault to have been unwarranted and vicious. The fine and costs amounted to $28.10.

ANOTHER CHARGE.

A charge was laid against the complainant for being guilty of disorderly conduct on the same night, and using abusive language to the bartender. He paid two dollars.

It is understood that more charges will be laid against the defendant in the case tried this morning.

MEETS MONDAY EVENING

Court Langton holds regular meeting, Monday, 20th at 8 o'clock. All brethren requested to attend. Initiation of candidates. W. J. Tranter, C. R.

A Popular Rendezvous

The passing through of the 4.30 C. P.R. train on Sunday afternoon is apparently an event of great importance in Peterborough. Yesterday afternoon the platform at the station was literally packed with people waiting to see the train come in. The Bow Wow minstrels who left the city on the same train livened things a little also, by some of their vocal efforts.

ENCOURAGING MEETING OF THE ANTI-CIGARETTE CRUSADE

Many Boys Listen Attentively to the Speakers—Why a Scout Does Not Smoke Cigarettes!

The attendance at the anti-cigaret meeting at St. Andrew's church yesterday afternoon must have been very encouraging to those who are promoting a crusade against the use of cigarets by boys in this city.

A large number of the Boy Scouts were present, and also a number of ladies and men.

Rev. W. C. Riddiford presided and with him on the platform were Rev. Jas. Rollins, Rev. H. J. Keith, J. E. L. Goodwell, secretary of Children's Aid Society, and F. Tait, secretary of the Boy's departmemnt of the Y.M.C.A.

The meeting proved to be interesting and the short addresses full of good advice for the boys.

A recitation, "The Boys of To-day are the Men of To-morrow," was given by Palmer Wiley, and Harold Armstrong, gave an address on "Why a Scout Does Not Smoke," and which is given in full as follows:

WHY SCOUTS DON'T SMOKE.

I intend to state as clearly and briefly as possible the reasons why scouts don't smoke.

As nearly everyone knows, Sir Robt. Baden-Powell is the founder of the scout movement, and the author of a book giving advice and instruction to every scout. As a successful general, and chief promoter of the scout movement, he has won the admiration of almost every boy in the British Empire, and particularly of the scouts. Therefore, it is only natural that any words of advice from this great man, who has given so much of his time for the boys, should have great influence among them. In his book entitled; "Scouting for Boys," he warns the boys against smoking. Not only does he urge the boys to keep from using cigarets, but he makes the following statement; "Scouts do not smoke." This means that in his opinion any boy who smokes is not a scout, whether or not he may be wearing the scout uniform. On these subjects Baden-Powell's word in law among the scouts so that any boy who wishes to be, or even be considered a scout, will not smoke.

Besides this for a scout to smoke would be in direct contradiction to his motto. Our scout motto is, "Be Prepared," and being wholly prepared necessitates strength and alertness of spirit, body, and mind. We scouts realize that smoking would not help us, but that it would impair the health of mind and body. So, we see that the use of cigarets would prevent a scout from living up to his motto.

That smoking does injure the health we have the word of all physicians, and of many, many men who have themselves been injured through using tobacco.

Only a few months ago the Government officials in charge of applications for positions in the navy were forced to reject 75 per cent. of the applications on account of moving picture eyes, or what is more dreadful, the cigaret heart. For two reasons this report has much influence among the scouts.

It shows that smoking makes a fellow unfit to defend his country. Although the patriotic scouts fervently hope they will never be called upon to defend the borders of their beloved Canada, yet the fact that smoking would render him unfit to take part in any engagement against a foreign invader, strengthens their determination never to use cigarets.

Then too this report shows that smoking effects the heart. The heart is the most important organ of our body, for it receives the impure blood, purifies it, and sends it fresh and clean to build up every part of the body. Because smoking injures the heart it injures every part of the body and breaks down one's health. There are many reasons why a scout wishes to have good health, but the greatest reason is this. Next to our motto, the watchword of the scout is "Service," and we believe that a good healthy boy is of far more use to the world than one whose health has been run down by smoking, or any other form of intemperance.

A scout, as his name suggests, needs to have almost perfect eyesight, and is very careful to avoid anything which will injure or weaken it in any way. Smoking weakens the eyes, and as a fellow with poor eyesight is almost useless in actual scouting, any boy who hopes to be a good practical scout will not smoke.

Besides aiming to have good health and presence of mind, the boy scouts pride themselves on their good common sense. Perhaps the possession of this quality has more to do with keeping the boys from smoking than anything else, for it enables them to see the arguments for and against smoking in their true light. By the use of it they see that there is absolutely nothing to be gained by smoking, and that through smoking very much is lost.

By the application of common sense they realize that it is not for the pleasure of the thing that a boy learns to smoke, but because he foolishly imagines that it makes him look more like a man. As a matter of fact a more foolish object can hardly be conceived than a boy slouching or swaggering about with a half-smoked cigaret in his mouth.

As a summary one may say that smoking deadens and weakens the faculties that a scout needs most, it impairs the health of mind and body, and makes a scout altogether unfit for service.

This is why no scout ever smokes cigarets.

The addresses by Mr. Tait, and Mr. Goodwill followed.

Mr. Tait explained to the boys how they would without smoking be stronger in body, mind and spirit. He urged that the habit of forming good habits be undertaken by all the boys.

Mr. Goodwill's remarks were along general lines as with the other speakers. The boys gave an attentive hearing to the many fine points he brought out.

A FARMER ON RECIPROCITY

The Toronto News has received the following interesting letter from a farmer on reciprocity:

To the Editor. Being interested in your voting contests on reciprocity and the whole country debating and discussing the question and arousing more interest and excitement than any political question discussed for many years, your correspondent happened to be at a sawing bee held on the farm of F. S. Armstrong, Sunnidale road.

After supper a vote was taken on reciprocity, resulting as follows:—Against, 16; for, 3. All who voted were farmers.

Some of the argument used against reciprocity were:

1st. What benefit would it be, or what kind of all-around fair play would it be to the millers and farmers of Canada to have the duty taken off wheat, and 50 cents a barrel duty left on flour. The Yankees would certainly have the best end of the stick, for our wheat would then be manufactured in American mills employing American labor, and destroying all our smaller mills and our flour market in England, which is and commands the best price of any flour in the world.

2nd. It would destroy our western horse market, a market which now requires from this province nearly 25,000 horses every season, and will require double that amount in the course of a few more years.

3rd. It will leave our small industries of 7,000,000 people, to a great extent, at the mercy of 100,000,000 people, who have been for a hundred years protected by the highest tariff walls in the world, and which to-day have oil trusts, and steel trusts, and pork trusts, and beef trusts, and implement trusts and all other kinds of combines and trusts, without equal in the world, and who to-day, with their billions of dollars, could crush our little industries out of sight in six months under free trade. It is said there is one man alone at the head of each of these gigantic trusts who has capital enough of his own to buy up all the wheat that could be grown in Canada for four or five years. Did you ever hear of the Armours, and Leiters, and Pattens cornering the wheat markets of the United States? What would they do if we had free trade? Talk about the barley market, why, there are hundreds, yes, thousands, of Canadian farmers who will tell you they can make $1.00 a bushel on their barley by feeding it. Then, why ship or sell it to the Yankees for 80 or 85 cents? No, sir; Canada is not for sale. The free trade agitators of to-day are the agitators or descendants of Canadian agitators for the past hundred years. Canada defeated all those measures in the past. Canada will defeat it again. The News is doing a noble work. Stand to your guns, for England, and Canada, this day expects every loyal man to do his duty.

THE GREAT QUESTION ? Of Spring Attire

What is going to be worn, and what particular style or shade is most suitable, are two questions that confront almost every woman at this season of the year. A visit to our store will very easily solve the problem for you.

Individual Suitings

Here is an opportunity for the woman who wants "Something Exclusive." There are no two patterns alike. There are checks, stripes and diagonal weaves, in greys—cream with black stripe—black, blue, cream, brown, etc., with the favorite pin stripe—the new homespun effects, and many others which space will not permit us to mention. These are all of English, Scotch and French manufacture, and represent the best display we have ever shown.

French Silk Foulards

The preference for Foulards this spring makes the mention of our complete stock unusually interesting. In black, green, navy, king's blue, etc. We are showing a splendid array in spot, diamond, ring and two-tone effects. These are all shower-proof.

New Laces and Trimmings

Laces are extensively used this season to garnish the new gowns, and we are well prepared for the great demand. Every fashionable trimming is there in every desirable kind and color.

New Motor Veils

Imported direct from Paris, France. Colors white, black, cream, champagne, grey, pink, sky and navy. Ask to see them, they are very pretty.

Custom Tailoring and Dressmaking Dept.

We are pleased to say this department has earned the WELL DESERVED PRAISE of all its patrons. To avoid disappointment, orders for Easter should be sent in without delay.

Spring Millinery Exposition

This has proved MORE THAN any mere FASHION DISPLAY, as evidenced by the great number of women who have already found and claimed the distinctive model that seems made for them alone. Shapes are varied as woman's needs. Hats of dainty tailored charm, with just the right simplicity for the walking suit, side by side with the Picture Hat, makes a delightful study, each striking some new note, and embodying some new ideal of elegance. We extend an invitation to all to come and see the season's latest productions.

FAREWELL TO CHURCH WORKER

Presentation of Framed Photograph to Mr. H. Long

A large number of men of the congregation of St. John's met last night at the close of the service to bid farewell to Mr. Harry Long, who leaves to-day for Alberta, where he will spend the summer. The rector presented Mr. Long with a framed photograph of the church and referred to his distinguished services not only to the congregation, but to the congregation, but to the church at large. Mr. Long in rising to reply was warmly received by those present.

An interesting discussion afterwards took place in regard to the progressive work of the church, and what could be done in the way of improvement. Much enthusiasm prevailed.

SHOOTING AND BOWLING

At Yeotes' Gallery

The target shooting contests which are held weekly in Yeotes Bros.' gallery, George street, are becoming more interesting each week. Last week there was a seven-handed tie up till Saturday evening, when Mr. Gutterson happened along and with a score of 58 points, out of a possible 60, captured the prize, which was a box of Bachelor cigars. Following are the scores—

PROFESSIONAL.

C. Gutterson, 58; A. C. Miller, Jos. Vinette, F. D. Cole, Wm. Gill, G. R. Powell, W. Richmond and C. Callaghan, 57; J. Husoby, A. Chapman, H. Blade, G. Bidgood and D. C. Wills, 56; Geo. McNally, N. Perry, J. Simmons, L. W. Pearson, D. Dennie, P. Gettas, Ed. Doyle, J. T. Bothwell and J. Pearson, 55; T. S. Matthews, Hugh Mackey and A. Davidson, 54.

AMATEUR.

In the amateur contest John Gillespie captured the honors with a score of 59, John Brumwell running second with 58. The first prize was a box of Arabella cigars and the second a pipe. The scores were—

J. Gillespie, 59; J. Brumwell, 58; Earl Edgar, Geo. McNally, Oscar Butlar, Wm. Curtain and C. Taylor, 57; James Wilson, J. Rose, and P. Robson, 56; H. Walsh, J. MacGowan, J. Reynolds, J. Merritt and J. McRae, 55; J. D. Stewart, A. Bouskill, F. Andrews, Jos. Kelbrick, E. Quinlan, 54.

Good prizes are offered for this week's contests.

Peterborough Bowling and Shooting Gallery

The Peterborough Bowling and Shooting Gallery prize-winners on Saturday night were H. Mackie, with a score of 28, won the gold locket. C. Callaghan won the amateur prize—a gold stick pin—with the same score. Mr. Mills won the Waterman fountain pen in the bowling contest, with a score of 216.

The scores in the amateur contest were—J. Martin 22, W. Saxby 22, S. Kerneghan 28, J. Wilson 27, E. Yarrington 22, C. Callaghan 28, H. Kendry 27, W. Stewart 27, E. Bothwell 26, J. McGowan 26, P. Reid 26, C. Hepburn 26, W. Spencer 25.

In the professional shooting the scores were—H. Elliott 27, J. Martin 24, J. Squires 25, E. Hurtubise 24, C. Gutterson 28, H. Moore 25, C. Green 25, C. Murphy 26, H. Mackie 28.

Valuable prizes are awarded to the winners in these contests, and all are welcome to compete.

SKIP FITZGERALD WON CONSOLATION

Was Nine Up Against Skip Stevenson in Final Game

The semi-finals and final of the consolation were played Saturday evening, Skip J. E. A. Fitzgerald and his rink winning out.

Skips Stevenson and Fitzgerald survived after the semi-finals, in which they played Skips Brightman and Wightman respectively, the games being comparatively close and interesting.

In the final game Skip Fitzgerald won from Skip Stevenson by a score of 13 to 4.

This practically finishes the club games for this season, as the ice cannot be depended upon for further use.

Everything considered, this has been a very successful season for the club. Though its representatives in the various contests did not always win, they made a creditable showing, and may put away the stones and dream of the championships to be won another year.

BASEBALL

An outfield job is a cinch, if you know how to play it, writes the famous player, Eddie Collins, in a Philadelphia paper. The problem now narrows itself down to the three infield positions, third, second and short.

The third baseman is the target for many hard-hit and ugly-bounding balls, but he handles fewer chances than any other infielder, and really has only one troublesome play to make, and this can be made easy by his vigilance. The one I refer to is with a left-hander, particularly at bat and a man on second. He must be ready to go in for a bunt or cover the bag in case the runner tries to steal. This leaves short and second to fight it out.

Now, my candid opinion about these two positions may differ from that of many, but I am speaking from experience, and I found it to be so. We speak of all horses as animals, but not necessarily all animals as horses. Just so with the second basemen and shortstops. A shortstop's position is really harder because he is called upon to do practically the same as a second baseman does under more trying conditions. He has to field over greater reaches of ground and make swifter, longer and harder throws than any other infielder. Of course, the second baseman and shortstop are more or less dependent upon each other. One can do much to relieve the obligation of the other, and by this co-operation make each other's work easier.

It has been my province since I entered baseball, which really dates from the time I joined the Athletics in the spring of 1907, to have played four positions, namely, the outfield, third, short and second. My outfield work was a joke, and third I really did not play at all—I just filled in. Second I like; in fact, I enjoy it immensely, and that I've been able to maintain it longer than I did the other positions; but, believe me when I say, shortstop is the hardest job I ever played on a ball team.

UNEXPLORED CANADA.

Vast Areas Where the Foot of a White Man Has Never Trod.

There are vast areas in Canada of which even the government has no definite knowledge, and there are thousands of square miles where the foot of a white man has never trod. Practically all knowledge of this big wild country has been secured again and again along a few chosen and well worn routes, outside of which investigation has seldom gone.

Imagine a dozen or so well beaten vehicle highways traversing a country one-fourth as large as Europe—narrow highways hemmed in by impenetrable wilderness—and one may form some sort of idea of the little that is still known of 600,000 square miles of the North American continent.

Along these routes nearly all "explorers" have gone. Along them are situated most of the fur posts, and beyond their narrow lines but little is known. And in this world of forest and ridge mountains and eternal desolation, still buried in the mystery and silence of endless centuries, are its "people."

Approximately there are from 15,000 to 25,000 human souls in an area fifteen times the size of Ohio, and there are no more than 500 of these who have not some Indian blood in their veins. On the other hand, fully one-half of the total population has its strain of white blood.—Leslie's Weekly.

RAILWAYS IN SPAIN.

Their Methods Are Not Those of the Strenuous Life.

A Spanish railway seems an excellent place for a rest cure. "I remember," writes Mr. S. L. Bensusan, "when going on a short journey in Andalusia, the train that carried me stopped at a short junction. While we were at rest here, after some hours of travel at the rate of at least twelve miles an hour, the driver uncoupled his engine and proceeded down the line with it in the direction we were not to take.

"The passengers walked contentedly up and down, smoked countless cigarettes, ate oranges, resisted the importunities of beggars. At last I became uneasy and asked where the driver had gone. 'Pedro has run down the line on his engine to take a birthday gift to his mother, who lives over there,' explained the station master; 'he is indeed a good son and will not trust his parcel to the post. Spain is full of thieves.' And when the good son had come back from his mission he restored the engine to its proper position and we re-entered the train, which went on its journey after three-quarters of an hour's delay."—London Graphic.

PEOPLE YOU KNOW

They May Not Be Quite So Numerous as You Imagine.

GUESS AS TO THEIR NUMBER.

Then Do Some Thinking and Figuring and See How Far From Your Guess You Come and Incidentally Learn How Many Folks You Don't Know.

Did you ever have the experience of walking down Main street with a man who is running for office? All the time he is bowing right and left to people you meet. Several times in a block he will stop to shake hands with an acquaintance.

"You seem to know every one," you say to him almost enviously.

"That's right," he replies, not without some pride. "I guess I do know everybody worth knowing."

Yet how many people does he know? How many people do you know yourself? Did you ever try to figure it out? What proportion of the people in the United States do you know? Certainly you don't know the one-hundredth part of them. Even the president of the United States doesn't and couldn't if he kept traveling all the time, making a host of new acquaintances every day.

To know the one-hundredth part of the people in this country would be to know in the neighborhood of a million persons. No; it is perfectly safe to say that there is no person in the whole world that knows a million other persons well enough to call each of them by name. Think what a million means! Suppose you said the names of all the people you know as fast as you could. If you could enunciate twenty names a minute you would be doing marvelously well. Even at that rate, working steadily eight hours a day, it would take you nearly four months just to name the people you know. There isn't a memory in existence that would hold a million names.

Well, do you suppose you know a hundred thousand? Let's see; that would be about one-fifth of the population of Rhode Island. Imagine yourself sitting in the railroad station at Providence watching the people come through. No; that is hardly a fair test, for unless you live in Providence you do not know as many people there as in the city in which you live. Sit in your own railway station and count the people coming through. No matter how well known you are or how many people you know, you cannot help but be impressed with the fact of how many people there are that you do not know. If you know one in a hundred persons you know far more than the average.

Let us try to get at it in another way. You make on the average, say, two new acquaintances a week. Of course there are weeks and weeks that you make no new acquaintances at all, and then there are times, such as picnic week and vacation week and church fair week, when you meet a lot of people, so that two a week is a fair average. You have been meeting people, say, for twenty-five years. That's 2,500, isn't it?

Is it possible that you know only 2,500 people? You thought the number would be far more than that? But hold on. You don't know nearly that many. There are lots and lots of people whom you knew twenty years ago that you don't know now. You cannot even remember their names or what they looked like.

Just sit down and try to remember the names of all the boys and girls that were in the same room in the public school with you. You cannot remember half of them or a third of them or a fifth of them. It is safe to say that of every two persons you met in all your life you have forgotten one. The chances are that the number of people you know by name is nearer 1,000 than it is 2,000.

Of course a preacher with a thousand members in his church is expected to know them all by name. But all the same you will find him saying to his wife:

"My dear, who was that young lady who spoke to us just know?"

It is business, too, for a merchant to remember all of his thousand customers, but very few merchants are able to do it. Possibly some of the politicians and public lecturers may know a couple of thousand persons by name, but very few other persons know that many.

If this estimate seems too low it is easily disproved. All you have to do is to take pencil and paper and begin putting down the names of your acquaintances. Start with your own family and then put down your cousins and your second cousins and your wife's relations. Then put down the names of the people you know in the town you used to live in and the people you know socially. Follow that up with the people you know in business, then—

But you can't dispute these figures. It is too much trouble to think of all the people you know. You'll never do it. —New York World.

A Hat and a Head.

"Now, if you follow my advice," said one business man to another as the wind caught the hat of the latter from his head—"if you follow my advice your derby will stay on in any wind that New York can produce. When I buy a new hat I heat it over the gas jet, and while it is still warm I put it on and let it cool on my head. The result is a perfect fit. Try it and see."—New York Sun.

NOT A GAME OF CHANCE.

The Jury Decided That Seven-up Was Purely Scientific.

One of Mark Twain's old time stories concerned the game of seven-up, or old sledge. Some Kentucky boys were arrested for playing this game under the usual charge of playing a game of chance. When they were brought before the judge their lawyer claimed that this game was not a game of chance, but was a game of science. The court, puzzled, asked for a suggestion, and the lawyer declared that if a jury of six gamblers well acquainted with the game in a scientific way and six deacons be impaneled with a pack of cards their decision ought to be determinative. So the story goes:

"There was no disputing the fairness of the proposition. Four deacons and the two dominies were sworn in as the 'chance' jurymen, and six inveterate old seven-up professors were chosen to represent the 'science' side of the issue. They retired to the jury room.

"In about two hours Deacon Peters sent into court to borrow $3 from a friend. In about two hours more Dominie Miggles sent into court to borrow a 'stake' from a friend. During the next three or four hours the dominie and the other deacons sent into court for small loans.

"The rest of the story can be told briefly. About daylight the jury came in, and Deacon Job, the foreman, read the following verdict:

"'We, the jury in the case of the commonwealth of Kentucky versus John Wheeler et al., have carefully considered the points of the case and tested the merits of the several theories advanced and do hereby unanimously decide that the game commonly known as old sledge, or seven-up, is eminently a game of science and not of chance. In demonstration whereof it is hereby and herein stated, iterated, reiterated, set forth and made manifest that during the entire night the "chance" men never won a game or turned a jack, although both feats were common and frequent to the opposition, and furthermore in support of this our verdict we call attention to the significant fact that the "chance" men are all broke and the "science" men have got the money. It is the deliberate opinion of this jury that the "chance" theory concerning seven-up is a pernicious doctrine and calculated to inflict untold suffering and pecuniary loss upon any community that takes stock in it.'"

SLEEPING SICKNESS.

The Grip This Dreadful Disease Takes Upon Its Victims.

The course of the dreadful disease, sleeping sickness, is an extremely slow one. The first stage is said to last a year or more, and the cause of the disease may be in the blood long before any symptoms whatever present themselves. The patient has occasional fever; indeed, a disease hitherto called Gambia fever has recently been recognized as the first stage of sleeping sickness. It is said that the swelling of the lymphatic glands of the neck is a characteristic early symptom. This was known in 1803 to Dr. Winterbottom, who states that slave traders, recognizing the symptom of a fatal disease, would not buy slaves who had this glandular enlargement. The patient feels well and strong and is able to go about his usual occupations.

The second stage is indicated by a distinct change in the appearance of the patient. His expression grows heavy and dull; he becomes apathetic, lies around a great deal and cannot exert himself. With the progress of the disease these symptoms become more marked; walking and speech become difficult and finally impossible. During the last week the sufferer lies in a state of complete coma, from which the illness derives its name. Often during the second stage of the disease the brain becomes affected, and some of the patients try to run away into the forests or swamps, where they die of exposure or starvation. To prevent this the relatives of a sufferer frequently chain him down until the time comes when he can no longer move.—McClure's Magazine.

Some Famous Men of Old.

The "nine worthies" were Joshua, David, Judas Maccabeus, Hector of Troy, Alexander the Great, Julius Caesar, King Arthur of Britain, Charlemagne of France and Godfrey of Bouillon. The list varies somewhat, but this is the most popular one. The "seven wise men of Greece" were Solon, Thales, Pittacus, Bias, Cleobolus, Myson and Cheilon of Sparta. The supposition is, of course, that these were not the only wise men in Greece, but the wisest.—New York American.

The report of the potash deposits in the neighborhood of Goderich, which caused some excitement a few weeks ago, has not resulted so far in any definite developments.

OVER-WORKED KIDNEYS

Cause, Rush of Blood, Fullness, Dizziness.

J. T. Chetland, the well-known railway engineer of Hamilton, found the strain always resting upon men of his occupation vastly intensified by a tendency of the blood to rush to his head, and often at times when clearness of vision and great steadiness were demanded. Finding some difficulty in bending—a stiffness with pain having settled in his back, it occurred to him that his kidneys might be at fault. "This was a happy idea, for by it I not only got rid of the pain but many other troubles as well. I took a full dose of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and was glad to note that some obstruction of the kidneys, which I had lately noticed, was at once relieved. The flushed appearance of my face gave way to a more rational color and there was a perceptible improvement in my appetite. Dr. Hamilton's Pills certainly act splendidly upon the blood, removing heat and fulness and that sort of dizziness that makes a man at the throttle wish when it siezes him that he were elsewhere."

No medicine gives such unquestionably good results for stomach, liver, and blood troubles as Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they are mild, certain, and always curative. Refuse any substitute. All dealers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c per box, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

THE MAN WHO WINS

International Harvest World

The man who wins is the man who works—
The man who toils, while the next man shirks;
The man who stands in his deep distress
With his head held high in the deadly press.
Yes, he is the man who wins.

The man who wins is the man who knows
The value of pain and the worth of woes,
Who a lesson learns from the man who fails
And a moral finds in his mournful wails;
Yes, he is the man who wins.

The man who wins is the man who stays
In the unsought paths and the rocky ways;
And, perhaps, who lingers now and then,
To help some failure to rise again.
Ah! he is the man who wins!

And the man who wins is the man who hears
The curse of the envious in his ears,
But who goes his way with his head held high
And passes the wrecks of the failures by—
For he is the man who wins.

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—All being well in two weeks' time the world famed Sheffield Choir will be in our city. I notice in the press that a number of cities will give the visitors receptions. Next Saturday, March 25th, the choir will land at St. John, N.B., and the band of the 3rd Regiment of Artillery will meet them on the arrival of S. S. Victorian. His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of the Province, will attend the opening concert there, and an official welcome will be given them by the mayor of St. John and city officials. The Canadian Club will hold a reception and banquet. At Ottawa, Winnipeg, Brandon, Regina, Moose Jaw, Calgary and Edmonton, the Boards of Trade and city authorities are entertaining the Sheffielders. Saskatoon is providing two hundred motor cars to show them around that wonderful thriving and youthful city. What will Peterborough do in the way of entertaining the visitors? Understand, the Choir expect to arrive in the city Sunday morning, April 2nd, will be two days' visit to this city. I think the Board of Trade and City Council should tender an address of welcome to the distinguished visitors.

HAVELOCK HAPPENINGS

Special Correspondence.

Havelock, March 18.

Miss Margaret Seeney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Seeney, of town, was married at Marmora on Wednesday last to Mr. John B. Bannon, of Round Lake. Their many friends unite with us in wishing them every happiness.

Miss Isabel F. White, daughter of Mr. Matthew White, was married in Norwood on Wednesday last to Mr. John Johnston. The young couple, who were attended by Miss Ethel Clarke, of Preneveau, and Mr. Charles White, brother of the bride, will reside in town, and their many friends extend to them heartiest wishes for a long and happy wedded life.

Mrs. Roe, of Cobourg, mother of Mrs. (Dr.) Holdcroft, of town, passed away in that town on Sunday last, from the effects of la grippe. The funeral took place at Niagara-on-the-Lake on Tuesday, and was attended by Dr. and Mrs. Holdcroft.

Sabra Evelyn, the one-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Steenburgh, of Cold Springs, N.Y., died from infantile paralysis while on the train en route to Havelock on Wednesday last. The child was not well when Mrs. Steenburgh left Cold Springs, but it was not thought that the sickness was serious. Mrs. Steenburgh arrived on the noon train, and the funeral will take place from the residence of Mr. Wm. H. Steenburgh, Rockdale, on Friday afternoon.

Mr. Bound received a telegram on Tuesday, informing him of the sad news that his partner, Mr. Frank Carter, who has been ill for some time at his home in Brighton, from tuberculosis, was dying.

Miss Chandler, of Norwood, has been engaged by the School Board for the second room in the school, and Miss Riordan, of Bellevelle, for the primary room.

Miss Blanche Graham, of Hastings, was the guest of Miss Edna Marchand last week.

Mr. Alex. Primrose, of town, was in Warkworth last week, conducting a piano sale.

Mrs. F. Sawyer and Mrs. C. W. Holdsworth are visiting friends in Peterborough.

Mrs. D. Tomlinson left on Wednesday to join her husband in New Liskeard.

Mr. Henry Holcombe, of Chattertown, was visiting friends in town last week.

Mr. Lamb, of Otonabee, was in town on Friday.

Miss Margaret McDonald, of Peterborough, was in town on Friday.

Mr. Christopher Howson, of Keene, was the guest of his nephew, Dr. H. C. Kindred, last week.

Rev. C. W. Holdsworth conducted Lenten services in Campbellford, on Friday night last.

Miss Ethel Collins, of Hastings, and Miss Maggie Hoare, of Norwood, were the guests of their aunt, Mrs. E. Weese, last week.

Mrs. J. L. Gerow, of Carman, Man., who has been the guest of her brother Mr. John Seeney, for the past two months, returned to her home last week.

Victor A. Harshaw, who has been the superintendent of the C.P.R. division between Toronto and Smith Falls, was transferred to the Atlantic division of the railway. He will be succeeded by Mr. R. King, superintendent of the Atlantic division.

John Finley, of Tweed, has got a situation on the C.P.R. and will reside in Havelock.

The members of the Presbyterian choir will hold a social on Friday evening, 24th inst, in the manse.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Swan had a narrow escape from death on Monday night, when only the skilful efforts of the physicians saved them from poison, caused by partaking of canned salmon.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Fowler, who have been the guests of their son for the past two weeks, have returned to their home in Peterborough.

Miss Cleo Fowler, of town, is visiting friends in Peterborough.

Rev. C. W. Holdsworth will conduct a cottage meeting in the Oak Lake school house on Tuesday evening.

IN SOCIETY

The Lethbridge Herald of a recent date contains the following item that will be of interest to the many friends of the bride in this city. Mrs. Shepherd, who was Miss Ethel Dixon, of Maple Creek, Sask., attended Whitby College for three years and spent most of her vacation in Peterborough, with her uncle Mr. A. E. Dixon, and Miss Dixon.

Mrs. S. J. Shepherd's artistic and delightful drawing rooms were thronged during the receiving hours on Saturday with prettily gowned women and girls who took the first opportunity of welcoming so pleasant and charming a bride to the social circles of the city.

Mrs. Shepherd greeted her visitors at the entrance of the drawing room wearing her exquisite wedding robe of ivory duchesse satin entraine with seed pearls and silver fringe outlining a deep tunic of dew drop net; from the shoulders fell a quaint diaphaneous cape of real Venetian and Duchess lace to the hem of the gown.

Mrs. John Dixon, of Maple Creek, Sask., and Mrs. J. A. Palmer, of Calgar, mother and sister of the hostess, received with her.

Mrs. Dixon looked very lovely wearing a handsome gown of dove satin with draped skirt; the bodice was adorned with rare embroidered cream lace and rich irridescent passementerie.

Mrs. Palmer donned for the occasion a graceful gown of palest heiltrope silk, the underskirt being of the same shade but of heavy satin striped silk. The fetching little sleeves and chemisette were developed of daintily embroidered white chiffon.

Mrs. W. A. Buchanan led the way to the tea room. She was becomingly gowned in black and white satin foulard with Dresden bandings tinging from lavender to palest rose tones on whiet satin background. Soft folds of paddy green satin gave a distinct touch to the gown which was worn with a Gainsborough hat of black panne velvet.

A shower of Enchantress carnations and jardiniers filled with sword ferns lent additional beauty to the spacious drawing room. The wee door attendant, Master Harold Palmer, of Calgary who also had the distinction of scattering blossoms before the bridal party at the wedding, wore a cunning Russian suit of white serge.

In the tea room the same colors, green and yellow, that appeared in the wedding decoration, were used most attractively. A cloth of Florentine lace partially covered the polished mahogany board and ropes of smilax fell from the electrolier to the edges of the table and were held in place by lovers' [illegible] of maise tulle. An odd shaped b[illegible]ndelebra holding lighted tape[illegible]pped with filigreed brass shad[illegible]med the centre adornment and [illegible]ut glass vases holding golden da[illegible] lent additional loveliness to [illegible]ard. Mrs. R. Kellogg poured [illegible] wearing a smart gown of G[illegible]ue Rajah and attractive black [illegible]ed chapeau.

Mrs. H. J. Good [illegible]ooking exceedingly well in palest gray crepe heavily braided and striking large black hat draped with deep cream lace, caught by a cluster of full blown roses embedded in their foliage, presided at the tea urn.

Miss Shepherd, of Calgary assisted, in the tea room. She wore a charming Princess gown of robin egg crepe de chine with touches of silver. Little Miss Ruth Dixon, of Maple Creek, Mrs. Shepherd's cousin, also assisted. She wore a facinating frock of maise dotted silk mull over soft yellow satin with trimmings of heavy ecru insertion and pale yellow hose and slippers.

UNSELFISH WORKERS

Toronto Saturday Night.

Tom Crothers, of West Elgin, recently inserted in the St. Thomas papers an advertisement asking his electors to send him their views upon the reciprocity agreement, and he declares that some of the replies have made him prouder than ever of his birthright of Canadian citizenship. While a majority of the men, who responded to the invitation to express their views, opposed the pact, that was not the most comforting feature of the hundreds of letters which poured in. What makes Mr. Crothers proud is the fact that many poor men in his riding, struggling for the necessities of life, wrote long letters denouncing the bargain, because it was a step backward in the race of nationhood, that it would interfere with inter-provincial trade, and do much to destroy the effects of the policy under which the Dominion has been riveted together. It comes as a breath of fresh air in this fetid atmosphere of reciprocity talk, to find that struggling laborers, working for their pittance of $1.50 a day are interested in such things as inter-provincial trade, and the future of the long lateral lines of east and west railways. When men who are wondering where the next pair of boots for little Johnnie is to come from, can discuss and consider intelligently such questions as these, it will be a long time ere the Stars and Stripes fly "from the frozen fastnesses of the Arctic north to the sandy plains of the Popocatapetl."

The Guest's Gratitude

It is not an unusual thing in this country of ours, with social conditions such as they are in our towns and cities, for young men to repeatedly accept the hospitality of this, that and the other home without feeling under any obligation to the hostess.

A certain class of young men, indeed, seem to think the obligation is the other way round, and that the honor conferred by his presence is an equivalent for the hospitality enjoyed. It was such a one as that who caused a certain hostess to explain: "I'm sick of him; he's nothing but a sponge."

The "sponge," however, is in the minority—there are not many of him. Oftener than not the seemingly ungrateful young man is only thoughtless and needs his sense of values adjusted and his feeling of chivalrousness quickened. Sometimes he is lazy and sometimes he is stingy, and sometimes he just does not know exactly how to show what he feels. There are many very delicate and thoughtful ways in which he may express his gratitude for hospitality shown. Appropriate flowers at Christmas or Easter, or, indeed at any time, are always welcome to any woman. If he cares to do more, he can in turn be the host with his former hostess as chaperon at some skating or tobogganing or picnic party, with a meal at one of the comfortable inns in the outskirts of the city.

In a city like Toronto, with its thousands of students, there is much entertainment done for the stranger within our gates, who can, at least, speak his thanks, or if possible, make some small return for his social indebtedness.

No really hospitable woman looks for it, or has a thought of return when she entertains, but she does value when it comes any expression of appreciation.

Abbott In the Soo?

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., March 18.—Glancing over a Toronto paper last evening a well-known citizen of the Soo, who claims acquaintanceship with Charles Abbott, the missing Toronto butcher, said: "I met Abott on the street here yesterday and conversed with him. I have since learned that he had only $40 in his possession when he left Toronto, which would be about enough to land him here."

All efforts to locate the man last night were unavailing, he not having registered at any hotel. The citizen claiming acquaintanceship with Abbott is positive the man he saw was the Toronto butcher.

Politics Too Strenuous.

Regina, Sask., March 20.—Premier Scott has collapsed under the strain to which he has been subjected for two months as the result of the vigorous assault of the Opposition at the Legislature, and will shortly leave the province for his health. OVER-WORKED KIDNEYS

Cause, Rush of Blood, Fullness, Dizziness.

J. T. Chetland, the well-known railway engineer of Hamilton, found the strain always resting upon men of his occupation vastly intensified by a tendency of the blood to rush to his head, and often at times when clearness of vision and great steadiness were demanded. Finding some difficulty in bending—a stiffness with pain, having settled in his back, it occurred to him that his kidneys might be at fault. "This was a happy idea, for by it I not only got rid of the pain but many other troubles as well. I took a full dose of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and was glad to note that some obstruction of the kidneys, which I had lately noticed, was at once relieved. The flushed appearance of my face gave way to a more rational color and there was a perceptible improvement in my appetite. Dr. Hamilton's Pills certainly act splendidly upon the blood, removing heat and fulness and that sort of dizziness that makes a man at the throttle wish when it siezes him that he were elsewhere."

No medicine gives such unquestionably good results for stomach, liver, and blood troubles as Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they are mild, certain, and always curative. Refuse any substitute.

THE MAN WHO WINS

International Harvest World

The man who wins is the man who works—
The man who toils, while the next man shirks;
The man who stands in his deep distress
With his head held high in the deadly press.
Yes, he is the man who wins.

The man who wins is the man who knows
The value of pain and the worth of woes,
Who a lesson learns from the man who fails
And a moral finds in his mournful wails;
Yes, he is the man who wins.

The man who wins is the man who stays
In the unsought paths and the rocky ways;
And, perhaps, who lingers now and then,
To help some failure to rise again.
Ah! he is the man who wins!

And the man who wins is the man who hears
The curse of the envious in his ears,
But who goes his way with his head held high
And passes the wrecks of the failures by—
For he is the man who wins.

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—All being well in two weeks' time the world famed Sheffield Choir will be in our city. I notice in the press that a number of cities will give the visitors receptions. Next Saturday, March 25th, the choir will land at St. John, N.B., and the band of the 3rd Regiment of Artillery will meet them on the arrival of S. S. Victorian. His Honor the Lietuenant-Governor of the Province, will attend the opening concert there, and an official welcome will be given them by the mayor of St. John and city officials. The Canadian Club will hold a reception and banquet. At Ottawa, Winnipeg, Brandon, Regina, Moose Jaw, Calgary and Edmonton, the Boards of Trade and city authorities are entertaining the Sheffielders. Saskatoon is providing two hundred motor cars to show them around that wonderful thriving and youthful city. What will Peterborough do in the way of entertaining the visitors? Understand, the Choir expect to arrive in the city Sunday morning, April 2nd, will be two days' visit to this city. I think the Board of Trade and City Council should tender an address of welcome to the distinguished visitors.

Miss Cleo Fowler, of town, is visiting friends in Peterborough.

Rev. C. W. Holdsworth will conduct a cottage meeting in the Oak Lake school house on Tuesday evening.

IN SOCIETY

The Lethbridge Herald of a recent date contains the following item that will be of interest to the many friends of the bride in this city. Mrs. Shepherd, who was Miss Ethel Dixon, of Maple Creek, Sask., attended Whitby College for three years and spent most of her vacation in Peterborough, with her uncle Mr. A. E. Dixon, and Miss Dixon:

Mrs. S. J. Shepherd's artistic and delightful drawing rooms were thronged during the receiving hours on Saturday with prettily gowned women and girls who took the first opportunity of welcoming so pleasant and charming a bride to the social circles of the city.

Mrs. Shepherd greeted her visitors at the entrance of the drawing room wearing her exquisite wedding robe of ivory duchesse satin entraine with seed pearls and silver fringe outlining a deep tunic of dew drop net; from the shoulders fell a quaint diaphaneous cape of real Venetian and Duchess lace to the hem of the gown.

Mrs. John Dixon, of Maple Creek, Sask., and Mrs. J. A. Palmer, of Calgar, mother and sister of the hostess, received with her.

Mrs. Dixon looked very lovely wearing a handsome gown of dove satin with draped skirt; the bodice was adorned with rare embroidered cream lace and rich irridescent passementerie.

Mrs. Palmer donned for the occasion a graceful gown of palest heliotrope silk, the underskirt being of the same shade but of heavy satin striped silk. The fetching little sleeves and chemisette were developed of daintily embroidered white chiffon.

Mrs. W. A. Buchanan led the way to the tea room. She was becomingly gowned in black and white satin foulard with Dresden bandings tinging from lavender to palest rose tones on whiet satin background. Soft folds of paddy green satin gave a distinct touch to the gown which was worn with a Gainsborough hat of black panne velvet.

A shower of Enchantress carnations and jardiniers filled with sword ferns lent additional beauty to the spacious drawing room. The wee door attendant, Master Harold Palmer, of Calgary who also had the distinction of scattering blossoms before the bridal party at the wedding, wore a cunning Russian suit of white serge.

In the tea room the same colors, green and yellow, that appeared in the wedding decoration, were used most attractively. A cloth of Florentine lace partially covered the polished mahogany board and ropes of smilax fell from the electrolier to the edges of the table and were held in place by lovers' knots of maise tulle. An odd shaped brass candelebra holding lighted tapers, capped with filigreed brass shades formed the centre adornment and tall cut glass vases holding golden daffodils lent additional loveliness to the board. Mrs. R. Kellogg poured coffee, wearing a smart gown of Gobelin blue Rajah and attractive black plumed chapeau.

Mrs. H. J. Goode, looking exceedingly well in palest gray crepe heavily braided and striking large black hat draped with deep cream lace, caught by a cluster of full blown roses embedded in their foliage, presided at the tea urn.

Miss Shepherd, of Calgary assisted, in the tea room. She wore a charming Princess gown of robin egg crepe de chine with touches of silver. Little Miss Ruth Dixon, of Maple Creek, Mrs. Shepherd's cousin, also assisted. She wore a facinating frock of maise dotted silk mull over soft yellow satin with trimmings of heavy ecru insertion and pale yellow hose and slippers.

Terrible Ravages of Plague.

London, March 20.—During the month of February, the deaths from the plague in India reached the enormous total of 88,498.

The disease has become such a fixture in that country that its ravages are little heard of except through the occasional official statistics.

The British India offices reports that the epidemic was particularly virulent this year, and adds that the most persistent efforts to stamp it out have failed to effect a permanent improvement in the situation.

Liner Burned.

London, March 18.—The Furness Line freight steamer North Point, which sailed yesterday morning for Philadelphia, was destroyed by fire in the Thames two hours after she left her wharf. The crew of forty were taken off in safety, after the vessel had been beached. She carried no passengers.

Abbott In the Soo?

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., March 18.—Glancing over a Toronto paper last evening a well-known citizen of the Soo, who claims acquaintanceship with Charles Abbott, the missing Toronto butcher, said: "I met Abott on the street here yesterday and conversed with him. I have since learned that he had only $40 in his possession when he left Toronto, which would be about enough to land him here."

All efforts to locate the man last night were unavailing, he not having registered at any hotel. The citizen claiming acquaintanceship with Abbott is positive the man he saw was the Toronto butcher.

Politics Too Strenuous.

Regina, Sask., March 20.—Premier Scott has collapsed under the strain to which he has been subjected for two months as the result of the vigorous assault of the Opposition at the Legislature, and will shortly leave the province for his health. In his absence Hon. Mr. Calder will lead the Government. The Premier announced Saturday night that dissolution would not be sought this year, and supplies were voted thus ending three weeks' deadlock.

New Lutherean Church.

New Hamburg, March 20—The dedication and installation services of the new St. Peter's Lutheran Church here yesterday was the occasion of two largely attended services. A special train from Berlin, Petersburg and Baden brought 500, including the mixed choir of 150 pieces of St. Peter's Church, Berlin, under Prof. Zeigler.

Ernest Crofts, R.A., Dead.

London, March 20.—Ernest Crofts, R.A., the noted painter and keeper of the Royal Academy, died yesterday.

Ernest Crofts was born in Yorkshire in 1847. His first picture, "A Retreat: Episode of the German-French War," was exhibited in the Royal Academy in 1874. His historical paintings range over a wide period, and deal mainly with military subjects.

MR. BURNHAM AND THE GLOBE

Interesting Discussion on Political Economy

Toronto Globe,

A valued correspondent, Mr. J. H. Burnham, of Peterborough, is wrestling with this problem—"How can it be possible for Canadians to secure the benefits of a 'free' breakfast table and yet pay higher prices to the producers for their food-stuffs?" He writes as follows—

"In your issue of March 16 you say in your editorial comments: (1) 'A free breakfast table is good economics and good politics.' (2) 'The food-taxers will be no more successful in Canada than they were three months ago in Great Britain.' Some time ago I ventured to ask you how it was that the Ottawa Government did not reduce a tariff which was so little a protective tariff that it yielded a huge surplus only because it failed to protect and allowed in foreign goods. What could be the excuse, I asked, for taxation (surplus) under such circumstances? You did not do me the honor of answering, though my remarks were in answer to your own. Now, I want to ask you how you can argue that the farmer is to benefit by 'a free breakfast table'? Is not that word on the very face of it used to signify that a breakfast table supplied at 'free' trade rates would be a cheaper breakfast table than at present? If so, how can the Canadian farmer's position be improved by it? A 'protected' breakfast table must necessarily, according to all the laws of trade, be a source of great revenue to the protected farmer than one supplied by the whole world, as in Great Britain. I think you have got 'fatally twisted.' Did you not think at the moment of writing that you were attacking the manufacturers instead of trying to boost the farmers?"

If the consumer of foodstuffs and the farmer who grows them were the only two parties to the transaction, Mr. Burnham's logic would be good. But he has forgotten that the farmer sells wheat, not flour; hogs, not bacon; cattle, sheep and lambs, not beef or mutton. In the case of dairy products the farmer gets fairly near to the consumer, but it is probably true in Canada—as Mr. Secretary Wilson of the Department of Agriculture found it to be true in the United States—that of the total sums paid for farm products by the ultimate consumer the farmer gets less than forty per cent. The other sixty goes to the miller of cereals, the railways for transportation, the wholesale dealers, the meat-packers, butchers, green-grocers and others who handle farm products. It is by reducing the portion of ultimate cost that falls within this sixty per cent. that the cheapening effect of free trade in foodstuffs will be most felt.

The Globe believes that the almost entire removal of taxation from many staple foodstuffs on both sides of the border will lessen the cost to the consumer, and that the clearing away of obstructions to trade in these foodstuffs will permit of their production and distribution on a far more economical basis than at present. The producers of foodstuffs will in many cases secure, in the form of enhanced prices, some part of the money now wasted in doing trade by round-about ways and under conditions that do not lend themselves to economy.

This very thing is happening all around us every day in other departments of human activity and occasions no surprise. Why do we advocate good roads? Simply that they may reduce the cost of farm products and increase the profits of the producer by permitting the carriage of these products to the places where they are needed at the least possible expenditure of time and material. A tariff on foodstuffs operates just as a bad road does, and its removal may, and we believe will, be profitable to the men at each end of the line, to both the producer and the ultimate consumer.

Mr. Burnham seems to have at the back of his head the idea that farm products are a sort of fixed annual quantity, and that if the United States buyer wants them more urgently than we do and bids a higher price we in Canada will have to raise our bid or go without. That is not at all what will happen. The soil of Ontario can produce enormously more than it does, and with three fine outlets to make choice of—his own home market and free entrance to the British and United States markets—the Ontario farmer will be a very different man from what we fancy him to be if he does not greatly increase the volume of his products.

Y.M.C.A. TO HAVE ACKERMAN NIGHT

Unique Evening for the Employees of the Factory

To-morrow night at the Y.M.C.A. will be known as Ackerman night, when the building will be thrown open to the employees of B. F. Ackerman Son & Co.

In the gymnasium the regular intermediate class will be on and a tug-of-war between the employees of the factory will take place. Other features will be added for the amusement of those present.

At nine o'clock in the plunge of the bath Fred Young, of the Toronto Swimming Club and W. O. Taylor, swimming instructor, of the local association, will give an exhibition of swimming, demonstrating the different strokes, the latest of which is the American crawl.

On the bowling alley team competition will be held and the highest individual score will decide the championship of the factory.

MISHAP TO THE FLYER

Freight Cars Had Not Been Shunted Clear of Line

A mishap occured on the Grand Trunk line Saturday night, when the flyer colided with two freight cars one of which had been left foul of the main track at the Santiago siding, about two miles this side of Lindsay

A freight had loosened two box cars on the siding while shunting, and the conductor neglected to see how far they went.

When the flyer came along at the rate of about thirty miles an hour, the engineer expecting a clear line, did not see the cars until about four car lengths from them.

Immediately applying the emergency brakes, he attempted to stop the train, but only succeeded in slackening it.

The first car was thrown off the track breaking the cylinder head of the engine and otherwise damaging it. The second car, by the impetus of the first, was thrown foul of the main line, damaging the new baggage car and second coach.

The flyer had to return to Lindsay and another engine and car substituted.

CANADA MUST BE COMMERCIALLY INDEPENDENT SAYS SIFTON

United States Has Had Panics While Canada Has Had Financial Peace—Trusts Would Profit by Pact.

Montreal, March 21.—The anti-reciprocity demonstration last evening was a splendid success, some 800 of the cream of commerce and finance crowding the Windsor Hall to listen to Hon. Clifford Sifton, who was escorted to the hall by McGill students, Mr. Z. A. Lash and others.

Charles Chaput, president of the Anti-Reciprocity League, was in the chair and made a speech, in which he claimed that any closer business relations with the country to the south was fraught with the greatest danger, especially to his own fellow-countrymen.

Mr. Sifton followed the lines of his speech in the Commons.

Mr. Lash said he had never seen these two great cities of Toronto and Montreal more in earnest on any great public question, as all party lines had been obliterated, while the freemen of the Dominion were lining up to save our common national heritage. He ridiculed the claim that because Canada was committed to reciprocal trade twenty years ago, that the country was to-day committed to such a policy. The issue is not a party one, said Mr. Lash, and it is because I see the danger that I am here to-night, ready to break with many of my political friends.

Hon. Thomas C. Casgrain delivered a stirring speech in English, claiming that the vast majority of the French-Canadian people were against this obnoxious measure, and would vote against the Government on such an issue.

Hon. Mr. Sifton said that they had met to discuss an issue, the most important which had arisen in Canada during many years. It had cut many adrift from party lines, life-long Liberals having united to oppose a policy introduced by the Liberal Government.

Proceeding Hon. Mr. Sifton said that the fiscal policy of the Government had been wonderfully successful, that it had improved the trade of the Dominion in every direction, both foreign and interprovincial, to such an extent that the trade had jumped from thirty to a hundred millions in four years, while Canada had become one of the most prosperous countries of the world.

During the past twelve years Canada had gone along without anything approaching hard times, despite occasional flurries, which had failed to produce any panic or general distress. But the United States had during that time had no less than three serious panics. "And the result of tieing ourselves to the States will be that we shall have the honor and pleasure of sharing in their next panic instead of going on our way as now."

"I have been in politics for twenty-three years," continued Mr. Sifton, "but never before have I seen a Government bring down an important measure to Parliament and so entirely fail to make good in argument as the Government has done in this case.

"The marvelous thing," continued Mr. Sifton, "is that our friends in the Government seem to desire to put the farmers on a free trade basis, for all they have to sell, while they will still have to pay duty on their manufactured goods.

"The great beneficiaries of the agreement," said Mr. Sifton, "would be the American Newspaper Association, the Chicago Beef Trust, the U. S. Steel Co., the Minneapolis Milling Trust and the Hill railway interests.

"It will mean that these vast aggregations of American capital will be invited to come in and dictate to our country and to take from us the business we have built up by the past 25 years of hard work."

An amusing incident took place last evening during the Sifton procession. Several hundred Sifton sympathizers were drawing the ex-Minister's carriage, when an opposing faction took possession of the rig and set fire to it. A scuffle ensued and the Minister was rescued from his enemies.

TO PROHIBIT THE HAREM SKIRT

Atlanta, Ga., March 21.—"Whereas, the harem skirt is modelled on lines decidedly at variance with our traditional and time-honored ideas of what a woman's skirt should be," therefore Ald James B. Everett will, to-day, introduce an ordinance in the council barring that species of wearing apparel on Atlanta's streets.

He says he has a majority of the council with him and that the passage of the ordinance is assured. He exempts the divided skirt used in horseback riding, but makes it a penal offence for a woman to appear in the so-called harem skirt.

LIMANTOUR IN MEXICO

Hailed as the Saviour of the Country During Welcome.

Mexico City, March 21.—Finance Minister Limantour arrived here at ten o'clock yesterday morning. A great crowd awaited him at the railway station. President Diaz was not present.

If Senor Limantour purposed to avoid any demonstration his plans failed, as the railway station was crowded with a number of officials and delegations of citizens. The latter hailed the Minister as the "Savior of the country."

Foreign Minister Creel stood at the entrance to the train shed and greeted Senor Limanour warmly.

On the way from the station to the waiting automobile, he stopped several times to listen to addresses by students, workingmen and others.

DIVER HAD TO THINK QUICKLY

Glass in Helmet Broken While Under Water.

Ottawa, March 21.—While the Toronto and Montreal divers were examining the intake pipe, the Montreal man, Purvis, had a narrow escape from death.

The glass in the facing of his helmet broke and he was nearly swept away. He got to the surface in safety.

Strike of Miners Called.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 21.—Reports yesterday indicate that the order of President Lewis for a strike of United Mine Workers in the Tuscarawas field in Ohio and a part of the Pittsburg district has been generally obeyed.

NO WAR SCARE AT WASHINGTON

United States Fears Japan's Commercial Rivalry.

Special to the Review.

Washington, March 21.—The administration officials declare that no Japanese war scare exists at Washington. They fear, however, the commercial activity of Japan will lead to that country controlling the shipping on the Pacific.

EMPIRE WOULD NOT BEAR STRAIN

Should Britain Interfere in Colonies as Redmond Suggests.

London, March 21.—The Pall Mall Gazette says if Britain were to interfere with Canada or Australia in the way Redmond suggests should be done in Ireland, the solidarity of the Empire would not bear the strain for a moment. On the other hand, if Ireland were placed in the position of these dominions, every one of the Imperial safeguards held out to the Protestant royalist minority would dissolve instantly.

Anent Dillon's statement that all the colonial Premiers are Irish home rulers, The Gazette says it would be better to have added that there is not one who came from a country where the dominating power is held by an intolerant and aggressive church. The colonial Premiers' home rule fervor is a highly inexpensive indulgence.

HALDANE FOR THE PEERAGE

Will Lead the Government Forces in Crewe's Absence

New York, March 20.—The Tribune's London correspondent cables: The King and Queen are making fresh engagements, like that at the Austro-Hungary embassy, and the Friday night dinners at Buckingham palace will remain a fixture until Easter.

The health of Lord Lansdowne is not completely restored, although he has returned to London for political conferences and gone away again for the week-end.

Lord Crewe's troublesome cough is an obstinate reminder of his bronchial attack. His recuperative powers are also sluggish. Lord Rosebery is reported to be seriously concerned about him.

The rumor that Mr. Haldane will be raised to the peerage as the Liberal leader of the House of Lords during Lord Crewe's convalescence is not yet confirmed, but it is probably true.

Lloyd-George has been thoroughly frightened by his doctors, and remains on the south coast. As a special telegraph and telephone service has been laid to his place, he may remain out of parliament for several weeks.

Dirigible Comes to Grief.

Krefeld, Prussia, March 21.—The balloon Duseldorf IV., which ascended here Sunday, was carried over the Zuyder Zee, an arm of the North Sea, and because of loss of gas was obliged to descend. The basket struck a breakwater violently, and the balloon pilot, Paul Kayser, was instantly killed. A passenger, Otto Schroder, a silk manufacturer, was badly injured, but was rescued after the balloon drifted into a creek.

Another Furness Liner Scorched.

New York, March 21.—A special cable from London yesterday afternoon says that fire did $2,000 damage to the Furness liner Rapahannock, while she was lying at Rotherhithe, on the Thames.

Last Friday the North Point, of the same line, was burned on the Thames.

Toronto Bid Accepted

IMPRISONMENT AND LASHES FOR RUFFIANS AT WINNIPEG

Severe Sentences Meted Out to Lawless Foreigners.

Winnipeg, March 21.—Judge Richards put his foot down yesterday on the lawless tendencies which have developed among a certain class of foreigners in the city. Four of the prisoners convicted at the assizes came before him for sentence, and the punishment meted out was among the most severe of his term of office.

William Moon, for assaulting a child, received 15 years in the penitentiary and 30 lashes.

Paul Kochar, for beating his wife, was sentenced to a limit of two years and will receive in addition 50 lashes.

Michael Hrynesysyn, for manslaughter, must serve three years.

Nicholas Lucska will serve six months for throwing a bottle at a street car.

In the Police Court yesterday Gaston Monvoisin admitted that he had killed Nicholas Giovanni. When the charge of murder was read to him he said he had shot a man, but did not know his name. No formal plea was taken, and he was [illegible]

Neither the Foreign Office nor the War Office has been able to confirm the report so far.

Russia's New Premier.

St. Petersburg, March 21.—It was announced from a trustworthy source yesterday afternoon that the Emperor has signed the appointment of Minister of Finance Kokovsoff to be the new Premier.

WAITING ON U.S. CONGRESS

Action on Reciprocity at Ottawa Hangs Fire.

Time Wasted on Amendment That Was Out of Order.

Ottawa, March 21.—Another wasted day. The Government obstructed itself. All day the House debated a resolution moved by the Minister of Railways which provided that the Government should operate on a ninety-nine years lease a railway to be built in the St. John River Valley to connect St. John with the National Transcontinnental Railway at Grand Falls.

At 11.15 last night the Deputy Speaker, after being appealed to by the Minister of Railways, ruled an amendment, moved by Mr. Crocket, out of order. This might have been done in the early afternoon. There will be no reciprocity to-day, but a day of supply, so the Premier intimated.

The debate yesterday showed that the Legislature of New Brunswick had passed legislation providing for the guarantee of the principal and interest to the extent of $25,000 per mile. A difficulty has arisen, the Provincial Government desiring that the standard of the road shall be the same as the I.C.R., while the Federal Government insists that it shall be the same as the N.T.R. The Opposition members declared that the Dominion authorities refused to co-operate with the Local Government, but this was denied.

Dr. Sproule asked if any communication had been received by the Government in reference to the proposed treaty of arbitration between Great Britain and the United States.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that the Government had not received any communication from either Great Britain or the United States dealing with the matter. "I might say," he said, "that if it were possible for Canada to help such a laudable object we would be only too glad to do so."

W. H. Sharpe (Lisgar) enquired as to whether Sir Wilfrid's statement of the other day, to the effect that the Government did not propose at present to make any changes in the tariff other than those contained in the reciprocity agreement applied also to the British preference.

The Premier replied that the Government's policy in regard to the preference was well known, but that it would be further explained by the Minister of Finance when he delivered his budget speech.

Mr. Richard Blain (Peel) said that the Premier had stated the other day that Liberal members were at liberty to renounce the policy of the Government. Were the members of the Opposition to be extended the same opportunity? he asked.

"I hope they will avail themselves of it," said the Premier, in reply.

Hon. George E. Foster thought the time was opportune to enquire as to when the budget statement would be delivered.

Hon. W. S. Fielding said it would be at an early date, though he could not yet name the day.

MAIN ESTIMATES CALL FOR EIGHT MILLION EXPENDITURE

A NAMELESS HERO

Cleveland, O., March 21.—An unknown hero died in an ambulance after he had snatched Ernest Baker, a child of six, from in front of a fast train on a grade crossing yesterday afternoon. The man's attempt to save the boy proved fruitless, the lad dying in a hospital.

FARMER'S EAR BITTEN BY HORSE

Vicious Animal Snapped off Ear of Brockville Man.

Brockville, March 21.—Edward Kilborn, a farmer, living near Brockville, is minus the greater portion of one ear. He entered the stable to hitch a horse, when the animal suddenly displayed a vicious temper and made a lunge at his head. The ear was snapped off so quickly that Kilborn had not time to protect himself.

Upwards of one dozen deaths occurred in Brockville and vicinity within the past twenty-four hours. John Marshall, a pioneer builder, died at his home here, aged 92 years. Another victim was Elmer Davis, proprietor of the Central Hotel at Jasper, who dropped dead. He was 35 years of age.

GAVE A BIBLE TO KING GEORGE

Archbishop of Canterbury Heads the Movement

Special to the Review.

London, March 21.—In commemoration of the tercentenary of the English version of the Bible, the Archbishop of Canterbury, heading a big deputation, presented King George with an elaborate silver-mounted copy of the Bible. The King expressed his sincere gratitude at the remembrance.

Arrival of Mgr. Stagni.

Ottawa, March 21.—Plans have been perfected for the reception here on Friday next of Mgr. Stagni, the new representative of the Vatican in Canada. At 7.30 Friday evening he will be welcomed by Archbishop Gauthier, and on Saturday, from 3 to 5, Mgr. Stagni will himself hold a reception.

Painters' Strike at Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 21.—One thousand painters and decorators struck yesterday for an advance in wages of $1 for eight hours' work over the scale of $3.49, which expired March 1. Fifty small shops have signed the new agreement.

Provincial Prison and Museum to Cost One Million.

$133,000 for Colonization and Mining Roads.

Toronto, March 21.—Eight million dollars is in round figures the estimated amount to be expended on current and capital account, according to the main estimates presented to the Ontario Legislature yesterday afternoon.

The pure milk bill was given its third reading, and a resolution of appreciation of the great services rendered Canada by His Excellency the Governor-General was also adopted.

Hon. Col. Matheson, Provincial Treasurer, briefly explained the main estimates for the fiscal year, Nov. 1, 1911, to Oct. 31, 1912. The estimates were, he said, practically the same as last year, when the various salaries increases were considered. There was about half a million dollars on capital account which was for Government House, prison farm and Central Prison buildings, and the new provincial museum.

The amount for the Provincial Departments is $7,362,411.66.

Public buildings, $625,500, and public works, $70,200.

Colonization and mining roads, $133,000.

The net aggregate is $8,090,911.66.

The sum of $200,000 is appropriated towards the erection of the new Government House on East Bloor street.

Hon. J. Duff, Minister of Agriculture, declined to accept the task of issuing a set of regulations for the enforcement of the pure milk bill.

Hon. A. G. MacKay argued that it was the duty of the Department to make the regulations.

Hon. Mr. Duff insisted that they should be left to the municipal councils, and the bill went through committee in that form.

J. J. Carrick, Port Arthur, protested against the clause in the Assessment Act, to abolish the fixed assessment on Port Arthur acreage land. He declared the clause iniquitous.

Hon. I. B. Lucas said the acreage assessment had been $1, $4, $10, and last year $20. The committee considered the time had arrived, to arrange for a change to the regular assessment, the present rate of $20 to continue until Dec. 31, 1912.

Mr. Carrick replied that if the Ontario Government was the tower of strength it was supposed to be, it should not permit iniquitous legislation holding back the development of the northern country.

Sir James Whitney said a member should not use the term iniquitous regarding the proceedings of a committee without evidence to confirm it.

The chairman of the committee informed Mr. Carrick that he could move an amendment on the third reading.

Sir James Whitney has responded to a crisis by opening the way for a bill to vindicate the right of Toronto and other municipalities to control their streets and highways. As it is retroactive, it will negative the radial double-track order to the Rosedale golf links, which otherwise the city would have to fight out in the Court of Appeals. The bill was introduced yesterday by W. K. McNaught, M.P.P. It is entitled an Act to amend the Railway Act.

At the night session the estimates were passed through committee, after three hours' discussion.

J. McEwing, East Wellington, enquired why the appropriation for technical education for 1912 was only $96,300, while $103,700 was voted for 1911?

It was explained that this year there was $7,400 in some special appropriation not required for 1912.

Hon. A. G. MacKay asked if there was any special reason for an increase from $41,500 to $49,800 for the maintenance of patients in municipal sanitaria for consumptives. Mr. Hanna explained that it was due to a statutory requirement fixing the grant according to the number of patients, which was increasing.

Mr. Studholme wanted to know if the Salvation Army was to get a bonus of $5 besides the grant of $10,000. Bonuses only paid for domestic servants and only after they had been located and proved to be satisfactory.

W.C.T.U. IS AFTER YOUNG MEN'S CLUBS AND SCHOOLS

Alleged Drinking and Gambling Are Ruining the Boys.

London, Ont., March 21.—A deputation from the Women's Christian Temperance Union waited upon the Ministerial Association yesterday, and made serious charges of immorality against the Young Men's Clubs and the public schools. "There are forty clubs in the city," said Mrs. Thornley, "doing great injury to the young men and boys. Having heard of the immorality going on at these, we spoke to the license inspector. He explained that it was well night impossible for him to go into these places. They are not licensed and he would be liable if he forced an entrance and did not find anything wrong. He advised us to fight to have them licensed.

"Then in these clubs I am informed not only is liquor drunk, but gambling goes on, and not only gambling, but the social evil is practiced. Why, there are pictures there which are indescribably filthy, and books are exchanged which should never have been printed."

Manitoba's Boundary Offer.

Winnipeg, March 21.—There was a flutter of excitement in the galleries of the Legislature yesterday afternoon when Premier Roblin laid on the table the offer of the Ottawa Government received yesterday as to terms of the Manitoba boundary extension.

The main condition is as follows: "That inasmuch as the said province will not have the public lands, mines and minerals and royalties incident thereto, in the added territory as a source of revenue, there shall be paid half-yearly in advance by Canada to the province, in addition to any payments or allowances at present enjoyed, an annual sum based on the population of such added territory as ascertained at each census thereof as follows:

"The sum payable until the population of such added territory reaches 100,000 shall be $200,000, thereafter until such population reaches 150,000, the sum will be $250,000, and thereafter the sum shall be $300,000."

C.P.R. MACHINISTS AFTER MORE PAY

Increase of About 10 Per Cent. is Asked For.

Winnipeg, March 21.—The Canadian Pacific machinists are looking for an increaese in wages and improvement in shop conditions, particularly in reference to the arrangement of the working schedules. Increase of pay amounting to about ten per cent. is asked for. The present agreement expires at the end of March, and negotiations are already under way with the company.

Andrew Burrows' Death.

Smith's Falls, March 21.—Andrew Burrows dropped dead at a dance at Franktown. He was engaged in the cattle business. He was born at Franktown 67 years ago. He was actively interested recently in having the old military road opened from Smith's Falls to Ottawa and Pembroke.

TO BE INSURED AGAINST THEFT

Queer Insurance for Millionaire New York Boy

Special to the Review.

New York, March 21—John Nicholas Brown, nine years of age, and worth ten million dollars, is to be insured against kidnapping with Lloyd's, London.

TROOPS CALLED OUT

Special to the Review.

Lisbon, March 21.—Troops were called out to-day and arrested many rioters who attempted to tie up all transportation and bring about a general strike.

Bridge Contract Let.

Quebec, March 21.—The firm of O'Neill & Loney of this city have been awarded the contract for the construction of the new bridge over the River Chaudiere at St. George, Beauce.

Death of J. L. Williams.

London, March 21.—James L. Williams, the oldest Methodist in London, died yesterday in his 94th year. He was an uncle of Lady Mann of Toronto.

BETWEEN YOU AND ME

When is a girl like a swear-word? When she is By George.

Put this up where you'll see it: The bee that's busy stinging isn't making honey!

There is a big difference between having two strings to a bow and two beaus on a string.

Reuben, Reuben, I've been thinking What a difference there will be, when the streets are nice and oily, won't they set the odors free!

Reuben, Reuben, more politeness, when you meet her on the street, Do not hold hands for an hour, just remember she has feet.

Coal Results

¶ We sell the very best quality of hard coal, as good as we know how to buy.

¶ Are you getting results from the coal you are now using? Are you sure it is good? Are you burning it the right way?

¶ There is a deal of difference in how you handle the range or furnace, Our long experience tells us that fact, and we are ready to advise any in doubt as to the best way to make use of coal as fuel.

A FREE BREAKFAST

The Toronto Globe a few days ago editorially replied to a problem on political economy submitted by Mr. J. H. Burnham, who wanted to know how a free breakfast table was going to benefit the farmer of the country more than a protected breakfast table. The Globe answers the question by saying that while the farmer gets this regular share of the price paid by the ultimate consumer, a freer breakfast table is made possible by reducing the charges of the middlemen—the railways, the millers, the grocers, etc. The Globe argues that free trade in farm produce will not lower the price that the farmer gets, but the proportion of the ultimate cost that goes to the intermediaries will be lessened, thus helping the consumer.

We confess we cannot see the logic of this view, applied practically; How the middleman can be eliminated or even made to take less profit than will afford him a living is a problem in itself, for no man will continue to exist in a losing business. He demands a certain minimum profit in order to exist. Competition is relied on to keep this profit of handling as low as possible, and the government in many cases manages to regulate the freight rates to assist this. The middleman is necessary, even though he may be a theoretical parasite on humanity, living off both the farmer and the ultimate consumer.

It has long been argued that the ultimate consumer pays for everything but imported farm produce will pass through the hands of the middleman as much as the home product, if not more so. The removal of tariff barriers may eliminate some of the round-about ways of marketing produce, but very little. Goods have to be conveyed to the market, or put into the hands of the miller or packer, and distributed by him, and in the case of Canada and the United States a free breakfast table is not likely to work out particularly to the benefit of either farmer or consumer, since both countries are heavy agricultural producers.

In the case of Great Britain, which imports its food, a tax on the breakfast table, such as partially exists, is a tax on the consumer as direct as it can be made. But to free the agricultural products of a country which is producing more than it can consume, is of no particular benefit either to the farmer who exports his supplies, or to the consumer who is getting the benefit already of a more-than-sufficient production.

THE 90,000,000 MARKET

The market of ninety million people which is presented in such alluring colors to the view of the Canadian farmer by the pro-reciprocity people, is an unknown quantity. On the principle that far fields look the greenest, this vast market looks good.

But, if it is so good, how is it that the agricultural population of the United States has not increased to any considerable degree? The great state of Iowa in the last ten years has lost 7,000 people. The population of Maine has grown 50,000 in ten years, or less than 7 per cent. New Hampshire grew four per cent.; Vermont three per cent. Fifteen counties in New York State show losses, and in these counties conditions climatically and geographically, are about the same as in Ontario.

These people have had the advantage of the market of 90,000,000 people. They have been permitted to ship their goods to the Mexican border or to the Pacific Coast, without customs hundrance. But their farm produce hasn't been shipped in this way. Transportation is the determining factor in the marketing of farm produce, and it necessarily follows that the closer home a market is, the more easily reached and more economical it is. This might be taken as a solid argument against marketing produce in Britain, as compared with the closer United States, but it follows that as Britain is almost entirely a food importing country, its market of 45,000,000 people is entirely open to our farm products. The United States market of 90,000,000 people is not, and never will be, available to Canadians. If the United States farmer were to cease production, then Canadian farm produce would penetrate to Florida and Texas, perhaps; but as long as the United States farmer is equal to the task of supplying his own home market, Canadians need not hope for more than a little skimmed off the top.

Under the conditions imposed by transportation costs, Canadian farm products will be in a position to compete in the markets of the northern states only—and they represent only a fraction of that 90,000,000 market. To open the ever increasing markets of Canada to the competition of these people is giving a certain advantage for what may prove of very doubtful value.

RURAL MAIL DELIVERY

The Ottawa Government has at last yielded to the demand of the people of this country, as voiced so repeatedly, through the Review, a year or so ago, by beginning with the establishment of a rural mail delivery in this county.

The communication line and Ennismore were first favored. It is now proposed to extend to Fowler's Corners. The Review acknowledges this response of the government to the persistent demand of the farmers, at any rate so far as it has gone, but it wishes to inform the government that while it has taken many long years to do what the farmers were long ago entitled to, a tardy beginning, in a limited way, is not what is wanted. The whole county must be served. Favoritism in the service of the state is not only a gross wrong, but it is mighty poor politics. It will be remembered that in the interests of the entire population of this county, city and country alike, the Review kept signal light burning day after day, "Rural mail delivery must be granted to Peterborough."

For a time opposition journals excused the apathy of the government by saying that rural free mail delivery was a doubtful and dangerous experiment. They pointed to deficits incurred, in the United States and prophesied disaster for Canada, but the Review, in common with Conservative journals throughout Canada, resolutely demanded that what the cities had secured should be granted to the country; that farming was just as much a business as manufacture, and that the farmer had just as much right to have a frequent and a free delivery as any branch of trade in the cities. By dint of perseverence, persistence, and a better knowledge of the subject, the Conservative journals, demolished the selfish and stupid ignorance of the government journals, and to-day while Canada has free rural mail delivery only in limited areas, the good work has been done, and when the Conservatives come into power, it will be expanded and extended promptly, so that those journals which pretend to favor lines of transportation and communication, but confine their admiration, to great schemes, which make contractors rich and for which the farmers in Ontario chiefly pay, will find that progressive mail delivery is one of the chief essentials to the development of farming. We hope to see every township in this county that has a population to warrant it, for example, South Monaghan, North Monaghan, Harvey, Otonabee, Douro, Dummer and so forth, have a complete daily delivery. It is not by big and extravagant schemes that local interests are best developed. He is a poor farmer, who prefers a railway in the west, to spending money on cleaning up and improving his farm. The same principle applies to every other scheme, which should be intended to develop and improve local conditions.

DR. EDWARD'S SPEECH

Here is the Hansard report of a section of Dr. Edwards' speech on the Farmers' Bank Commission, which was refused by the Laurier Government:

I would like to ask why the Prime Minister objects to the issuing of a royal commission? Can those who have suffered by the failure of the Farmers' Bank lose anything by the appointment of a commission, can matters be made any worse for them? Will anybody say there is no possibility that it might bring forth some facts which would lead to the recovery of part of the money? Why then object to the appointment of this royal commission? What is the premier afraid of? No doubt if there was a royal commission the Finance Minister would be placed in the box, and would have to give evidence. Is the Prime Minister afraid of that? Is that the reason why they do not wish a royal commission? There is no doubt also that if a royal commission was appointed, Mr. Calvert, former chief Liberal whip, would have to go into the box. Is it for the sake of Mr. Calvert that the Prime Minister and his Finance Minister object to the appointment of a royal commission?

Mr Boyce. Would not other hon. gentlemen opposite have to go into the box?

Mr. Edwards. I cannot say, but it seems to me very probable that the hon. member for West Peterborough (Mr. Stratton) would have to testify before such a commission. It is because of this that the leader of the government, and the Finance Minister object to a royal commission? They have not given any good reason why a royal commission should not issue, and it does look very suspicious indeed. If they have nothing to conceal, if they have no party favorites to defend and protect, why should not a royal commission be appointed to investigate this matter without loss of time? It looks to me as if the objection to the royal commission was not on the grounds of economy—think of this government practising economy along any line—but purely on the ground of party political expediency.

EDITORIAL NOTES

If the Laurier Government goes to the country it will find out what real public opinion is—and it won't be the howling of two lonely wolves, either.

Joseph Tait, registrar of the Surrogate Court, in Toronto, died on Saturday. The office-hunters were busy on Monday. One office-seeker doth tread upon another's heels, so fast they follow.

When we see those appetising bunches of onions so temptingly displayed in the store windows we are reminded of the sad fact that one onion does not make a spring.

That is practical patriotism which has induced Queen Mary and King George to have all their coronation toggery made in Britain. In setting the fashion, they are making work for many who need it.

Should the farmers plow their fields with oxen now, just because their forefathers did it, and thought it was to their best interest? Should Canada accept reciprocity just now just because it was favored years ago as a means out of the slough of despond?

The reciprocity people and Liberals in Montreal have got so alarmed at the strength of the anti-reciprocity feeling that they have yelled to Fielding for help. But it takes more than smooth talk to quiet an alarmed public, to lull them into a sense of false security.

Canada imports from the United States about 1,000,000 dozen of eggs a year and exports only 35,000. In the last four years the highest export of any one year of eggs to the United states by Canada was 55,000 dozen. This was against a duty of 5 cents a dozen, but the Canadian duty of 3 cents a dozen was not sufficient to keep out a million dozen or more American eggs. Under reciprocity how many dozen eggs will Canada import?

The Three Rivers murder trial has thrown a striking light on the jury system. After a great deal of trouble in which sixty out of sixty-five jurors were challenged a jury was finally selected, only three members of which were able to read. The issues of life or death in the year of grace 1911, are entrusted to twelve men, nine of whom cannot read, a fairly low test of education and consequently of intelligence. The exclusion of mental capacity from the jury box, has been systematically and scientifically brought to a fine point. Surely the jury system has outlived its usefulness, unless it can be radically reformed.

Mr John Ball, Osborne, chief of the United States Bureau of Foreign Commerce in a speech before the Economic Club of Portland, Maine, estimated that, as a result of reciprocity, the United States in 1915, will be supplying Canada with sixty-five per per cent. of its imports. He estimates that four years hence our imports will be $540,000,000, of which the United States will supply $350,000,000, which may be augmented to $400,000,000, or seventy-four per cent. He thinks that the New England States will largely increase their already favorable balance of trade, in butter, eggs, nursery and horticultural, stock, etc. The address makes interesting but not comforting, reading for the Canadian farmer.

EPWORTH LEAGUERS GAVE TWO TALENT PROGRAMS

Young People of Charlotte Street Church Delight Large Audience

The contest program which comprised the entertainment at the Charlotte Street Church Epworth League meeting last-night was a decided success from every view point, and the dormant talents of many of the members were revealed in a most surprising and agreeable manner.

The entertainment (as previously mentioned) took the form of a contest. Two sides had been arranged, each side agreeing to contribute seven numbers. The contest was decided by points by three judges, who finally awarded the decision to the side who put on No. 2, on the second part of the program. The decision won the unanimous approval of the audience, but the narrow margin of two points by which the opposing side was defeated, speaks highly of the quality of their program, and should prove a cause of satisfaction to them. The judges were Rev. Geo. Henderson, Wm. Galbraith and A. B. Cunningham.

No. 1 program given as follows was contributed first:

Instrumental—Miss Sophie Elliott.
Club Swinging—Miss E. Storey and Miss Lou Thomas.
Farm Yard Chorus—Six young ladies.
Reading—Miss L. Thomas.
Vocal Solo—Miss Alice Williams.
Famous Women in Costume—Miss Sherlock and five others.
Instrumental Piano Duet — Miss Smith and Miss E. Storey.

Every one of the numbers was cleverly and well performed.

The farm yard chorus was unusually funny and produced unstinted applause. Six young ladies attired as milk-maids gave a patter performance and imitated the vocal noises of the barn-yard inhabitants to perfection. They were especially proficient in reproducing the melodious sounds of the duck family, and it was hinted that they had required no preliminary training in that part of the chorus.

The solo by Miss Alice Williams was very sweetly sung and was one of the best selections given.

The famous women represented in costume was rather unique and cleverly acted.

The second section of the entertainment followed after a short interval It was entitled "We Are Seven," and was given in the following order:

Instrumental—Miss L. Elliott.
Reading—Miss Mountjoy.
Solo—Miss Rigby.
Speech—Miss Stafford.
Song—Mr. F. D. Austin.
Pantomine — "Wanted a Wife."
Bachelor—Mr. F. D. Austin.
College—Miss L. Elliott.
Society—Miss Rigby.
Nurse—Miss N. Pearl Emmerson.
Widow—Miss Mountjoy.
Irish—Miss Stafford.
His Choice—Miss Mabel Brown.
Chorus—O Canada, the seven.

The numbers of this program were all also of a high standard and drew warm applause.

Miss Stafford in a neat and concise address, explained why, in her opinion, Canada was a more to be desired land to dwell in than any other. Her arguments were good and seemed to meet with the general approval of those present, judging from the applause granted her.

The pantomine was also irresistibly ludicrous and caused much amusement. The chorus, O' Canada, concluded the highly entertaining and successful evening.

Mr. R. F. Downey, the energetic president of the League, presided. At the conclusion of the program, he congratulated all the participants on their capable and praise-worthy efforts. He urged them to develop their hidden talents, as it was only by doing so that they could ever hope to discover their undeveloped power.

A liberal collection was taken up and the affair was financially successful.

ENNISMORE TOWNSHIP COUNCIL

Following is the business transacted by the Ennismore Council at its last meeting held in the town hall, Ennismore, March 13, 1911. All the members were present.

After the minutes of the previous meeting were read and signed, by-law No. 344 received its three readings for the purpose of appointing road-masters, poundkeepers and fence-viewers for the township of Ennismore for the year 1911. The appointments were as follows—

Roadmasters—Wm. J. Clark, Richard Nurse, Thomas Calvert, George Boate, John Conway, Lawrence Twomey, James Killen, John Geary, Joseph Doran, John O'Donoghue, Jas. Sullival, Dan Crough, Dan Holland, Cornelius O'Reilley, Thomas Cavanagh, Wm. Haggart, Wm. Young, Jas. Scollard, Edward Harrington, Richard Davis, Eugene Murphy, Michael Holland, P. Y. Crowley, John K. Galvin, Richard Killen, Wm. J. Crough, Michael Gannon, Maurice O'Connor, Thos. Flood, John J. Hickson, Michael Crough, Wm. Telford, Owen O'Connor, Daniel Cadigan, James Guiry, John Brick, Pat Crough, P. M. Twomey, James Cadigan.

Fence-viewers — Eugene Moloney, Patrick Twomey, Edward Harrington, John K. Galvin, Eugene Murphy, Michael Flood, Joseph Doran, David Quinlan, Wm. J. Clark, Henry Killen, Michael S. Crough.

Poundkeepers—Patrick J. Leonard, James Murphy, Michael Geary, Jas. Garry.

The above appointments are subject to the Court of Revision.

The following amounts were drawn on the treasurer—Jas. Sullivan, drawing gravel, $9; Thos. Quinlan, drawing gravel, $13.

On motion of Messrs. Geary and W. H. Crough, the reeve, Samuel Killen, was empowered to settle the account of Myrtle Shaver, nurse, for being detained at Joseph Travis' house when placarded for scarlet fever.

It was moved by S. H. O'Connor and C. O'Reilley, that all boxes for the purpose of drawing gravel for statute labor or receiving pay from municipal funds have a space for not less than one cubic yard of gravel.

On motion of Messrs. Geary and W. H. Crough, the Independent Telephone Company was given the right of way on the main road from the Ennismore cross to Gannon's Narrows bridge, to erect a telephone line. All particulars of the said right may be obtained by referring to the municipal books of the township of Ennismore.

German Army Critics Says Invasion of Canada Impracticiable

Extreme Military Weakness of U.S. is Apparent

Berlin, March 20.—Col. Richard Gaedke, the famous military critic, says that the Mexican troubles, without a doubt, have assumed larger dimensions than President Diaz admits. Nobody believes that the United States has arranged its remarkable military manoeuvres near the Mexican frontier merely to please a friendly Mexican government, or just to prevent defeated bands of insurgents from crossing to American territory, or to suppress the smuggling of weapons, or to prevent the passage of American volunteers to the insurgent camps. Mobilization of American troops, amounting to nearly half the entire standing army, has other objects which are not side issues, but the principal purpose of the whole movement.

There is, of course a possibility, if not a probability, of future conflict between Japan and the United States, To provide for such case the United States has obtained possession of the Panama canal, and is completing that work by enormous sacrifices. To provide for such a conflict Congress recently accepted the President's proposals for the fortification and permanent occupation of the mouth of the canal, but the possession of the Panama canal requires that American influence should predominate in Central American countries.

So far as the smaller republics are concerned, the hegemony of the United States may be regarded as assured. Now, the opportunity has occurred for placing Mexico in a position of political dependence.

Recently much has been said of the intention to annex Canada, but unless an overwhelming majority of the Canadian population is actively in favor of it, the invasion of Canada would, in a military sense, be utterly impracticable for the United States. Six divisions of English field army quickly transferred to Canada would suffice, if generalship were good, to compel the United States to conclude unfavorable terms of peace. Such a war, of course, is highly improbable, and I only mention it to illustrate the extreme military weakness of the United States, compared with the European military powers and with the strong Japanese army.

THE REVIEW'S NEW STORY

"Virginia of the Air Lanes"—A Romance of Flying, by Herbert Quick, Will Start To-morrow

A romance of the air—what could be more timely and appropriate in these days of aerial conquest? Thrilling situations crowd one another in this gripping narrative of a courageous young inventor's fight for fame and love against unscrupulous monopolists. It falls not to the lot of many men to have to combat among the clouds to win a bride, as does Theodore Carson. Read of his death struggle in an airship against a submarine boat in charge of the jealous rival inventor Wizner—read of Craighead, the erratic, who rallied humorously but effectively to Carson's support; of Shayne, "controller of the powers of the air;" of Florida coast smugglers, of battles in the air and of lovely Virginia Suarez, a heroine of the future in a story of the future, who faced fearlessly the unnerving dangers of a courtship above the clouds. No one can fully appreciate what the complete mastery of the air will mean to humans just like us until he reads this fascinating novel.

SEEK WOMAN TO GIVE $500.000

Search Being Made for Montreal Heiress

Montreal, March 20.—Heiress to something over half a million dollars, if living, Maria McClusky is supposed to be working in Montreal as a domestic. She is one of a family of six children, and comes originally from County Tyrone, Ireland. When quite young her parents died, and the children were compelled to shift for themselves.

Maria, along with her brother Jas., came to America in 1875, the former settling in Kingston, Ont., and the latter in New York city. James rose rapidly in the firm where he was employed as errand boy, and in a few years branched out for himself as a paper merchant. When he died suddenly of heart failure last summer, he was reported to have amassed a fortune of over $1,000,000.

Upon his death steps were taken by his attorney, Andrew Wilson, to locate the deceased's missing brothers and sisters. It was found after a wide world search that only two were known to be alive. One of these, John, was found working as a farm hand at $15 per month and when told of his good fortune in inheriting over a million, he asked about his sister Maria, and said he must share his fortune with her, hence the search.

Indications are that Maria left her home in Kingston, Ont., and went to Clayton, N.Y., from where she is supposed to have come to this city. If living, she would have attained the age of 63 years.

The search here is being conducted by Mr. Howard M. Rowe, of New York, a personal friend of John McClusky.

GLADYS SEWARD IN GERMANY

The Talented Pianist Receives Praise for Her Performances

There are many friends in the city who are interested in the progress being made by Miss Gladys Seward, the brilliant young Canadian pianiste, who is studying in Dresden as a pupil of Mr. H. M. Field, the celebrated teacher of piano. Some time ago a fund was raised in part to defray the expenses of residence abroad, and the fund is nearly exhausted. It is hoped that when so much money is generously given for the several objects from time to time placed before our citizens, that Miss Seward's benefit will not be overlooked. Miss Seward has already more than made good in the most critical environment in the world, and where it requires not only marked ability, but incessant industry to reach any position in the musical world.

We clip from Dresden papers of late date some comment on Miss Seward's performances at late concerts, and which give high praise:

Mr. Harry M. Field's pupils' performance on February 10th was a great success. The advantages of his school were brilliantly brought into evidence by Miss Gladys Seward, who opened the program with a Bach fugue and parts from Schubert's Sonata op. 42. Miss Seward's technique is astonishing for one so young, so clear, so pure, so transcendental, her interpretative powers being as well remarkable, that one takes sheer delight in listening to her 'Vortrage,' which reveal strong pianistic powers. She further played some Chopin and Liszt selections, as well as a most interesting composition by Alvin Kranich, 'Intermezzo' in C major, which won general favor."

"Miss Gladys Seward, who is well known in Dresden, as a young pianist of great talent, will play the Chopin E minor Concerto with orchestra at the Gewerbehaus Symphony concert on March 11th, as well as several solos.

Mrs. Alice Roger Collins, of Mount Forest, and who has been most unremitting in her work on behalf of Miss Seward will be very glad to acknowledge receipt of funds, or such may be handed to Mr. Wainwright, manager of the Bank of Ottawa, who will take care of the same.

THE PERILS OF MIXED MARRIAGE

Ne Temere Decree Causes Much Agitation

London, March 21—The question of whether marriages between Protestants and Roman Catholics can be considered absolutely legal has now reached an acute stage, more especially in Ireland, where such cases are very numerous. The Archbishops and Bishops of Ireland, in a communication to the clergy, have asked them to call the attention of members of the Church of Ireland and all Protestants to the following points, which indicate dangers arising from the new marriage legislation of the Roman Catholic Church:

1 A promise of marriage made by a Roman Catholic is not now binding unless it be in writing and signed by both parties and by the Roman Catholic parish priest or two witnesses.

2 A promise of marriage even if signed and witnessed is not now binding unless the parties are willing to be married by a Roman Catholic priest and on the conditions which the Roman Catholic Church lays down.

3 A Roman Catholic cannot be validly married unless the ceremony be performed by a Roman Catholic priest and in accordance with the rules of the Roman Catholic Church.

Thus, a Roman Catholic married to a Protestant by a Protestant clergyman or in a civil registrar's office, is now told by the Roman Catholic Church, that the union is not marriage at all, and that the children are illegitimate. The Archbishops and Bishops earnestly warn their people of the dangers henceforth attending all marriages or promises of marriage between Protestants and Roman Catholics.

A debate on this subject was recently raised in the House of Lords by Lord Donoughmore, who characterized the Papal decree known by its first two words "Ne temere," which refuses to recognize mixed marriages except upon certain conditions as "an attempt on the part of the Vatican to alter the marriage law of Great Britain without the authority of Parliament."

How a Local Young Man Made Money

There are many people in and around the City of Peterborough who have money, looking for investment, who prefer a safe investment, such as bonds or low rate of interest, to investing in mortgages or other securities which require special judgment in selecting, and constant and careful watching to avoid loss. To such we would commend the following result to their careful consideration—

A young man of the City of Peterborough had his life insured sixteen years ago last January for Ten Thousand Dollars ON A SINGLE PAYMENT 15-YEAR ENDOWMENT PLAN. The premium paid was $6,460.00. On the 31st of January, 1910, the company paid him $12,116.00 in cash, after giving him fifteen years of free insurance. What do you think of that as an investment?

Are bonds or municipal debentures, or even the best mortgages, to be compared with it, when you consider that the risk of the life was carried during the 15 years? And remember, the security is as safe as any debenture or mortgage, and there was no trouble or expense entailed of any kind after the initial investment.

The above result was obtained from the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, under policy No. 47340, W.H.B.

Tom Marks Coming

When a theatrical promoter plans to put a company on the road he asks himself two questions: "How cheaply can I do ut," and "Will it pay?" Fortunately, the necessity of these questions was passed years ago by Mr. Tom Marks. The only question he asks is: "How good a show can I give the public this year?" Reputation is the show man's stock in trade. The public is loyal but it is also fickle, and demands the best possible and will not tolerate inferior amusements. Mr. Marks is more than willing to leave it to the theatre-goers of this city if the program offered by his splendid company at the Grand Opera House for three nights, commencing Thursday, March 23rd, is not one of the best stock organizations they ever attended. They will present "Fool and His Money" for the opening bill, including many noteworthy vaudeville numbers introduced between the acts. The seat sale opened this morning.

OBITUARY

Another respected resident passed away this morning at his home, 255 Reid street, in the person of Robert Fanning, aged 65 years.

Deceased was a son of the late James and Sarah Fanning, and was born in Otonabee, where he resided until he was about twenty-five years of age. After marrying, he came to Peterborough, and has since resided here, making a host of friends, who will deeply regret to hear of his demise.

The late Mr. Fanning had been employed in the brass department of the C.G.E., and was a member of the Benefit Society of that institution. He was a staunch believer in the Presbyterian doctrine, and a member of St. Paul's church, partaking in the sacrament of the Lord's supper a week ago last Sunday. He had only been ill for about a week.

Those left to mourn his death are a wife, two sons, Stewart, of Quebec, and Samuel, of Peterborough; one daughter, Edith, at home; five sisters, Mrs. Driver, Mrs. Packenham, and Misses Sarah and Hattie, of Toronto, and Mrs. Heard, of Peterborough; two brothers, James, proprietor of Fanning's laundry, and William, of Philadelphia.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 3.30 from the family residence, 255 Reid street, and proceed to Little Lake cemetery where interment will take place. A short service will be held at the house at 3 o'clock by Rev. R. Pogue, assisted by Rev. H. J. Keith.

Died at Home

Mrs. R. Carroll, a former resident of Cobourg, passed away yesterday morning at the Peterborough Protestant Home.

The remains were taken to Cobourg to-day for interment.

Died at Cobourg

The death occurred at Cobourg yesterday of Miss Janet Hunter, aged 36 years.

Deceased was a daughter of Geo. Hunter, of Philadelphia, who resided in Peterborough about eighteen years ago. The late Miss Hunter remained in the city until about ten years ago, when she went to Cobourg.

The survivors are her father and one brother, George, of Philadelphia, also a sister, Mrs. J. Kemp, of Auburn.

The remains were brought from Cobourg this morning and the funeral will take place at 2.30 o'clock to-morrow from the residence of her brother-in-law, John Kemp, 181 River Road, Auburn, to Little Lake cemetery.

WHO'S COMING AND GOING

J. J. Turner, jr., is in Toronto today on business.

Rev. J. P. Wilson, of Lindsay, was in the city yesterday.

Morley Pettit, of Guelph, is a guest at the White House.

R. M. Fee, of Lindsay, is a guest at the Snowden House.

J. L. Mercier, late of R. Hall & Son's, has gone to Sudbury.

L. Kennedy, of Little Britain, is spending a few days in the city.

F. P. Pocock, of Brockville, is a guest at the Snowden House.

Dr. E. V. Frederick went to Toronto, professionally this morning.

Mr. F. J. Might, of J. C. Turnbull & Co., is spending the week in New York.

Mrs. C. G. Graham, 188 Dalhousie Street, will not receive again this season.

Mrs. Ross F. Downey, 298 Boswell avenue, will receive to-morrow (Wednesday) and not again this season.

Walter Flowers, who has been confined to his home for the past three weeks, is able to be about again.

The indications are that the association football game will boom here this season. The young men of Park Street Church are in line with a team.

A meeting to organize a team is called by the young men of All Saints to take place to-morrow night. The C. G. E. and Brinton Carpet Works are waiting to get busy on the green.

Then there is the Midland League to get under way again.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lomas gave a St. Patrick's euchre party in honor of Miss Bessie Coulter, of Peterborough, at their home, 281 Logan avenue. The rooms were artistically decorated with green shamrocks, palms, ferns, and green flags.—Toronto Star.

The Misses Calder, Tyndall avenue, gave a St. Patrick's Day euchre party of eight tables in honor of Miss Pearce, of Norwood. Mr. and Mrs. Calder received the guests in the drawing room, which was artistically decorated with shamrocks, pink roses and ferns.—Toronto Star.

WHAT THE AGREEMENT WITH STREET RAILWAY CO. SAYS

What the Citizens of Peterborough Gave Their Approval To.

Below is given the clauses pertaining to the lines to be built by the Peterboro Radial Railway, according to the agreement with the corporation of Peterboro, which was signed by both parties in December 1903 and submitted to the people and passed by them, in the following month of January 1904.

Now this indenture witnesseth: that the parties hereto mutually agree as follows—

1 The Company shall build and put in operation for passenger, express and freight business at least five miles of electric railway in continuous or connected series of lines in the Town of Peterborough and in the Township of North Monaghan by re-opening the line formerly used by the Peterboro' and Ashburnham Street Railway Company and by extending the present line to the river Otonabee, provided the consent of the Township of Monaghan can be obtained to such extension in North Monaghan and by constructing a new line from the corner of Park and Charlotte Streets along Park Street, north of McDonnel Street, and from the corner of Park and McDonnel Streets to Jackson Park.

2 The lines of the railway described in the first paragraph hereof shall be built, equipped and operated not later than the 1st day of July 1904.

5 That in case the Company shall on request of the Council, to be made after the first day of July 1910, neglect after notice in writing being served upon the Company or an officer thereof, in accordance with a resolution of the Council, requiring the construction of a railway on additional streets in the Town of Peterborough, to build and have in operation such railway within nine months after giving of such notice, the franchise of such streets shall revert to the Corporation and the Corporation shall in that case have the right to grant a franchise of such last streets to any other company or person and any other company or person shall have the right to cross the tracks of the Company with its line or lines or railway without payment of any sum for the privilege of so crossing, except an equitable share of the cost of making the crossings and maintaining the same.

AN UP-TO-DATE STREET CAR SERVICE FOR PETERBORO

Electric Power Co'y Has Progressive Policy for This City—Pay-as-you-enter Cars

After all, the extensions to the Peterborough radial railway are on the way.

J. H. Larmonth, general manager of the Electric Power Co., informed the Review to-day that the company having purchased property to the west of the present car barn on King street, will erect a $10,000 car barn, and that the city will be given a thoroughly up-to-date street car service. Extensions will be made to Byersville, and about the city.

As for Ashburnham, the proposition of getting across by way of a bridge, is too difficult at present, and it is not likely that extensions will be made in that direction.

The difficulty in securing material and apparatus is being felt by the company, and this will keep the work back till late in the summer, but active and aggressive operations will be the policy by spring.

The company also intend to connect their power transmission lines, so as to give a complete circuit, and a switching station will be added to this city.

At present their available power from the Quaker Oats station is all utilized, and half of the power to be generated at the new station, under way at Auburn, will be used up for additional requirements. It is, therefore, necessary that, with the larger work to be undertaken by the company on the street car service, every precaution for the supplying of sufficient power for all their interests be taken.

CHILD PAINFULLY CUT ABOUT HEAD

Two Stitches Were Necessary on the Wound

The little daughter of George Gauthier, 260 Reid street, met with a painful accident while playing this afternoon.

She was spending the afternoon with a neighbor's child and the two were playing in the back shed. It seems her little friend shoved her and she tripped, bumping into a window and gashed the back of her head.

Dr. Young was summoned and he dressed the wound, applying two stitches.

SWINDLER HAS NOT BEEN HERE

Worked Smooth Game in Toronto—Many People Bit

An article appeared in the Toronto Globe to-day, telling of how some merchants of that city have been swindled by a smooth salesman. It stated that a traveller had waited upon several proprietors of small stores, representing himself as a salesman of a large jewellry house in the States. He exhibited a fancy silent salesman containing rings, brooches, pins, and other jewellry, which he offered to install in their places of business, assuring them that they would realize well on the investment.

Many people bit, mostly women.

It is said that he visited several outside centres, but by inquiry made in this city it was learned that as far as known he has not visited here.

One local jewellry dealer stated that it was practically impossible for him to work the game in this city, especially with jewellers who were familiar with the cost of such salesmen and the goods they contained, making it impossible for a traveller to attempt to dictate to a dealer.

A PUBLIC MEETING

To Further Discuss Tuberculosis Situation This Thursday Evening

Another public meeting for the purpose the tuberculosis situation in this city, is called to take place in the city council chamber this Thursday evening at eight o'clock.

The committee appointed for the selection of officers and transaction of other business, will report. The committee has been successful in securing a number of influential men of the city to act as officers for the association and it is hoped that some line of action will be taken as a result of the discussion at the meeting on Thursday evening.

BASEBALL FEVER IS HERE; THE YOUNGSTERS ARE BUSY

What Will be Doing in the City League This Season?

The small boy has appeared upon the scene with a nickel ball and give away bat, and nothing short of a young blizzard can drive him and his pals from the corner lot. The youngsters always start the excitement. The older ones come on later.

The vacant lots have come to life, the kids are on the job, and each one tries his wing to work at hurling o'er a lob. The bat that won the game last year, the bats that made the hits, have shorn their cobwebs and again are seen the big league mits. And winds may howl and snow may blow, but kids will not be stopped from working out upon the lots to get the first tha's popped.

The annual meeting of the baseball enthusiasts is not far off, and it will be somewhat of a change even if we do have to hear the same old heart to heart talks between the local magnates.

At this distance it looks like another season for the city league with the same old difficulties in the way. The majority of the players of last season we still have with us. There are also the usual number of world beaters, scattered about in the factories and stores.

But if there were two dozen of them, and each one turned out to be a fairly respectable exponent of the game, there would not be enough material to warrant a four team league being organized if the clubs are looking for any kind of success. Past experience says so. Its simply a case of starting all over again, and the sooner the local managers get this into their noodle the better.

There is no reason why a three team league should not be a gate winner and provide good baseball for the fans who would give their assistance to such. These burlesques are alright occasionally, and that lets them out. It is to be hoped that the performances of last year will never be repeated.

A HOME BREW MIDLAND LEAGUE

To be Made Up of Five Teams Including a Local Nine

Here's the annual announcement from Lindsay—Mr. J. J. Coughlin, of Peterborough, was in town on Saturday and interviewed several of the local baseball magnates for the purpose of forming a home brew Midland League, to comprise Lindsay, Peterborough, Port Hope, Cobourg, Oshawa and Bowmanville. The idea is a good one, and a meeting for the purpose of forming a team in Lindsay will be held in the near future.

PUCKLAND

Leo Koyle, who in 1909 was the star cover-point of the intermediate Lindsay team, is in town, putting up at the King Edward. Koyle is in the real estate business in Saskatoon, and is down here on a business trip, combined with pleasure. Leon's good right arm was nearly shaken from its socket yesterday.—Toronto Star.

THE RING

The bout between Sam McVey and Sam Langford, which was to have taken place last night, comes off next Monday night. The go is for 20 rounds and takes place at Paris, France.

The $10,000 belt, emblematic of the middleweight championship of the world and given to the late Stanley Ketchell soon after he put away Billy Papke at San Francisco in 1908, has been presented to R. P. Dickerson, the owner of the ranch at Springfield, where Ketchell was fatally shot.

ATHLETICS

George E. Goulding, the Canadian wonder, cleaned up all New York in a two-mile walking race Saturday.

It was a handicap, and Goulding not only won, but, as usual, broke a record and set the Gothamites crazy.

He walked his two miles in 13.45 1-5, beating Cender Murray's U. S. record, made in 1884, by 3 2-5.

While Goulding broke the U.S. record he was above his Canadian mark of 13.39. The world's record is G. E. Larner's 13.11 2-5, made at Manchester July 12, 1904.

SPRING LINERS

Eddy Fitzpatrick is the only absentee at Macon, where Joe Kelly has the players of the Toronto ball club in training for the opening of the season. Kelly has a number of veterans, including Willie Keeler, on the list, and will, of course, get the stony stare if the ancients fail to make good. They were all good—one day.

Cecil Ferguson, of the Boston Nationals' pitching staff, has left the game and entered business.

Ty Cobb landed for a home run, in an exhibition game at Mobile in which the Tigers were defeated 3—2. George Moriarity is field captain of the ex-champs.

It is reported that Addie Joss, the star heaver of the Cleveland team, will not be able to work his wing for six months, on account of an old complaint. Joss had trouble with his arm last season.

Jim Murray, one of the most popular players who ever wore a Maple Leaf uniform, is trying for a place in the outfield of the St. Louis Americans.

There are six former St. Louis players with the Toronto Club, Delehanty, Shaw, O'Hara, Phelps, Lush and Backman. Four Canadian players are O'Hara, McDonald, McIntyre and McWhirter.

The Eastern Baseball league opens on April 20th and closes September 24th. The number of games to be played is 154, the same number as the American and National leagues, which open on April 12th.

Puts U. S. Trust In Aeroplanes.

St. Paul, Minn., March 21.—"The United States is totally unprepared for any great emergency in war. Such men as Wilbur Wright will prove to be this country's saviors when the day comes for a trial of strength with Japan or any other country.

"With a small fleet of aeroplanes hovering over the Pacific or the Atlantic, it would be impossible for any hostile fleet of warships to land a force. This country is not prepared for attack from either shore."

This is the opinion of Sir Frederic Villiers, the famous English war correspondent and artist, who is here today.

A Race With Death.

Montreal, March 21.—With the train going at top speed in the race for a doctor, the last rites of the Catholic Church were administered to Alphonse Masse, aged 30, who was run over by the St. Agathe train on Sunday evening. He was late and ran, in spite of the warning that the platform was slippery, and fell under the wheels. Three cars passed over his leg and arms.

THE HIPPOPOTAMUS.

He Is Still Very Much In Evidence In the African Wilds.

Huge, unwieldy beast as he is, slow of movement and without special means of defence, or a superabundance of intelligence, the hippopotamus has yet held his own against his human foes during the last half-century, better than any other beast whose hide or flesh is useful to man.

For during that period, which has witnessed the almost complete extermination of the millions of shaggy bisons which once roamed the great prairies of North America, and has converted into an almost dead world (zoologically speaking), those vast wastes of Southern Africa, which when first visited by Europeans were tenanted by innumerable herds of wild animals, the range of the hippopotamus has been but slightly restricted, and to-day his loud trumpeting bellow may still be he heard on every lake or river of any size from the upper waters of the Nile to St. Lucia Bay in Zululand. Until quite recently a few still lingered in the lower reaches of the Orange River, and also in the St. John's River in Pondoland, and some of these may still survive.

At the present day the hippopotamus is still plentiful in the lower Limpopo, and it is to be found also in greater or lesser numbers in every stream, where the conditions are favorable to its existence, between that river and the Zambesi, and from thence throughout the whole of Central, Eastern and Western Africa, ranging northwards on the west to the confines of the waterless Sahara, and on the east to the upper cataracts of the Nile.

Thus the hippopotamus seems likely to be able to maintain itself for centuries to come in the vast rivers and swamps of Africa, and bids fair to outlive as a wild animal both the elephant and the rhinoceros.

In 1893 a considerable number of hippopotami inhabited the deep pools of the upper Umzingwani River, some forty miles south of Buluwayo.

These animals had been protected for many years, both by Lo Bengula and his father Umziligazi before him, but no sooner were the Matabele conquered and their country thrown open to Europeans, then certain white men destroyed nearly all these animals, which had been rendered tame by long protection, for the sake of their hides. A small herd was also protected by Lo Bengula in the Umguza River, within twenty miles of Buluwayo, but whether it is still in existence or not, is not known.

Although the African and Asiatic elephants and rhinoceroses differ considerably from their prototypes of Pleistocene times, the hippopotamus of the present day appears to be identical in structure with the animal whose fossil bones have been discovered in the caves and river beds of Southern Britain, and which must have been an inhabitant of Western Europe at a very remote period of the world's history, probably anterior to the glacial period, for during and subsequent to that time the English climate would hardly have been suitable to its requirements.

Cockfighting In England.

For centuries cockfighting was encouraged in English schools. Fitzstephen in the twelfth century mentions it as an amusement of Londoners and that yearly at Shrovetide the boys of every school brought cocks to their schoolmasters, and all the forenoon was spent in school witnessing the birds fight. At late as 1790 the income of the schoolmaster of Applecross, in Ross-shire, was drawn partially from cockfight dues. Down to 1815 at least there was an annual exhibition of cockfighting at the Manchester Grammar School.

A Seaside Mayor.

The fishing fleets on the coast of Newfoundland elect on their return to land one of their number, to whom they give the title of "seaside mayor." His duty is to preside over and control all the business connected with the distribution and curing of the fish that have been caught, to hear all cases of dispute and to mete out punishment to offenders. This post is much coveted by the fishermen, as it carries with it absolute authority, and implicit obedience is rendered by all to the seaside mayor during his term of office.

To Wash Cotton Blankets.

Cotton blankets are washed differently from those made of wool. Soap them well with laundry soap, fold and allow them to soak in tepid water. Wash them in an hour or so and place in a boiler of hot suds to steam, not boil. Rinse in several waters. Use a very little bluing and dry them double on the line. Press dry on the wrong side. Quite the contrary is the process of washing woollens, for hot water cannot be used on them. Dainty quilts liable to fade should first be soaked in a tub of cold water containing a half cup of turpentine to set the color.

How to Clean a Mirror.

The best method of cleaning a mirror, whether new or antique, is that of rubbing it in the first instance with a sponge saturated with methylated spirit and then sprinkling the surface of the glass with powdered indigo. If this is left for a few moments and then dusted off with a clean leather a good polish should be obtained.

How to Save Plumber's Bill.

Do not send for a plumber when the water freezes. Just unscrew the faucet so as to turn it upside down, put in a tablespoonful of salt and then keep adding hot water until the salt is washed down the pipe. A little patience saves a plumber's bill.

Too Many Words.

"I told you in so many words not to dare to take a drink to-day!" said Mrs. Jawback.

"Tha'sh what y' did, m' dear," agreed Mr. Jawback. "You tol' me in so many words that I couldn't remember 'em."

Claims Infringement.

Montreal, March 21.—A stenographer sat in the Princess Theatre last night and took down every word that was spoken on the stage. He was in the employ of Germain Beaulieu, advocate, of this city, and his purpose was to secure the proof that will enable Mr. Beaulieu to go before a judge to-day and ask for a write of injunction against the further production of the play, "Two Women," by Mrs. Leslie Carter, on the ground that Mrs. Carter's play is an infringement on the copyright of a play written by himself, "The Living Vision," and of which he alleges Mrs. Carter has the manuscript, which she has never returned to him or his representatives. The action will be directed against the proprietors of the theatre, and as a preliminary a notary protest was served upon them yesterday afternoon.

Marine Strike Expected.

Antwerp, March 21.—The impression deepens among continental shipowners that with attempts by the International Seamen's Union to bring about a universal strike a serious strike at English ports may be expected. This eventually is dreaded on the continent, where it is believed it would cause a condition of chaos in the world's shipping trade. It is admitted that there are not enough sailors available to take the places of union men if the latter should go out. The action of the English unions is anxiously awaited.

No Sign of Foul Play.

Hamilton, March 21.—Apparently there is nothing but natural causes to account for the death last week of 18-year-old Bessie Clark whose funeral, on Saturday, was stopped by the police acting on information given in a letter.

Yesterday it was stated by police officers that the autopsy had not disclosed anything sensational. From other sources, it was learned that there was no question of foul play in connection with the death of the girl.

Died From Her Burns.

Chatham, March 21.—Mrs. Ann McMillan, an aged lady, residing in this city, passed away Sunday evening at nine o'clock as a result of burns received on Saturday afternoon. Mrs. McMillan, who was 88 years of age, lived with her son, who was away from home on Saturday. She tried to light a gas stove, when her apron caught fire.

Firemen Rescued Twenty Men.

Springfield, Mo., March 21.—Twenty men asleep in the Young Men's Christian Association building here were nearly suffocated before being rescued by firemen yesterday, when fire destroyed the $50,000 structure.

The men were not awakened until escape by the stairway had been cut off.

The velvet should first of all be stretched, pile side upward, over the steam from a kettle of boiling water. As the steam begins to rise get some one to brush up the pile briskly with a stiff brush. Then spread out flat to dry and afterward brush lightly again. When the material has been worn a great deal and is very soiled, sponge it lightly with benzine.

How to Care For the Piano.

LUNG TROUBLE

Mrs. Biny Brown, of Tenecape, N.S., Was Cured by Catarrhozone of Lung Trouble and Catarrh, After Hundreds of Other Remedies Failed

If your lungs are weak; if there is consumption in your family; if Colds, Catarrh, and Bronchitis bother you, be sure to use Catarrhozone It is especially adapted for these diseases and cures every time

Mrs. Brown took cough mixtures, but they made her sick. Then she used an atomizer, but, after resorting without benefit to poultices, she tried Catarrhozone.

"I used Catarrhozone Inhaler," writes Mrs. Brown, "five minutes every hour, and soon recognized that it was going to cure me. I could feel the soothing medicated air spreading through the air passages of the throat, and it touched the sore spots in the lungs that other remedies failed to reach. Catarrhozone seemed to go just where it was needed most, and soon put a stop to my cough. It restored me to perfect health, and I am convinced that no cough, cold, or catarrh can exist if Catarrhozone is used."

No treatment is so clean, so pleasant, so certain to cure as Catarrhozone. By means of the Inhaler, the local symptoms, such as coughing, inflammation and congestion are speedily corrected. Ferrozone tablets, which are taken after each meal, purify and cleanse the blood of all poisons, and build up and strengthen the system.

This local and constitutional treatment is always effective, and cures cases that have been given up as hopeless. Money can't buy or produce anything better, and to get cured it is absolutely necessary to use Catarrhozone.

PLAIN PEOPLE MADE BEAUTIFUL

And All Persons Enabled to Regulate Height at Will

London, March 21.—Once more has a writer of romances anticipated the scientist. H. G. Wells' "Food for Gods," which produced a race of giants, seems to be in a fair way to be realized, according to Prof. Arthur Keith, of the Royal College of Surgeons, whose recent lecture on the fossil remains of man attracted much attention. In a lecture yesterday at the Royal Institution, the Professor encouraged the belief that the secret of growth has been discovered.

"So far," he said, "we have only unlocked the door of the unknown. We do not know exactly what the room will contain when we enter it, but we think that when we have done that we shall have the means of regulating the size and stature of the body and will. Modern research has proved that the growth of a giant is due to a diseased condition. Recent discovery has shown that the key of the growth was found in what was called a pituitary body at the base of the skull. It is a little thing which would not fill a tea spoon It is smaller than a grape and yet we know it to be a thing of very great importance. It was discovered by a French physician, Pierre Mare, who found also that in cases of abnormal growth this small body has enlarged. He jumped at the idea that it must secrete something which somehow affected the growth of the body.

"Now it has been found that in the pituitary gland are secreted a number of liquid substances which are deposited in the blood. Possibly at a future date scientists may be able to extract that one unknown essential substance and by feeding the subject with it be able to make the growth go on continuously. Now normal growth occurs in stages. There are weeks when a child stays the same size. This is followed by weeks when it grows, the pituitary body is only active by fits. When the unknown secretion is too plentiful in adults it causes unusual stoutness, but in the young who have not finished their growth an abnormal growth or giantism results. Science therefore holds out the hope that people may not only be able to regulate their height, but beauty doctors may be able to work on strictly scientific principles

"If a lady for instance did not think that her nose was symmetrical a doctor could bring to the shape required by means of a pituital sandwich. In fact the plainest people might be made beautiful."

BELIEVED IN CANADA

AND J. L. ENGLEHART CAME AT A TIME OF BIG EXODUS.

The Man Who Is Now at the Head of Ontario's Public Railway Came From the United States In the Early Eighties—Is a Man of Private Means and Loves His Work and His Employes.

It was in the eighties, when all the talk was of Canadians trekking to the United States, that several Americans of greater foresight reversed the process and came to Canada.

In their ranks were numbered not only such outstanding figures as the late Ezra B. Eddy of Hull, Que., and the late Hiram Walker of Walkerville, who built up businesses which are known practically throughout the Empire, but also such railway magnates as Sir William Van Horne, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and Mr. C. M. Hays. To this honorable roll belongs by right the name of Jacob Lewis Englehart, chairman of the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway Commission, and vice-president of the Imperial Oil Co., Ltd.—a man who represents a type of worthy, useful, self-made and splendid citizenship none too frequently met with in Canada.

Mr. Englehart was born in Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 2, 1847, his parents being John Joel Englehart and Hannah Richards Englehart. His school-days were brief, for he left Cleveland in 1860, at the age of thirteen years, and went to New York, where he entered the Pine street offices of Sonnborn, Drafoo & Co., an oil-exporting firm, as clerk and rose by his own efforts to be a partner in the concern. In 1870 Mr. Englehart came to Ontario to investigate the oil fields, and, perceiving their possibilities, he decided upon the establishment of the first refining works for export in Ontario. While retaining his New York connection, he founded the firm of J. L. Englehart & Co. at London. After six years of success in London Mr. Englehart sold out, and was on the point of returning to the United States, when he purchased the works of the Carbon Oil Co., and moved them to Petrolia, where the principal oil wells were located, himself becoming a resident of the town. In 1881 the Imperial Oil Co. was established, Mr. Englehart becoming vice-president, a position which he still holds. The company was reorganized in 1891, and the refineries removed to Sarnia.

After definitely deciding to remain in Canada, he had assumed British citizenship, and chose Conservatism as his political faith. He took part in many election contests, but sought no political honors. When the Whitney Government assumed power Mr. Englehart's prominence as a successful business man and his intimate knowledge of railway affairs marked him out for preferment when the Temiskaming Commission was being reorganized. On his return from Europe in 1906 he was appointed to membership on the commission, and when Mr. Cecil B. Smith resigned the chairmanship soon after, Mr. Englehart was regarded as his logical successor for this important post.

The salient characteristics of Mr. Englehart are his simultaneous grasp of the broadest aspect and the most minute detail of any subject, and his unfailing courtesy and affability.

The visitor to the offices of the commission finds its head easy of access, urbane of manner, debonair of person, and unvaryingly genial and obliging. It does not matter whether it be a member of the Government who drops in, a railway magnate come to confer upon momentous matters a newspaperman in search of information, or the humblest employe of the road with a grievance or a request—all alike are made to feel welcome and at ease.

In the conduct of the affairs of the Temiskaming Railway Mr. Englehart has adopted what might be called the paternal, not to say the patriarchal, method. The employes of the road are made to feel that they are not only active partners, but members of one big family.

In addition, Mr. Englehart keeps close watch upon the work of all employes, and the man whose monthly report makes a good showing is liable to receive a personal letter of commendation for excellent work done, with a hint that the faithful and efficient performance of duty will not be forgotten.

Possessing abundant means of his own, the $5,000 salary which he receives as chairman of the commission is but a bagatelle to Mr. Englehart. His pleasure has never been in accumulating money, but in using it wisely. His services to the people of Ontario are given freely, not for the monetary return which he receives, but for the pleasure he takes in demonstrating the possibilities of suc[illegible] and [illegible] of a great public utility.

CHANGE IN WOMAN'S LIFE

Made Safe by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Graniteville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth mountains of gold to me, as it restored my health and strength. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me during this trying period. Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter."—MRS. CHAS. BARCLAY, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been curing woman's ills such as inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

FAKING OLD MASTERS.

Spurious Antique Paintings and the Credulity of Purchasers.

"The most amazing thing about spurious 'old masters'," said a London picture expert, "is the credulity of the purchasers. They have only to stop and reflect a moment to understand that comparatively few canvases were produced by the masters, who for the most part were slow and careful workmen, and then let them consider how many persons there are who claim to possess Rambrandts, Rubenses and Van Dycks, not to mention Corots, Daubignys and Ziems. The experts themselves are deceived sometimes."

"What is the exact process for reproducing old paintings?" the expert was asked.

"When a dealer finds a purchaser in the form of a nouveau riche seeking to gain a reputation as a patron of art he seeks some artist who is a careful student of old paintings and a man of genius in copying rather than in original work. The artist secures a canvas and chassis, or inner frame, of the period desired. The canvas is probably daubed with the work of some unknown man and is quite worthless.

"All traces of paint are removed by washing the canvas with a hard brush dipped in potash. Next a preparation of calk glue is applied. Several coats of this are put on and smoothed with pumice. Finally a coat of oil is applied, and when this is dry the canvas is ready to receive the talent of the modern 'old master.'

"It is a mistake to believe that the mellow tints of ancient pictures cannot be reproduced. A clever artist can do anything in the way of coloring. The subject chosen is usually that of a well-known work, with slight changes in composition and the possible omission of details considered unpleasing to the modern eye.

"When the picture is finished it is left to dry for a few months, and it remains only to give it the cracks characteristic of old pointings. This is done by running the thumb along the back of the canvas wherever a crack is desired. White chalk hardens the paint and makes cracking easy. The dealer invents an interesting story of how the picture hung on the walls of this or that historic chateau and strikes off an old sales catalogue to prove its authenticity. He even makes engravings, for it is customary to have engravings of the old masters.

"These devices, with the reputation of the dealer, generally succeed in deceiving the wealthy buyer. I have seen such pictures sold time and again, always bringing the enormous sums which are the market price of genuine masterpieces."

Ready Wit.

The wit of the late Dr. Francis A. Harris was always ready. It came like a flash, as when being told that a Chinaman was about to be appointed on the police force he remarked, "the Asiatic collarer," and passed on.

At a banquet given to Charles Dickens, the younger, the chairman, inadvertently talking backward, referred to the guest as one not only honored for himself, but because of his father. The younger Dickens in response dryly observed that he was glad to see that critical discrimination had not been lost in hospitality, and Dr. Harris saved the situation by rising and proposing a toast "to Charles the second, who never lost his head."

A Small Inheritance.

At the trial of Horne Tooke, Lord Eldon, speaking of his own reputation, said: "It is the little inheritance I have to leave my children, and, by God's help, I will leave it unimpaired." Here he shed tears, and to the astonishment of those present Mitford, the attorney general, began to weep. "Just look at Mitford," said a bystander to Horne Tooke. "What on earth is he crying for?" Tooke replied: "He is crying to think what small inheritance Eldon's children are likely to get."—"Modern Eloquence."

Liverpool Wheat Futures Close Higher, Chicago Lower—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

CHICAGO, March 20.—A see-saw movement in wheat prices to-day left the market this evening at just the same point as Saturday night to ⅛c to ¼c below. Differing views in regard to Kansas crop prospects led to a rise and then to a decline. Corn finished with a net loss of ⅜c to ½c to ⅝c; oats of ⅛c to ¼c, and provisions 10c to 27½c to 37½c down.

The Liverpool wheat market closed to-day ⅛d to ⅜d higher than on Saturday; corn was ¼d to ⅜d higher. Antwerp closed ⅝c higher on wheat; Berlin, unchanged; Buda Pest, 1¼c higher.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, March 20.—The foreign demand for Manitoba spring wheat was poor, but cables were strong and bids 1½d higher. The local trade in coarse grains were slow. A little business was worked over the cable in spring and winter wheat flour at an advance of 3d per sack and there was also an improved demand from local and country buyers.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Union Stock Yards.

TORONTO, March 20.—Receipts of live stock at the Union Stock Yards were 71 carloads, consisting of 1459 cattle, 12 hogs, 271 sheep and lambs, 28 calves and 42 horses.

Exporters.

E. L. Woodward bought for Swift & Co. 106 steers for London market, 1296 lbs. each, at $5.85, average price, or a range of $5.80 to $5.95.

Butchers.

Prime picked lots at $5.80 to $6; but we only heard of four choice heifers selling at the latter price. Loads of good, $5.40 to $5.75; medium, $5.15 to $5.35; common, $4.80 to $5.10; cows, $3 to $4.80; bulls, $4 to $5.

Milkers and Springers.

The market for milkers and springers is not nearly as good as it was. Not many cows were on sale, and $40 to $60 would be about the ruling prices. One drover had two cows, for which he was offered $60 and $70 each, but declined to sell them, as he said they were worth more at home.

Veal Calves.

Veal calves sold at $4 to $8.50 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

The market was firm for both sheep and lambs. Sheep, ewes, sold at $4.50 to $5 per cwt.; rams, $4 to $4.25; lambs, $6.50 to $7, and one choice lot at $7.10. Thick, fat, heavy lambs are the kind that sell at $6.50. Good quality, nice, 100 to 110 lbs., bring the $7 price.

Hogs.

Hog prices were again reported another notch of 10c per cwt. lower. Selects, fed and watered, at $7, and $6.65 to drovers for hogs f.o.b. cars at country points.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, March 20.—At the Montreal Stock Yards, West End Market, the receipts of live stock for the week ending March 18 were 1400 cattle, 1500 sheep and lambs, 1300 hogs and 2000 calves. The offerings this morning were 700 cattle, 100 sheep and lambs, 550 hogs and 500 calves.

Notwithstanding the fire, which took place at the above market this day week, there was ample accommodation for all the stock that came forward, and buyers and sellers were not put to any inconvenience, and, considering the little time the management had, the market is in as good condition as could be expected. A feature of the trade was the stronger feeling which prevailed for cattle, and prices as compared with those of a week ago show an advance of ¼c per lb., which was due to the smaller offerings. The weather was fine and the gathering of buyers fairly large, and as they all wanted some beef the demand was good and a more active trade was done. Choice steers sold at 6½c, good at 6c to 6¼c, fairly good at 5½c to 5¾c, fair at 5c to 5¼c, and common at 4½c to 4¾c per lb.

Another feature of the trade was the stronger feeling which developed in the market for hogs and prices advanced 15c to 20c per cwt., which was attributed to the smaller supply. At the advance there was a fairly good demand from packers and sales of selected lots were made at $7.40 to $7.50 per cwt., weighed off cars.

In the small meat trade calves were a glut on the market and sellers found it difficult to make sales even at the slump in prices on account of the fact that the government inspectors are very strict this season and in consequence a large percentage of the purchases made of late have been confiscated. Some sales were made at prices ranging from $2 to $8 each, as to size and quality. The trade in sheep and lambs was quiet and prices were unchanged. Yearling lambs sold at $6.50 to $6.65 per cwt., and sheep, at 5c per lb.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

BUFFALO, March 20.—Cattle—Receipts, 3875 head; market slow and lower; prime steers, $6.40 to $6.50; shipping steers, $5.50 to $6; butcher grades, $5.25 to $6.20; heifers, $4.25 to $5.75; cows, $3 to $5.25; bulls, $3.50 to $5.50; milch cows and springers, $20 to $63.

Calves—Receipts, 1900 head; market, slow and lower; cull to choice, $5.50 to $9.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 17,000 head; market, active and 15c to 25c higher; choice lambs, $7 to $7.25; cull to fair, $5 to $6.75; yearlings, $5.75 to $6.25; sheep, $3 to $5.65.

Hogs—Receipts, 12,050 head; market, active, 10c lower; Yorkers, $7.30 to $7.40; pigs, $7.50; mixed, $7.10 to $7.20; heavy, $7.05 to $7.10; rough, $6 to $6.25; stags, $4.75 to $5.25.

If you are suffering from any form of skin disease or injury, read this!

Mr. Arthur Fairbank, of 547 Lansdowne Ave., Toronto, is the speaker, and he says: "A bad eruption on my forehead quickly spread until it covered my scalp with foul and painful sores. I went to a doctor who treated me for it. Still the sores spread until almost the whole of my head was affected. As the doctor's treatment did me very little good, I left it off and tried various home remedies.

"Then I tried blood mixtures, but not one of them did me any good. I was by that time in a shocking condition, and as a last resource I went to a skin specialist. He treated me for a period and it cost me over $50, but the sores got no better. They would itch and burn at times until I was nearly mad. I must have spent over $100 on useless remedies, when one day a friend asked me why I had not tried Zam-Buk, and gave me a little. That little bit of Zam-Buk did me more good than all the long treatment I had had from doctors and specialists. I immediately sent for a supply of the balm. Very soon I began to see and feel a great difference in the sores, and finally Zam-Buk cured me at a trifling cost. If I had got it at first it would have saved me dollars, and hours and hours of pain."

For all forms of skin diseases, ulcers, abscesses, eczema, ring-worm, blood-poisoning, etc., Zam-Buk is a sure cure. It also heals old wounds, cuts, burns, bruises, cold sores, chaps, and cures piles. All druggists and stores at 50c. box, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse substitutes and imitations.

THE GREAT QUESTION ? Of Spring Attire

What is going to be worn, and what particular style or shade is most suitable, are two questions that confront almost every woman at this season of the year. A visit to our store will very easily solve the problem for you.

Individual Suitings

Here is an opportunity for the woman who wants "Something Exclusive." There are no two patterns alike. There are checks, stripes and diagonal weaves, in grey—cream with black stripe—black, blue, cream, brown, etc., with the favorite pin stripe—the new homespun effects, and many others which space will not permit us to mention. These are all of English, Scotch and French manufacture, and represent the best display we have ever shown.

French Silk Foulards

The preference for Foulards this spring makes the mention of our complete stock unusually interesting. In black, green, navy, king's blue, etc. We are showing a splendid array in spot, diamond, ring and two-tone effects. These are all shower-proof.

New Laces and Trimmings

Laces are extensively used this season to garnish the new gowns, and we are well prepared for the great demand. Every fashionable trimming is there in every desirable kind and color.

New Motor Veils

Imported direct from Paris, France. Colors white, black, cream, champagne, grey, pink, sky and navy. Ask to see them, they are very pretty.

Custom Tailoring and Dressmaking Dept.

We are pleased to say this department has earned the WELL DESERVED PRAISE of all its patrons. To avoid disappointment, orders for Easter should be sent in without delay.

Spring Millinery Exposition

This has proved MORE THAN any mere FASHION DISPLAY, as evidenced by the great number of women who have already found and claimed the distinctive model that seems made for them alone. Shapes are varied as woman's needs. Hats of dainty tailored charm, with just the right simplicity for the walking suit, side by side with the Picture Hat, makes a delightful study, each striking some new note, and embodying some new ideal of elegance. We extend an invitation to all to come and see the season's latest productions.

ABOUT THE BAHAMA ISLANDS

Something of Their History—Their People and Methods of Living—Does Canada Want Them?

Although up till last night the Canadian Government had not heard officially of the desire of the Bahama Islands for annexation to Canada, union with the Dominion seems probable as the result of the Legislature of the islands voting by 23 to 6 in favor of that step. "The next move would be the appointment of persons by the two governments to negotiate the terms of annexation.

The Bahamas are a tropical chain of islands, fully 1,300 miles from the nearest Canadian territory. The group consists of about twenty inhabited islands and an immense number of islets and rocks, comprising an area of about 4,404 square miles, and a population in 1909 of 61,277, the most part being descendants of liberated Africans. The principal islands are:

SPANISH ONCE HELD THEM.

New Providence, (containing the capital, Nassau). San Salvadore, Abaco, Grand Bahama, Long Island, Eleuthera, Exuma, Mayaluana Harbor Island, Great Inagua, Andros Islands, Watlings Island, Rum Cay, Long Cay F. I., Raged Islands and Biminis.

A BUCCANEER'S BASE.

The Indian population having been carried away by the pearl fisheries of Panama, or to labor in the fields and mines of other Spanish colonies, Bahamas remained deserted until, in 1629, an English settlement was begun in the island of New Providence. Twelve years later Spain asserted her claim, based upon discovery without occupation. The English were expelled, but again attempted colonization; and Charles II., in 1680, actually granted the islands to six English noblemen and gentlemen. Early in the eighteenth century New Providence was twice raided by French and Spanish forces; and again it became a desert. Buccaneers of all nations made themselves at home, and held undisputed possession until another English settlement was planted in 1717, and British troops assigned to its defence.

Tory emigrants from the English colonies on the mainland at the time of the revolution introduced slave labor and the cultivation of cotton, which did not thrive. New Providence was captured and held for a short time by the Americans under Commodore Hopkins in 1776; six years later it fell into the hands of the governor of Cuba, but was retaken by the loyalist, Colonel Deveaux, before twelve months had passed. The rights of the old lord proprietors were purchased in 1787, the Bahamas becoming ministered by a colonial government.

During the Civil War in the United States an enormous blockade-running trade swelled the imports of the islands from a little more than $1,000,000 to upwards of $26,000,000, the exports from about $800,000 to more than $2,300,000—a period of prosperity both brief and unique.

U. S. HAS CHECKED GROWTH.

Violent storms and droughts have more than once brought ruin to the natural industries; the cultivation of small fruits, vegetables, oranges, pineapples, cocoanuts, etc., has been attempted, with moderate success. Sponge-fishing is carried on extensively. At the eastern end of the group are the Turks and Caicos Islands, which are separated politically from the Bahamas, and made a dependency of Nakaica in 1848.

The inhabitants of Great Abaco are chiefly descendants of the American Tories referred to above. Harbor Island has about two thousand inhabitants, who are descendants of the bucaneers. The largest and most densely wooded are the Andros Islands.

RANGE OF TEMPERATURE.

From November to May the temperature ranges between 60 and 75 degrees F., in the summer months it varies from 75 to 85 degrees. The climate, though subject to greater extremes of heat and cold than that of other groups in the West Indies, is agreeable and health-giving, and Nassau is a favorite resort for tourists in winter.

The government is vested in a governor, aided by an executive council of nine members, a legislative council of nine members, and a representative assembly of twenty-nine members.

$20,000 TO TON IS NEW GOLD FIND

Will Stampede From Nevada for the Quartz Field Just Discovered

Reno, Nev., March 19.—One of the greatest mining stampedes since the discovery of Tonopah and Goldfield began here this afternoon when a special train started out for Amadee, Cal., eighty miles north on the line of the Nevada, California and Oregon Railroad, for the new gold quartz fields discovered Friday. The new camp is just across the California line in Washoe County, Nevada, on the Fort Sage Mountains.

Six men ran into quartz croppings sticking above the surface and extending for a great distance alone a ridge and into the valley. According to advices received here an assay made at Susanville shows the ore to run as high as $20,000 to the ton. The ledge is three feet wide and extends more than two miles.

COURT LANGTON MET LAST NIGHT

POLICE COURT

Two seedy looking characters, who gave their names as Hugh Fagan, and Harry Maden were arrested yesterday afternoon at the C.P.R. station by Detective Newhall. They came into the city riding the bumpers just in the rear of the engine.

Both spent the night in the cells and came up before City clerk Armstrong this morning, who presided in the absence of Magistrate Dumble, who is in Lakefield.

The extreme penalty for the offence is a fine of $50 or two months in jail. They were let off with a fine of $10 or the alternative of 20 days in jail. They lacked the price so they will do the time.

Fred Bradley was the worst for liquor yesterday and was arrested while using very abusive language on the street. It cost him $2 this morning.

OPTICAL INSTITUTE GETTING AHEAD

Progress is our prescription, always adding to our facilities, new optical instruments, new optical methods and doing our work with increasing interest and fine finish. Many who have become acquainted with our methods have found that our idea is better service than they have been accustomed to expect in quality, attention and satisfaction. They find us just as interested in supplying the most suitable glasses as they are in getting them.

We know how much that means for us in the good will and good optical practice for the future.

Coronation Robes

London, March 21—The weaving of the cloth of Gold for the King and Queen's coronation robes has been begun at Messrs. Warner's silk works, Braintree. By order of the Queen, the materials will be entirely of English make. The cloth consists of silk material, into which are woven threads of pure gold.

When finished, the cloth which will be insured for £500, will be taken to the London School of Art Needle Work, and there made into robes for the King and Queen. The fabric is stated to be more valuable than its weight in gold coinage.

Queen Mary has already begun the task of overhauling her fine collection of jewels, in preparation for the coronation festivities.

ONTARIO IS NOT YET READY FOR PETTICOAT GOVERNMENT

Allan Studholme's Bill Comes Up In Legislature and Finds Many Luke-Warm Friends, But Only One Who Is Fully In Favor of It—Sir James Is Impressed, But Declines to Provoke a Political Revolution.

Toronto, March 22.—Woman's suffrage occupied the attention of the Ontario Legislature yesterday afternoon. Representative members of the various woman's enfranchisement associations and other ladies thronged the Speaker's gallery. The other galleries were also filled by visitors, who listened with close attention to the speeches.

The introduction of the bill by Allan Studholme (Labor, East Hamilton), was not taken seriously by a number of the members, who, after indulging in bantering remarks, and a certain amount of ironical applause, betook themselves to the corridors. Sir James Whitney and Hon. A. G. MacKay gave the mover of the bill a respectful heaoing, as was also the case with about half the the other members of the House. Hon. Dr. Reaume, Hon. James S. Duff and Hon. J. S. Hendrie were absent, representing the Ontario Cabinet at the funeral of the late D. F. Tolchard, caterer at the Parliament Buildings.

In opening the discussion on his bill to grant women's suffrage, Mr. Studholme said the subject was as important as the subject of reciprocity which ha,d occupied the attention of the Government for the past two weeks.

The question was: "Are women fit to vote?" Men seemed to have a habit of saying "no," and it was an insult to Canadian women. With their splendid intelligence and magnificent education they were just as capable to vote as any man at present sitting in the Legislature.

"Some of the members have asked me if I wanted to live under petticoat government." said Mr. Studholme. "Well, as a child I lived under the petticoat government of the best mother that ever was.

"In England I lived under the petticoat government of the best Queen that ever was. I am still under petticoat government of the best wife that ever was, and I have got the best mother-in-law in the world. So why shouldn't I like petticoat government?"

One of his chief reasons for demanding suffrage for women was that women were forced to sell their labor cheap, and on account of the government of men, women were undercutting the labor market. Every labor organization in the whole world he knew of was ready to hold up both hands for woman's suffrage.

Where the equal franchise had been established the effect had been to purify politics.

W. Proudfoot (Liberal, Centre Huron) said that from the manner in which the bill had been received he did not expect that it would receive favorable treatment, but he hoped that the day would soon come that some Government would carry a bill through the Legislature.

Every member of the House looked up with reverence to womanhood. It was that feeling which caused many men to object to women mixing with men in politics. But the influence of women could always be counted upon where they had the vote when moral issues were involved.

A. E. Donovan (Con.), Brockville, argued that it had been in the best interests of society that women be not allowed to vote and the Legislature should wait until they were absolutely sure that the bulk of the women of the province wanted the franchise. It was his firm belief that the intelligent mass of women had no desire to mix up in the animosities of politics.

R. J. McCormick (Lib.), East Lambton, whose Irish wit and accent are richly appreciated, was applauded until the whole auditorium echoed, when he rose to his feet. He confessed that he didn't have very much to say that was going to please the ladies in the galleries, but he simply had to say something, because all the members of his household were women, and they would go for him if he didn't take some part in the discussion. Humbly he would advise that things be allowed to go on as they were.

Dr. J. S. J. Smellie (Con.), Fort

American Opposition.

New York, March 22.—The executive officers, members of the executive committee and members of the board of managers of the American Protective League, held a special meeting yesterday and adopted resolutions reciting that "the manufacturer can hope to retain protection for his industry when protection has been provided for the farmer," and urging that all friends of protection bring to bear "every proper influence on Congress against the adoption of the reciprocity agreement with Canada."

Gashed His Throat.

Toronto, March 22.—With his throat gashed with a knife, which lay nearby, Andrew McGrath, a cattle drover, was found under one of the sheep pens in the western cattle market yesterday morning by Policeman Craig. He was hurried to St. Michael's Hospital in a private ambulance, where his injury was found to be severe, but not likely to prove fatal. No cause is known for his act. He is 35 years of age, unmarried and lives with his sister at Tecumseh and Niagara streets.

LOAN TO CHINA OF FIFTY MILLIONS

First Projected by as American Enterprise But is Now Far Reaching

Pekin, March 22.—The negotiations for the loan of $50,000,000 to China by an American group of financiers have reached a final stage, all points at issue having been agreed upon. It is lexpected that an imperial edict sanctoining the loan will be issued this week.

The loan was first projected as an American enterprise purely, and was originally sought by the Chinese for political purposes.

The agreement now reached provides that four banking groups of the United States, England, Germany, and France, shall participate equally, and the financial adviser of the Government in the matter of the use of the loan shall come from a neutral European state.

The Hukuan loan, the negotiations for which were begun long ago, is also likely to be concluded soon. China's recent misfortunes from famine and plague, accompanied by fears of foreign complications, have influenced the Government to bring the financial transactions to a conclusion.

BIG CONTRACTS FOR C.N.R. WORK

Winnipeg, March 22.—Contracts were awarded by the Canadian Northern Railway Co., amounting to $8,000,000, for the grading to be done on the main line and new branch lines which the company is having constructed in the west this year. The following are the contracts in detail:

Cowan Construction Co.—200 miles on main line from Edmonton toward Yellowhead Pass; 200 miles from Alaska to Calgary, on the Maryfield extension; 90 miles from Redfield to Moosejaw and Maryfield extension; 35 miles on Jackfish extension, from North Battleford toward the Peace River country; 80 miles from Shelbrooke to Battleford.

Northern Construction Co.—100 miles from Red Deer to Calgary; 200 miles grading and construction on main line from Vancouver toward Rockies.

May Form New Cabinet.

Rome, March, 22.—From all quarters Giovanni Giolitti, who was Premier in 1909, is being urged to form a new Cabinet. Although he has not yet officially undertaken the task, he has begun to sound the different groups of politicians, with a view possibly to organizing a Ministry, which would include Extremists and even Socialists.

Goes to the Coast.

Regina, Sask., March 22.—Premier Scott left at midnight yesterday for the coast, where he goes to recuperate his health.

WOMAN IN CASE NOT MRS. ULRICH

Special to The Review.

New York, N.Y., March 22—Albert Ulrich, the accusor of Booker Washington, the colored lecturer, has disappeared. This move by him follows a report that the woman passing as Mrs. Ulrich was not his wife.

Twin Wonders.

Montreal, March 22.—W. M. Aitken, M.P. for Ashton-on-Lyme, arrived here last night from Newcastle, N.B., and states that on every side in town and country in England he was asked if he knew Sir William Mackenzie, and had he seen Niagara Falls.

The young financier had known Sir William, but as he had never seen Niagara, he wants to see the Falls before he returns to Westminster on April 5.

Endorsed Reciprocity.

Seaforth, March 22.—A meeting was held here Monday night for the discussion of the fiscal agreement between Canada and the United States. There was a good attendance. At the close of the meeting a resolution was carried endorsing the policy of the Dominion Government on this question.

MEXICANS WERE KILLED IN BATTLE

Were Part of Band Who Were After Cattle

Special to The Review.

San Antonia, Texas, March 22.—Two Mexicans, who were members of a band that crossed the border after cattle, have been killed in a battle which occurred between the Mexicans and citizens of Chiesos Springs, Texas. The battle was fought on United States soil.

CRUSHED THEIR SKULLS WITH AXE

New Haven, Conn., March 22.—That Thomas Fitzgibbons, jr., killed his father and mother at their home in Ansonia Sunday night by crushing their skulls with an axe and then set fire to the house, is the finding of the New Haven county coroner, made public last night. The accused, who is being held without bail, has twice been an inmate of institutions for the insane.

TRY A REVIEW WANT AD.

To the City Council!

The city council will meet to-night, to consider the matter of a new industry for Peterborough. Why should it not also consider the welfare of some of the important industries that are here, and which will be hurt if the reciprocity pact goes through?

It is admitted that Peterborough, being a manufacturing city, cannot remain silent when its industries—the life-blood of the town — are being hurt, from whatever cause. The Quaker Oats Company and the Matthews Co., in particular are seriously affected by the provisions of the reciprocity agreement. Who knows when the other manufacturing industries of the city will not suffer in a similar manner, if reciprocity is accomplished, and its scope extended?

The city council of Hamilton passed a resolution against the pact, because of the injurous effect on that city's 400 factories. Why should not the city council of Peterborough, representing the strong sentiment of the citizens, also put itself on record?

Is the city council here any less concerned for Peterborough's welfare than Hamilton council is for the welfare of that city? At to-night's meeting, let the Peterborough council pass an anti-reciprocity resolution, voicing the undoubted wishes of the people.

We call on the aldermen to be true to Peterborough and its best interests.

BOSTON NEEDS HOUSE-CLEANING

Boston, Mass., March 22.—Rev. Cortland Myers, D., pastor of Tremont Temple, came out to-day with a statement charging that Boston is being disgraced by a wave of crime, by the orgies of society folk, in the leading hotels, and by women smoking cigarettes.

"Boston needs a thorough moral cleaning," said Dr. Myers. "Carousals by people from whom better things could be expected, call for more than passing allusion or mere condemnation."

FIELDING WAS STRONGLY FOR ANNEXATION OR SEPARATION

Hon. T. Chase Casgrain Tells Important Things About Finance Minister's Career and History

Montreal, March 21.—Much comment was aroused in political circles to-day by a declaration made by Hon. T. Chase Casgrain, former Attorney-General of Quebec, and ex-M.P., in the course of a speech at the big anti-reciprocity meeting last night.

Mr. Casgrain did not speak till late and the importance of his remarks, which reveal important historical facts was not seized at the time. Mr. Casgrain declared that he firmly believed that the ratification of the agreement would be a step towards annexation, especially as the American element was so strong in the west. And if annexation took place, he would like to ask his French-Canadian friends what they would lose by it. Let them take a lesson from the history of Louisiana, which today was not French, and in which no French people had any rights.

Mr. Fielding, he declared, had from the first been in favor of federation with the United States, and to prove this, he read a protest, which Mr. Fielding filed at an interprovincial conference years ago, in which he reserved to Nova Scotia the right to take such a measure as might be thought fit to obtain the separation of that province from Canada. Was it surprising he asked, that the man who put in this protest, should, go to Washington and make this agreement which would result in the disruption of the Confederation and the ruination of this country?

At Mr. Mercier's invitation, an interprovincial conference to all the Premiers of the different provinces except British Columbia, met in Quebec in 1887, for the purpose of suggesting certain amendments to the British North America Act, particularly in reference to provincial subsidies from the Dominion Government. Messrs. Fielding and Longley represented Nova Scotia. Certain resolutions were passed, and an official report was published in a blue book and distributed to the members of the Legislature in 1888. Mr. Fielding insisted upon inserting the following protest in the minutes:—

"In view of the recent agitation in the Province of Nova Scotia, the representatives of that province desire to note in the minutes that if they join the representatives of the other provinces in discussing reforms in matters which are of general interest, they do so without prejudice of the right of the Government of the Legislature, and of the people of Nova Scotia to adopt such a policy as may in the future commend itself to them, in order to obtain the separation of that province from Canada."

"The blue book, containing this protest cannot be found at the Government library at Ottawa or Quebec.

AND MISTRESS OF THE AIR

Maxim and Grahame White Modeling Armoured Aeroplane for England.

Special to The Review.

London, March 22.—Sir Hiram Maxim and Graham White, the aviator are working together on the model of an armored aeroplane in the interests of England, with a view of making Great Britain the supreme power in aerial defence.

MANY VICTIMS TO THIS SCHEME

London, March 22.—All mail received at the postoffice for the Mesdames Gall of Picadilly street, famous because of the matrimonial bureau episode, is being sent back to the "suckers" from whom it was received.

This statement was made yesterday by Inspector Campbell of the postoffice.

The inspector asked the postmaster to hold all mail coming for the women, and requested that it be turned over to his department. This was done for the first day, and in the meantime the women in question were communicated with, and they agreed to have the mail returned to the people who sent it.

Since the matter came to light, the postoffice has been able to get some idea of the size of the correspondence carried on. Many letters have been received for them daily, and at times as many as thirty in one batch would come in. They were from all over the States.

THE CHARGES ARE UNTRUE

London, March 22.—The charge of Mrs. May R. Thornley of the W.C.T.U., made to the Ministerial Alliance Monday, that immorality existed in the city schools, and that drinking, gambling and immorality was carried on in the young men's clubs, met with a storm of denial yesterday.

"I would not be afraid to challenge anyone to find anything immoral going on in our schools," stated George S. Weir, truant officer, yesterday.

"I do not believe there is anything in these reports of immoral conditions at all. I got a little magazine called The Purity Advocate some time ago. It was full of stories such as the ministers heard yesterday. It seems to me some of the women must have been reading that.

"I suppose," continued the truant officer, who day by day goes in and out among the schools and the pupils, "that there are some boys, and perhaps girls, too, who are not as pure as they might be. Personally I know of one instance where all is not as it should be. But to imply that the schools are hotbeds of iniquity, that in them immorality is spread, is absolutely wrong. I feel sure of that.

"The trouble comes in when the boys and girls have to leave school early and work together. The schools themselves I know are free from all just suspicion of impurity."

SUPREME COURT JUDGE IS DEAD

Special to The Review,

Ottawa, March 22.—Mr. Justice Girouard, the senior judge of the Supreme Court of Canada, passed away at his home here this morning from injuries which he received in a runaway accident one week ago.

MORE INFORMATION WANTED ON THE TARIFF PROPOSALS

Member for Qu'Appelle Demands Further Data Before He Is Ready to Vote on Reciprocity. Mr. Northrup Pours Hot Shot Into Hon. Mackenzie King For His Action In Leading G.T.R. Strikers Into Trap.

Ottawa, March 22.—The only discussion on reciprocity which engaged the attention of the House of Commons yesterday was the effort of R. S. Lake (Qu Appelle) to impress upon the House the fact that he had not made up his mind regarding the reciprocity agreement. He is still seeking information on the subject, and until judgment comes to his rescue, he will remain a mugwump.

On motion to go into supply, W. B. Northrup (E. Hastings), moved an amendment to the motion to go into supply, that the House expresses regret that the Government failed to make any intelligent efforts "to avert the late strike on the Grand Trunk Railway, to put an end to it during its continuance, or to compel C. M. Hays, president of the railway, to effectively carry out the agreement." Mr. Northrup dealt severely with the Minister of Labor, and declared that he had allowed himself to be put off with assurances from the company. The amendment was finally lost on division, and the House went into supply on marine estimates.

R. S. Lake (Qu'Appelle) took occasion to refer to a remark made by D. D. McKenzie (Cape Breton) last week that he (Mr. Lake) was the only elected representative of the people from the Province of Saskatchewan who was opposed to the reciprocity agreement. He was not sure about that. It was a misstatement. So far he had not expressed himself upon the matter. He felt it his duty to weigh the information on both sides before coming to a decision, and in this connection he complained that the Government had handed out information in a niggardly fashion. Mr. Lake referred to previous discussions, and said that if the farmers of the west had known that Sir Wilfrid Laurier would have gone no farther than he has in the reduction of duties on manufactures, the resolutions approving of the agreement would have been worded differently.

The members then indulged in what will likely be the last competition of the session in the presentation of resolutions for and against reciprocity. When it was over, Hon. Geo. Foster observed that, while it was interesting, the rules were being unduly stretched. Sir Wilfrid Laurier agreed with the member for North Toronto, and said that in future the rules would be more closely observed.

The enquiry into the Lanctot charges was continued at the afternoon sitting of the privileges and elections committee yesterday. Mr. Papineau, director of the works at Sorel, informed the committee that he would not have granted the application for employes and material to be used on the Lanctot residence if it had been made to him personally. Excepting in cases of great emergency he would decline to do such work.

When the private bill to incorporate La Banque du Canada came up in the House Sir Wilfrid asked Mr. Bickerdike, its mover, to allow the bill to stand over. "This is an important matter," remarked the Premier, "and the Government would like an opportunity to consider it further."

Mr. Northrup, in supporting his resolution, criticized the Minister of Labor for not invoking the Conciliation Act and made no effort to secure an arbitration of the difference at issue between the parties. He proceeded, however, with an investigation which did not bind the company and did not benefit the men. The Minister should have brought about an arbitration, and, if necessary, should have used the "big stick" for the purpose.

Mr. Northrup declared that the honor of the crown was pledged to the men, and Mr. Hays' refusal to reinstate the strikers was a deliberate breach of faith. The Labor Department had been no benefit to the men, and Judge Barron was in the employ of the Grand Trunk. He had refused to hear any cases which had not first been appealed through the hierarchy of the railway.

Mackenzie King dissented from the view that the Government should have forced a binding agreement upon the company. The Government had no power to compel the parties to submit to an arbitration. The men were not willing to arbitrate, because they claimed they were getting lower wages than the men on the C.P.R.. The Government must either be credited with settling the strike or be free from blame for not enforcing the settlement. It was the action of the Government and intervention of the Cabinet Ministers which had led to the end of the strike If one could judge from results, it was evident that the "big stick" had been used effectively. Mr. Hays had determined not to yield to arbitration, but to fight to the bitter end regardless of cost. The employes had no objection to being taken back "as soon as possible."

CANADIANS COME NEXT

Announcements of Changes Made at Kingston Go to Show That General French's Proposals Will Be Carried Out — English Staff Officers Will Supersede Several of the Canadian Department Chiefs.

Kingston, March 22.—Important announcements have just been made in military circles which go to show that the Militia Department has decided to accept Gen. French's recommendations for reorganization of the military forces of the Dominion. Pending the arrival of officers of the Imperial army, arrangements have been made temporarily for the following changes:

Col. Thomas Benson, Ottawa, will be transferred to Kingston, to command a division here.

Col. T. D. R. Hemming, in command here, will be appointed A.A.G. at Toronto, the D.O.C.'s having been done away with. Major L. W. Shannon of London will come to Kingston as D.A.A.G., to replace Lieut.-Col. D. D. Young, retired. Lieut.-Col. Burstall, commanding the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, will go to Quebec to take the place of Lieut.-Col. English, who will become A.A.G. at Montreal. Col. J. A. G. Fages will return to Kingston from Halifax as A.A.G.

A radical departure will be made in the appointment of an officer of the Imperial Army to each division to act as Chief Staff Officer. The work of the deputay assistant adjutant-general for the second division, which for many years has been performed by Lieut.-Col. J. Galloway, wil be divided between the chief staff officer and the D.A.Q.M.G. Lt.-Col. Galloway on account of ill-health, is retiring.

It is understood that officers coming out from England may take the places of Col. Drury, Halifax; Col. Roy, Montreal; Gen. Cotton, Toronto; Col. Benson, Ottawa. The adjutant-general, Col. Lessard, so it is reported, may be retired, and a war office official may take his place.

It is also reported that an officer of the Scots Guards had been selected for this post.

TO BE CROWNED ON DECEMBER 12

Special to the Review.

London, March 22.—King George gave his approval to-day to the details suggested for the coronation. December 12th is the date set for the coronation as Emperor of India at the Durban, at Delhi, India.

WESTERN WHEAT BELT IS WANTED

London, March 22.—The Newcastle Chronicle says anent arbitration: "If we withdraw our forces it would not be long before the United States annexed every inch of territory from Alaska to Winnipeg. It is not improbable that the next move of American diplomacy will be the offering of some concession like the free passage of warships through the Panama Canal as a recognition of the cession of Vancouver Island, Alberta, British Columbia, the Yukon, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Ontario. Despite the disclaimers, we need be in on doubt as to the desire of the United States to see the entire wheat belt of Western Canada under the Stars and Stripes, so that the territory from Chicago right up to Alaska would be under the jurisdiction of Washington."

JARDINE WAS GREATLY AFFECTED

Special to the Review.

Goderich, March 22.—Edward Jardine's lawyer refuses to discuss the alleged confession. If one was made it is believed to be the result of the visit of the members of a Young Men's Bible Class to the jail. Jardine was deeply affected by the visit.

UNION LABEL

FINE LOYALTY

Hampton's Magazine for April contains an article by Arthur Stringer, entitled, "If Canada should come in," and is illustrated by a picture of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, with this beautiful quotation: "

"Whenever as a Canadian I have to choose between the interests of England and the interests of Canada, my whole heart is with my native land. The interests of my country are identical with the interests of the United States."

Isn't that quotation an encouraging specimen of the British sympathies and imperial aspirations of the head of the Dominion of Canada? Is not this pandering to the American republic in the form of reciprocity treaties, etc., a warning to the loyal people of Canada, of where they are being led to? It is time to put Mr. Borden into office, that the affairs of the country may not be administered by people who would lead us into separation from Britain, but by a party the chief platform of which is its strength of British and imperial sentiment.

AS WE ARE SEEN

A series of articles has for some time been appearing in the New York Evening Post, on "Canada as a Nation," from the pen of Warden Allan Curtis. They display far more knowledge of Canada than the ordinary article to be found in the American publications; but they not only display a knowledge of Canada, they display as well a discriminative insight into Canadian character very rarely secured by a foreigner.

It is interesting, and somewhat novel, to find an American speaking so frankly as Mr. Curtis does at a time when there is an effort on the part of the governments of the two countries to come into closer relationship in matters of trade. Here is a specimen of what he has to say:

"The Canadians know us and don't like us, and this dislike is a fact of great importance to the British Empire for it is the chief thing that has held Canada in that Empire and makes it the most loyal overseas branch. For Canada is more loyal than Australia or New Zealand and has a far greater consciousness of the Empire's unity. Measured not merely by what it promises to be, but what it already is, Canada is Britains' greatest colonial asset, its best reliance in national peril, its granary and a source of fighting men. Canada, first of all the British colonies has left itself a nation, and has been treated as a nation by the mother country."

Mr. Curtis makes that statement despite the fact that as a country we have practically refused to assume our fair share of the cost of naval defence of the empire while New Zealand and Australia have displayed a generosity calculated to put us to shame. And yet we believe what Mr. Curtis says is entirely true.

In view, too, of the possible ratification of a trade agreement which is bound eventually to destroy imperialistic sentiment and replace it with a continually growing friendship for the United States, the following opinions will be read with interest if not with entire acceptance and belief.

"Because of this dislike of us, Canada has resisted what she was told was her national destiny, absorption by us. Her prosperity was drained by emigration to us. Prosperity lagged her national life was torpid. She could change this by joining us, but she wouldn't. Nevertheless there was a process of assimilation. While Montrealers still somewhat affectedly spoke of England as "home," the the English intonation disappeared from popular speech. You couldn't tell an Ontario from a New York state man by accent. Canadians adopted our slang. Although their five-cent piece is silver they called it a "nickel" so American had they become in speech. But it isn't a nickel any more and the British intonation has come back, and they are not thinking so much about us as they were. For there is more Canada to think about.

"Where practically none of us Americans went to them, now five of us go to them for each three of them who come to us and this doesn't take into account Canadians who return to Canada. The American immigration is not all to the west, either. There are 13,000 Americans in Montreal.

"The English-Canadians have been passing into the final state of Canadians. While the country was weak in numbers, while no one believed there would be any population north of a narrow strip along our border, a mere geographical shoestring, the dislike of us held them to the British allegiance. To-day an immense pride in themselves, an immense confidence in their future, in a country which is inhabited clear to the Arctic circle, becomes the bond to hold Canada intact.

"The Canadian is the last development of English-Canadians and French-Canadians, a people who increasingly hold themselves exclusively to Canada and not to the ancestral land across the sea."

EDITORIAL NOTES

An English scientist says that washing isn't healthy. He probably has returned to his second boyhood.

The Conservatives cannot be much worse off in Alberta and Saskatchewan representation in the Dominion house in any event. There is one Conservative out of ten members from Saskatchewan, and three out of seven from Alberta—only four Conservatives from all these well distributed constituencies. Manitoba is almost solidly Conservative, and will remain solid. If an election is sprung before the consummation of the reciprocity pact the Conservatives should be in a position of great advantage.

The meeting of the Georges last night was a splendid indication of the interest in Peterborough in this movement to make a coronation gift to King George. A general committee was appointed to look after the placing of subscription lists, and to arrange that all Georges should be made acquainted with the movement. The amount given by each George may range from 5 cents to $5, but only the name of the giver will be published—no amount. It is not the amount of money that is sought for; it is the number of names. Small contributions are just as important as larger ones. In fact, 5 cents from the school-boys is just as emphatic and as pleasing as 50 cents or $5 from their fathers.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS SAY

MIDDLESEX RURAL DELIVERY.

London Advertiser.

There are more rural free mail delivery boxes in operation in the district of which London is the centre than there are in all the rest of the Dominion. "When the Government started the routes," said an official, "10,000 boxes were ordered. We have already more than 6,000 boxes out in this district, and the demand is growing faster than we can get the boxes from Ottawa. There are now 150 rural free mail delivery routes in South-Western Ontario, and we have applications in for a very large number of others."

HIS MOMENTS OF WEAKNESS

London Free Press.

The debate at Ottawa over the Farmers Bank case reveals the fact that Mr. Fielding also has his "moments of weakness."—Hamilton Herald (reciprocity advocate.)

Does our contempory think that the weakness shown by Mr. Fielding in the hands of the Farmers Bank manipulators justifies the country in accepting him as its representative in a trade agreement with the shrewdest of American diplomats, Taft and Knox?

THE POLITICIANS' PULL.

Toronto Mail and Empire.

For the farmers who have been ruined by the Farmers Bank the Ottawa Ministers have no sympathy. But for the politicians who invested in the Quebec bridge their feelings were very warm. The politicians were repaid every dollar they put into the bridge scheme with a premium of ten per cent. and interest at six per cent per annum.

TOO MUCH PARTIZANSHIP.

Canadian Courier.

Why not argue out the reciprocity question without imputing motives? It would be much more wholesome for public life and public spirit. We have a plethora of partizanship in this country—more than they have in Great Britain or in the United States, and it does not conduce to a broad and fair-minded discussion of public questions.

Surely Sir James Whitney and the Hon. R. P. Roblin have as an inalienable right to oppose reciprocity as Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Mr. Paterson, Mr. Fielding, and the other Ottawa Ministers have to support it?

There is no question of right or wrong in regard to reciprocity; it is a question of commercial expediency. On questions of commerce there is plenty of room for differences of opinion.

The members of parliament or legislature who occasionally breaks away and votes against his party is a man in a fair way to gain a reputation. The member who votes with his party looks for light and leading.

THE MARKETS

Liverpool and Chicago Wheat Futures Close Lower—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

CHICAGO, March 21.—Liquidation of May wheat started in earnest here today. General selling of that option by houses desiring to purchase July narrowed the spread to 1c. Lower cables and a promise of rain made the markets as a whole take the down-grade. The close, which was weak, showed a net decline of ½c to 1c to 1⅜c. Latest figures were unchanged to ⅜c to ½c under last night for corn, and were off ¼c to ⅜c on oats. In provisions the outcome of the day was a rise of 5c to 25c compared with twenty-four hours before.

The Liverpool wheat market to-day closed ¼d to ⅜d lower than yesterday. Corn was ¼d lower. Antwerp closed ⅝c lower on wheat. Berlin unchanged, and Buda Pest ⅜c lower.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, March 21.—Export trade in Manitoba spring wheat dull. Cables weaker owing to heavy offerings from Argentine and bids were 1c to 1⅜c per bushel below cost, even at the decline in Winnipeg. Local trade in coarse grains dull and feeling easier, especially in oats. There was an improved demand for flour from local buyers and outside buyers, and sales of several small lots were also made over the cable. The demand for bran and shorts is good, and millers in some cases are now in a position to fill orders promptly.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, March 21.—The railways reported 71 carloads of live stock at the City Market, consisting of 876 cattle, 1578 hogs, 381 sheep and lambs, 232 calves and 11 horses.

Exporters.

One lot of 12 export steers, 1200 lbs. each, sold at $6.

Butchers.

Prime picked butchers sold at $5.80 to $6; loads of good sold at $5.40 to $5.75; medium, $5.10 to $5.30; common, $4.60 to $5.10; cows, $3 to $4.90; bulls, $4.50 to $5.

Milkers and Springers.

Receipts were not large, but greater than the demand. Prices $40 to $60 each. Only the best quality milkers and springers are in demand, and slow at that.

Veal Calves.

Receipts large, with prices easier, at $3.50 to $8 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Prices for sheep and lambs were steady. Sheep, ewes, sold at $4.50 to $5 per cwt.; rams, $4 to $4.25 per cwt.; lambs, yearlings, $6.50 to $7 per cwt. Spring lambs sold at from $6 to $8 each.

Hogs.

Selects, fed and watered at the market, sold at $7, and $6.65 to drovers for hogs f.o.b. cars at country points.

Mr. Harris reports quite a percentage of heavies coming. One drover who had 62 hogs, had 19 that were too heavy and were culled out at 50c per cwt. lower price.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, March 21.—Cattle—Receipts 75 head. Market active and steady; prime steers, $6 to $6.50; butcher grades, $3 to $6.40.

Specialist Could Not Remove Stone In The Bladder

GIN PILLS PASSED IT

JOLIETTE, P.Q.

"During August last, I went to Montreal to consult a specialist as I had been suffering terribly with Stone in the Bladder.

He decided to operate but said the stone was too large to remove and too hard to crush. I returned home and was recommended by a friend to try GIN PILLS.

They relieved the pain. I took two boxes and went back to the specialist. He said the stone was smaller but he could not remove it although he tried for two hours and a half. I returned home and continued to take GIN PILLS, and to my great surprise and joy, I passed the stone.

GIN PILLS are the best medicine in the world and because they did me so much good, I will recommend them all the rest of my life". 46

Publish My Letter The World Over

The Words of Harold P. Bushy, Who Was Permanently Cured of Chronic Lumbago by "Nerviline."

"Three years ago I discovered that a man subject to lumbago might just as well be dead as alive." These words open the sincere, straightforward letter of H. P. Bushy, a well-known man in the plumbing and tinsmithing business in Portland.

"One attack came after another, and lumbago got to be a chronic thing with me. I could scarcely get in a day's work before that knifing, cruel pain would attack my back. I used a gallon of liniments; not one of them seemed penetrating enough to get at the core of the pain. I read in the Montreal Witness about Nerviline, and got five bottles. It is a wonderful medicine—I could feel its soothing pain-relieving action every time it was applied. When I got the disease under control with Nerviline, I built up my strength and fortified my blood by taking Ferrozone at meals. This treatment cured me permanently, and I urge everyone to give up the thick, white, oily liniments they are using, and try an up-to-date, penetrating, pain-destroyer like Nerviline.

Don't be cajoled into receiving anything from your dealer but "Nerviline." Large bottles 50c., trial size, 25c. Sold everywhere or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

STOCKINGS EVEN HAD TO COME OFF

Vigorous Search of Women by Customs Men

New York, March 21.—Mrs. Joseph Hull, whose husband is president of the Merchants' National Bank of Savannah, Ga., and her daughter, Miss Nannie Hull, both returning passengers by the liner La Province, were rigorously searched by customs officers yesterday for a diamond necklace they did not find.

"We were made to take off even our stockings," said Mrs. Hull. "Every stick of our clothing was searched, and even our hair did not escape. I consider this treatment an outrage. I had no idea such a thing could happen on American soil."

Miss Nannie is convalescing from typhoid fever, and the danger of keeping her waiting on the pier while her baggage was being searched, after the unsuccessful search of her person, was such that she was permitted to leave for a hotel where her brother lives.

A special agent of the treasury department had the case in charge. He said his superiors had confidential information that Mrs. Hull or her daughter had bought a diamond necklace abroad. Not finding it, customs agents accused her of undervaluing her personal effects in her declaration and sent her luggage to the public stores. Her daughter's declaration was admitted to be correct.

DR. SYMONDS ON USE OF INTELLECT

Former Peterboro Pastor Deals With Modern Evils

Toronto, March 22.—Dr. Symonds continued yesterday his two series of lectures in St. James' Cathedral, at 12.30 and 5.15 p.m. His general subject at the evening hour is the "Right Ordering of Life," and he dealt yesterday with the right use of the intellect.

The supreme object of the intellect, said the preacher, is truth. The search for truth is characteristic of the age, as illustrated by the immense pains which are taken in the various departments of science to discover and register exact results. But the discovery and practice of truth is more difficult in the social relations of life, and now the temptation to abuse truth is almost irresistible.

In commercial life, for instance, the enemy of truth is the love of gain. Apart from the grosser temptations to describe goods as being what they are not, there are a thousand other forms of falsehood, where without actually violating truth fake impression are created.

In political life the enemy of truth is party spirit, and the lust for victory and its spoils. How far does the political campaigner aim at absolute truth? He learns, little by little, to wrap, on falsehood in the clothing of truth, and to assume all the airs of injured innocence or indignant morality.

Again, the same temptation is to be found in the world of religion. Here the enemies of truth are tradition and prejudice. Too often the preacher is regarded as the special pleader for his own communion, rather than the exponent of absolute truth.

The preacher concluded by exhorting his hearers to follow the light of truth, in spite of the labor and disappointments of the path; the end of truth is eternal victory, peace and rest.

A severe storm was experienced in the Hawick district, Feb. 17th. The wind blew quite a gale and rain fell heavily, the full effects being felt in the valleys of the Teviot. Much damage was done.

Vancouver is to have a strict enforcement of the curfew law.

VIRGINIA OF THE AIR LANES

A Romance Of Flying

By HERBERT QUICK

Copyright, 1909, by the Bobbs-Merrill Company

CHAPTER I.

WHEN MAIDENS FELL FROM THE SKY.

FOR twenty shimmering miles the gulf beach lay in the sun, a white straight edge against blue. Mistily through the surf haze glimmered the tower of Sand island light save when obscured by the smoke plume of a fruiter standing in past Fort Morgan for Mobile. It was early forenoon. The yellow globe of the mooring balloon at the fort shone in the sun like a dome of some audacious new architecture flung high into the pulsating air. Two men far down the coast toward Pensacola caught the faroff splendor and noted in the very act of casting off from it a long, cigar shaped aeronat—an immense, elongated bubble of quicksilver. It floated seaward, rounded to, stood a moment end on, librating like a balancing top.

"She's boun' fo' N'Yawlins, Ah reckon, suh."

The speaker was a typical gulf fisherman, long bearded, soft of speech, courteous as a diplomat, barefooted, weathered in garments and skin. Over his cheeks and nose were scattered broad brown blotches which had it not been for their size might have been called freckles. He rolled a cigarette, lighted it, turned his eyes on his more youthful companion, repeating, "She's sho' boun' fo' N'Yawlins."

In the mien of the younger man there was something of kinship to the elder, as there might be in a New England chemist or engineer something that is like his forty-second cousin fishing on the Newfoundland banks. The softness of speech was modified to a subtle firmness and a subdued decision. The slight, tall frame was arrowy and erect, as if the youth had imbibed from some winier air a latent self esteem expressed in the hint of incisiveness in speech. The boy also had the areas of mottled freckling, overlaying a pink glow. He wore a blue flannel shirt with a bright silk cravat. His shoes were scoured gray by the beach sand, and his well shaped hat was powdered with it. His trousers were of cadet gray and were striped down the side; seemingly they were a part of some obsolete uniform. He sat on a great square timber half buried in the sand and had been studying a blue green Portuguese man-of-war cast ashore and rolled up before the breeze, dragging its yard long tentacles. On the beam lay a steel square, a brace and bit, a roll of blueprints, some steel drills and a book of logarithms. The speech of the old fisherman made him look up. He picked up a pair of binoculars from a cast-up crate and studied the distant airship.

"Mo' likely bound for Pensacola, captain," he said. "She's coming this way—a Condor with bow rudder."

The aeronat, drawing nearer, swelled like a great silver moon. The men admired her as they walked inshore through soft, trodden sand down to a lower level of yellowed palmettoes and scaled a steep dune slope thicketed with curious scrub oaks. Here was hidden a cabin of rough boards with a wide veranda or gallery, on the columns of which were to be seen bleached barnacles, telling of the storm tossed voyage which had brought them hither. Abutting on the cabin by one end was a spacious shed without visible door or window. So thoroughly was the edifice concealed by the oak scrub and the low growing stunted spruce that one might have passed a dozen times within a stone's throw of it without seeing it, and even from the airships its drab roof powdered with blown sand was well nigh invisible. Under the gallery was perfect safety from observation from aloft.

As seen through the glass, the airship was swelled to impressive bulk now. Her rudder stood aslant, a stripe of brown against the silver foil of her bilge. On the seaward side ran the darker line of a toy aeroplane—a matter of appearance more than use—and slung beneath by a gossamer nacelle, steady as the deck of a liner, hung her roomy car, the engine room astern, the three great screws half invisible, like the vibrant wings of bees. She veered to the north and stood inland as if to cross the Little lagoon, that beautiful salt lake which for ten miles lies within sound of the gulf surf, but separated from it by a little wilderness of dunes, then by a majestic swooping movement she threw her whole vast sweep of broadside open to their gaze. The captain's dimmer eye now made out the woman and the two men on her deck, while Theodore Carson's, keen for such a sight and armed with the glass, observed that the woman wore a broad hat of vivid red, a scarf of the same color and—a woman would have told him—a pique gown.

"They bette' moor," said the fisherman. "They's a norther comin' out. What they doin' now, Miste' Theodo'?"

"Why," said Carson, studying the aeronat with the glass and clipping off his sentences as the astounding evolution of the incident far up there in the blue rendered every utterance obsolete before it was finished, "why, they have thrown off a package of—it's mechanism—of some sort—in operation, and— They're making a tow of it. They're reversing and rounding to. See them drift off! They're excited and all aback about something. Heavens! See that thing shoot up! It's some sort of helicopter, I believe—and the girl's alone in it, captain! Alone, I say! Why did they— She's lost control—she's lost! It's shooting over this way and coming down! It will—it will— My God! My God!"

The thing parted from the great aeronat was a little speck topped with a broader, mushroom shaped shimmer which Carson knew for the revolving blades of a helicopter, that insidious toy that promised so much for the conquest of the air. Then, as though released from the pull of gravity, it shot skyward, leaving the silver airship far below, as a fly might speed from a floating bubble. The two spectators drew their breaths sharply in, their hearts frozen in fascinated apprehension.

They saw it rise skyward like a boy's dart until they shuddered at the abyss that yawned between it and the earth; saw it struck by the far advanced loftier vanguard of the north wind predicted by the fisher captain; saw it hurled southward before the blast like a feather.

The Condor had a name. She was the Roc, owned by Mr. Finley Shayne, and her home port was Shayne's Hold, in the Catskills. Those who are familiar with the scope, power and spectacular success of Mr. Shayne's operations in aerostatic power stocks in the latter part of the first quarter of the present century will surmise that the Roc was the finest product of the art of aviational construction up to that time.

This fateful morning she had moored in the aerial harbor at Mobile, in her berth hard by the lift near the Bienville statue. Mrs. Shayne, a native Mobilian, pleaded indisposition, but went out to see some old houses dear to her youth. Mr. Shayne and their guest, Mr. Max Silberberg, had insisted upon the presence of Virginia Suarez, Mrs. Shayne's niece, on a trip down the bay in the Roc to witness the demonstration of a new flying machine, and she had yielded. The inventor, Wizner, a suspicious, foxy, middle aged man, proved objectionable to Miss Suarez because his thumbs turned back so far that the sight of them made her feel creepy, and as he gesticulated freely while denouncing all devices for aerial navigation except his his thumbs were much in evidence.

Virginia wished Wizner at her side, crooked thumbs and all, for no thumbs or voice could be so offensive as the unrelieved presence of Mr. Silberberg, the head of the Federated Metals concern, controlling the copper, gold and silver output of a continent.

She felt herself thrown at his head by her aunt.

"So you think, Aunt Marie," she had said, "that Mr. Silberberg is one of the great ones of the earth?"

"Most certainly," rejoined Mrs. Shayne. "He is retaining and increasing the enormous wealth and power he inherited. To do what he is doing takes a great man. Your uncle will tell you so."

Silberberg made the hay of courtship in the sun of opportunity. Virginia pondered on her aunt's standard of greatness.

"Where's Uncle Finley?" she asked. "We are getting a long way south."

"Giving the helicopter a private examination," replied Silberberg. "It is a happiness to me that he is. But the inventor would go wild if he knew the sort of expert his precious machine is alone with."

"Wild!" repeated Virginia. "Listen even now."

QUEEN DOES NOT LIKE LARGE HATS

Her Majesty Prefers the Neat and Small Toque

London, March 22.—Queen Mary is very particular in regard to the dressing of those in her immediate entourage, neatness and quiet good taste being the mot d'ordre among her ladies in waiting and the youthful recently appointed maids of honor.

"Queen Mary has a dislike, for instance," says the Gentlewoman, "to the blouse or costume being cut low in the neck, and she permits only the neat high collar or lace for morning or afternoon toilettes. The Queen too, has commanded that, when in waiting her maids shall eschew another mode somewhat in favor with many young girls at the moment, viz., the wearing of short elbow sleeves. The Queen has also, in this respect, signified her liking for the neat, small toque in preference to the wide-brimmed fashionable had, with its towering plumes."

Belated Love Letter

The sweetheart of a soldier of the civil war had the remarkable experience last week of receiving a letter written by her soldier-lover on the day he was killed in battle, 46 years ago. The principal actors in the drama are Mrs. Mildred Mitchell, of Norfolk, Va., to whom the letter was written, and Henry C. Pomeroy, of the 1st Vermont Cavalry.

At the battle of Fisher's Hill, Va., Sept. 22, 1864, Mr. Pomeroy, who in taking some gun tools from the body of a soldier killed but a short time previous in the charge, found a letter upon which was a confederate stamp ready for mailing. The letter was mislaid, and for years remained hidden, but about five years ago it was found, and along with other war relics was placed in the museum in the Grand Army hall. The letters happened to arouse the interest recently of Maj. Seymour H. Wood, a former commander of the G.A.R. in the department of Vermont. After much trouble he learned where the person for whom it was intended lived, although she had married and become a widow.

Cobwebs in the Morning.

Cobwebs in the head on rising in the morning is the result of a Lazy Liver, one or two mornings in succession and sick headache follows.

Father Morriscy's Liver Pills will clear the Brain.

These Pills are a purely vegetable compound prepared with great care, and are without doubt the very best pills for general use, on the market. The greatest care has been given to selecting the ingredients, and being entirely vegetable, they act upon the liver and bowels in such a manner as not to disturb the other functions of the body as many pills do.

As a Liver Invigorator, Blood Purifier and General System Renovator, they are unequalled. Sick headache is invariably brought on by a sluggish liver, constipation or irregular bowels; these pills are a cure for sick headache in any form.

Pimples, eruptions and yellow skin are often caused by a lazy liver; one pill three times a week, will soon clear the complexion.—Price 25c. per box.

Twenty-Five Years In Priesthood.

Quebec, March 22.—Rev. Frederick George Scott, rector of St. Matthew's Church, and canon of the cathedral, celebrated last evening the 25th anniversary of his ordination to the Anglican priesthood, and the anniversary was marked by a special service in the church of which the devoted clergyman is now pastor. After the service Dr. Scott was the recipient of a number of valuable presents.

Women Take a Hand.

Hunnewell, Kas., March 22.—Because they believed the men are running the city as a "wide open" town, the women of Hunnewell have decided to take a hand in the city government. At a caucus of women held yesterday, Mrs. J. E. Wilson was nominated for mayor, and Mrs. G. A. Osborn for police magistrate.

Two Years for Stealing Oats.

Niagara Falls, Ont., March 21.—Charged with stealing a thousand pounds of oats from the barn of Jas. Parker, in Stamford Township, James McAvoy of this city was yesterday sentenced to two years in the Central Prison by Magistrate Fraser. Chief Kimmins and Officer Farrell traced the wagon tracks from Parker's barn to McAvoy's house, where the oats were found hidden. Two valuable lap robes and a tie strap, belonging to the late O. D. Glasgow, were also found, which were stolen on May 7 last. McAvoy pleaded guilty to both charges. He served two years in the Central Prison six years ago on a charge of horse-stealing.

How a Local Young Man Made Money

There are many people in and around the City of Peterborough who have money, looking for investment, who prefer a safe investment, such as bonds or low rate of interest, to investing in mortgages or other securities which require special judgment in selecting, and constant and careful watching to avoid loss. To such we would commend the following result to their careful consideration—

A young man of the City of Peterborough had his life insured sixteen years ago last January for Ten Thousand Dollars ON A SINGLE PAYMENT 15-YEAR ENDOWMENT PLAN. The premium paid was $6,460.00. On the 31st of January, 1910, the company paid him $12,116.00 in cash, after giving him fifteen years of free insurance. What do you think of that as an investment?

Are bonds or municipal debentures, or even the best mortgages, to be compared with it, when you consider that the risk of the life was carried during the 15 years? And remember, the security is as safe as any debenture or mortgage, and there was no trouble or expense entailed of any kind after the initial investment.

The above result was obtained from the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, under policy No. 47340, W.H.B.

CHARGE OF NON-SUPPORT

Head of Home Given Another Chance—Two Remands

John Cook, a strong able-bodied looking man, appeared before Magistrate Dumble this morning on a charge of non-support. The case was adjourned for a week to see if he would get to work.

Mr. Cochrane, who laid the charge, gave evidence to the effect, that on Saturday night he had received a telephone message from a certain lady, notifying him that the Cook family had no provisions. He authorized this lady to see that they were supplied. The bill for the goods sent them, was produced in court as evidence.

The accused has been arrested before on the same charge. Mr. Cochrane said that the man apparently never does much work. His wife was a very worthy woman.

WHAT BOOZE DOES.

Michael Murphy, a blacklister, was on Tuesday evening under the exhilarating influence of liquor. He was creating a disturbance at his home, when arrested, breaking things up and abusing his sick wife.

In the witness box he said that he procured the first bottle of whiskey at home behind the bed. It looked good to him, so he drank it. He said he did not remember where the second drink came from and knew nothing till he awoke in the cells this morning.

His Worship thought it was a great hardship to be compelled to impose a fine of $10, thus taking the bread from the mouths of his family. Murphy has been working for the Bell Telephone Company.

His Worship remanded him for a week to give him a chance to get the liquor out of his system before disposing of his case.

HAD A GOOD ONE.

William Foster was a pitiable example of the result of intemperance. He was apparently on the verge of the D.T's. and has been wandering about the streets. He was remanded for a week.

LARGE HOTEL TO BE BUILT

Proposition on Foot to Erect One in This City

The Review is informed of a movement which is under way to erect a large hotel in this city, and that it will be one of several which are to be built at different points.

The proposition, it is understood, has a good financial backing. The hotels would be of the most modern type, and capable of catering to a large and first class patronage. The accommodation provided at present in the city for travellers and visitors is generally taxed to its utmost, and on many occasions it is not sufficient. The number of hotels with bar licenses is twelve, and that of unlicensed houses four.

GEORGES ARE ENTHUSED WITH CORONATION GIFT MOVEMENT

Many Attended Meeting and Organization Was Effected—Subscription Lists Opened

About thirty-five who rejoice in the name George met in the council chamber last night, and it was decided to open a subscription in Peterborough, with the object of enabling all the Georges to contribute to a coronation gift to the King. His Worship Mayor George W. Morrow occupied the chair, and read the following letter, which he received from Mayor Geary, of Toronto—

Dear Mr. Mayor,—His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario has transmitted to me a communication received by him from His Excellency the Governor-General, in which it is announced that a movement has been set on foot with the object of enabling all the Georges of the Empire to present a coronation gift to the King.

It is proposed that subscriptions shall be accepted from five cents to five dollars. A list of the names of all the donors (but not the amount given by each) will be presented to the King.

May I suggest to you, as mayor of your municipality, call a meeting of the Georges residing in your city, for the purpose of arranging details as to the best means of securing contributions to this fund.

Our committee here will try to take general charge of that part of the province which is not covered by your committee and similar committees which I have asked be formed.

Would you be good enough if this commends itself to you to call a meeting at once, so that I can arrange to take up the matter with the rest of the province?

My idea is that the treasurer of of the municipalities which go into the matter should receive contributions and acknowledge same in the press. The money could then be forwarded to our city treasurer, who will take charge of it until the date fixed for the closing of subscriptions, when he will transfer all funds to the Bank of Montreal, at Ottawa, to be placed to the credit of the King.

As His Excellency is anxious to have this matter undertaken at once, I hope this letter will receive your prompt attention.

Thanking you in advance, and with kind regards, I am,

Faithfully yours,

G. R. GEARY.

Discussion being called for, a number of Georges aired their opinions as to how the matter should be taken up.

It was moved by Ald. George Duncan, seconded by George Bennett, That this meeting of Georges endorse the idea of the Georges of the Empire making a presentation to His Majesty King George V. at the time of his coronation, and that a committee composed of Messrs. George W. Morrow, Geo. W. Hatton, Dr. Geo. S. Cameron, Geo. H. Howson, Geo. Maitland, Geo. Duncan, Geo. Ball, Geo. Austen and Geo. A. Gillespie, be appointed to take charge of the matter of receiving the subscriptions.

A subscription was opened for those present, after which the committee discussed a method for further receiving contributions.

It was decided to place lists in the following places—

South Ward—R. C. Braund's, Mrs. Halpin's, Geo. Goheen's and the C. G. E gatehouse.

Centre Ward—T.A.S., Y. M. C. A., banks and business offices, and Quaker Oats establishment.

West Ward—Matthews Co. store, J. E. E. Lillico's grocery store, J. J. Lynch's grocery store, and George Riler's drug store.

North Ward—The grocery stores of Ald. George Kerneghan, A. Allison and T. Hooper.

East Ward—The grocery stores of Wm. Bell, Martin Kylie and John Kerr.

City Clerk Armstrong was appointed secretary and City Treasurer Adams as general treasurer for the committee.

The secretary was authorized to have any literature printed as suggested by the committee.

The members of the committee were appointed to look after the lists in the different wards, after which the meeting was brought to a close.

SPLENDID LECTURE BY REV. JOHN MacNEILL AT MURRAY STREET CHURCH

Comprehensive Discussion of the Vital Factors of a Nation's Life—Four Important Contributions—Lecture Was a Literary Treat.

(1) "A nation's political power is secured just to the extent that the power is in the hands of the common people."

(2) "So far as women are concerned in national life, they will be rendering the greatest service, not in indulging in the social whirl, but in exemplifying the saying:

"The hand that rocks the cradle
Is the hand that rules the world."

(3) "Laying aside party phases, and no matter what tariffs come up, annexation can never come to Canada."

(4) "The outlook of the Canadian people is full of thrilling possibilities. We have vast natural resources, and a magnificent artery of commerce. In the last 25 years we have discovered our destiny. A young nation has sprung up."

No higher tribute can possibly be paid to the lecture delivered last evening by Rev. John MacNeill in Murray street Baptist church on "The making of a Nation," than to say that it was a masterpiece of oratorical eloquence, and one that displayed his marvellous intellect to advantage and his thorough knowledge of the subject.

Dr. Scott, who presided, led the opening exercises and introduced the distinguished speaker in a short, appropriate address. He eulogized the exceptional mental ability and splendid reputation which the Rev. Mr. MacNeill enjoyed, and welcomed him to the city.

Immediately after the chairman's address Mr. Wm. McIlroy sang the stirring patriotic song, "Oh Canada," and was forced to give an encore.

A STRIKING PARALLEL.

Rev. Mr. MacNeill, in commencing his lecture, stated that he was exceedingly flattered to be allowed to address the large audience, considering that they had come to listen to a mere lecture, which was ordinarily considered to be extremely monotonous.

"There is a striking parallel," he said, "between the life of a nation and the life of an individual. Nations have passed through the same experiences which individuals have encountered, they have reached their zenith of fame and ambition only to be degraded and reduced to a condition of decay. Death, however, was not always the inevitable doom of every nation. History's pages are full of the stories of nations which have died of widely different diseases. Some became indolent and torpid and dropped out of existence neglecting to study the great forces which tended for their upbuilding and strengthening.

FOUR ASPECTS OF GREATNESS.

"The greatness of a nation must be regarded from four aspects, namely, from the contributions which come from beneath, those from outside, those from within, and lastly, from above. Nature has a great deal to do with the failure or success of a nation. Location and climate are other vital and important factors, and perhaps stronger than either of these, the condition of her sea coasts.

"It is owing to the above advantages that Great Britain occupies the supreme condition among the nations of the world to-day. Her coaling stations encircle the world, and her fortresses are the strongest and most impregnable.

"Nature indeed makes an important contribution towards the life of a nation. Look at the natural resources which are required for the upbuilding of national life. Any nation that amounts to any degree of greatness must have some rich natural resources to give her the position.

"Italy, for example, was one of the most favored countries in the world, when the glory of her natural beauty and vegetation were considered. Was it any wonder that Byron referred to it as the "Garden of the World." China has immense mineral wealth; the fertility of the French soil is almost phenomenal. The frugality of the French people was also extraordinary, and as a result of the habit France has wiped out an immense war debt, and to-day is in a position to loan money to any nation.

"Material and natural wealth, however, alone do not tend or make for the highest upbuilding of a nation's strength. They are almost the weakest factors.

WAR IS NECESSARY.

"Look at the great outside contribution of commerce. In every nation's life and history there must be an element of conflict in order to bring out and enable it to realize the fullest measure of its strength.

"Ruskin voiced the same thought when he wrote, "Every nation that has amounted to anything has learned its strength in war, and those that have been born in war have expired in peace." While war is not to be advocated by any means, and it is as true as ever that "War is Hell," still there was something in it which makes every nation find its place.

NATIONS STRUGGLE FOR SUPREMACY.

"All the constant upheavals and inward muffled rumblings in national life mean something. They mean that they are struggling upwards for their place. It was this condition that made it evident that the England will never slumber as long as the Russian lion is on the alert. Nations all have to struggle for existence.

INTELLECT NOT ALL.

"In regard to the contributions which come from within, they form one of the most important phases of a nation's strength. One of these contributions is her intellectual attainments. The intellectual life of a nation is very important, but mere intellectuality will never make a nation. Look at the history of Greece or Rome, who went right up to the pinnacle of learning, but at the sacrifice of their physical development, which made them unable to resist the invasion of the Persians.

"Germany as an example of present day efficiency is remarkable. The Germans are by far the most comprehensive and discriminating nation of to-day. Their whole system is magnificent and their educational system unexcelled. The memory of the Oriental mind is also marvellous and astonishing and they are capable of repeating long speeches, word for word in a remarkably fluent manner. However, this intellectual strength does not, and never will be, a nation's great asset. Rome was undermined despite her brainy men, and Athens in spite of her orators went down.

THE COMMON PEOPLE.

"As far as political tendencies are concerned in national life, political power is secured just to the extent that her power is in the hands of the common people. (Cheers.) The common people's will should be paramount in importance. I believe in their voice and judgment; they are the court of the last resort in national affairs.

"The social condition of a nation may also bring about its success or failure. The relation of the classes and the relation of the sexes must be considered in looking at this side of the internal state of a nation. A strong middle class was also necessary.

RELATION OF THE SEXES.

"As far as the relation of the sexes is concerned, woman occupies the supreme positon. I beliieve that wherever woman and her mission has been recognized in a nation's life there has been a great uplift in the social condition of the people. Woman has always been a strong factor in national life, and the type of femininism that is presented in any nation will have a great deal to do with the molding of the nation's life."

Comparing the various characteristics of womanhood, Mr. MacNeill stated that the English women have undeniably been faithful to the highest instincts of womanhood as the constantly increasing population of the British Isles bears testimony.

In France the young women are kept carefully guarded during their early life, thus blocking and preventing their instincts of love, and this banefull and sad condition is revealed in the absence of lyric compositions among their people. The fountain of youth has been dried up in their youth. FFrench novels are doomed unless there is a change in the condition of her maidenhood.

MATERNITY INJURED.

In America there is a decided difference. American women will never take second place in public life, but their ambitions have been dearly bought. It has broken down American maternity, and were it not for the immigration into the United States her population would soon decrease.

"So far as national life is concerned," said the speaker, "woman will be giving her greatest service, not in indulging in the social whirl, but when she exemplifies the saying that

"The hand that rocks the cradle
Is the hand that rocks the world."

"Lastly, and the strongest contribution that a nation can receive, is that which comes from God. The outlook of the Canadian people to-day is full of thrilling possbilities. We have our natural resources and our magnificent artery of commerce. In the last 25 years we have discovered the destiny of the Canadian people. A young, strong nation has sprung up.

ANNEXATION—NEVER.

"Laying aside any party phases, and no matter what tariff arrangements come up, annexation will never come to Canada, unless we annex the United States. Canada is no longer a mere colony; she is an independent member of a great family, and the eyes of the whole world are upon her.

"Canada has arisen to shake sunny locks of strength upon her young shoulders and to assert her supremacy among the nations of the world. The greatness of Canada will be mapped out by her youth, and her mightiest assets is her womanhood. We must beware of the withering touch of material things, and let us never be divided amongst ourselves.

"We must seize every element of strength in the people that come to us, take out the best of every nationality, wrap them into one and charge them with the fear of God."

At the conclusion of the lecture Canon Davidson moved a most flattering and appropriate vote of thanks in which he seconded all the statements of the speaker and thanked him on behalf of the audience for his thrilling and elevating talk.

Mr. Vincent Eastwood replied to the vote in a suitable manner.

DEGREE WORK BY ORANGEMEN

Large Meeting at Downer's Corners and Heavy Nights Work

A large representation of members of the Orange Order assembled in the Orange Hall at Downer's Corners, last evening, for the purpose of advancing the work of the Order, there being present a deputation from Nos. 1175, 50 and 457. The different degrees were put on in a very creditable manner by those who had charge of the work. During the meeting there were two candidates advanced to the purple degree, three to the blue degree and five took the royal arch purple. The secret work was put on by No. 50 degree team, which brought much credit to themselves and also to the order. After the heavy night's work was concluded the members of 321 entertained the visiting brethren to a well prepared luncheon and the singing of Auld Lang Syne brought to a close one of the most encouraging and helpful meetings in the history of the of the lodge.

ELECTIONS FOR ALL SAINTS' W.A.

Ladies Held 19th Annual Meeting With First Members Present

The Woman's Auxiliary of All Saints' church held its 19th annual meeting yesterday afternoon. It was well attended by members and friends, and it is noteworthy that some present had been members since its inception.

The chair was occupied by the president, Mrs. T. H. Hooper, who conducted the usual devotional exercises. Reports were read by Mrs. W. H. Wilson, the recording secretary; Mrs. W. Buller, P.M.C. treasurer; Miss May Hopkins, for the Junior Girls' Auxiliary; Mrs. A. Gilbert, treasurer. The past year has, without doubt, in many ways been the banner year of the Auxiliary. The usual missionary work was kept up, and considerable help given towards furnishing the new church.

Miss Chamberlain, president for many years since its organization, and now honorary president, was present, and spoke words of encouragement.

The following officers were chosen for the ensuing year—

Hon. President—Miss Chamberlain.
President—Mrs. T. H. Hooper.
Vice-President—Mrs. Hopkins.
2nd Vice-President—Mrs. A. Taylor.
Recording Sec'y—Mrs. Curry.
Corresponding Sec'y—Mrs. Latimer.
Treasurer—Mrs. Gilbert.
P.M.C. Treasurer—Mrs. Buller.
Babies' Branch—Mrs. McCulloch and Mrs. Alexander.
Jr. Girls' Auxiliary—Mrs. Blois and Miss May Hopkins.
Executive Committee—Mrs. W. H. Wilson, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Irwin.
Dorcas Committee—Mrs. Best, Mrs. Cooney, Mrs. Scott.

In a neat address Mrs. Hooper thanked the members for their cooperation in the past, and spoke of greater work to be done in the future. Feeling reference was made to the break in the ranks last July by the death of Mrs. Evans, who was one of the oldest members of the Auxiliary.

MULLIN WANTS TO BEAT CY YOUNG'S DIAMOND RECORD

Walter Johnson Won't Sign a $7,000 a Year Contract

George Mullin has made a solemn vow to beat Cy Young's longevity record as a big league pitcher. No matter how many years the Grand Old Man holds on, Maumee George says that he will top him by a season if it takes fifty years of service to accomplish this object. The big boy already has been pitching ball nine years with the American League club in Detroit, and says that he feels good for fifteen more seasons in the big show, ten of which he hopes to put in with the City of the Straits' outfit.

Frank Chance calls the Cubs to win the National again, but looks for a hard fight with the New York Giants.

Big league clubs are shy many players on account of sickness, which may have something to do with the monthly pay account. Tris Speaker of the Boston Reds is under the weather.

Wyatt Lee, of the Newark Indians, who gave Toronto the laugh last season, claims to have a new finger which will make the Leafs look sour again.

Walter Johnson, the speedy Washington pitcher, has proved to be the real hold-out of the season. He has turned down cold the three-year contract offered him by Manager McAlister, which calls for $7,000 a year. Johnson has told President Noyes that he proposes to ask for more salary each year and does not want to sign a contract for more than one season.

Reports from the training grounds at Macon, Ga., indicate that the Toronto players are some pumpkins. With the pitchers taking it easy the others are wafting the ball in all directions and for any old distance that Joseph calls for.

The Baltimore Orioles are likely to have their name changed to "Giants." The average weight of Jack Dunn's team is 187 pounds per man, and twelve men are more than six feet tall.

BASEBALL

When George Moriarity, third baseman with the Detroit Tigers wrote a song and called it "I can't Miss That Ball Game," little did he dream that it would become the big success.

Moriarity, who is an old friend of Mr. Hastings, met him at one of the games last summer and in a joking way said, "I am thinking about writing a song, and when I do I am going to have you sing it in your show."

"All right," replied Mr. Hastings "and to prove to you that I mean well, if you write a song, and it is as good as your ball playing, I will pay you $1,000 for it, as that is what a good song is worth to me."

Imagine Hastings' surprise when two weeks later he received a letter from Moriarity asking him to please send check as enclosed he would find the song. It did not take Mr. Hastings long to decide that the song was really worth that much, and he immediately sent Moriarity the check with a contract for an option on any future songs that he might write.

BIG NIGHT FOR THE CURLERS

Interesting Program Arranged for Brithers of the Stane

An enjoyable time is anticipated at the curling rink to-morrow evening, when a supper will be given and the presentation of prizes will be presented to the winners.

J. H. Cameron, who donated the "Sailor Boy" prize for the winners of the schedule games, will present the trophy. A large attendance is requested. Mayor Morrow is expected to be present and R. M. Waddell, president of the Curling Club, will preside. There will be congratulatory speeches by several of the members and a highly enjoyable evening is looked forward to.

THE MAT

New York, March 22.—The World says George Hackenschmidt, the Russian lion, will sail for England on March 29th, after a farewell handicap match with Hoboken on the night of the 28th. He will leave New York with a very well-defined feeling of disappointment—the result of his efforts for an entire season chasing after Frank Gotch and trying to get him for a return match for the world's championship, which Hackenschmidt lost to Gotch two years ago in Chicago.

ONTARIO IS NOT YET READY

William said he was getting up in years now, and if he were younger, his views on the question might be different. Laughingly, he gave Mr. Studholme the hint that while latitude was tolerated in the House, longitude was intolerable and abominable. However, he would suggest that before another political campaign came, an educative campaign should be inaugurated to instruct the foreign voters.

The proper thing to do was not to admit ladies to the polls until the Legislature had taken hold of the foreign element and instructed them up to this standard.

Hon. A. G. Mackay said the bill was rather in the form of a resolution than of a bill, and even if adopted, would not amend the electoral law. For that reason, and also because there had been no demand, not a single petition presented, he would be compelled to vote against the bill at the present time. On the whole, he was rather in favor of the resolution.

Where the franchise had been granted to women, it was the hall mark of full citizenship. The enfranchised woman would not rock the cradle less, but would rock it with a more confident hand if she knew that her vote could be used to make the future of the contents of the cradle more safe.

If the women of Ontario want the vote, they should come to the Legislature with their petitions and apply for it in the usual way, but in the meantime did the women think that they could accomplish more with the vote than they were able to do now by the exercise of their influence?

If the women of Ontario demonstrate that they desire the vote and believe that they can do more for this province with it than by their influence without it, they would certainly have his vote when that time came.

Sir James Whitney said the question, in his opinion, was of such significance that he had considered it not only desirable, but necessary to give it some attention and earnest and serious thought.

It was his duty to suggest the propriety or to object to the impropriety of all measures that were brought up in the House. He must do this in the interest of the public.

When the women's deputation waited upon him, their representations had been very indistinct. Two of them had put forward one proposition, and when it finally dawned upon him to suggest that it was "social revolution," they wanted, they applauded him. Also they had applauded when he asked them if their plea was not that "government by man had failed."

The Premier said he was not going to say one word as to the abstract question of whether women should be allowed to vote or not. It was sufficient guidance for him to note that every member in the House but the member from East Hamilton was opposed to the bill, and the mover had had difficulty even in getting a seconder. This, of course, did not mean that women's suffrage was wrong nor did it mean that it was right, but no Legislator had a right, having regard to his public duty, and the history of Great Britain, to vote for a bill of social revolution when only one member in the whole province was in favor of it.

The bill was declared lost without a formal division.

At the night session of the Legislature, Hon. W. J. Hanna announced that the Government had decided to make the exemption from the 5 per cent. tax on bar receipts $60 in cities and $50 in towns and other municipalities.

H. C. Lackner, North Waterloo, approved of the exemption being raised to $60, but favored the amount be made general throughout the province.

Hon. W. J. Hanna replied that such an action would mean that nothing would be collected outside of the cities, and in the cities $60 was made the limit because the city licenses were much higher than in the towns.

A. E. Fripp (Con.) Ottawa West, moved the second reading of his bill to give municipalities local option in the matter of assessing land at a higher rate than buildings.

Hon. A. G. MacKay said that he believed the bill was worthy of support.

Sir James Whitney opposed the bill as being the thin edge of the single tax.

The bill was withdrawn.

With Ball Cartridge.

San Antonio, Texas, March 22.—Brig.-Gen. Smith will have with him exactly 2,238 men and 118 officers when he starts on a brigade "hike" to Leon Springs, the Government's manoeuvre grounds, to-day.

Every man is a veteran regular. They will take rations, twenty rounds of ball cartridge, blankets and shelter tents. Two days will be required to make the march of 27 miles. A machine gun platoon with two Maxims and a hospital train of 12 ambulances will form a section of the column.

Ottawa's Water Supply.

Ottawa, March 22.—The meteorological department of the Dominion Government has commenced observations at Lucerne and Perkins Mills, on the north and south sides of McGregor's Lake, to ascertain the water fall and temperatures. The information secured will be given the city for use in considering the lake as a source of the city's water supply. The city engineer says there should also be bacteriological tests of the water taken at various times.

Want Natural Resources.

Winnipeg, March 22.—The boundaries question will most likely be discussed in the Manitoba Legislature this afternoon, and it is certain that the offer of Sir Wilfrid Laurier will be refused by the Government, especially at the Liberal Opposition is also opposed to the offer. The Free Press (Liberal) is also opposed, saying editorially that the time for subsidies is past and the province should get its own resources. This is the general opinion of the House, and it is possible that resolution will be unanimously passed demanding lands, timber, minerals, etc. If this is passed Manitoba will join with Saskatchewan and Alberta in an endeavor to secure a re-opening of the terms of the provinces with the Dominion.

Rising Against Whites.

Sydney, N.S., March 22.—News received here from the New Hebrides says that the natives of the island of Espritu Santo have risen against the whites Espritu Santo is the largest and westernmost of the New Hebrides. There are not many white inhabitants. The islands are administered by a mixed commission of French and British naval officers. It is reported that assistance has already been sent the threatened people.

Kingston Power Situation.

Kingston, March 22.—The city has received a more favorable proposition from the Seymour Electric Power Co. of Campbellford, and it was considered by the light, heat and power committee yesterday afternoon. The proposition is now so far advanced that an expert has been appointed by the city to report on the proposition. The offer of the company is on a basis of $25 per horse-power.

"PILLS LIKE A FYLE"

So Harsh and Drastic are Many Pills as to Seriously Injure Health.

In a letter written from his home in Valencia. Mr. Marsh Selwyn does service to thousands by drawing attention to the injuries inflicted upon delicate people by drastic purgative pills.

"For a long time I suffered from constipation. This condition compelled the use of pills. Like many another, I made the unwise choice of using pills that were like lightning in their activity. I began to be filled with intestinal disturbances, constant rumblings, gas in the bowels and diarrhoea. I grew pale and emaciated. Then the doctor told me drastic irritating pills had caused catarrh of the bowels, an almost incurable disease. Explaining my situation to a friend, he advised a trial of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I speedily experienced the healing and curative effect they exert on the stomach, liver and bowels. The intestines, freed from irritating drugs, rapidly regained natural tone, the bowels acted as if nature and not Dr. Hamilton's Pills were at work. I know it will be of value to thousands to know that a pill as mild and curative as Dr. Hamilton's is available to the ailing."

For bowel disorders, sick headache, constipation, liver and stomach derangement, there is no pill so invariably sure to cure as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Refuse a substitute. Sold in 25c boxes, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

To the Editor of the Review,

Sir,—In reproducing my letter to the Globe and its reply thereto, you have made some comments of a very pertinent character. I did not write to the Globe again simply because that journal has very fairly and impartially stated the issue. The whole gist of reciprocity lies in the pretence that it will assist the farmer. At the conclusion of the Globe's article we find, however, this very significant paragraph, which, to my mind, entirely disposes of that "pretence." It reads as follows:—"Mr. Burnham seems to have at the back of his head the idea that farm products are a sort of fixed annual quantity, and that if the U.S. buyer wants them more urgently than we do and bids a higher price, we in Canada will have to raise our bid or go without. THAT IS NOT AT ALL WHAT WILL HAPpen. x x."

So we see the idea that reciprocity means higher prices on the market to the farmer must be given up. "If he wants more money: The farmer must increase the volume of his products!" Precisely so. Wherein then does reciprocity show any advantage (speaking broadly and not of particular districts) to the farmer? The answer must be, as the Globe practically admits, that the pact is a delusion. It can easily be proved, also, that it is a snare, since the partial loss of "the home market" which now consumes 80 per cent of the farmer's output, will prove nothing less than disastrous to him. What we want is free rural mail deliveries, good roads, telephone lines, etc., for the farmer. Why is he not entitled also to a road at the national expense just as much as the others for whom great railways, elevators and waterways are being built at his expense? Less of theory and more attention to practical results is what we all want. Loose banking acts and lax departmental methods of inspection have permitted of enormous loss to the farmers of Ontario and when they ask for redress what do they get? Reciprocity.

Yours, etc.,
J. H. BURNHAM.

Fireman's Mascot Hurt

The firemen are taking special advantage of the fine weather. The chief gave them an extra workout on Aylmer street yesterday morning. Fire drill and apparatus work is quite interesting and a large number of citizens remained nearly the entire forenoon to watch them go through the different manoeuvres.

An unfortunate accident occurred during the course of fire drill, when the firemen's mascot and pet dog, which is known about the city as "Davy," was run over by the hose wagon and badly hurt. Dr. Rogers, veterinary surgeon, was sent for and hopes to be able to save the dog's life.

Davy is a valuable animal being a thoroughbred Irish wire-haired terrier. The firemen purchased him when a pup from his Worship Magistrate Dumble.

are made beautiful by long, silky lashes, and well defined, lustrous brows. Eyes, like diamonds, depend on their setting. The beauties of the face are lost if the eye brows are thin and scanty; and the lashes are short and lifeless. Parisian Lash Lustre grows beautiful, soft, silky lashes. It has done so for society women throughout Europe, and it comes here well recommended to do the same for you. Parisian Lash Lustre is not a dye or colorator, but a scientific preparation for beautifying the eye lashes and brows. Our guarantee goes with every box of Parisian Lash Lustre. Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured His Rheumatism of Thirty Years Standing

How he is helping hundreds of other Islanders tell that the one sure cure for all Kidney Diseases is Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Alma, Prince Co., P.E.I., March 21 (Special).—Cured of Rheumatism and Heart Disease, after thirty years suffering, Wm. J. Vincent, a well known farmer living near here is spreading the news throughout this tight little Island that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the sure cure for Kidney Diseases.

"I had been bothered with a lame back, Rheumatism and Heart Disease for over thirty years," Mr. Vincent states. "For days I would be laid up in bed. At times it caused me great pain to even turn in bed. I tried all kinds of liniments, plasters and electric belts, but got no relief till I used Dodd's Kidney Pills. Three boxes of them cured me."

Hundreds of other residents of the Island have used Dodd's Kidney Pills and they all tell the same story. No case of Kidney Disease, no matter how severe or of how long standing, can stand before Dodd's Kidney Pills. They are the one sure cure of every Kidney Disease from Backache to Bright's Disease.

PRETTY WEDDING IN APSLEY CHURCH

And Young People Hold Enjoyable Valentine Social

Special Correspondence.

Apsley, March 22.—A very pretty pretty wedding took place in the Anglican church, Apsley, on Tuesday, March 14, when Miss Alice, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William James, Chandos, become the bride of Mr. Harry E. Grieves, of Saskatchewan, in the presence of a large number of guests. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Christopher Lord. The bride was becomingly attired in grey satin de chene trimmed with fillet lace and soutache braid, with hat to match, and was assisted by Miss Jennie Philips, who also looked charming in pink silk mull. The groom was supported by Mr. Alfred James, a brother of the bride. The bride entered the church at 3.30, leaning on the arm of her father, to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by the organist, Miss Grant. After the ceremony all drove to the home of the bride's parents, where a sumptuous wedding dejeuner was served, the bride and groom being showered with rice as they passed through the village. The bride was the recipient of a large number of handsome and costly presents. The happy couple left on Thursday morning for their future home in Saskatchewan. Our best wishes for a long and happy life go with them.

VALENTINE SOCIAL.

A valentine social which was to have taken place some time ago, but was postponed on account of sickness and death in the neighborhood, was held in the Templars' Hall on Friday evening, March 10. The valentines were cut in two parts, the ladies receiving one part and the gentlemen the other. Each person had to hunt for their partner, who would have the corresponding part of the valentine, and whoever it might be they were to have tea ogether. After the valentines were matched the following program was rendered—

SHOE STRING MAN WANTS MILLION

Coolly Asks for it at Bank, Hustled off as Crazy

New York, March 21—George Shagorre, a Syrian, who sells shoe strings in the financial district, entered the National City Bank late yesterday with the alleged purpose of demanding $1,000,000. Instead of getting it, policemen and clerks seized him and he was driven off to Bellevue hospital for examination as to his sanity.

The man's struggle with bank guards and policemen lasted for nearly twenty minutes and caused a great commotion in the bank. It was only by the use of a strait jacket that he was finally handled, and opiates were resorted to at the hospital to quiet him down. It is said that when he entered the bank he first inquired for President Frank A. Vanderlip, to whom he is known to have written a letter of eighty-five pages several days ago, complaining that he had been treated with scant courtesy in his small dealings with the bank. It was also said that he had given warning of his intention to call in a few days to demand $1,000,000 as satisfaction for his "grievances."

Since the receipt of the letter an extra guard had been placed at the door on the lookout for the Syrian. When he appeared and asked for President Vanderlip, he is said to have become furious when told that the president was out of town, and insisted upon seeing some of the other officers of the bank. When denied this, it is said that he became more violent and it was then that the plain clothes men stationed about the bank, closed in upon him. At the hospital Shagorre had nothing to say about the million dollars, but complained wildly that twenty-seven cents which he had in his pocket when he entered the bank were missing.

Y.W.C.A. NOTES

We would again remind all intersted in Association work, of the addresses to be given by Miss Macdonald of Tokio, on Sabbath afternoon at 4.15, in St. Paul's Church, and Tuesday afternoon at 3.30 in the Y.W.C.A. parlors.

Miss Macdonald has spent six busy years in Japan, and has through her rare power as a leader and organizer, accomplished more perhaps for the educated girls of Japan, than any other one woman. Miss Macdonald is also a good speaker and we trust that a large number will avail themselves of this opportunity of hearing this gifted woman.

We would also ask you to reserve Friday evening, March 31st, for the stereopticon lecture on our great Northland to be given by Dr. Marsh in the Gymnasium Hall.

LOCAL ITEMS

Golden Link Rebekah Lodge, No. 81, I.O.O.F., had an enjoyable time at the regular meeting last night at which several members from Lakefield were also in attendance.

The Brock street roller rink was the scene of a most successful re-opening last night, the attendance of skaters and spectators being particularly large.

Ladies of the city are asked to attend the Sewing Circle at the Childrens' Shelter to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock.

The Board of License Commissioners meet to-night to deal with the license of the American hotel.

The meeting of the City Council called for five o'clock is off, and the time changed to 8.30 to-night.

It is important that there be a large attendance at the Tuberculosis meeting at the City Council chambers tomorrow night (Thursday).

There are now eleven scarlet fever patients in the Isolation Hospital.

The funeral of the late James Madill was held this morning. The remains were sent to Whitby for interment.

The name of George N. Graham has been added to the committee in charge of the coronation subscriptions of the George's of this city.

Rev. F. J. Sawers of Lakefield takes the service at St. Luke's to-night and Rev. Canon Allen of Millbrook at St. John's.

The information that three pay-as you-enter cars would be added to the street car service was inadvertently committed from the item regarding extensions, which appeared in yesterday's issue.

Rev. Dr. Young in Demand

Montreal, March 22—Rev. Dr. Young, pastor of Douglas Methodist Church, admitted this morning that he had received flattering offers from several large Toronto Churches, and declared that he intended to decline all of these calls. His term in the local church does not expire until July, 1913. The trustees of the church say that no definite call has been sent to Rev. Dr. W. H. Hincks of Broadway Tabernacle Church, Toronto, though his name was mentioned as a possible successor to Rev. Dr. Young.

Rev. Dr. Young is a former pastor of George Street Methodist Church.

WHO PAYS FOR THE ADVERTISING

The Canadian Grocer.

An authority on publicity recently made the statement that the men who do not advertise pay the bills of those who do.

This is a little different position from any previously taken on the question and, at first glance it seems a little daring, but he seems to have some reason and force in his arguments, when that declaration is probed.

The men who are best known in every community are the men who advertise and, generally speaking, they get the bulk of the trade.

Now the merchants who do a big volume of business decrease their selling cost by reason of that volume. The merchants who do not secure that volume of trade have to dispose of their goods at a greater selling cost.

It has been said that dealers who advertise operate, often on a selling cost of from 20 to 26 per cent., while the same cost to the merchants who do not go in for publicity runs in excess of 30 per cent. and sometimes reaches even the dizzy height of 50 per cent. In the former case the advertising costs were included, with rent, heat, light, insurance and all necessary and fixed charges.

So it would seem that after all, the man who does not advertise pays the bills for the man who does.

Curtailing Sunday Work.

Washington, March 22.—Sunday work in postoffices throughout the country is to be discontinued so far as consistent with the faciliation of the transmission of the mail.

It is not proposed to close important postoffices entirely on Sundays. Mails will be received and despatched as heretofore, and arrangements will be made for a limited delivery through the general delivery windows and the distribution of mail boxes will be continued. Special delivery letters will be delivered, and patrons of any office will be afforded the privilege of having their mail delivered on Sundays by depositing the required fee for special delivery service.

The congregation of the Prince's street U. F. Church, Port Glasgow, have presented an illuminated address to Mrs. Purdon, of Woodbank, congratulating her upon having entered her 100th year.

THE GREAT QUESTION? Of Spring Attire

What is going to be worn, and what particular style or shade is most suitable, are two questions that confront almost every woman at this season of the year. A visit to our store will very easily solve the problem for you.

Individual Suitings

Here is an opportunity for the woman who wants "Something Exclusive." There are no two patterns alike. There are checks, stripes and diagonal weaves, in grey—cream with black stripe—black, blue, cream, brown, etc., with the favorite pin stripe—the new homespun effects, and many others which space will not permit us to mention. These are all of English, Scotch and French manufacture, and represent the best display we have ever shown.

French Silk Foulards

The preference for Foulards this spring makes the mention of our complete stock unusually interesting. In black, green, navy, king's blue, etc. We are showing a splendid array in spot, diamond, ring and two-tone effects. These are all shower-proof.

New Laces and Trimmings

Laces are extensively used this season to garnish the new gowns, and we are well prepared for the great demand. Every fashionable trimming is there in every desirable kind and color.

New Motor Veils

Imported direct from Paris, France. Colors white, black, cream, champagne, grey, pink, sky and navy. Ask to see them, they are very pretty.

Custom Tailoring and Dressmaking Dept.

We are pleased to say this department has earned the WELL DESERVED PRAISE of all its patrons. To avoid disappointment, orders for Easter should be sent in without delay.

Spring Millinery Exposition

This has proved MORE THAN any mere FASHION DISPLAY, as evidenced by the great number of women who have already found and claimed the distinctive model that seems made for them alone. Shapes are varied as woman's needs. Hats of dainty tailored charm, with just the right simplicity for the walking suit, side by side with the Picture Hat, makes a delightful study, each striking some new note, and embodying some new ideal of elegance. We extend an invitation to all to come and see the season's latest productions.

MEETING AT THE TABERNACLE

Missionary From Thibet and Dr. Zimmerman are Speakers

On Monday evening, the Rev. Mr. Ruhl, missionary from Thibet, spoke on the changed conditions in China, the friendly attitude of the people toward the missionaries, how people everywhere were ready and many eager to hear the Gospel, and missionaries may now not only travel without fear of being molested, but were cordially welcomed to dwell among the people. The doors were open everywhere, and unless we speedily did our utmost to evangelize this people, the unparalelled opportunity would soon be lost forever. While the opportunities were great, there were also many hindrances to the spread of the Gospel the greatest of these being not from the Chinese themselves, but from the broadcast spreading by Europeans of almost every false doctrine such as Atheism, Spiritualism, Christian Science, Higher Criticism, etc., and above all the indifference and neglect of the true Church of Christ in the home lands to do her duty.

Last evening Dr. Zimmerman gave a heart searching message on "Barnabas was a good man, full of the Holy Spirit and faith." No higher testimony could be given to any man than this, such a life would be used of God still and the same results would follow as are recorded of the life of Barnabas, "much people was added unto the Lord."

To-night Dr. Zimmerman will speak again and Mr. Ruhl will also give a talk on Mission Work in North West China.

R.A.S. MEETING OF GREAT INTEREST

The Local Astronomical Society Listen to Interesting Addresses--Supper in Honor of President Collier

Last night in the physics room at the Collegiate Institute the local centre of the Royal Astronomical Society held its regular meeting. There was a good attendance, and the evening proved to be one of the most interesting yet held.

After the formal business had been transacted Mr. T. A. S. Hay, city engineer, gave a short address on "How the Distances of the Heavenly Bodies is Measured." As there were other addresses to follow, Mr. Hay decided to confine his remarks to illustrating with the aid of diagrams, how the measurements in general were made and verified by surveyors and others engaged in such operations. This talk was very interesting and instructive. At another opportunity Mr. Hay will complete his address.

Dr. Marsh gave a short talk on definition of terms used in astronomy, of latitude and longitude, in their relation to territorial objects, and to the sky. He also added explanations of the ecliptic, horizon, zodiac, all of which were clearly and interestingly defined.

Mr. H. B. Collier, president of the local branch, and who is leaving town, came in and gave a short address, regretting that he would be obliged to withdraw from active participation in the affairs of the branch, though continuing to be a member. He hoped for great usefulness on the part of the branch.

Rev. Dr. Winchester, of Toronto, who was present, made a few remarks, encouraging the study of astronomy and kindred sciences, as being elevating and helpful in forming character and tending to the making of better and more intelligent citizens.

At the close of the meeting the Council of the Society adjourned to Hooper's palm room, where a nice supper was served in honor of the retiring president. Mr. H. O. Fiske filled the chair.

After supper Mr. Hay, Rev. Mr. Henderson, Mr. Wainwright, of the Bank of Ottawa, Dr. Marsh and others all expressed regret at the departure of Mr. Collier, and complimented him on his zeal and usefulness, and interest shown in the branch and its work.

These Mr. Collier acknowledged, and said he was sorry to go, and only business relations called him. He would prefer to stay in the city.

Other expressions of good will and hopes for Mr. Collier's prosperity followed, after which the gathering adjourned.

LEGISLATURE CLOSES WITH DEBATE ON BI-LINGUALISM

Sir James Says Action Must Await Report of Inspector---Three Cheers and a Tiger.

Toronto, March 23.—With "three cheers and a tiger" for the King, the Ontario Legislature closed its legislative session at seven o'clock last night. Sir James Whitney led the cheering. The afternoon was one of the most strenuous in the history of the Assembly. The formal prorogation will be held on Friday afternoon.

Bi-lingual schools were discussed for a brief but spirited few minutes, when G. H. Ferguson (Con., Grenville), introduced an amendment to his original notice of motion, "That in the opinion of this House no language other than the English language, should be used as a medium of instruction in the schools of the province."

The amendment read: "That the English language shall be the language of instruction and communication of the pupils of the public and separate schools, except where, in the opinion of the Department of Education it is found impracticable because the pupil does not understand English."

The question of bi-lingual schools, he said, was a subject that loomed large in the destiny of the country. It had had a wide discussion and much publicity, and as the House was familiar with it, he did not propose to go into it at length. The brevity of his original resolution was its only weakness. His sole object was to better the facilities for diffusing the English language throughout the country.

He wouldn't say that the abuses that were reported could be obliterated in one fell swoop, but they could be gradually got rid of without disadvantage to the country at large.

Premier Whitney pointed out to the House that the amendment was in the exact words of the statute law of the land, and, strange as it might seem to some people, there was no such real entity in the province as a bi-lingual school.

People outside the Legislature and reckless journalists were apt to confuse the question of the study of the French language with the legalization of the French language as a means of communication. They were as far apart as the north and south poles.

"The position of the Government is and will be," said the Premier, "to stand by that mandate. Whenever it is found impracticable to carry out the provisions of the first part, the latter part shall be applied. We take our stand upon it and are prepared to stand or fall by it.

"The chief inspector of the province has made a thorough and complete examination into the situation, and we can't say what we will do till we can learn from him what the situation is.

"If we find that any abuses have occurred, this Government will take steps to abolish them. In other words, the Government pledges itself to stand by the provisions of the statute."

The amended resolution carried unanimously.

Hon. Frank Cochrane moved the House into committee on the bill for the protection of public interests in the bed of navigable waters.

W. Proudfoot said the bill was revolutionary in asserting public ownership of the streams.

Hon. A. G. MacKay: "It was always understood the other way, that the water was considered the same as land."

Hon. J. J. Foy pointed out that the critics of the bill assumed that the general opinion in Canada had been that the possession of land gave proprietory rights to the centre of navigable waters. This was not the case. Where purchases had been made in such an assumption, the claims involved were protected by the bill. The bill was reported and given its third reading.

Given the Go-By.

Kingston, March 23.—Because of the delay of the city to carry out its promises regarding putting a large span on Cataraqui Bridge, the Ontario Exploration Syndicate has decided to ship iron ore from its mines at Wilbur to Collins Bay, seven miles from here. Kingston thus loses the shipping plant of the Exploration Syndicate.

SIX YEAR OLD YOUTH INJURED

Left Leg and Several Ribs Fractured—May Die.

Brockville, March 23.—Albert Fraser, aged six years, attempted to cross the G.T.R. tracks in front of a light engine at Perth street, when he was struck and hurled several feet. His left leg and several ribs are fractured, and he sustained severe cuts and bruises about the head and body. The doctors have little hope of his recovery.

Forged Officers' Names.

Kingston, March 23.—Sergt. Harrison of the Canadian Permanent Army Service Corps, found guilty of forgery, was sentenced to one year at hard labor in the Central Prison, and dismissed from the service. He forged the name of the officers to checks for different amounts

McGILL STUDENTS ARE ASHAMED

For Their Part in the Sifton Affair.

Montreal, March 23.—An official apology from the student body of McGill will probably be tendered to Hon. Mr. Sifton for the indignities to which he was subjected on Monday night by the rowdy element of the undergraduates. A memorial is being circulated in the university and largely signed.

Civil actions for damages amounting to $1,400, including the cost of the carriage that was burned, may also add to the discomfort of the students, and somebody will have to pay. About a dozen students will be made the defendants, it is stated.

Object to the Smoke.

Brockville, March 23.—Mayor Patterson was yesterday served with a high court writ issued on behalf of Mrs. G. F. Fulford and A. C. Hardy, seeking an injunction restraining the corporation from operating their water works and light departments in such a manner as to be a nuisance to the plaintiffs and other residents in their locality, by emitting from their chimney volumes of smoke and soot, and also for damages by reason of injuries to surrounding property.

Dangerous Man Arrested.

New York, March 23.—An attempt on the life of Henry N. Corwith, president of the American Knitting Mills Co., was frustrated yesterday when Alfred Price, formerly in Corwith's employ, was arrested after flourishing a loaded revolver. He made rambling statements of a conspiracy to kill him. A long dagger was in one of his pockets.

Blackstock to Prosecute.

Woodstock, Ont., March 23.—George Tate Blackstock, K.C., will be crown prosecutor and Justice Britton will preside at the assizes opening here Monday. The graft charges against ex-county councillors will be dealt with.

NO GEORGES

London, Ont., March 23—A public meeting called by the Mayor last night to arrange for a gift to the King by the Georges of London was a fiasco. The only person who turned up was the Mayor, Mr. Beattie, and his name is Fred.

Some Negroes Are Barred.

Winnipeg, Man., March 23.—A party of 170 negroes with seven carloads of goods from the Southern States arrived at Emerson, Man., yesterday and passed an examination as to their fitness for becoming residents of Canada.

Those in the party appeared to be in good physical condition, except the men in charge of the cars of household goods. Those were rejected. The men of the party declared that unless all were passed the entire party would return to the United States.

Had to Live on Sago Roots.

Melbourne, Australia, March 23.—Seventeen native policemen, members of the party that accompanied Stanforth Smith, British administrator of Papua, or New Guinea, on his exploring expedition into the interior of the great island, were drowned from rafts in the Strickland River.

The expedition cut its way through 300 miles of dense jungle, and for five days was without food or fire, the explorers' sole sustenance for many days being sago roots. Valuable discoveries were made.

The Church Militant.

Kingston, March 23.—Rev. T. E. Bourke of the Brock Street Methodist Church, strongly condemned the harem skirt in an address before the young people of his church, and said he would shoot the girl he saw wearing one in Kingston.

Women Oppose Treating System.

Tacoma, Wash., March 23.—The women of Tacoma in their first test at the polls in the city's history, came out against the saloon element according to yesterday's return from the referendum election.

By a majority vote of 4,000 the women voted for the "anti-treating" ordinance.

OPPOSITION TO GOVERNMENT

Extension to Manitoba's Boundaries is Not Wanted.

Special to the Review.

Winnipeg, Man., March 23.—The Liberal opposition in the Local House will this afternoon unite with the government in opposition to the Dominion proposal for the extension of the boundaries of Manitoba.

Winnipeg, March 23.—The Manitoba Government will refuse the offer of Sir Wilfrid Laurier for a settlement of the boundary question and will insist upon equality with other provinces of the Confederation. The Government's stand was set forth in a resolution, notice of which was given by the Premier yesterday afternoon and which will be moved to-day, when a big debate, practically the winding up of the session, is expected. The resolution sets forth that Manitoba is willing to consider each claim of all public lands, minerals, etc., such as Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec and Ontario have, or financial and other considerations of a character similar to those given or to be given to Saskatchewan and Alberta.

The resolution is prefaced by a preamble which points out that at the time of the passage of the British North America Act, it was clearly the spirit and intention of the framers that all of the provinces should be dealt with on the basis of equality. It also observes that Manitoba has not since its confederation received fair treatment at the hands of the Federal authorities, and at the present time occupies a position of gross inequality with the provinces to the east and the new provinces to the west. It is also pointed out that for forty years Manitoba has been endeavoring to obtain relief, but without success.

MURDER OF WOODSMAN

Two Others Are Badly Injured by Unknown Robber.

Three Finlanders Returning From Camp North of Port Arthur Are Held Up by Desperado With a Gun and Knives — Attacks Them and Takes Their Time Checks, Which Are Quite Useless to Him—Leaves Victims to Die

Port Arthur, March 23.—To get possession of three woodmen's time checks, a man, whose name is not yet known to the authorities, held up a party of three woodsmen, all Finlanders, on their way out from the Pidgeon River Lumber Co.'s camp, near Silver Mountain, killing one of them and very seriously wounding the others, using a revolver as a weapon.

The men were on the road leading from the camp to a railroad, intending to take the train to Port Arthur, when they were met by a stranger, who offered to direct them to the railway by a short-cut. His offer was accepted, and at a convenient moment the stranger opened fire on the three, killing one and incapacitating the others. He took their time checks, which are of no value to him because he cannot cash them. The revolver was not his only weapon. The murderer also used a hunting knife freely.

One man has nine cuts about his body. Leaving his victims to their sufferings, the assailant made off. The two laid out, wounded and bleeding, beside the dead body of their companion all night and yesterday, managed to reach the railway and get the news sent to Silver Mountain, whence it was forwarded to Port Arthur. Provincial Constable Simons left for the scene yesterday afternoon, but will not in any case be able to get on the track of the fleeing murderer before this afternoon.

NOT SO EASY FOR THE FARMERS

Immigrants Know a Few Things About the Situation Here.

Toronto, March 23.—The shortage of farm help for Ontario is greater this year than ever. A great number of farmers are coming into the city in search of recruits from among the new arrivals from the old country, but for one that has his quest gratified, there are dozens that will not obtain even one man. Many are under the impression that the majority of the new-comers arrive here with no set idea of how or where they are to obtain employment, while the truth is that nearly everyone who come knows exactly what he is going to do before he leaves the old country.

The wages being offered are not very high. An experienced man of ordinary physique will be offered from $12 to $15 per month and board, while one who can plow, milk, and in every other way fulfill the duties required of him can get from $25 to $35.

FATAL FIGHT AT COUNTRY DANCE

Aged Farmer Had Skull and Jaw Fractured.

Sandgate, Vt., March 23.—A warrant was issued yesterday for the arrest of Fred. Dupluiss, a French-Canadian lumberjack, who is charged with being responsible for the death of Cyrus Moffat, a Sandgate farmer, 60 years of age. Last Friday night a country kitchen dance developed into a riot, during which Moffat had his skull and jaw fractured. He died yesterday. Dupluiss is 30 years of age.

Georges at Falls Contribute.

Niagara Falls, Ont., March 23.—At a meeting of Georges of the city, another link was put in the chain that has for its object the presentation of a coronation gift to King George from his Canadian namesakes. Mayor Dores presided

Lightning Struck Oceanic.

New York, March 23.—The big White Star liner Oceanic arrived yesterday with her foremost splintered at the top, and the fore-truck carried away. Last Tuesday, during a heavy hail squall, the Oceanic was struck by lightning.

Ex-Warden Dropped Dead.

Kingston, March 23.—Alexander Munro, aged 67, ex-warden of Frontenac, dropped dead at his home. For many years he was grocer and postmaster at Ardoch. His widow and a grown up family survive.

SMUGGLER SENTENCED

Get Fifteen Months in Federal Prison at Atlanta.

New York, March 23.—Alexander Hollander, sole member of the firm of Alex. Hollander & Co., customs brokers, pleaded guilty in the U. S. Circuit Court yesterday afternoon to a charge of forgery in connection with customs frauds aggregating $500,000. He was arrested in Naples last July and after a long fight was brought back to this city in December.

Hollander was sentenced to fifteen months' imprisonment in the federal prison at Atlanta.

The first specific charge against him was based on a customs entry of an automobile for Henry Clews, the banker. Hollander, as customs broker, entered the machine at the customs at a valuation of $850, but charged Mr. Clews duty on $1,850. An examination showed that Hollander had been doing business in the same way for years among his clients being J. P. Morgan, Andrew Carnegie, and other millionaires, for whom he acted as agent in the importation of various objects of art. Hollander was a member of exclusive clubs, and lived among the wealthy. He is a good musician, a connoisseur in art, and was a patron of the art clubs.

NEW FACE PUT ON A PATIENT

Treatment of Plastic Surgery in New York Hospital

New York, March 22.—By means of plastic surgery a new face is being furnished to Timothy Martin, and this week the physicians of St. John's Hospital, Long Island City, having the case in charge, are beginning the last stage of nearly a year's patient work by making preparations for giving Martin a new nose. It is being made out of the little finger of his left hand. Martin is 43 years old. On May 16th, 1910, he fell face foremost into a set of revolving cogs in the Sunnyside Railway yard in Long Island City.

Only his eyeballs, said the doctors, escaped mutilation. His entire face was gone so that when he began to mend, he could neither eat nor talk. Three of the hospital surgeons undertook the work of making a new face for the patient. By means of plastic surgery they kneaded and moulded the flesh as it healed into a chin, and finally succeeded in giving Martin a mouth and lips, so that he can now talk and eat.

INQUIRY INTO SALE OF THE INDIAN LANDS CALLED OFF

Member For Selkirk Moves For Royal Commission to Investigate Deal, But Motion Is Lost — Opposition Members Score Repeatedly In Debate—Newmarket Canal Is to Cost Over a Million Instead of $328,000.

Ottawa, March 23.—The principal item of interest in the House of Commons yesterday was a post mortem discussion by George H. Bradbury (Selkirk) on the sale of St. Peter's Indian reserve in Manitoba, which was aired in Parliament last year. Mr. Bradbury introduced the matter as an amendment to the motion to go into committee of supply, asking for a royal commission to investigate the matter. The amendment was finally lost on division.

Mr. Bradbury said the St. Peter's Indians had been the first to safeguard the interests of the white settlers. They were loyal to the crown during the Red River rebellion, at Fish Creek, and had piloted boats up the Nile to rescue Gen. Gordon. He described the transaction as "reeking with dishonesty," and made a plea for British justice. He argue it was not a question of politics, as the Indians had no votes.

Mr. Bradbury declared that bribery had been resorted to by the superintendent of Indian Affairs, Frank Pedley, to secure the surrender of the reserve. Only 205 of the band were present at the meeting, and after two day's active canvass, the Government managed to squeeze out nine of a majority, less than 38 per cent. of the band, who were never qualified to vote. He considered it was not a legal surrender.

Mr. Bradbury drew a vivid picture of the loyalty of this band of Indians to the British people. Yet in return for their services to the Empire, they had been thrown to the wolves by this Government. He described it as one of the most rascally transactions perpetrated by the Indian Department. The Minister was afraid to let daylight in on it.

Hon. Frank Oliver, in replying to Mr. Bradbury's charges, said that it was absurd to say that the Indians had been robbed. For a reserve of 48,000 acres they had been paid the market value at the time of the sale, and had been given another reserve containing 74,000 acres in a situation much more suitable to their requirements, both from a material and moral point of view. The Indians had agreed to the sale of the lands under specified conditions, and these conditions had been fulfilled to the letter. Before the meeting about which Mr. Bradbury had said so much, the matter of the sale of the reserve had been canvassed for weeks.

He denied that there had been any attempt made to bribe the Indians. There was no reason for an enquiry, because all the facts in connection with the sale of the reserve had been laid before the House. The Department had nothing to conceal and nothing to apologize for, and he felt entitled to ask the House to refuse to assent to the request of the member for Selkirk, on the merits of the transaction.

Mr. Oliver said that it was a good thing for the Indians that they had been removed. Contact with civilization and the white man had not been a good thing for them, and they were not as good men as they were forty years ago. They would have an opportunity of doing better in their new surroundings.

T. W. Crothers (West Elgin) supplement his vigorous arraignment of a year ago by another attack upon the Government. He charged the administration with playing upon the instability, simplicity and improvidence of the Indian, and said that Frank Pedley, superintendent of Indian affairs, had virtually gone to the St. Peter's band showing them the $5,000 in cash, adding the words, "If you will agree to the surrender of the reserve, I will distribute this money among you." "That," said Mr. Crothers, "was in substance and in fact a bribe to those Indians."

Hon. George E. Foster said he was surprised that the Government had no disposition to reply to the charge that the surrender had not been legally executed. He declared that the officials of the Department had displayed either utter callousness to the rights of the Indians, or that there had been open-eyed knowledge that the Indian was being disposed for the benefit of the speculator.

C. J. Doherty (St. Anne's, Montreal) declared that he would have remained silent were it not that the sublime indifference of the Minister of the Interior, as whether the sale had been illegal, had impelled him to enter into the discussion. The Minister had not asked the Department of Justice for a legal opinion on the question, and, said Mr. Doherty, it was not an exaggeration to say that Mr. Oliver had shown contempt for the rights of those Indians.

Dr. Molloy (Provencher), who closed the debate with a brief speech, quoted

THE LIBERALS SIDE-TRACKED THE RECIPROCITY QUESTION

Queer Manoeuvres at Guelph Board of Trade Meeting

Guelph, Ont., March 22.—Resentment is expressed at the statement that because the Guelph Board of Trade failed to discuss reciprocity all the members are in favor of the measure. The reverse is rather the case. The facts are that at the last meeting of the board there was a strong disposition to take the question up, which was forestalled by the president putting a resolution of adjournment.

President Stewart, in calling the next meeting, announced reciprocity as the subject, and after the crowded meeting had discussed other matters he asked for a resolution concerning reciprocity, and hoped it would be discussed from a business point of view. All sat still for a moment waiting for the others to move, when up jumped ex-Ald. Kennedy, a staunch Liberal, and moved the adjournment. This was seconded by another Liberal and a pronounced reciprocist. The motion was submitted to the meeting and declared carried by the president, who is also a Liberal, without counting the vote.

FOR FAMILY USE

An Ideal Remedy for Coughs, Sore Throat, Catarrh, Weak Chest.

After having made a special study of the treatment of the throat and lungs for twenty years, Prof. D. Jackson states that in his opinion no preparation for general family use is so efficient, so healing, so certain to cure as Catarrhozone.

As his reasons for making this claim for Catarrhozone, Dr. Jackson says:

"Catarrhozone is free from opium.

"The patient can breathe its rich, balsamic fumes direct to the diseased spot.

"It is a remedy that treats and cures causes—prevents disease spreading.

"Reaches the innermost recesses of the throat, nose, bronchial tubes, and lungs.

"Alleviates chest soreness.

"Stops coughing instantly.

"Prevents bronchial irritations.

"Relieves clogged nostrils.

"Cures sniffles and nasal catarrh.

"Prevents La Grippe.

"Has proven itself a cure for weak lungs, loss of voice, speakers' sore throat, asthma, bronchitis, catarrh, coughs, colds, and winter ills."

Catarrhozone is unquestionably the world's greatest breathable cold, cough, and catarrh medicine, and being free from all drowsy drugs, entirely safe for children and old folks; it makes an ideal family remedy. Recommended by the medical profession and sold by all reliable dealers. Beware of imitations, get "Catarrhozone" only; large size lasts two months, and is guaranteed, price $1; smaller sizes 25c and 50c. By mail from The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

PUTNAM'S PAINLESS CORN EXTRACTOR

The Daily Review

THURSDAY, MARCH 23, 1911.

TO ASK FOR MORE

It is evidently the intention of the Democrats in the American Congress to make the occasion of the extra session one of display of their newly found power in tariff matters.

From the reports emanating from Washington, it may be almost safely gathered that the McCall bill embodying the reciprocity agreement will be passed without alteration in itself, but the Democrats are said to have determined to authorize the President to enter into further negotiations with Canada, with power to make any further reductions, in the United States tariff that he may see fit in the course of his negotiations, even to the extent of free trade in everything.

That this is an important provision is apparent at first sight, though not attached as a rider to the McCall bill. If it is put into action by the Democratic majority in the House of Representatives, there will be a rare fight in the Senate, where the Republicans still have about ten majority, but it is believed that even such a wide measure of tariff relief would be acceptable to the low tariff wing of the Republican party.

If such a measure were put through, and President Taft renewed his dickering with the Canadian Government, for a further wiping out of the protective barriers, where would it end? The Canadian business world would be upset and harassed continually by the instability of tariff conditions. If the progress of Canadian industrial enterprise is to go unchecked, there must be some stability, some permanency, in the tariff, and from the present outlook Canada is not likely to have the benefit of these as long as the free trade agitators can get in their fine work, with the aid of the Laurier administration.

THE TIRE CO. BY-LAW

The arrangement with the Independent Tire Company, as amended at the city council meeting last night, is a distinct improvement on the former agreement, and will remove what many people thought not without good reason, was a sound objection to it from the city's standpoint.

While the amount of the loan to the company remains at $40,000, secured on land, building and machinery the total value of which is to be at least $115,000, the company will pay the full amount of interest, 4 1-2 per cent. That means that the city is giving to the company its credit, for $40,000 enabling it to secure a 4 1-2 per cent. interest rate, and is in substance similar to the guaranteeing of railway bonds, an admirable form of financing for some purposes.

The carrying of this amount will cost the city nothing, adding no burden whatever to the tax-payer. The company has also given assurance that the $150,000 capital will be fully paid up—a necessary provision, guaranteeing stability and strength for the new concern. Under the old agreement there was no provision that this capital was to be "paid-up," although it was to be issued, and in lending $40,000 on the security of the company's assets, every provision has to be made against any possible loss, from whatever cause.

The new clause for employment of men is fairly satisfactory. It is not to be expected that the company shall employ the maximum number of hands as soon as the factory starts, but the provision now agreed to, compels the company to employ 60 hands by the time the final instalment of the loan is paid, in three months, and 100 hands after a year of operation, continuously. Examined from various angles, the changes made are certainly an added strength to the city's case, and there is now no doubt of the city being greatly benefited by the passing of the by-law. The objections to the agreement have apparently been met fairly. A loan of $40,000 may seem a trifle large, but the company pays the interest, and all the city need worry over is; Is the security adequate? With the guarantee of $150,000 paid up capital, the security does look safe, especially as the amount of the loan is reduced $2,000 yearly, and each year should see the company, if properly managed, in a stronger position as regards assets. Under ordinary circumstances, the value of the security should increase with time.

SIR WILFRID'S DECLARATION

"We have not hurt the manufacturer, and we will not do so. We have benefited the farmer and the consumer. When the time comes we will sweep the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific."—Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

This is a message from the premier to Toronto Liberals, in an endeavor to calm the protests of an alarmed country against reciprocity. Sir Wilfrid says he has not hurt the manufacturer. At this rate, the Peterborough cereal factory is not a manufacturing concern. The Matthews Company is not a manufacturing concern. Probably they should be classed among the farmers or the consumers.

The premier gives assurance that the government will not hurt the manufacturer. If reciprocity is natural products is not a long step toward the unsettling of Canadian business conditions, toward the exposing of the Canadian business world to the panics and the squalls that beset the United States financial world, and attendant disasters, then the promised great increase in our business relations with the United States is empty and void, and we make our natural products market free to a dozen countries for nothing.

"The farmer in Canada is benefited" by getting a higher priced market in the United States—a market where on January 1 of this year the following prices were quoted in New York (New York Tribune) as compared with Toronto prices:

	Toronto.	N.Y.
No. 1 dairy butter per lb.	30	22
Eggs, new laid, per dozen.	50	35
Ducks, per lb.	17	10
Chickens, per lb.	16	12 1-2
Turkeys, per lb.	.22	18 1-2
Geese, per lb.	14	14
Apples, Spy, per barrel	4.50	3.50
Onions, per bush.	1.00	75
Potatoes, per bag	.90	73

"We shall sweep the country," eh! It is easy to make confident predictions like that. On the eve of an election, both parties issue the most confident and optimistic reports. A "Sure to succeed; couldn't stave off the people trying to put us into power, if we wanted to" affair. If Sir Wilfrid Laurier is so confident that he will sweep the country, why are he and his newspaper minions working so industriously to create a sentiment to offset the reciprocity opposition? The truth is that the opposition to the "Yankee dollar" advocate and his plans, is so solidly grounded and so widespread, that Sir Wilfrid has been wondering whether it wouldn't be better to make the plunge now, before the water gets too hot.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Peoria, Ill.—"I wish to let every one know what Lydia E. Pinkham's remedies have done for me. For two years I suffered. The doctors said I had tumors, and the only remedy was the surgeon's knife. My mother bought me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and today I am a healthy woman. For months I suffered from inflammation, and your Sanative Wash relieved me. Your Liver Pills have no equal as a cathartic. Any one wishing proof of what your medicines have done for me can get it from any druggist or by writing to me. You can use my testimonial in any way you wish, and I will be glad to answer letters."—Mrs. CHRISTINA REED, 105 Mound St., Peoria, Ill.

Another Operation Avoided.

New Orleans, La.—"For years I suffered from severe female troubles. Finally I was confined to my bed and the doctor said an operation was necessary. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial first, and was saved from an operation."—Mrs. LILY PEYROUX, 1111 Kerlerec St., New Orleans, La.

The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

The Vancouver Province thinks that the coming imperial conference should provide for an Empire stamp, interchangeable throughout the empire. That suggestion is one that should stick.

The Ottawa Journal says that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is so nearly persuaded that delay spells danger and perhaps disaster, that instructions have gone forth to get ready for an election. The Journal is in favor of reciprocity.

Since February 28, 687 columns of Hansard have been taken up by Liberal speakers, and only 549 columns by Conservatives. The explanation of this is that the Government had to do so much defending and explaining of deals like the Farmers' Bank charter granting.

Some cities are already laying plans for the celebration of coronation day on June 22. The favorite form of celebration is a military parade, with the firing of the salute, and games. Peterborough should be in line in plenty of time.

The re-organization of the militia system on the lines of Gen. French's report cannot be judged yet as to the probable improvement it will make. There is one thing about which most military men are agreed, however, and that is, that almost any change will be an improvement. The importation of new imperial officers may have the tendency to make the Canadian militia more like the European machine. As a matter of fact, any system which will improve the calibre of the officers will effect a great improvement. The rank and file are all right, and in good hands will not be beaten for virility.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS SAY

NO BILINGUAL SCHOOLS.

Ottawa Journal.

Winnipeg, points out Martin Burrell, M.P., has people speaking fifty different languages. And he might have added that because of the public school system, it is difficult, if not impossible, to find a second generation foreigner who does not speak good English, and who is not as enthusiastic a Canadian, as those whose families have lived here since the days of Wolfe and Montcalm.

BURNING LITERATURE.
